

7-1948

Kenyon Alumni Bulletin - July 1948

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digital.kenyon.edu/kcab>

---

Recommended Citation

"Kenyon Alumni Bulletin - July 1948" (1948). Kenyon College Alumni Bulletin. 7.
<https://digital.kenyon.edu/kcab/7>

This Alumni Bulletin is brought to you for free and open access by the College Archives at Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. It has been accepted for inclusion in Kenyon College Alumni Bulletin by an authorized administrator of Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. For more information, please contact noltj@kenyon.edu.

KENYON ALUMNI BULLETIN

Published by the Alumni Council in the interest of Kenyon College and its Alumni

GAMBIER, OHIO

JULY, 1948

Vol. VI, No. 2

ONE HUNDRED TWENTIETH COMMENCEMENT

The traditional festivity of another Kenyon Commencement has come and gone. Sixty-four young men have moved into the next important phase of their lives and scores of others, not so young, have glimpsed again the place, the ceremony, and the mood which marked their own maturing.

Rain and gray skies clouded Saturday afternoon's events and the singing down path Saturday evening. A few hardy souls cherished the baseball tradition enough to risk muddy shoes, but the crowd at the diamond was sparse.

Sunday was clear, however, and the Klan Breakfast drew a goodly number. The Church of the Holy Spirit was full for the Baccalaureate Service. The Right Reverend Norman B. Nash, Bishop of Massachusetts, preached a sermon in which young and old found deep significance. He contrasted two roads to greatness, that of worldly ambition and that of Christian devotion, and the comparison seemed particularly appropriate to the occasion.

(Continued on page 4)

Sixty percent of the sixty-year class was on hand to win the Peirce Cup for the class having the largest percentage of living members present at Commencement. They are Harry Prince, North Hollywood, California; Henry B. Swearingen, Wollaston, Massachusetts; Dr. John Skilton, Fairfield, Connecticut. President Chalmers presents the cup.

An animated moment as Kenyon's Professor John Crowe Ransom meets one of Kenyon's newest alumni, Thornton Wilder, just after he had received his honorary Doctor of Letters degree. Conversation could be about anything from Wilder's new book, The Ides of March, to Ransom's new educational venture, the Kenyon School of English.

KENYON ALUMNI BULLETIN

Published quarterly in the interest of Kenyon College and its Alumni, by the Alumni Council, from the office of the Alumni Secretary.

KENYON COLLEGE
GAMBIER, OHIO

THE KENYON ALUMNI ASSOCIATION THE ALUMNI COUNCIL

President

THE REVEREND LOUIS M. BRERETON,
K. '34, B. '38
18001 Detroit Ave., Lakewood, Ohio

Vice-President

GEORGE B. HAMMOND, '30
175 South High St., Columbus, Ohio

Alumni Secretary-Treasurer

ROBERT B. BROWN, '11
Gambier

Immediate Past President

R. GALE EVANS, '26
128 East 6th St., Cincinnati, Ohio

Executive Committee of the Council

EDWARD H. STANSFIELD, '26	Akron, Ohio
WILLIAM G. CAPLES, '30	Chicago, Ill.
ROBERT W. TUTTLE, '37	New York, N. Y.
A. RODNEY BOREN, '38	Dayton, Ohio

Retiring Alumni President

At the time this is written, the 1948 Commencement week-end has just concluded. Aside from the seventeen-year locusts, which invaded Gambier again, it was a great week-end in every way. The young men who returned from the reunion classes of '88 and '98 were much in evidence and were enjoyed by all the alumni of more recent vintage. John McLain, a classmate of mine, was the featured speaker at the Alumni Luncheon, and regaled us all with humorous stories of his newspaper and movie experiences. Those of you who did not return missed a great treat.

This is my last message to you as your President. A new administration has taken over and I know the Alumni Association will show great strides under the able leadership of Lou Brereton and George Hammond.

I have one last parting shot to make at all alumni. It is regarding your Association and its Alumni Council. The Council will be just as effective as you make it. Please make every effort to attend your next local meeting. At that meeting be sure that you elect members to the Council who will be active. Their job is to sound out your local group and then bring their suggestions or matters for discussion to the Alumni Council meetings in Gambier. These meetings are twice yearly, at Homecoming and Commencement, and should be fully attended. If the alumni want a voice in the affairs of the College, the proper place to exercise it is in these meetings.

Remember, your Association will be just as strong as you make it.

R. Gale Evans, '26

Alumni Secretary's Column

The 1947-48 academic year, which came to a close with the Commencement Luncheon on Monday, June 14, was one of the most successful years in the history of the College from every point of view.

I believe it is safe to say that Kenyon is coming through the post-war period of adjustment, as it did through the period of the War itself, with less damage to its traditions and with more desirable and constructive changes than most of its sister institutions.

It has been a good year academically. The higher standards, set largely by the students themselves, while fatal to a few men, have been generally approved by those undergraduates who are willing to work seriously for a Kenyon degree. The year has marked the resumption of complete student government on a sounder and more practical basis than ever before. The faculty is stronger and the student body is of at least as good quality as ever and probably better. Most of the activities within the College, curricular and extra-curricular, which were here before the War are back again and are flourishing, and many new ones have been added. Athletics are revitalized, and we made fair to excellent records in all sports. The Ohio Conference Swimming Championship is safely back on the Hill. The new Department of Music is on a sound basis, and the quality of our music has improved under Professor Schwartz. There was never better college singing at Kenyon than that which took place on Sunday evening of Commencement week-end on the steps of Rosse Hall.

Fraternities, without exception, I think, are in good shape and are improving. The Archon Society, a local club, is petitioning for a charter from Delta Upsilon fraternity with fair chances of success, and hence we may soon have nine national fraternities at Kenyon instead of eight.

Moneywise, the College received during the year in gifts outside the Kenyon Development Program about $90,000.00 and within the program about $190,000.00. A full report on the Kenyon Development Program is printed elsewhere in this issue.

The work of the Secretary during the past year has been divided into three parts: (1) those purely administrative matters in which I have acted for or with President Chalmers, (2) purely alumni matters, and (3) the Kenyon Development Program. The administrative work has taken less of my time than before, probably because the President has spared me to favor the other two divisions of my work.

The Commencement week-end was a successful one with about the usual number of alumni back. Everyone seems to approve the moving of the Alumni Luncheon from Monday to Sunday noon, a change which was made in 1947. The luncheon this year was a capacity one for Peirce Hall, and the talk by John

(Continued on page 9)

Greetings From John Crowe Ransom

This is the second summer since the end of the war when the College has not had a regular session of its own. But we are not exactly idle. We are starting a series of summers—at least three have been scheduled—in which the new Kenyon School of English is to hold its sessions. The School is in full swing right now, well into its 45-day term. A hundred new faces are to be seen on the Hill.

Many summer schools are on holiday today (July 5), and their students are celebrating the Fourth which fell this year on a Sunday. But our students are so bent on knowledge that it was their wish to go right on with classes.

This is a graduate school, duly certified with the Ohio Department of Education and the North Central Association as giving courses qualified for graduate credit. It is not that the students are seeking any graduate degrees from Kenyon College, but it is much to their interest to be able to transfer their credits from our summer courses to their own graduate programs elsewhere. Most of the students are either graduate students in the universities or younger teachers who have not finished with graduate studies.

A smaller group consists of more matured persons classified as auditors. Their interest in this new kind of educational plant was so great that they were willing to pay the same tuition fee as the students, $100.00, for attending classes without taking part in discussions or receiving direct help from the instructors.

The drawing power of the School is so great that students had to be turned away, although the opening announcement could not be made till last midwinter. Auditors had to be refused too.

(Continued on Page 12)

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Among universities and colleges it is now frequently said that in spite of the effort to provide good instruction for the great crowd of veterans and others now enrolled, the quality has in fact gone down. The cause is to be found in the great increase in the size of classes and the relatively small increase in the number of instructors on the one hand and in the engagement of many poorly qualified instructors on the other.

This situation is so serious that many who at first were enthusiastic about the educational effect of the G. I. Bill are now skeptical about its worth. I think all agree that the G. I. Bill was a practical and useful way to show the nation's gratitude to those able to benefit from it. But some educators have been advocating a peace-time bill to send civilians to college; so the only partial success of the G. I. Bill in educational terms merits careful thought.

The following figures derived in May from 114 independent liberal arts colleges and from 81 colleges of arts and sciences within universities are significant:

	Pre-war	1947-1948
Ratio of students to instructors	16:1	19:1
In Kenyon the comparable figures are	13:1	14 $\frac{1}{4}$ :1

In 1948 - 1949, the ratio in Kenyon will be 12 $\frac{1}{2}$ :1.

While the Kenyon faculty has carried an extra burden, I do not think the current ratio at Kenyon a serious disadvantage to the student. The average for the above institutions of 1:19, however, is a distinct disadvantage.

More serious even than this is the fact reported by the institutions surveyed above that the quality of the new appointments is not up to standard. M.A.'s have been accepted for jobs requiring Ph.D.'s; inexperienced men for jobs requiring experienced teachers. At Kenyon, we have not suffered in this fashion, though it is true that in 1947-1948 a few young beginners were added to the staff on one-year appointment. The regular appointments to the Kenyon faculty to provide for the increase in students have been up to the high Kenyon standard, and for next year the temporary men have been replaced in all but two cases with experienced instructors.

In facilities I believe we have also been more fortunate than most colleges, thanks to the generous building of Kenyon. The Field House will at last give ample space for indoor athletics; but undergraduates will still be crowded in the dormitories and the barracks. Building of a new dormitory must await two things: a more settled year with respect to normal supply of students and costs so that we can determine the permanent size of the College; and more stable costs for building. In general the discussions of size indicate that the semina-

(Continued on page 13)

The Reverend Louis M. Brereton
New Alumni President

I am writing particularly to those unfortunate wage and domestic slaves, the alumni who didn't get back for this year's Commencement week-end activities. The luckier ones who did, know firsthand how well the College is progressing and the fine spirit evident in the faculty and student body.

Not the most important but certainly the most talked about thing on the campus is the new Wertheimer Field House. You have to see it to believe it. It will be a building we can all be proud of, and it will make possible a program of physical education and athletics equal to that of any college. We alumni must remember, however, that our job isn't done. It cannot be completely finished and equipped unless we continue our interest and financial support. It is at the stage where a little from each of us will go a long way.

The Gregg Cup award, which is given to the alumnus who has done the most for the College during the past year, was unanimously awarded to R. Gale Evans, the retiring Alumni President. We need not add anything to that announcement except to say that it couldn't happen to a nicer or more deserving guy.

We were all shocked and saddened by the announcement of the death of a member of the Executive Committee of the Alumni Council, Paul Sutherland. He was one of Kenyon's most loyal and enthusiastic sons. His interest and abilities will be missed, especially by those privileged to serve with him on the Council.

One final word, we had a very well attended meeting of the Council this June, and therefore a very productive meeting. It is entirely to the credit of the local associations that it was so. But it does emphasize the import-

BEXLEY NOTES

About fifty young men who are considering the ministry as a career met at Bexley the week-end of April 30 to discuss the requirements and the work of the profession. The group of high school graduates and college students came from Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Michigan, and Ohio.

One of the featured speakers of the three-day session was the new Bishop of Alaska, the Right Reverend William Jones Gordon. Other speakers were the Reverend Arthur Hargate, K. '36, the Reverend Robert F. McGregor of Oberlin, the Reverend Eugene Buxton, Bellefontaine, Ohio, the Reverend David Loegler (see below), the Reverend Clement Welsh, the Very Reverend Corwin C. Roach, and the Reverend Oscar J. F. Seitz.

The Conference was held under the auspices of the Dioceses of Ohio and Southern Ohio, the Church Society for College Work, Kenyon, and Bexley.

Canon Symons Honored
By Church Magazines

The Southern Churchman and the Living Church both paid honor recently to Canon Gilbert P. Symons, B. '07, in their editorial columns. Canon Symons edits Forward—day by day, and, in the words of the Southern Churchman, "Quietly he renders the Church a unique service. Only those who have written at Canon Symons' request know how much the Church owes to his fine judgment, his excellent editing, and his perceptive revision of material sent to him."

Both magazines also mention his extensive interest in foreign relief and the work which he personally has done to send hundreds of packages overseas, each with a warm spiritual message in his own words.

Fund Campaign For Seminaries

A $50,000 fund will be set up, according to Bishop Scarlett of Missouri, to provide contributions for the needs of the Virginia Theological Seminary, the seminary of the University of the South, Bexley Hall, and other institutions as the need arises. It is to be called the Theological Education Fund, and a part of it will also be used to assist candidates for the ministry from that diocese. This is an encouraging instance of Church people's support of the seminaries, in a time when they particularly need help.

ance of selecting representatives who can and will attend meetings. The only possible way the Council can reflect the ideas of the alumni is to have their representatives present to voice their aims. We have an active association; let's keep it going that way.

LOUIS M. BRERETON, K. '34, B. '38

The Reverend William C. Munds, B. '29, who has been re-elected Bexley alumnus trustee.

