The COLLEGIAN Survey
A Report On FP HA Housing

Mindful of the married veterans’ housing problem, the COLLEGIAN this week presents findings in a canvassing of married veterans housed in the Harcourt units and of those administrative officials concerned with the housing project. It is our intention to be entirely fair and unbiased towards the inhabitants of the government units and to the College administration in its relations with the Harcourt area.

A survey has been completed by a committee of the part of the student body, and a number of complaints have been voiced concerning the administration of the housing project. Complaints concerning prevalence of occupancy of delay in completion of the project, the quality of occupancy of units, and the situation of the student body are especially disturbing.

The consensus formed, for the most part, that there is a strong feeling among the married veterans and their families already housed, and in the number of faculty and staff members who are housed in the government units, that there is a certain degree of inefficiency in the housing project. In both cases, the problem revolved around the situation here to see the degree of compliance with the requirements for which they were housed. It presents the facts. — The Editors.

These are facts and figures, but it is up to all of us in the student body to see that the COLLEGIAN supplies information on the specific questions raised by the student body concerning occupancy and quality of housing.

Presidential Faculty Treatment
In deliberate defiance of their younger age and occupation, their faculties have been the subject of some improvement in the other government units. The new faculty has taken the white-painted wooden covering on the exterior walls of the dormitories and replaced it with the brick covering of the original structure. Although this improvement in the faculty barracks is noted to the extent of a more attractive appearance of the college, many students have been concerned with the quality and finishing job that is being done on the delay in the completion of the project.

The original set for another date, February 15, has been announced as the date of completion of the Harcourt building. According to Bulletin of the College, issued by the National Academy of Education, D.C., the attempt is to have the building completed by the end of the month.

The location of the FHPA headquarters, on the second floor of the Old Hall, will continue to be a busy place during the remainder of the year. Various meetings and conferences are scheduled for the month of April, including the annual meeting of the FHPA and the annual conference of the APA.

PLAGIARISM...

We are here, all of us, of our own volition and with the purpose of broadening our collective horizons through our cultural backgrounds. We are here to think, and by that very process, to learn. It should be common knowledge that we cannot learn by allowing others to do our thinking for us.

The student who resorts to plagiarism misuses the very aim of his Kenyon training. He leaves aside an intent, mindless, incapable of original thought, as barren of thinking as when he started. It is a process of self-deception, and it is legally unpardonable and morally unendurable.

Let any of us adopt a "holier than thou" attitude. The student who is guilty of plagiarism can no more claim the "mending of his ways" than the thief who is able to apologize after he has perpetrated a wrongdoing. Neither clever nor ingenious, it is a combination of inexcusable naivete and stealing, a theft that is legally unpardonable and morally unendurable.

PLAGIARISM, as applied to the student, may be categorized as the basest crime that he personally can commit. It is the equivalent of committing murder by robbing and killing the victim. It is legally unpardonable and morally unendurable.

Notice...

Kenyon Corporation.

It is with a heavy heart that we publish this correction in the last issue of Hika. Its presence in the magazine is a source of great consternation to us. To our knowledge, the error was not caused by any fault of the student body. The process of construction of the housing units now underway, however, brings up the question in connection with the three proposed residence halls. The construction of the last unit has been delayed because of the circumstances entailed by the same firm which erected "Splitterville." I believe it is fairly obvious why the construction of the last unit has been delayed.

I believe it is fairly obvious that we are in the midst of a construction boom. The construction of the last unit has been delayed because of the circumstances entailed by the same firm which erected "Splitterville." I believe it is fairly obvious why the construction of the last unit has been delayed.

Summer Session

The Dean's Office will be glad to assist members of the College who need assistance in making arrangements for summer sessions at other institutions.

Nine thousand students in colleges and universities receive benefits from the Veterans Administration under Public Law No. 11, which provides for the establishment of a program of education for veterans. The program includes five weeks of summer sessions, which will be held at a variety of institutions throughout the country. The program is designed to provide educational opportunities for veterans who have been discharged from the armed forces.

The program is administered by the Office of Vocational Education of the Department of Labor, and is funded by the Veterans Administration. The program includes both full-time and part-time students, and is open to all veterans who have been discharged from the armed forces.

Ashland Gets Nine In Extra Period

In a thrilling Ohio Conference game last night the Ashland Eagles scored nine points in overtime to defeat a fighting Kenyon team. The game was so close and luttter struggles all the way, with two lead changes, before the final whistle. The Kenyon College team led from the end of the first quarter to the 18-14 mark, but that point on the scoreboard was never overthrown.

Epp keys the game continued its pace for the conference fishing crown by taking the almost unbelievable total of thirty-two points. Rixey controlled the basketball many times during the game, and at spots even seemed to win it. High score for the Kenyon Eagles was Bud Har, a forward, with twenty-two points. This was the second overtime contest for the Lords, and they have yet to find the answer to it. The first loss in overtime was to Oberlin, also in a conference game.

Tomorrow night the basketball team on Room Hall will hold a game between the Student Princess of Heidelberg and the Kenyon Lords. In their first meeting of the season these teams played a close game, with Heidelberg finally emerging the victor.

Bowling Green 45;Kenyon 30

Coach Bob Parmelee's Kenyon Marauders fell before a powerful Bowling Green team last Saturday as the score of 45-30. It was Kenyon's first loss in three starts. A weakness was shown in not having enough reserve strength, as many of Kenyon's best men were out by chance. The B.G. (represented by only twelve men) while Bowling Green had twenty-seven to choose from.

This was after the first three events that Kenyon would have had a hard time winning, so the score was 21-2. In the last six events the Purple and White machines made 30 points to 24, for Bowling Green. Jim St. John, Dave Epp, and Bud Har, both ten pins; John Carruf, ten pins, were the high scorers for the B.G. They were defeated by a strong team.

The fourwmen of Jack Bartlett, John Benefield, Bill West, and Harry Long took the final relay.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER

By John Hartman

The result of the Kenyon-Oberlin game needs more consideration than a hasty glance at the box score. I do not mean to destroy the validity of the Cardinals victory, but there are several underlying factors which help to explain the unfortunate outcome of the contest. The glaring weakness of the Lord's defense was their inability to control rebounds off the backcourt board. Heretofore the Rose Hall quintet has adequately mastered this problem through the efforts of rangy Epp Rixey, Lord pivot man. But Eppa entered the Oberlin tilt with a badly blisters foot which prevented him from utilizing his great height in recovering the ball after field goal attempts, in addition to hampering him on center jumps. Had Rixey not been encumbered by this handicap, it is highly probable that Kenyon would have maintained much better possession of the ball.

An excellent pro-war custom that of awarding a sweater to a man who wins his "K" in a varsity sport, has yet to be revived. It was traditional to present purple sweaters to men who won their letter while playing on a team which went undefeated in intercollegiate, and to present white sweaters to letter-winners on other teams. In addition, the traditional purple "K" bordered white sweaters have been replaced by a new edition the appearance of which needs no comment. The majority of colleges now award sweaters to the letter, and Kenyon would do well to revert to its original custom. If a man is willing to devote a great deal of time to intercollegiate competition he deserves a presentable award.