COMMENCEMENT

(Continued from page 1)

John McClain, '27, author of the New York Sun column, "Man About Manhattan," delighted the guests at the Alumni Luncheon with a witty account of his experiences as a screen writer and the implication that a Kenyon education fits a man for better things than Hollywood.

Mrs. Chalmers entertained the ladies at the Mount Vernon Country Club and was also hostess at the afternoon reception at Cromwell House, where Thornton Wilder, the Commencement speaker, took time out for a quick game of tag with little Ann Chalmers, his godchild.

Dr. Marston Morse of the Institute for Advanced Study was the speaker at the Library Supper Sunday evening. His talk, "Science and the Library," was enthusiastically received by the group of people who gathered there because of their particular interest in libraries.

Class night returned to an older, simpler type of entertainment as loyal Kenyon men gathered to sing on Rosse Hall steps before a delighted audience of families and friends. All vintages of Kenyon songs were included and everyone's favorites seem to have made the program.

The Commencement exercises were held with all the suitable pomp and circumstance. President Chalmers tossed in a few cryptic comments in Latin in awarding several of the degrees. Latin scholars on the Hill are still debating the meaning of his additions to the ritual.

Thornton Wilder held the attention of the entire hall with a rich statement on the opportunities in our times for moral and spirit-

Kenyon In Rochester

Kenyon men played a prominent role in the convention of the Diocese of Rochester last May. Bishop Bartel H. Reinheimer, K. '11, B. '14, was the presiding officer. The Reverend Roger Alling, '24, is rector of the host parish, Christ Church, Corning, and was elected to the Bishop and Cathedral Chapter. The Reverend Donald Ellwood, '24, of Zion Church, Avon, was elected a member of the Standing Committee of the Diocese.

ual action by the individual. He received an honorary Doctor of Letters degree. Other honorary degree recipients were the Very Reverend Arthur C. Lichtenberger, K. '23, B. '25, Doctor of Divinity; the Reverend Roscoe T. Foust, Doctor of Divinity; the Reverend E. Ashley Gerhard, Doctor of Divinity; the Right Reverend Richard S. Emrich, Bishop of Michigan, Doctor of Sacred Theology; Don Carlos Wheaton, '13, Doctor of Laws; Dr. Werner Jaeger, Doctor of Humane Letters; William F. Maag, Doctor of Humane Letters; the Right Reverend Norman B. Nash, Bishop of Massachusetts, Doctor of Humane Letters; and Dr. Marston Morse, Doctor of Science.

Four young men were graduated from Bexley and sixty from the College, eight of whom received degrees with Honors. President Chalmers announced that 42% of the graduates had already been definitely accepted in the nation's best graduate schools.

Visitors to the Hill for the One Hundred Twentieth Commencement will remember that the 17-year locusts were here in '48; that "the tent" was up for the first time, to serve as a gathering place before and after special programs; that the Class of '88 looked hale and hearty and didn't miss a trick; that the Field House was well under way, looking fabulously big and adequate to anything; and that the Hill is still in some ways home for everyone who knows it well—from Willis M. Townsend, '79, to the freshman who stayed over, not unwillingly, to wait tables and enjoy the fun.

George Gund, new trustee,

William E. Cless, Jr., '25, of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, New York, who was elected alumnus trustee for his first term.

It's Not The Size Of The Gift

Merrill W. MacNamee, '34, received a contribution for Kenyon from a young alumnus, Henry I. Meyer, '43, who accompanied a small check with a big idea. His letter said, "I realize the check is a small one but while an engineer's pay is apt to be modest, it is also apt to be regular. Please keep me in mind; in its way Kenyon represents about the best investment I can make. It is one of the few places I have seen in the world that seems to be adjusted and knows what it is doing."

Those are heartening words.

Gund Elected Trustee

On Saturday, June 12, the Board of Trustees met and elected George Gund, President of the Cleveland Trust Company, to fill the place left vacant by the death of Alwin C. Ernst.

Mr. Gund has had wide experience in banking, real estate, manufacturing, merchandising, and insurance. He is serving actively as a director of some twenty-five companies and as either an officer, trustee, or director of twelve philanthropic, civic, and educational organizations. He is both trustee and president of the Cleveland School of Art. He is also a trustee of the Air Foundation, the University School, the Cleveland Museum of Art, and a director of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

At the same meeting, Robert A. Weaver, '12, Charles C. Wright, '96, and William N. Wyant, '03, were re-elected to the Board of Trustees.

Gifts To The College

August 1, 1947 to June 7, 1948

EXCLUSIVE OF GIFTS TO DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

(From the Alumni Secretary's Report, given at the Alumni Luncheon, June 13)

For Current Purposes .....	$ 2,314.87
Theological Scholarships .....	1,250.00
Library (Collegiate) .....	4,898.75
For Special Purposes .....	32,023.55
Rockefeller Foundation for
Kenyon School of English .....	40,000.00
Bexley Hall .....	10,139.87
For Endowment .....	1,122.22
TOTAL .....	$91,749.26

I reported on June 15, 1947, that gifts to the Kenyon Development Program in cash, securities, and pledges totaled to that date $328,562. In the year just closing, i.e., from June 15, 1947 to date, we have received $187,958, making a total of $516,520, not including either the Rauh or the Wertheimer bequests.

Total gifts to the College for the year, from all sources and for all purposes, amount to $279,707.

Our Kenyon Development Program goal was originally set at $2,160,000. The Board of Trustees voted to add to that goal $280,000, as that portion of the cost of a new dormitory which will be paid for out of the proceeds of the Kenyon Development Program. The balance of the cost of the building will be amortized and paid for from future dormitory income. Our goal, as revised, is $2,440,000. Toward this objective, we have secured $1,003,070.44, or 42%.

Of the above amount, the alumni have given approximately $285,000, or 28% of the amount raised. Seven hundred alumni have subscribed, out of approximately 3200. This is about 22% of the alumni body, or about 25% of the alumni for whom we have good addresses. The average alumni gift is slightly over $400.

On behalf of the College, I pause to thank and congratulate those seven hundred alumni for their gifts and all the many alumni who have worked and are still working to make the kind of showing we can all be proud of.

Kenyon's many generous non-alumni friends have given 33.8% of the total to date. Non-alumni legacies account for the balance.

Gifts from alumni areas, the first five to date, are as follows:

Cleveland .....	$45,048.24
New York .....	43,567.74
Cincinnati .....	14,080.00
Akron .....	10,672.10
Chicago .....	8,031.00

Gifts from the five areas showing the largest totals to date are as follows:

Cleveland .....	$485,856.54
New York .....	123,113.34
Cincinnati .....	82,440.00
Youngstown .....	38,545.00
Akron .....	37,214.10

21 other areas .....	93,486.00
Alumni and others in areas
not organized .....	136,773.46
Students and faculty .....	19,192.00

The gifts received to date have been designated for the purposes included in the Kenyon Development Program as follows:

The New Dormitory .....	$280,000.00
The Field House .....	121,200.00
The Library .....	40,517.00

For the remodelling of the present Alumni Library when that building will become Norton Hall, in memory of the late David C. Norton, and for endowment and maintenance, from the Norton family, Mr. Laurence Norton, Trustee, his brother, Mr. Robert Norton, and his sister, Mrs. White .....

.....	36,468.75
Bexley Hall, in direct gifts only ..	3,581.60
Endowment and scholarship .....	521,303.09
According to the formula established by the College accountant and arranged in the early stages of the Kenyon Development Program, 7/8 will go to the College Department and 1/8 to Bexley Hall, the graduate department of the College.
TOTAL .....	$1,003,070.44

In the above figures are included 88 Kenyon Athletic Association memberships through gifts of $100 or more to the Field House, for a total amount of $11,450, and also in the War Memorial Scholarship Fund, $4,810.

While all the projects included in the program are as important now if not more so than at the beginning of the campaign, one job as far as we, the alumni, are concerned, must now take precedence over everything else, namely the completion of the Field House, which I hope you have all seen. In the ultimate building we are going to save somewhere between $150,000 and $200,000 from what an entirely new building would have cost. We have a bargain — a good bargain. But in the field house category, even bargains come high. To complete the present phase of the building will cost a total of about $235,000.

Through an arrangement between the Executive Committee of the Council and the Board of Trustees, made at their respective meetings on Saturday, June 12, the completion of this phase of the building is assured. The trustees have agreed to find and advance the necessary funds and the committee has agreed to contribute for this purpose the remainder of the Wertheimer bequest, which will amount to somewhere between $30,000 and $40,000. But the money which the trustees are advancing will be borrowed money, and it is hoped that the alumni will continue to work hard on this project. We must go forward with it, and we hope that every Kenyon man, young and old, will make it his business in the coming months to get some money for this purpose. Ask other

New Student Government

The work of the Interim Committee, which was to formulate a new plan of student government, came to a successful conclusion in April when the final draft of a new constitution was completed. The constitution was accepted by the student assembly, and on April 27 President Chalmers approved it.

There was a whirlwind election campaign the following week, and before the semester ended the new government was proving itself in action.

The new constitution provides for a much less complex machinery of government, with emphasis on constructive ways of insuring every student a voice in undergraduate affairs, and providing convenient means for cooperation between the administration and the students.

The chief governing body is the Student Council. Its members are chosen by the divisions of the College, irrespective of what class the individuals belong to. Under the new plan, the students have as much responsibility as under the old plan, and all indications seem to be that they are handling matters with good judgment.

Honors For Eisenman

William H. Eisenman, '03, has been nominated to his sixteenth consecutive term as national secretary of the American Society for Metals. He has been active in the field of metallurgy for over thirty years, and has held office in the ASM, formerly known as the American Society for Steel Treating, since 1918. The organization is now the third largest technical society in the world with 76 chapters, 21,000 members, and 40 employees. He first conceived of the idea of the annual National Metal Congress and Exposition, and his efforts have resulted in its being the largest show of its kind, drawing annually more than 40,000 scientists and engineers.

Bill Eisenman played end on Kenyon's varsity football team and for a time played professional football after leaving the Hill. Before his work in metallurgy he was a chemistry teacher and then a superintendent of schools. He inaugurated the publication of the ASM Metals Handbook in 1921, now the standard, world-wide reference book on metals. He has also written a textbook on chemistry and soon will publish the Officer's Manual for Organization.

Kenyon men, ask parents, ask your wealthy friends, ask anybody! With the completion of the building we shall have exactly what Kenyon has always sorely needed. It will make Kenyon more attractive for present students; it will make the College more attractive to prospective students; and it should vastly improve our standing in intercollegiate athletics. So let's finish the job.

ALUMNI NOTES

THOMAS T. VAN SWEARINGEN, KMA, '89, writes from the Ohio Masonic Home in Springfield, Ohio, that he is always glad to see news of Kenyon in the papers and to receive mail from the College and his old friends.

STEPHEN M. YOUNG, '11, is on the Democratic ticket for Congressman - at - large from Ohio. He was elected to the office in 1932, 1934, and 1940. ALLAN C. HALL, '12, president and owner of the Hall Grindstone Company, was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the One Hundred Eleventh Commencement of Marietta College of which he is a trustee. J. E. CARTER, '19, who was federal tax counsel for the B. F. Goodrich Company in Akron, has been named the company's assistant director. But solid business achievements are not his only boast. He was a member of the French Foreign Legion before he settled down with Goodrich.

The 1947 Jury of the Annual Advertising Awards has honored John Faulkner Arndt and Company of Philadelphia (JOHN F. ARNDT, '21) with the 1947 Medal Award for the most outstanding series of advertisements submitted under the magazine section of awards. The honor is shared by the agency's client, the Drexel Furniture Company of Durham, North Carolina. The competition is very keen for this recognition and this particular award is in the most important category. MARSHALL N. TERRY, '24, vice-president of the Crosley Broadcasting Corporation, has been appointed to the board of directors of the Cincinnati Economy Drug Company.

REGINALD D. WELLS, '25, has been made general agent in Boston for the State Mutual Life Assurance Company of Worcester. He is a member of the board of directors of the Boston General Agents and Life Managers Association, and of the Life Insurance and Trust Council in Boston. DR. SAMUEL K. WORKMAN, '26, has been appointed Associate Professor of English at Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago. He has been at Northwestern University as an assistant professor.

DANIEL Q. WILLIAMS, '27, who has been lay reader in charge of All Saints' Church in Pontiac, Rhode Island, was ordained to the diaconate by the Right Reverend Granville G. Bennett, D.D., Bishop of Rhode Island, in April. He plans to continue in charge of the same parish.

HARRY A. SHUTE, '31, who was last heard from in Hawaii, is home from his travels and will settle in New Jersey, where he will be district manager of Encyclopaedia Britannica Films for New Jersey and New York City. In this position he will consult with school administrators and audio-visual directors and help them plan their classroom film programs. ROBERT T. HAASE, '32, was married to Miss Camilla Gillette in Washington in February. They will live in Washington where he

Cincinnati Alumni Honor
Dr. and Mrs. Peirce

Dr. and Mrs. William F. Peirce were the guests of honor at a delightful little alumni party at the Queen City Club in Cincinnati on Wednesday, April 28. The Peirces were on a motor trip from their home in Maryland to the Bluegrass Country of Kentucky where they took in the Derby at Louisville.

The alumni and their wives who gathered to greet "Fat" and Mrs. Peirce in Cincinnati were Dr. and Mrs. J. Albert Bell, '95, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Stanbery, '98, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Stanbery, '96, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gordon, '08, Rev. and Mrs. David Thornberry, Jr., K. '33, B. '36, Thomas Youtsey, '98, the Rev. Maxwell B. Long, K. '05, B. '08, Robert A. Cline, '16, Francis T. Martin, '30, and Arthur L. Brown, '06, of Chicago. The comments made by the Cincinnati crowd were that "Dr. Peirce has scarcely changed at all and everyone was delighted with Mrs. Peirce."

ARE YOU TOO BUSY TO WRITE LETTERS?

Sure, you'd like to keep up with the people you knew on the Hill, but it's hard to find time. Actually, all you need to do is write a post card telling the current events in your life, to the editor of the Alumni Bulletin.

If you did that every six months, this would be a bigger, better Bulletin, and there would be fewer people wondering—works with the Veterans' Administration. FRANK MALLET, '34, received his M.S. at Ohio State University in March.

What ever happened to good old Joe . . . and Tom . . . and Bill?

JOHN F. JUDGE, '35, was married in March in Newark, Ohio. His bride is the former Miss Ellen Linda Graham of Newark. THE REVEREND JOHN J. ALBERT, '37, who was rector of St. Matthew's Church, Bond Hill, Cincinnati, moved to Troy, Ohio in April to become rector of Old Trinity Church. DR. GEORGE WILLIAM EAGON, '38, returned to Gambier at Commencement time, but not primarily to attend his tenth reunion. The real occasion was his marriage to Miss Phyllis Jane Wheeler in the Church of the Holy Spirit, the College Chapel.

The Governor of Kentucky has appointed DALE SHAFFER, '39, racing commissioner for the state. JOSEPH A. STAUFFER, '39, was married in Louisville, Kentucky to Miss Jane Chase Eisenhower. They will live in Van Wert, Ohio. ROBERT W. WRAY, JR., '39, is settled in Euclid, Ohio, with his bride, the former Miss Aldamae Boyce of Coshocton.

(Continued on page 12)

ATHLETICS

By H. F. Pasini

Our spring athletic program was severely handicapped this year. Our practice space was curtailed by the Field House construction, and a spell of bad weather prevented our getting an early start. As a whole, however, the season was encouraging and some very interesting games took place.

Coach Lloyd Budge did wonders with some very ordinary tennis material, and the team won five and tied one, while losing four. Two of the four losses were against big-time teams, Ohio State and Cincinnati.

Lacrosse, our new sport, had a very fine season, considering the team's inexperience and the lack of a qualified coach. They won twice from Ohio State and once from Oberlin, while losing to Hobart, Sampson, Penn State J. V.'s, and once to Oberlin. All the lacrosse boys are returning next season, and there are some fine prospects entering from eastern schools.

William Stiles, one of Hobart's greats in lacrosse, has been secured as coach, so next year's outlook is bright and we feel that this fine game is here to stay.

Our golf team, with only one veteran player back, did not do so well this spring, but improved as the season advanced. Thirteen matches were played. We won four and lost nine.

The baseball team gave some fine exhibitions and several poor ones, but on the whole was better than usual. We won three and lost seven, while six games were rained out.

The track team took part in seven meets, winning two and losing five. Two meets, however, were so close that they were decided by the last event.

Spring sports lost no one through graduation, so next spring should show great improvement in all sports. Particularly important is the fact that all teams will have the facilities of the new Field House to get the early season training we have always needed so badly.

Stiles To Coach Lacrosse
Next Season

William C. Stiles, who was an All-American lacrosse man in his undergraduate days at Hobart, will be Assistant Director of Athletics next fall. For the past two years he has been Assistant Lacrosse Coach under Ned Harkness at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, whose spectacular lacrosse team won all its eighteen games this past spring and is touring England this summer. Stiles will coach both lacrosse and the football line at Kenyon, as well as serve as assistant to the Dean.

Jim Bellows Attacked By Ku Klux Klansmen

(Reprinted from The Collegian,
April 16, 1948)

(The following account of what happened when he covered a KKK initiation with two of his colleagues for the Columbus, Georgia Ledger-Enquirer was written by James G. Bellows, '47.)

For some 25 years the Ku Klux Klan was but a memory in the past of Columbus, Ga. But on the night of March 12, 1948, without warning, its activities matched the organization's arrogance of the early 'twenties.

The Klan didn't want any publicity about its biggest initiation and meeting in 25 years, despite the local announcement of a recruiting campaign for the hooded order late last year by a violently "white supremacy" pastor. Nevertheless, there were three Columbus Ledger newspapermen — Photographer Joe Talbot, Reporter Carlton Johnson, and I — tailing the caravan of three chartered busses and nearly 10 other automobiles when it headed for the Pine Mountain meeting site.

The attendance of Grand Dragon Dr. Samuel Green apparently had drawn all Klansmen from miles around. Nearly 100 cars were parked alongside the macadam road on the dark mountain top, and at least 300 persons hoped to crowd inside the tarpaper shack meeting hall. It was so crowded when the gavel first sounded that many grouped around a make-shift bonfire close by the hall.

We parked amid Klan cars some 70 feet from the tiny community building, and watched to see what turn the proceedings would take. I mingled with the group around the bonfire, listened to the talk, and finally walked back to the car when a robed figure and some of the men began lining up for the initial initiation ceremony.

It was deathly quiet outside the hall when all Klansmen had filed in. Nothing could be seen through the thickly painted windows and only a brisk March wind rustling the tall pines and a muffled "mumbo-jumbo" inside the hall could be heard.

Slowly the men began to file out again. Some erected a huge, kerosene-drenched cross in the front lawn. The formal ceremony was ready to begin, and that's when our trouble began.

Joe took one photo squarely in front of the group immediately after the big cross began to blaze. Dr. Green droned on. Joe took one more and moved out onto the road. Soon I heard a disturbance in that direction and investigated.

Fifteen unhooded men had grabbed Joe. They wanted the pictures and they got them; we were in no position to refuse. Meanwhile, other KKK's had found our car, dragged Carlton out on the road, and confiscated all the photographic equipment. Then they threw photographic plates all over the road and stamped on them, and on Joe's hand, too, when he tried to retrieve one of the plates.

This over, we were bundled into one of the cars immediately in front of the hall. One robed Klansman guarded us inside. The others milled about the car, threatening us. Some had reentered the building, where at least 150 of the men must have retreated when the ceremonies ended.

Apparently instructions were handed down and we were lined up by robed and unrobed Klansmen on the front lawn. About 20 men gathered around us. Many were farmers, lean, ruddy South Georgia-born. The robed figures apparently were the Columbus members; they talked easier, pleasanter, and probably protected us from some harm.

Each of us was handed a pint of whisky. "Drink it or we'll pour it down your throats," we were told. Discretion seemed the better part of valor in this case. It may or may not have been the thing to do, but newspapermen throughout the country probably got a hearty chuckle when they heard of their co-workers being "forced" to imbibe.

The three of us continued to argue during this time. We said we gave up the photos, and had acted openly. This was to no avail, however. A group of 10 men followed each of us around and persisted in having us drink the pint and also ice cream goblets full of more straight whisky.

It was about this time that I blacked out. At least I don't remember anything else about the Klan or the night of March 12, except waking up in the Manchester, Ga., jail at 7 a.m. the next morning. But Joe and Carlton retained some semblance of consciousness throughout. Here's the story they tell:

About ten men led me off to the other side of the road for no apparent reason. When I was brought back the left side of my face was bloody, and three cuts remained after they brushed off my face. I fell flat on my face beside the fire shortly after this and the Klansmen pushed me to one side.

Soon, Carl and Joe were led — I was carried — inside the meeting hall, and we were seated in a small room where an American flag and a bright silver sword adorned the only table. Each of us was taken into a small anteroom. Carl was punched once in the right arm with a hypodermic, Joe was shot twice through the pant leg in the right thigh with a similar instrument. (I don't remember.)

Next we were all placed in the Ledger car and driven to the city limits of Manchester, some five miles away. Photographs were taken of Joe slumped over the wheel in the front seat, and Carlton and I in a compromising position in the rear seat. One Klansman, after wiping off the car key, replaced it in the ignition switch of our car, and also carefully cleaned the steering wheel. Within five minutes Manchester police arrived; the Klansmen stood by in their own car until the police drove

Ralston Publishes Book

Dr. A. Wheeler Ralston, '22, has just published a book, Fatty Acids and Their Derivatives, describing the research which he has carried out as Director of the Research Laboratories of Armour and Company, Chicago.

Chemical News says of Dr. Ralston and his work: "Dr. Ralston began his career in chemistry as a boy by setting up a laboratory in his bedroom. In high school he studied all the chemistry he could, and after four years at Kenyon, he was graduated with both the B.S. and M.S. degrees. In 1927 he received his Ph.D. degree from Iowa State College where he specialized in inorganic and physical chemistry.

"Sixteen years ago Dr. Ralston joined the staff of the Research Laboratories of Armour and Company. Armour wanted to find uses for fatty acids other than in soap making. Out of this research program came a process of separating fatty acids and the preparation of many of their derivatives. He is the author of over seventy scientific papers and one hundred patents. In March, 1947, he received the Midwest Award for the St. Louis Section of the American Chemical Society for his work on fats which has made possible the production of millions of pounds of chemicals which, until a short time ago, were laboratory curiosities."

Dr. Walter H. Coolidge of Kenyon's Department of Chemistry says: "Dr. Ralston's work beautifully exposes the common fallacy that fundamental research is a prerogative of the universities while the sole function of industrial laboratories is practical application. The former is prerequisite to the latter and, in this case, has resulted in the discovery of new insecticides, fungicides, materials which prolong the life of asphalt roads, and substances for waterproofing certain kinds of building materials."

up. We were jailed immediately for drunkenness.

The next morning we were released on bond to Joe Hall, city editor, and our story was told in every newspaper in the nation. We still have not stood trial. And the final outcome of the entire incident is mere guesswork.

Of course, Dr. Green described it all as "a cock and bull story." He admits he attended the meeting, but says we dreamed up the story when we got drunk and flunked an assignment. Meanwhile, an investigation is under way to determine if the FBI could and should enter the case, and the Georgia Bureau of Investigation is working on the affair now.

(Editor's note: According to newspaper reports, the case was dismissed by a Georgia court "for lack of evidence.")

Alumni Council Officers

The Alumni Council met Saturday, June 12, at 11 a.m. and elected new officers for the coming year. The following slate was proposed by the nominating committee and unanimously elected:

President of the Council, to succeed R. Gale Evans, '26, the Reverend Louis M. Brereton, K. '34, B. '38, of Cleveland.

Vice-President of the Council, to succeed William E. Cless, Jr., '25, George B. Hammond, '30, of Columbus.

Secretary-Treasurer (Alumni Secretary) Robert B. Brown, '11, Gambier.

Members of the Executive Committee: to succeed George B. Hammond, '30, for a three-year term ending in 1951, Edward H. Stansfield, '26, Akron; to succeed Paul H. Sutherland, '25, deceased, for a three-year term ending in 1951, William G. Caples, '30, of Chicago; to succeed Louis M. Brereton for the unexpired term ending in 1949, Robert W. Tuttle, '37, New York; to succeed James A. Hughes, '37, resigned, for the unexpired term ending in 1950, A. Rodney Boren, '38, Dayton.

For members of the Council to be elected by the Council: to succeed himself, Malcolm B. Adams, '22, Cleveland; to succeed E. E. Dale Shaffer, '39, John K. Widmer, '38, Dayton; to succeed Paul H. Sutherland, deceased, William G. Caples.

The Council also voted to award to R. Gale Evans the Gregg Cup for his excellent work during the past year as Alumni President and during the preceding years as President of the Alumni Association of Cincinnati, and as an officer of the Kenyon Development Program.

A resolution was passed paying tribute to the memory of the late Paul Sutherland.

The Council also endorsed the petition of the Archon Society for a charter from Delta Upsilon.

It was resolved that hereafter Home-coming Day and the fall meeting of the Council should be set, if practicable, for the same week-end as the fall meeting of the Board of Trustees in Gambier.

President Chalmers then joined the meeting and talked briefly about the state of the College and answered questions from the Council. The meeting was adjourned with many expressions of gratitude to Mr. Evans for his able and devoted service to the Council during his term of office.

Bexley Notes

The Reverend David Loegler, who was a special student at Bexley this past year, has been appointed director of the Department of Christian Social Relations for the Diocese of Ohio. He is also a member of the staff for the Episcopal City Missions in Cleveland. Formerly he was associate secretary at the Cleveland Church Federation.

Man About Manhattan

By JOHN McCLAIN

(From the New York Sun June 14, 1948)

OLD GRAD STUFF

Gambier, Ohio — This comes to you from the seat of Kenyon College, a small all-male institution which had the temerity to hang a Ph.B. degree on me almost twenty years ago. Not content with that one error they proceeded to hail me back for this commencement to speak at the alumni luncheon, which was held yesterday in Peirce Hall. My address may not have had them rolling in the pews, but since Mr. Brown, the secretary of the college, picked up my luncheon check it couldn't have been a total bust, either. In any case it served as an ample excuse to return to the old familiar quadrangle and tree-crowned path still echoing with the songs and the laughter of those departed days when life was blithe and uncomplicated, and I had never heard of a thing called a deadline.

This small seminary was founded 124 years ago by a rugged Episcopal bishop named Philander Chase who, in the words of one of the school's many great songs, "Climbed the hill and said a prayer, and founded Kenyon College there."

To this day it remains, in my partially prejudiced opinion, the most typically storybook school in the country. There is majestic Old Kenyon, built as the first dormitory over 100 years ago, dominating the quadrangle in ivy-covered grandeur. And the elm-covered path leading half a mile to Bexley Hall, also over a century old and still regarded as one of the finest American examples of Gothic architecture. Even the athletic field is nestled in a natural bowl, suggesting that any minute Frank Merriwell will take the field and win the game with an eighty-yard run in the last minute of play.

One of the first persons I saw yesterday, after checking into the new Alumni House, was Dr. Rudolph Kutler. Rudy, as my years now permit me to call him, was the football coach in my day and he succeeded in the herculean task of transforming me from a large and harmless gridiron Mortimer Snerd into a fairly serious tackle. He achieved this by personally beating me about the ears in practice until I was ready to slug anybody, my own teammates included. I think that team was the best one Rudy ever coached, which prompt-

The Very Reverend Arthur C. Lichtenberger, K. '23, B. '25, Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Newark, New Jersey, will take up new duties as Professor of Pastoral Theology at General Theological Seminary in August. (See Commencement account for other news of Dean Lichtenberger.)

* * * *

The Reverend John Green, B. '47, is the new rector of the Church of the Advent in Lakewood, Ohio.

ed him to recall this one incident from my long-forgotten past:

That season we had won our first four or five games and were marching toward what looked like the Ohio championship. This success instilled in the eleven or twelve of us who played the whole sixty minutes of almost every game a sort of fierce confidence amounting to snobbery. We felt immeasurably superior in all respects to the other fresh-water colleges on our schedule, most of whom had the bad taste to include women in their roster of students.

But finally we came up against St. Xavier of Cincinnati, a team consisting of some very large and determined young Irish gentlemen. They were also undefeated and seemed anxious to remain so.

It was a scoreless tie going into the fourth quarter and Xavier had the ball on our twelve-yard line, third down. The end playing next to me, a close friend named Clayton Van Epps, began talking to the Xavier wing-back opposite him. He was hardly complimentary in his remarks, but I thought it was beneath our dignity even to speak.

"Don't talk to the jerk, Van," I said. "If you saw him on the street you wouldn't speak to him."

With this the wing-back yelled "check" and they went back into their huddle. When they came out every eye seemed to be on me. And so was the play. The end hit me, then the wing-back and then two or three others, followed by the ball carrier, who went for eight yards and a first down.

As the wing-back got up, helping himself to his feet with one hand in my left eye, he said: "No, and I wouldn't speak to you, either, you bum!"

Final score: Xavier 6; Kenyon 0.

With Bowers In Moscow

Don Bowers, '46, writes to a friend on the Hill, Ed McGuire, that life in the American Embassy in Moscow is fast and hectic. He says that in a city of seven million people, the Embassy crowd is living in a village of two hundred Americans and Western Europeans. The spirit reminds one of life on a wartime destroyer, with close, frantic friendships which come with living identical lives — fine but artificial.

His home is a small apartment in a local hotel, furnished with a bear rug named Mishka and a wonderful cook. Recreation consists of cocktail parties and the attempt to get away from the crowds and noise of Moscow streets. He mentions skiing and tennis at the Embassy dacha outside the city, and a boat trip up the Moscow River—all of which sounds pleasant enough until he says that Russian beer is $1.50 per glass, and not very good beer at that.

Wolfe On World Affairs

Henry C. Wolfe, '22, gave the address at the annual meeting of the National Institute of Social Studies, February 5, at the Union Club in New York. His travels have taken him to the Iron Curtain countries many times over a period of years, so that he sees them in perspective. From his speech before a distinguished audience in New York:

"What the informed minority (in Czechoslovakia) fear is the old Bismarckian idea of an alliance between Germany and Russia. They talk about a 'Third Rapallo.' The First Rapallo took place in Italy during the Genoa Conference in the spring of 1922. It was an understanding between Weimar Germany and the Soviet Union. What may be called the Second Rapallo was the Nazi-Soviet pact of 1939.

"Is a 'Third Rapallo' on the way? Some highly informed people in Czechoslovakia think so. This is how they analyze the situation: Militarists of Germany and Russia have long dreamed of an Anschluss that would combine the manpower, raw materials, and great space of the Russian domain with the manpower, technological know-how, industry, and organizing ability of Germany. German and Russian empire builders have long believed such a combination could dominate the world."

He described an interview he had twelve years ago with Erich Koch, a Nazi leader, in which the German said that even if the Reich lost a war with the Soviet, "the German tail . . . would start to wag the Russian dog."

" . . . the activities of Marshal von Paulus and his German army in Russia give terrible meaning to the words of Erich Koch." The informed minority in Czechoslovakia "see the trend of affairs in central and eastern Europe. They know about von Paulus and his German divisions under Kremlin orders. They know that Russian and German militarists share the ambition of a 'Third Rapallo.' They are frightened. Not only the informed minority in Czechoslovakia, but also the informed minority in Austria, Finland, and the democratic, anti-Nazi remnants in Germany share these fears of Russo-German Anschluss."

* * * * *

"Informed observers in central Europe realize that the Pan-Germans and German militarists will not accept the loss of the eastern provinces. They see in the von Paulus movement the early maneuvering of the German militarists to return to power. They suspect that one of the first definite warnings of the 'Third Rapallo' will be the entry of the von Paulus army into the Soviet occupied zone of Germany."

HOMEcoming . . .

will be Saturday, October 23. Come, bring your family, bring your Kenyon Athletic Association Life Membership card for free admittance to the game.

President Chalmers shoots a target while Mr. Williams checks his accuracy with the spotting scope.

Shooting On The Hill

All the divisions but one participated this past year in the intramural rifle matches, thanks to the new and more convenient location of the range and the zealous work of Mr. Louis Williams, '92, who has been encouraging and coaching Kenyon's marksmen since 1940.

The new rifle range was added last fall to the temporary annex to Rosse Hall—a kind of annex to an annex. In spite of the fact that it sounds like an afterthought, it has already proved that when facilities are available students will put them to good use.

Mr. Williams has taught marksmanship in the rain and wind outdoors, and down in the hangar, but the annex to the annex is a marked improvement. It is close to the divisions and the classrooms. People drop in out of curiosity—and stay to test their skill. The range can accommodate four marksmen. Mr. Williams is particularly proud of his spotting scope, a kind of junior telescope through which he can view the target fifty feet away and check precisely the accuracy of the marksmen.

ALUMNI SECRETARY'S COLUMN

(Continued from page 2)

McClain, '27, of the New York Sun, was bright, witty, and entertaining.

Bishop Nash's baccalaureate sermon at the service Sunday morning was one of the very best. There was no program for Sunday evening except the singing on Rosse Hall steps and, as I have said above, that was excellent. A large crowd of visitors sat in the light of a new moon and listened for an hour or more. Then the gathering broke up and went to the Reunion Tent, an innovation this year which will certainly be repeated, for refreshments, singing, and what-have-you.

Commencement exercises on Monday were conducted in the usual Kenyon fashion,

Hillyer Appointed

Robert S. Hillyer, who won the Pulitzer Prize for his Selected Verse, published in 1933, has been appointed Visiting Professor of English, to teach courses in advanced prose writing and lyric poetry. He has achieved a reputation as a poet, critic, and novelist, and is a distinguished addition to the English faculty.

Other new appointments include Franklin Miller, Jr., who has been a member of the faculty of Rutgers University since 1937. He will be Associate Professor of Physics. Dr. Miller has done research in expansion and compression of solids and is at work on a physics textbook for college use.

Franz H. Mautner, who was born and educated in Vienna, joins the Kenyon faculty next year as Associate Professor of German and Comparative Literature, to teach German and Greek. Dr. Mautner has taught at the Humanistisches Gymnasium and the Volkshochschule in Vienna, and the University of Besancon, France, at Indiana University and Hobart College. Since 1944 he has been on the faculty of Ohio Wesleyan University.

William Copithorne, who has published short stories in the New Yorker and the Atlantic, will be Assistant Professor of English next fall. He has been an instructor at Harvard.

Edward Harvey, who has been doing graduate work and teaching at Harvard, will be Assistant Professor of Modern Languages.

Simeon Hutner, who taught this past year at Princeton, will be Assistant Professor of Economics next fall. Murray Krieger will be an instructor in English.

The following members of the faculty have been promoted by action of the Board of Trustees June 12: Dr. Philip W. Timberlake will be McIlvaine Professor of English; Dr. Denham Sutcliffe will be Professor of English; and the Reverend Clement W. Welsh will be Associate Professor of Systematic Theology in Bexley Hall and of Religion in the College.

Dr. Donald Blynn DuBois will serve as Dean of Freshmen and continue his duties as Director of Scholarships.

The Reverend Ralph W. Reamsnyder, B. '39, who had been rector of St. Mark's Church in Cleveland, has answered a call to Trinity Church, Alliance, Ohio.

dignified and impressive. Thornton Wilder made the address and it was a good one. And immediately following the exercises the Commencement Luncheon for the seniors, their parents, and the visitors was held in Peirce Hall where Marston Morse, one of the new honorary alumni, gave an outstanding talk.

Gambier has now settled down to comparative quiet. The new School of English is going strong but will be over on August 7, and then there will be a period of rest for everyone until College opens in September.

(left to right)
 Procession entering Rosse Hall between the lines of Seniors.
 The Reverend Roscoe T. Foust, the Very Reverend Arthur C. Lichtenberger, the Reverend E. Ashley Gerhard, and the Right Reverend Robert S. Emrich.
 Dean Lichtenberger greets his old teacher, Professor Richard Manning.
 Commencement crowd.
 President Chalmers, the Right Reverend Norman B. Nash, and Dean Roach of Bexley.
 Professor Black with E. E. Dale Shaffer, '39.

(left to right)

Class night singing.

Man About Manhattan, John McClain.

Trustees who received degrees, William F. Maag and Don C. Wheaton.

Gay crowd in the "Tent."

At the Klan Breakfast, Fred McGlashan, '08, Arthur L. Brown, '06, Pat Pasini, Jack Furniss, '26.

At the baseball game, Bill Alexander, '39, Jack Sammon, '38, Bud Cless, '40.

ALUMNI NOTES

(Continued from page 6)

PETER TAYLOR, '40, published his first volume of short stories this spring, under the title, A Long Fourth and Other Stories. A Nashville reviewer writes: "Nashville has a right to be proud of a writer of such veracity."

FRED BARRY, JR., '42, was married in Mount Vernon, Ohio, to Miss Virginia Motherall in June. He will receive his law degree from Harvard next year. THE REVEREND KENNETH W. KADEY, '42, was ordained to the priesthood on April 24 at the Church of the Ascension, Buffalo, New York.

WILLIAM B. LEHECKA, '43, ran in the Republican primary in May for state representation from Cleveland. His friends all wish him better luck next time.

THOMAS R. HARDEMAN, '43, was married in June to Miss Betty Hahne, daughter of President and Mrs. Ernest H. Hahne of Miami University. They will live in Milwaukee.

(Continued on page 13)

GREETINGS FROM MR. RANSOM

(Continued from page 2)

You have already been notified about the idea behind the new School. The School of English is really a School of Criticism. Its instructors (who make up a permanent advisory staff of Fellows of the School) are all professional writers of literary criticism, and most of them teach in English or American universities. The students are young men, or young women, who want to learn to write criticism and/or to teach it. There is now in the universities a demand for such teachers far greater than can be supplied, and the concentration of critical courses in the Kenyon School of English is an attempt to hasten the preparation of proper teachers.

I think I should mention that we have women students as well as men, to the number of 27 out of a total of about 80. They live in Bexley Hall, while the men students live in Old Kenyon.

Our summer students are rather more sober and hardworking than our year-round College students, but why shouldn't they be? They are graduate students, which means professional students; I would be a little worried if the College boys were as serious. Still, along with Dean Charles Coffin, I have been surprised that the summer crowd does not go in more for games and sports, swimming, and parties. We have had one party of square-dancing in Rosse Hall. Presently we will have a private showing of the film, Monsieur Verdoux, kindly furnished by Mr. Chaplin for educational purposes. Weekly, on Wednesday evenings, we present a Forum of discussion on some critical topic to a packed house of students and visitors.

I am sure that honor will come to Kenyon for inaugurating and operating this School, which is the only one of its kind, like the Phoenix of the fable.

John Crowe Ransom

Lee Allen Writes Book

Lee Allen, '37, formerly associated with the front office of the Cincinnati Reds, published a book this spring covering the life and history of the famous ball club which was the first professional team in the sport.

The Cincinnati Reds was introduced to the reading public at a breakfast celebration at the John Shillito Company on April 17, where Lee autographed a stack of copies for all of Cincinnati's baseball aristocracy. Eppa Rixey, former star pitcher for the Reds, (father of Kenyon's phenomenal basketball star of the same name) was master of ceremonies at the breakfast. Mayor Albert Cash, Johnny Neun, manager of the Reds, and Warren Giles, president of the Reds were on hand to pay tribute to Lee Allen and the team whose historian he has become.

Admissions Policy

At the March 13 meeting of the Executive Committee of the Alumni Council a resolution was passed, which reads, in part:

"... that any son of a Kenyon alumnus who applies for admission, if he has graduated from an accredited high school or preparatory school, shall be admitted and that thereafter he shall be subject to the same academic rules of the faculty as any other student in the College."

The following letter, written by President Chalmers to Gale Evans, President of the Alumni Association, describes the action which the administration has taken on the Executive Committee resolution.

May 14, 1948

Dear Mr. Evans:

Following the recommendations of the Executive Committee of the Alumni Council concerning the admission of sons of the alumni to Kenyon College, I am pleased to report two changes in the rules governing special admission to the College.

The first refers explicitly to sons of Kenyon alumni:

Any son of a Kenyon alumnus who applies for admission and has been graduated from a fully accredited high school or preparatory school with college entrance grades will be admitted as a regular student.

This change is substantially the one recommended by your committee with the additional qualification that the candidate must have college entrance grades. Transcripts from the secondary schools show "passing grade" and "grade required for recommendation to college," the latter being the minimum which the school thinks necessary for entrance to any college with the prospect of minimum performance in college. Recognizing that the minimum refers to a great many colleges of standards considerably lower than Kenyon's, it is evident that a candidate who has not succeeded in making this minimum in secondary school would be so surely doomed to failure and consequent disappointment in college that it would be unwise to accept him either as a regular student or as a student on probation.

The second change refers to probationary admission and is applicable to young men with Kenyon connections who do not qualify for regular admission:

Probationary admission will be defined as involving entrance on probation which may be extended through the second semester if it is not worked off in the first semester.

This second change in rule has the effect of giving those who have been turned down by the Committee on Admissions but who have been admitted by the Committee on Probationary Admissions the advantage of two semesters in the College rather than, as heretofore, one semester, before they will be dismissed for poor grades.

Yours sincerely,

Gordon K. Chalmers

Nuremberg Chronicle
Loaned To Kenyon

(Excerpts from a talk over WKCG, Kenyon College Radio Station, by Professor Richard G. Salomon, given on June 2, 1948.)

The last exhibition held in the library this year has become possible through the kindness of a friend of our library abroad. Dr. Beatrice Hirsch-Reich, a well-known scholar in the field of medieval history, German by birth, living in Oxford, has been good enough to lend us for some years her precious copy of a world-famous book, the Nuremberg Chronicle. The book was printed in 1493, one year after the discovery of America. I feel authorized to say that the College is very grateful to Dr. Hirsch-Reich for this loan which gives the students of Kenyon a chance to become acquainted with a very interesting monument to the noble art of printing.

The Nuremberg Chronicle is the first monument of book illustration in a great style. The circumstances under which it came into existence are peculiar. In this case it was not the printer-publisher who conceived the idea, nor was it the author of the text. Two Nuremberg artists, Michael Wolgemut and his stepson, William Pleidenwurff, planned the work as a paying proposition. They were both well-known craftsmen. Wolgemut owned a well-renowned artistic shop which produced everything from altar pieces to playing cards. With money invested by two capitalists, the Wolgemut shop got busy and the artists commissioned the best and most productive printer in Nuremberg, Anton Koberger, to print the text around their illustrations. The text was written by a local scholar, Dr. Hartman Schedel.

The text of the World Chronicle is not a masterpiece. It was compiled and copied from older works just like our beloved modern textbooks of history. At the end of the work, Schedel entered a remark meant to protect his good name by stating that he had had very little time for his work and had done it with "as much precision as possible." Nobody will read his Latin text today in order to find any new information or original idea. But the text is important to modern historians since it gives an idea of the kind of historical pabulum with which the average reader was satisfied about 1500.

Please do not expect from Renaissance illustrations what you are entitled to expect in this age of photography. There are hundreds of portraits of kings, popes, scholars in the book; but Master Wolgemut would have laughed if anyone had asked him whether he could guarantee that Charlemagne looked as he was presented in the woodcut. That was not the idea. The pictures were meant to please, not to give documentation. All of the popes from St. Peter down to Alexander VI, the notorious Borgia pope, about two hundred individuals, are represented by individual portraits. A close analysis shows that the artists made only twenty-eight different woodcuts of impressive-looking old gentlemen with the papal crown—and each one of the blocks served to represent from six to ten different popes.

Library Plans Praised

Librarian Wyman W. Parker presented slides of the plans for the proposed Kenyon College Library at the College Library Building Clinic of the American Library Association Convention in Atlantic City, June 16. Over one hundred twenty-five interested professional people were present, including library architects, college librarians with plans in progress, and library steel supply representatives.

The Kenyon plans were very enthusiastically received and there were many requests for the handsome pamphlet, "A New Library for Kenyon College," which includes the plans and which was the basis of Mr. Parker's half-hour talk at the Clinic. It was very gratifying to the librarian to hear in subsequent days of the Convention much favorable mention of Kenyon and our plans. Any interested in this library brochure are urged to request a copy from the Kenyon Development Program Office.

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

(Continued from page 3)

ry should grow a little and the undergraduate college shrink somewhat.

Laboratory and classroom space is ample; the library is too small even for a college of 300. Thus we continue with our plans to raise money for the new library through the Kenyon Development Program.

Gordon Keith Chalmers

Gifts To The Library

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown of Mount Vernon have given the Library a collection of books which were the property of William Craig Cooper of Mount Vernon. Some of them had once belonged to Dr. Isaac W. Russell and Dr. John W. Russell, early Mount Vernon settlers from Connecticut.

Mrs. Thomas Catesby Jones has presented another collection of books from her library to be added to the Louisa Brooke Jones Collection in the Kenyon College Library. These books consist of limited editions, signed and especially illustrated. There is the signed Thomas Hardy Dynasts in three handsome volumes which has the Hardy etching signed by Francis Dodd. There are signed editions by Norman Douglas and by James Stephens (Crock of Gold) as well as the John Austin illustrated edition of The Gods Are Athirst. There are six handsome volumes of that rare English journal on typography, The Fleuron, as well as many of the less known titles by H. G. Wells.

Mrs. Jones also added to the Louisa Brooke Jones Fund for music, art and poetry books the check received from the Magazine of Art for the late Mr. Jones's article printed in their January, 1948, issue, "Jean Lurçat and the Renaissance of Tapestry." This fine article by Mr. Jones, who was a friend of Lurçat, was particularly appropriate at that time when the French Government's loan exhibition of tapestries was on display at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Canon Watson has given the Library the most recent numbers of the Hibbert Journal from 1944 to January 1948. This continues his previous gift to the Library of the Hibbert Journal from Vol. 1, 1902. Therefore, the Library's file is now entirely complete for this important English journal of religion and philosophy, all given through the courtesy of Canon Watson.

ALUMNI NOTES

(Continued from page 12)

ROBERT D. HANCE, '43, and JAMES N. CONNOR, '43, both received doctor's degrees from Western Reserve University this June. Dr. Hance was graduated from the School of Medicine and Dr. Connor was awarded the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery. JAMES PATON III, '44, received his M.A. in English from the Graduate School of Western Reserve. THE REVEREND RICHARD M. SHAEFER, '44, is teaching French at Virginia Episcopal School.

KENNETH E. BURKE, '44, is now an M.D. The former Springfield, Ohio, tennis champion was awarded his degree from Columbia University in May and plans to intern at University Hospital, University of Michigan.

JOHN D. SAFFORD, '45, was married in March to Miss Madeline Lake of St. Petersburg, Florida. John is in the New York office of the Travelers' Insurance Company. BERT KARL, '45, and Miss Barbara Rogers were married in Waterbury, Connecticut in a June wedding. DON TWINING, '45, and Miss Alice Wilkins were married in Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan in March. Wedding bells also rang for JOHN M. HUFFMAN, Jr., '46, whose wife is the former Miss Martha L. Wallingford of Dayton. John is in the Trust Department of the Third National Bank and Trust Company of Dayton. STERLING E. PEACOCK, '46, went down the middle aisle with Miss Nancy Lou Lenhardt in Chicago in April.

Another new M.D. is DR. CARL E. CASIDY, '46, who received his degree from the Western Reserve School of Medicine in June. JAMES E. PETERSON, '46, received his diploma from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis in June. GEORGE W. JAMES, '46, and Miss Phyllis Arnold were married in Cambridge, Ohio. They will live in Columbus.

RAYMOND J. SMITH, '47, will run for clerk of courts in Norwalk, Ohio, on the Democratic ticket, according to a newspaper account. DONALD S. BENNY, '48, is engaged to Miss Elizabeth M. Harrison of Glen Ridge, New Jersey.

The Reverend Harry F. Truxall,
'31, '32 A.M.

Reeves: As I Knew Him

Harry F. Truxall

During the last week in September, 1927, it was my privilege to meet "Mr. Chips" of Kenyon College. William Peters Reeves was his name, but not a few Kenyon men affectionately called him "Pete."

On that fall day he was wearing a salt and pepper tweed suit. His knickers revealed two legs scarcely larger than pipe-stems. Gray and dark hair mingled on his head, while a well-cut mustache set him apart from other men. A black bow tie contrasted strikingly with spotless linen. In his left breast pocket was a nice clean handkerchief, which served for show and also an occasional blow. This thin man always entered class with quick steps and as soon as the period had ended his exit was immediate.

Clang! the bell! it is time for class. Spectacles were pulled forth by a black cord; they were set upon a small nose. Pen in hand, he produced the roll book. "Pete" called only our last names in a staccato style, and we snapped quickly, "Here, sir! Here, sir! Here, sir!" There was something about the way in which he called the roll that, if a man did not answer instantly, he felt himself condemned.

After a semester of digging up sources, we read Chaucer. "Pete's" interpretation of Chaucer was unique; he held that Chaucer, like Dante, wrote many things with a double meaning; that the words could be interpreted in an innocent manner, but at the same time there was a subtle undertone by which Chaucer was laughing up his sleeve at abuses in the church. Reeves would say, "Now, Kittredge of Harvard says, 'Let no man say that Chaucer was not a good churchman,' but, gentlemen, look at these lines:†

There was a Nonne, a Prioeresse,
That of her smylyng was ful symple and coy;
Her grettest oth was only — by seynt Loy;
And she was named madame Englentyne.
Ful wel she sang the servises divyne,
Entuned in her nose ful seemely;
And Frensh she spake ful faire and sweetely,
After the schole of Stratford-atte-Bowe,
For Frensh of Parys was to her unknowe.
And mete wel i-taught was she in all;
She let no morsel from her lippes falle,
Nor wet her fynghes in her sauce deepe.
Wel coude she carie a morsel, and wel keepe,
That never a drope upon her brest should be.
For all her thought was sett on curtesie.
Her overlippe wyped she so clene,
That in her cuppe was no ferthing sene
Of greese, when she dronken hadde withinne.
But for to speken of her conscience,
She was so charitable and so piteous,
She wolde weep if that she saw a mous
Caught in a trappe, if it were ded or bledde.
Of smale houndes had she, that she fedde
With rosted flessch, and mylk, and wastel breed.
But sore wepte she if one of them were ded,
Or if men smote it with a stikke smerte:

And al was conscience and tendre herte.

Ful fair was her robe, as I was war.
Of smal coral about her arme she bare
A paire of bedes, the greatest were of grene;
And thereon hung a broch of gold ful shene,
Of which was first i-writ a crowned A,
And after, Amor vincit omnia.

"Please point out the religious qualities of this nun," "Pete" would usually say. "There is never any mention of the three vows, poverty, chastity, and obedience; this was not accidental. Chaucer says she knew French, she had good table manners, she wept if she saw a mouse caught in a trap, she cried when a man hit a little dog with a stick. She was wearing a fair robe, a golden brooch, and other jewelry, the very things she was not supposed to be wearing. Of course, you can say that 'A' Amor means the love of the Lord, but you will never catch the twinkle in Chaucer's eye that way."

The Chaucer class followed the class in the Development of the English Novel. Our teacher had just finished a good lecture on Pride and Prejudice. On this day we noticed that he did not have his usual sparkle. He spoke just a few sentences in the Chaucer class, and then said, unable to go further, "Boys, I'll have to dismiss you. I am not feeling up to scratch." There was the usual exodus of students, but three of us remained. Just a few minutes, and then our beloved teacher began to weave back and forth on his chair. He fell to the floor—it was a lung hemorrhage. One man could not stand the sight of blood and he left hurriedly, but Norman Thurston and I remained. Thurston was a football man, who was wearing a white sweater with a purple "K." Norman gathered Dr. Reeves up in his arms and carried him down two flights of stairs. What should he do? The nearest hospital is in Mount Vernon, five miles away. An ambulance was called; we sent him to the hospital with the feeling that we should never see him again. He was always frail, and the loss of blood made him look ghastly.

After three months he was back in Gambier. I went to visit him. Among other things he said in a weak voice, "I was conscious almost all of the time; you men saved my life. As Thurston carried me out the words of Brown-ing's 'Grammarians' Funeral' ran through my mind: 'They bore him, they bore him.'" After a while he said, "I should like to teach again, but I am afraid to face a class with this ghost-like voice. I'll be back as soon as I can."

Several weeks passed and then in early spring the class met again. It was a habit of long standing for our teacher to use an aspirate quality to emphasize a big point. The same quality of voice was evident again, but a little weaker. It was a brilliant lecture in which he told us about his study in the Vatican library; that Petrarch's Letters without Title were intentionally blotted in spots and in others paper was pasted over certain passages. As part of the lecture he gave us his translation of two of the Letters without Title. I prize these translations very highly.

Dr. Reeves was a great lover of books; from basement to attic his home was packed with books. Wyclif's complete works, Luther's works, Wesley's writings, novels of all kinds, poetry, both ancient and modern, Anglo-Saxon manuscripts—there were so many that I could not enumerate even the types away from his library. Incunabula were his special delight and his collection included rare books, such as only a man of his knowledge could find. Better than a new car he loved books; he rode about in an old wire-wheeled automobile. Better than a new typewriter he loved books; he used a heavy-pounding Underwood for many years and when he was finally prevailed upon to buy a new one, he said, "Say, I didn't know how much punishment I was taking until I typed with my new machine." Better than himself he loved books; no doubt his hard study helped to undermine his health. He once told me, "My doctor has ordered me to quit such intense studying," and then he added slowly, "I guess I'll have to cut it out."

Better than himself he loved students; many a scholarly bit of work bearing a student's name was in reality ninety per cent Reeves. I recall that when I had published an article of which I was proud, I went to "Pete" and said, "Dr. Reeves, this is largely yours," but he smiled kindly and said nothing. While he knew it, he would not admit it. I remember he used to say, "There is a joy in presenting a well-thought-out piece of work so that a person can say, 'This is mine.'" He advised us: "Break into print; that is what counts today; have some constructive ideas; too many never write anything!"

On the other hand, "Pete" was no bookworm. For many years he was president of the Ohio Athletic Conference; he was a crack pistol shot; he was a good violinist; he played some bridge. He was always interested in social affairs, plays, concerts, and lectures. His versatility was amazing.

This great teacher is no longer with us. What is the irreducible minimum? What will stick? He taught me to forget this or that tenet and to strike out in the spirit of the scientific scholar, to get back to the sources and to have itching fingers until you have the documents you need. He taught that there are fundamental facts which need to be known, but, at the same time, there is much mystery to be explored. "Seek the truth wherever it may be found, and whatever it may cost you."

"Pete" was like the Antiquarian; Samuel Pepys might have been referring to him as "a gentleman and a scholar"; "He that loses his life shall find it" might refer to him; but I like to hold him in grateful memory as "Mr. Chips" of Kenyon College.

† From The Prologue, The Canterbury Tales

OBITUARIES

Paul H. Sutherland

Paul Holden Sutherland, who received the Ph. B. degree from Kenyon in 1925, died suddenly at his home in Detroit on Monday, May 24. Burial was at Belleville, Ohio.

Sutherland would have completed a three-year term as member of the Executive Committee of the Alumni Council in June, and had served as a member of the Committee with wisdom, critical insight, energy, and ability. He had been for many years active in the Kenyon Alumni Association of Detroit, had served as its President, and at the time of his death was serving as Vice-Chairman of the Alumni Committee of the Kenyon Development Program.

Paul Sutherland was born on September 6, 1902, at Tawas City, Michigan, the son of Reverend and Mrs. E. O. Sutherland, now of Deland, Florida. His father was a Presbyterian minister in Saginaw, where Paul attended the public schools. He was an outstanding student at Saginaw High School, scholastically and in extra-curricular activities, and graduated in 1921, the recipient of the Don McGee Scholarship. He entered Kenyon College in 1921 and was graduated in 1925, Phi Beta Kappa. He married Miss Jane Eastman of Mount Vernon. He was President of the Sutherland Avery Lumber Company of Detroit, was a former President of the Detroit District Retail Lumber Dealers and at the time of his death was a director of that organization. He is survived by Mrs. Sutherland, a son, E. Richie Sutherland, and a daughter, Sally.

Alwin C. Ernst

Alwin C. Ernst, LL.D., member of the Board of Trustees since last year, died suddenly in Cleveland, May 13. He was the organizer of the nationally known accounting firm of Ernst and Ernst in Cleveland, which operates fifty branch offices in the United States and Canada.

He was one of Ohio's leading citizens, active in the social and civic life of Cleveland and the village of Gates Mills where he made his home.

When Kenyon College conferred upon him the honorary LL.D. degree, his citation read:

"Alwin Charles Ernst, who consistently, throughout thirty-seven years of activity, has striven for higher auditing standards, budgetary control, improved methods of labor payment, and the general upbuilding of industrial operations.

"By example and precept he has promoted accurate analysis and fair practice in the administration of large groups of industries, of colleges and universities, museums, schools, churches, and departments of government."

It is with deep sorrow that the Board of Trustees and the College lose the guidance and counsel of Alwin C. Ernst.

Following is the text of a resolution passed by the Alumni Council at its meeting on June 12:

Whereas, God has received into eternal life Paul Holden Sutherland, alumnus of Kenyon College and an active member of the College Alumni Council and of its Executive Committee and,

Whereas, Paul Sutherland has been through the years a most loyal and devoted son of Kenyon and a generous and enthusiastic sup-

Paul A. Palmer

Dr. Paul A. Palmer, Chairman of the Political Science Department, died suddenly July 22, of a heart attack. He became ill while playing golf, apparently suffering a slight attack. A second attack that evening was instantly fatal.

Dr. Palmer came to Kenyon in 1938 after four years of teaching at Rockford College. He had been visiting lecturer and professor at Harvard and Stanford. His interest in government led him to make numerous contributions to political theory. His writings have appeared in the Public Opinion Quarterly, the New England Quarterly, the American Political Science Review, and the Kenyon Review. He was at work on a textbook at the time of his death.

His concern for practical politics led him to run for state representative on the Democratic ticket in 1946 and to participate actively in the local government of Gambier. He was a brilliant lecturer and a strong influence among his students.

He was a graduate of Bowdoin College and had received his A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Tau Omega, and the American Political Science Association.

Kenyon is bereft of one of its most able and well-beloved members, still at the beginning of his major achievements. His profession, his colleagues, and his students have suffered an irreparable loss.

Paul A. Palmer

porter of its undergraduate and alumni activities and aims,

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Alumni Council does hereby express its sincere gratitude for the service of our friend Paul Sutherland, and does spread upon its minutes this tribute to his memory.

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the members of his bereaved family in token of our sorrow in the loss we have sustained and of our sympathy for them.

ROBERT A. COWDERY, '33, who was a member of Psi Upsilon, died May 9 in Madison, Ohio.

Word has just been received of the death of CHARLES M. FINNEY, '12, which occurred February a year ago. He was a resident of Logansport, Indiana.

RAYMOND G. GILLETTE, '11, of Oakland, California, died March 1.

THE REVEREND DANIEL LeBARON GOODRICH, '97, who built St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Lakewood, Ohio, died in Gary, Indiana, February 3. He had retired from St. Peter's in 1940. He also had built the Church of the Advent in Chicago, where he was rector for seven years.

MERRILL L. BIGELOW, '06, a member of Beta Theta Pi, died in March, in Dublin, Ohio. He was the owner of the State Auto Park and had formerly been president of the T. L. Bigelow Transportation and Storage Company of Columbus, Ohio.

THE REVEREND BATES GILBERT BURT, '01, suffered a fatal heart attack on April 5 in Emmerton, Maryland, where he was serving as acting rector. Dr. Burt had retired last year from the rectorship of All Saints Episcopal Church in Pontiac, Michigan, after twenty-five years of service. During the first World War, he was a chaplain in France. He had also been Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral in Marquette, Michigan.

EDWIN S. CLARK, '26, died on April 6. He was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma, and had made his home in Watertown, New York.

THE REVEREND FRANK R. JONES, K. '01, B. '02, rector of St. Mary's Church, the Bronx, until his retirement in 1944, died in Asbury Park, New Jersey, March 30, after a brief illness. As a young man he had served as a missionary to the Indians in Oklahoma.

DAVID LADD ROCKWELL, '00, former mayor of Kent, Ohio, and Portage County probate judge, died March 23 in East Liverpool, Ohio. In 1924 he had been campaign manager for William McAdoo, Democratic candidate for President. He was an authority on probate practice.

DR. GEORGE W. SAPP, '07, coroner for Licking county for twelve years, died at his home in Newark, Ohio, May 22, after a week's illness. He had practiced medicine in Newark since 1911 when he received his M.D.

THE REVEREND CHARLES SHEERIN, '19, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, Washington, D.C., died of a heart attack at his home April 4. He had served as rector of churches in New York; Fredericksburg, Virginia; Waco, Texas; Richmond, Virginia; and Chattanooga, Tennessee. He had also been vice-president of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church and editor of the Southern Churchman.

DR. D. C. SWALLEN, '36, died in Canton, Ohio, on June 2 as the result of a fall down the elevator shaft in his office building. He had been a prominent citizen in Canton, where he was a leader in the community and civic life.

Word has been received of the death of WILLIAM S. WALKLEY, '92.

A. FELIX DuPONT, L.H.D. 1941, died at Rehoboth Beach, Delaware, June 29, after a brief illness. He had retired from active business affairs in 1944 but had always maintained his lively concern for the churches and schools in which he was interested. He was a founder of the St. Andrew's School for Boys and a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania.

Alumni and Student Gifts to the Kenyon Development Program, July, 1948

Alumni by Classes

KMA
H. J. Fisher
C. D. Blake
Philo D. Ruggles
William C. Carr
V. L. Horn
Harry K. Doolittle
A. Stuart Harkness
Living Members 81
Contributors 7
% Contributors 8.6
Amount $1250.00

1884
Charles Wardlow
Living Members 2
Contributors 1
% Contributors 50
Amount $50.00

1887
L. P. Hancock
Living Members 4
Contributors 1
% Contributors 25
Amount $550.00

1888
W. F. Douthirt
George H. Prince
A. C. Whitaker
H. B. Swearingen
Living Members 5
Contributors 4
% Contributors 80
Amount $2875.00

1890
Robert Sterling
William B. Bodine
Henry L. McClellan
Living Members 6
Contributors 3
% Contributors 50
Amount $2020.00

1891
Theodore H. Gould
Living Members 1
Contributors 1
% Contributors 100
Amount $10.00

1892
Lewis C. Williams
Living Members 3
Contributors 1
% Contributors 33.3
Amount $200.00

1893
Earl D. Babst
Alvan E. Duerr (dec'd)
Living Members 4
Contributors 2
% Contributors 50
Amount $14,836.49

1894
William B. Beck
Frederick J. Doolittle
Edmund E. Neff
Living Members 4
Contributors 3
% Contributors 75
Amount $5685.00

1895
Arthur Dumper
Elmer W. Armstrong
Albert J. Bell
Living Members 6
Contributors 3
% Contributors 50
Amount $380.00

1896
Charles Follett
Levi H. Burnett
Henry Stanbery
Harris H. Kennedy

Harold Stiles
David Thornberry
C. C. Wright
Edwin B. Redhead
George H. Eckerle
Charles W. Baker
Edgar G. Martin
Rob't L. Harris (dec'd)
Manley H. Thompson
Harry H. Wolf
Living Members 22
Contributors 14
% Contributors 63.8
Amount $2665.00

1897
C. W. Phellis
Wm. A. Grier
Living Members 9
Contributors 2
% Contributors 22.2
Amount $105.00

1898
Dan F. Williams
Philemon B. Stanbery
Thomas O. Youtsey
H. B. Shontz
W. M. Sidener
C. S. Reifsnider
Living Members 10
Contributors 6
% Contributors 60
Amount $255.00

1899
Charles S. Shaw
Thomas Jenkins
H. St. Clair Hathaway
Frank G. Wright
Carl R. Ganter
Leo Wertheimer Est.
Living Members 11
Contributors 6
% Contributors 54.5
Amount $111,785.69

1900
J. V. Blake
Living Members 8
Contributors 1
% Contributors 12.5
Amount $25.00

1901
William E. Wright
Jay A. Higbee
P. H. Whaley
Eugene Ballard
Living Members 12
Contributors 4
% Contributors 33.3
Amount $890.00

1902
Walter J. Morris
H. B. Wright
A. J. Aubrey
George Davidson
James G. Stewart
Living Members 18
Contributors 5
% Contributors 27.7
Amount $850.00

1903
Walter T. Collins
L. Tate Cromley
T. M. Cartmell
T. J. Goddard
William N. Wyant
Living Members 17
Contributors 5
% Contributors 29.4
Amount $11,031.56

1904
Pierpont E. Irvine
John R. Stalker
Leland A. Vaughn
H. M. Babin
Fletcher R. Jackson
Living Members 21
Contributors 5
% Contributors 23.8
Amount $2055.00

1905
L. S. Dederick
Charles Clingan
C. A. Weiant
Maxwell B. Long
Thomas L. Ferenbaugh
Dean Hale
Living Members 12
Contributors 6
% Contributors 50
Amount $3500.00

1906
Alfred K. Taylor
James W. Hamilton
Arthur L. Brown
Walter H. Brown
Howard P. Fischback
W. Allen Booth
Fred J. Hartman
John L. Cable
Silas B. Axtell
Frank O. Humberger, Jr.
Fred H. Hamm
A. S. Warman
Albert L. Culbertson
Samuel S. Holmes
J. Burt Smith
Living Members 25
Contributors 15
% Contributors 60
Amount $4870.00

1907
George A. Wieland
Stuart W. Goldsborough
Malcolm Bronson
Charles C. W. Judd
Melvin D. Southworth
Clarence C. Underwood
John L. Oldham
Living Members 23
Contributors 7
% Contributors 30.4
Amount $1385.00

1908
Malcolm C. Platt
Fred W. Butler
Raymond D. Cahall
H. L. Grund
Charles L. Wuebker
Fred McGlashan
Ralph F. Gordon
D. Wendell Beggs
Living Members 27
Contributors 8
% Contributors 29.6
Amount $2340.00

1909
Frederick W. Carr
William H. Kite, Jr.
Clarence C. Childs
Charles K. Lord
Frank A. Kapp
Frederic S. Cooper
Austin McElroy
James L. Cunningham
Anthony W. Coldewey
Emmett J. Jackson
Warren Clements
Living Members 29
Contributors 11
% Contributors 37.9
Amount $1580.00

1910
Arthur Sackett
Alva I. Hardy
Roger S. Littleford
Mark Wiseman
Samuel W. Bell
H. G. C. Martin
William A. Cuff
A. D. Farquhar
Walter F. Tunks
Royal A. Fultz
James P. Brereton
Living Members 26
Contributors 11
% Contributors 42.2
Amount $920.00

1911
Edward M. Peake
Kingdon T. Siddall
Robert B. Brown
Ernest C. Dempsey
S. M. Young
Alan G. Goldsmith
Wm. T. Kinder
Lecky H. Russell
Randall Anderson
William H. Adams
Wm. O. Leslie, Jr.
Don J. Henry
Living Members 33
Contributors 13
% Contributors 39.3
Amount $9639.74

1912
Keith F. Lawrence
John W. Clements
Walter H. Coolidge
Harlow Gaines
Robert A. Weaver
Phil Porter
William A. Thomas
Wayne A. Stallman
W. H. Theobald
Living Members 29
Contributors 9
% Contributors 31
Amount $23,055.00

1913
Don C. Wheaton
Herald D. Bowlus
Wiley W. Glass
Donald A. Wonders
Vernon C. McMaster
F. C. Marty
Clan Crawford
Bruce P. Hall
Riley J. Moorehouse
Miller H. Pontius
John M. Squiers
Philip W. Hull
I. J. Koehnline
H. Stanley Johnson
Fred G. Clark
Living Members 35
Contributors 15
% Contributors 42.8
Amount $3965.00

1914
Fred J. Wonders
Eric M. Tasman
George T. Brister
Ralph Cary
J. Ashton Gregg
I. Dwight O'Ferrall
M. B. Tayler, Jr.
David W. Bowman
Alfred L. Langtry
Living Members 20
Contributors 9
% Contributors 45
Amount $1960.00

1915
W. C. Seitz
Murray Smith
Percival C. Bailey
Harry L. Gayer
C. A. Carr
W. H. King
G. Willard Freeman
Edgar L. Tiffany
T. G. Laney
Living Members 24
Contributors 9
% Contributors 37.5
Amount $3110.00

1916
R. A. Cline
Guy W. Prosser
R. L. Queisser
Ralph E. Morton
Gowan C. Williams
N. R. High Moor
E. W. Forker
Robert A. Bowman
Donald R. Smith
L. V. Axtell, Est.
Living Members 30
Contributors 10
% Contributors 33.3
Amount $5055.00

1917
Fred S. Weida
Richard F. Kelley
J. Atlee Schafer
Alexander R. McKechnie
Elrick B. Davis
Leroy W. Pilcher
Philip W. Timberlake
Robert A. Craig
C. V. Metcalf
Herbert S. Hamilton
S. J. Davis
E. R. Seese
M. G. Nicola
Living Members 48
Contributors 13
% Contributors 27
Amount $1697.10

1918
Luther H. Tate
Marion Douglass
Robert J. Schweizer
John W. Gregg
C. C. Jordan
Warren H. Catt
Lewis M. Hurxthal
Thomas W. Wiseman
Edwin P. Matthews, Jr.

Pierre B. McBride
Frederick B. Dechant
Arthur R. McKinstry
Living Members 37
Contributors 12
% Contributors 32.4
Amount $4895.00

1919
Frederick W. Young
Edgar B. Read
Paul F. Seibold
Francis E. Rogers
Lafayette Abbott
Joe K. Garretson
H. F. Hohly
Todd M. Frazier
Richard W. Maxwell
F. Wharton Weida
John L. Snook
H. Bruce Puffer
J. W. Beach
Robert U. Hastings
Rudolph R. Knode
Arthur B. Parker
Dale T. White
Living Members 37
Contributors 17
% Contributors 45.9
Amount $1665.00

1920
J. Francis Sant
Dickson H. Wells
J. L. Berkey
George L. Brain
Donald G. Allen
Frank A. Allen, Jr.
Wilford Seitz
John M. Jerpe
Carl G. James
C. J. Holley
Living Members 30
Contributors 10
% Contributors 33.3
Amount $1235.00

1921
William C. T. Davis
Edward D. Maire
John N. Wilkin
L. E. Glass
S. B. Jones
David L. Cable
James H. Gregg
Donald C. Mell
George Zollinger
Paul R. Maxwell
James Olds
John W. Anger
Horace C. Vokoun
Byron C. Biggs
John F. Arndt
Living Members 42
Contributors 15
% Contributors 35.7
Amount $2404.50

1922
Robert Z. Chew
Louis P. Carabelli
S. Foster Harris
James L. Tugman
Theodore L. Bliss
C. Adam Graham
Donald R. Goodell
Fred H. Palmer, Jr.
M. B. Adams
F. W. Elder
Edgar A. Brown
Earle L. Jenkins
H. Bert Van Dillen
Alden Seitz
Harry F. Grossman
W. P. Wiseman
John de Boer Cummings
A. Wheeler Ralston
Arthur F. Billow
Thomas A. Eggert
Henry C. Wolfe
Living Members 64
Contributors 21
% Contributors 32.8
Amount $2465.00

1923
John P. Wolverson
Jack M. Beggs
Robert M. Beggs
George H. Greaves
Philip T. Hummel
Wm. E. Crofut, Jr.
M. B. McCafferty
Lane W. Barton
G. Seaton Wassser
Gordon S. Crawford
Robert S. Dechant

Irving H. McKean
H. C. Kraus
Thomas Wilson
John C. Duff
Arthur C. Lichtenberger
Theodore Gruener
C. R. Rodgers
Russel E. Fishack
Harvey F. Hohlfield
Paul F. Strough
Sanford W. Small
J. H. Fitch
J. T. McIlwain
G. P. VanArnam
Living Members 50
Contributors 25
% Contributors 50
Amount $2705.00

1924
Chas. H. Allen, Jr.
Ernest W. Hookway
Charles S. Greaves
Leonard W. Haynes
Wm. A. Cornelius, Jr.
Aaron C. Bennett
Almon R. Pepper
William A. Hopple III
Hale Sturges, Jr.
Theo. R. Goldsmith
George Meredith
Charles W. Toland
Robert S. Cooper
James H. Boyd
Maurice D. Campbell
Earl V. Seitz
Alexander M. Duff, Jr.
Marshal N. Terry
Harold Jacobsen
John C. Drake
Henry J. Crawford
Living Members 61
Contributors 21
% Contributors 34.4
Amount $1454.00

1925
Wm. E. Cless, Jr.
Don V. Carey
Theodore C. Diller
C. N. Messolonghites
George E. Hamilton
Wm. Burchenal
Robert C. Hyde
Reginald D. Wells
Stanley M. Fullwood
Robert J. Hovorka
John R. Pattie
Paul Sutherland (dec'd.)
R. H. Richardson
A. G. Johnson, Jr.
Hunter Kellenberger
Living Members 75
Contributors 15
% Contributors 20
Amount $8500.00

1926
E. H. Stansfield
D. Maxfield Dowell
H. Ward Beckett
Hiram J. Hitchcock
W. H. Lamb
R. G. Evans
George T. Trumbull
George E. Dickinson
Burdette R. Wood
Jackson E. Betts
John F. Furniss
Daniel M. Braddock
Dan Sanborn
E. Naudain Simons, Jr.
John P. Coppock
Charles W. Hughes
Theodore V. Gibbs
Living Members 91
Contributors 17
% Contributors 18.6
Amount $3850.00

1927
Edmund W. Westland
Howard V. Harper
Charles D. Marsh
J. Thomas Grace
Charles Riker
Frank L. Fisher, Jr.
Robert P. Fitch
Robert N. D. Arndt
Joseph M. Harter
Howard R. Rusk
Homer C. White
C. A. W. Brocklebank
B. H. Rowe
Shirley Naysmith
H. Harrison Greer
Living Members 61
Contributors 15
% Contributors 24.5
Amount $1505.00

1928
Edward H. Stanton
Stuart R. McGowan
Lester N. Cobb, Jr.
Rudolph Koroncai
Robert M. Weh
Daniel S. Johnson
Stephen E. Bartko
Clifford Kraemer
Charles W. DeWitt
D. E. Stamm
Harold Thebaud
D. Morgan Smith
Robert G. Hubbell
Living Members 73
Contributors 13
% Contributors 17.7
Amount $847.00

1929
C. A. Christopher
Nathaniel W. Baker
Harvard E. Heystek
George R. Selway
Orrin J. Woodard
Norman L. Cink
Joseph W. Scherr, Jr.
William F. Shanks
George W. Hall
John D. Zimmerman
Richard O. Petersen
V. P. Serodino
R. B. Seitz
W. F. Ahrendt
Thaddeus W. Taylor
Murray Cott
Robert E. Baxter
H. E. Lockwood
Living Members 74
Contributors 19
% Contributors 25.6
Amount $1243.00

1930
Charles K. Morgan
Michael L. Cabot
K. E. Bennett
R. W. Simmons
Arthur B. Lewis
Francis T. Martin
W. D. McCabe
Charles Kinzel
Thomas L. Wickenden
Charles A. Bohnengal
John W. Thomas, Jr.
Gordon H. Pumphrey
Wendell L. Jenkins
E. R. Monfort
Joseph C. Davis
Culbert G. Rutenber
Robert E. Kenyon, Jr.
George B. Hammond
Robert D. Ransom
Bruce Mansfield
Living Members 93
Contributors 20
% Contributors 21.5
Amount $1928.00

1931
Milton Janes
Henry K. Losch
John B. Templeton
John G. Hoyt, Jr.
Harry F. Truxall
Thomas B. Greenslade
Henry A. Shute
Carl J. Ericsson
Gordon L. Knapp
J. A. Hughes
Donald Sattler
Edward A. Baldwin
Maurice H. Sandberg
Wm. K. Morton
K. C. Wilson
Wm. F. Bateman
Paul D. Japp
Donald Henning
Living Members 73
Contributors 18
% Contributors 24.6
Amount $922.00

1932
B. DeFrees Brien
Walter F. Tuhey
Thomas J. Hall II
David M. Meeks
O. Wendell McGinnis
John P. Craine
H. W. Burris
Charles R. Stires
Edward M. Ferris
Anonymous
Living Members 61
Contributors 10
% Contributors 16.3
Amount $3435.00

1933
Charles E. Munson
Wm. M. McIlwain
Fred L. McNabb
T. Curtis Gray
E. M. Hiller
Harry R. Barr
Kenneth S. Swift
Robert A. Foster
William Neil
James W. Newcomer
Living Members 63
Contributors 10
% Contributors 15.8
Amount $730.00

1934
Richard B. Stambaugh
R. T. Sawyer
Merrill W. MacNamee
Frank M. Mallett
Louis M. Brereton
Ward B. Mason
Robert F. Hawk
Frank F. Ake
Harold F. Johnston, Jr.
Rudolph F. Nunnemacher
Joseph B. Swan
John B. Tritsch
Living Members 62
Contributors 11
% Contributors 17.7
Amount $880.00

1935
Robert W. MacDonald
Frank T. Jones
Thomas E. Griffith
Philip C. Page
Wharton F. Keppler
Lowell E. Peters
Albert F. Shorkey
Gerald L. Long
Frederick F. Price
Wilson M. Meeks
Living Members 67
Contributors 10
% Contributors 14.9
Amount $825.00

1936
William H. Thomas, Jr.
John C. Neff
Robert W. Mueller
William G. Turner
C. H. Judd
Charles L. Lord
Dale C. Swallen
Bruce W. Kenyon
R. B. Clark
Raymond K. J. Luomanen
Living Members 52
Contributors 10
% Contributors 19.2
Amount $690.00

1937
R. K. Riels
Donald S. Ferito
David Acheson
Robert C. Headington
A. H. Neff
L. E. Cadwell
Peter A. Craig
Paul E. Thompson
John Albert
Wayne A. Stallman, Jr.
John D. Hughes
Merlin E. Ake, Jr.
Robert F. Stamm
Living Members 78
Contributors 14
% Contributors 17.9
Amount $555.00

1938
Jay C. Ehle
Jonathan A. Wolcott
Joseph W. Peoples, Jr.
John V. Sammon
Joseph H. Millar III
Thomas Matthews
William P. Weeks
John A. Fink
F. A. W. Stiefler
Herman R. Ascher, Jr.
Howard Morgan
Cecil Durbin
R. W. Meyer
Living Members 79
Contributors 13
% Contributors 16.4
Amount $710.00

1939
W. Richard Stamm
Paul E. Ayers
Brent A. Tozzer, Jr.
Wm. T. Alexander
Milroy S. Olds
D. J. Warthman

Eric Hawke
Edwin W. Gerrish
Allan Vaughn
E. E. Dale Shaffer
John M. Collins
James S. Heath
Howard J. Adams, Jr.
R. A. Mitchell, Jr.
Paul Graebner
Albert O. Goodale, Jr.
Living Members 73
Contributors 16
% Contributors 21.8
Amount $10,970.00

1940
John Thompson, Jr.
John R. Peterson
Charles McKinley, Jr.
Raye M. Fisher
Phil Porter, Jr.
C. W. Prosser
Robert O. Cless
John W. Clements, Jr.
Edward F. Scanlon
Jack L. Jones
Norman Smith
Wilbur J. Griffin
Lawrence G. Bell, Jr.
Norman W. Reed, Jr.
James B. Street
Richard W. Brouse, Jr.
Don McNeill
T. J. Wende
Robert R. Wissinger
Living Members 109
Contributors 20
% Contributors 18.3
Amount $1740.00

1941
Morris W. Loving, Jr.
Charles V. Mitchell
E. C. Svec
R. J. Wilson, Jr.
R. E. Hird
King Lees
James B. McPherson
Richard H. Stevens
Edward C. Worthington
J. G. Hunter
Charles F. Schaefer
J. G. Trainer
Robert M. Arens
W. Howard Graham
Frank E. Love
R. Donald McCleary
Ralph R. McCracken, Jr.
W. C. Seitz, Jr.
F. Sheppard Holt
E. S. Clements
Charles P. Amato
Living Members 104
Contributors 21
% Contributors 20.1
Amount $978.00

1942
John A. Goldsmith
Kenyon A. Knopf
Fred Barry, Jr.
Byers W. Shaw
Robert M. Vance
William Everhard, Jr.
Fred S. Henschel
George W. DeGraff
Arthur M. Cox, Jr.
William C. Bradford
William N. Collins
Frederic C. Alpers
Irving C. Hatcher
Robert R. Coxey
Edward G. Brouse
Nicholas S. Riviere, Jr.
John W. Timmermeister
Paul E. Fisher
Harold B. Corwin, Jr.
Roger S. Manchester
Richard M. Eckley
John F. Lumbert
Fred H. Palmer III
Clair B. Owen, Jr.
Living Members 104
Contributors 24
% Contributors 23
Amount $1270.00

1943
Kenneth B. Dalby
John C. Watts
Richard A. May
Paul B. Herrick
Robert D. Hance
Sam S. Fitzsimmons
W. B. Lehecka
R. B. Konstam
W. E. Lewis
Robert A. Weaver, Jr.

David F. Taylor
E. N. Chamberlain
P. G. Williams, Jr.
Forman T. Bailey, Jr.
Donald G. McLeod
C. Theodore Miller
Henry I. Meyer
George E. Seitz
George H. Hills
Wm. F. McMurry
Kenneth Kadey
Living Members 77
Contributors 21
% Contributors 27.2
Amount $941.00

1944
John E. Ake
Myron C. Monck
J. W. Montigney, Jr.
Carl W. Fuller
Joseph C. Reasner
Albert E. Jenkins
Horace P. Lyle, Jr.
Alexander Bell
Frank E. Bradenbaugh, Jr.
F. Wesley Baylor
Davy H. McCall
Robert W. Taylor
Edward P. Wroth
Harold S. Johnson, Jr.
Living Members 90
Contributors 14
% Contributors 15.5
Amount $895.00

1945
Neil D. Hardy
Robert A. Montigney
J. G. Dandelles
J. Kenneth Cox
William T. James II
David L. Parke
Robert E. Goodnow
William Kindle
Harvey B. Harrison
Living Members 75
Contributors 9
% Contributors 12
Amount $368.00

1946
Clyde Rhein
Charles H. Porter
William W. Burrows
Gilbert S. Wuebker
Robert M. Jewitt
Reed Halsted
Robert W. Ballantine
John O. Doerge
Judson F. Chase
Mark L. Hamilton
Richard E. Williams
Crawford S. Brown
James C. Niederman
T. J. Heiner
Thomas O. Youtsey, Jr.
Living Members 104
Contributors 15
% Contributors 14.4
Amount $465.50

Undergraduates Classes 1947 - 1951

1947
Samuel P. Todd, Jr.
Donald B. Hamister
Donald R. Matthews
Rees H. Davis, Jr.
Philip F. Fendig
Carl C. Cooke, Jr.
Victor Adams IV
John K. Coles
Groff Collett
James Grantham, Jr.
James D. Hansen
Rodney E. Harris
Edward D. Judd
Henry A. Kittredge
John Kudner
George G. Leist
John D. Levinson
Don W. McCov
Harold T. Millikin
David Morrison
Thomas O. Murphy
Edward A. Nugent
Robert D. O'Hara
James O. Paton III
Richard W. Penn
James W. Pratt
Gordon Rowe, Jr.
Richard G. Ruffie
Thomas S. Smith
Robert P. Snowberger
John E. Stamler
John M. Swope
George P. Timberlake

Wm. R. Torgerson
Herman L. Vogel
Jack W. Vrieze
Herschial D. Welsh
George P. Whitaker, Jr.
Edward T. Broadhurst, Jr.
Ernest J. Brunner

1948

Edward S. Young
H. J. Abraham
Charles L. Barr, Jr.
Wm. E. Beattie
Donald S. Benny
Howard A. Bradley
Kenneth W. Brooks
David C. Brown
Wm. T. Bulger, Jr.
Wm. A. Cole
Ray S. Day
R. P. Ehrhardt
Ira Eliasoph
Wm. B. Field
R. D. Golden
Kenneth C. Hamister
Jack L. Hart
Laurence N. Hoffman, Jr.
Wm. C. Hull
Courtland L. Hungerford, Jr.
Richard E. Karkow
Joseph W. Koelliker, Jr.
Brayton Lincoln
Sanford C. Lindsey
Dan K. Loveland
Walter L. Lynn, Jr.
Charles G. MacGregor
Dudley T. F. Marple
Nathan B. Marple
Wm. M. Marshall
Clitus H. Marvin
George A. Metter
Scott N. Morrill
Richard H. Morrison
John H. Neely
Charles W. Parton
H. Towle Perrin, Jr.
John F. Pritchard
Wm. E. Rathman
Samuel S. Rockwood II
August M. Rossetto, Jr.
Milton I. Saville
Arthur H. Seidel
Wm. S. Starr
Frederick S. Vineyard
Robert H. Wilson
Ora W. Young, Jr.

Harold J. Abplanalp
Ernest Ahwajee
David V. Aldrich
Bartlett B. Allen
George M. Alliegro
Richard A. Alliegro
Allen R. Allured
Frank J. Altschul
James C. Amo
John Andrea
David F. Andrews
Robert B. Angell
Thomas D. Armstrong, Jr.
Frederick B. Arner
Hazen S. Arnold, Jr.
Santo J. Artino
Raymond D. Ashman, Jr.
Walker M. Bagby
George R. Baker
Britton Balzerit
Charles O. Bartlett, Jr.
John A. Bartlett
William F. Barton
Harvey T. Basinger
James W. Bates
Kevort O. Bean
Richard A. Becker
Donald R. Behm
Bruce P. Bell
David M. Bell
Robert K. Belt, Jr.
George R. Benner
Thomas F. Berlin
James O. Birdsall
John B. Birdsall
Charles D. Blanchard
Myron B. Bloy, Jr.
David M. Bogle
Robert E. Bonnist, Jr.
John W. Borden
Judson T. Bradford
Robert R. Branan
Keith D. Briggs
Robert W. Brindley
James B. Brooks
Gilbert E. Bryan
Randolph D. Bucey
Lee Bartlett Budge
Leonard H. Burrows
Clark R. Burwell
David R. Busch
J. Robert Busenburg
Robert M. Cahen

Roger W. Cain
George Cameron
Gerri Cannon
Robert J. Carr, Jr.
Jack Carter
Robert M. Carruth
Crandon E. Caufield
William R. Chadeayne
Richard Chandler
Wm. A. Cheney
Douglas Chevalier
Don R. Clark
Edward F. Clark, Jr.
James J. Clark
Lloyd M. Cole
Robert A. Collinge
William S. Coonley
John Crawford
Peter H. Crawford
James B. Crosby
David M. Dana
Spencer E. Danes
Wm. A. Daniels
Harvey A. David
Thomas E. Davidson
Alan H. Dewar
Charles E. DeWitt
Thomas O. Doremus
Philip R. Douglas
Douglas W. Downey
Quentin Draudt
John H. Duff
Russell H. Dunham
Richard F. Dunn
William K. Durham
Harold T. Duryee
Lee Eberle, Jr.
Elliott F. Ellis
Earle I. Ellison
Robert R. Emerson, Jr.
David W. Endsley
Hector E. Eschenbrenner
David C. Evans
Salvatore Falciglia
R. G. Farmer, Jr.
David E. Fay
Gordon M. Ferguson
David Fink
Jerry Fink
Russell A. Firestone, Jr.
Kurt M. Fish
Lewis B. Flinn, Jr.
Todd M. Frazier
Richard C. Fornoff
Roscoe T. Foust, Jr.
William E. Frenaye III
Dick W. Furbee
Bernard Futter
Austin L. Germaine
E. Richard Gifford
Donald H. Gillis
James R. Goldsborough
Kenneth Goldsmith
Robert W. Grabowsky
Alan W. Grantham
Richard H. Gratiot
Arthur T. Gray
Donald W. Gray
John A. Greely
Gordon R. Greene
Charles C. Griesinger
James H. Grose
Arden R. Grover
Thomas Cole Hackley
Daniel F. Hahn
W. T. Haines
Robert R. Hall
David K. Hamister
F. L. Hammond
David Harbison
Lane S. Hart, IV
Daniel M. Harvey
William R. Hay
Thomas W. Hearne
J. S. Heavilin
David V. Hendrickson
Edward Henkel, Jr.
Milton Henkel
Charles D. Hering, Jr.
James L. Herold
David S. Hill
Robert J. Himmelright, Jr.
Robert I. Hirst
Harvey F. Hohlfelder, Jr.
Fred J. Holdridge
George W. Holthaus
Dale M. Holwick, Jr.
Lloyd C. Hood, Jr.
John A. Horner, Jr.
Willis S. Hough
Lawrence P. Houston, Jr.
Bernard S. Hoyt
John M. Huffman, Jr.
Charles N. Huggins
Peter J. Hughes
George M. Hull
Charles C. Imel, Jr.
Howard Janis
J. Philip Jayme
Theodore D. Jennings

David G. Jensen
Frederick S. Jewitt
Jack Johnstone, Jr.
Donald C. Jones
James H. Jones
Bertram A. Josephson
Albert Judge, Jr.
Kingsley C. Kadey
Robert M. Kastner
Edward E. Karkow
John A. Kaichen
Jack E. Keller
Lester E. Keller
Robert H. Kenmore
John R. Kimball, Jr.
Robert E. Klein
Charles T. Koehler
Theodore R. Kolter
David W. Kraemer
Harry G. Kraus, Jr.
David A. Kuhn
Robert C. Kuhn
William R. Kuhn
Henry W. Kunhardt
George Labalme, Jr.
Harris D. Lang
Stephan J. LeRoy
Meyer Liberman, Jr.
Robert E. Lindberg
Jene R. Lindsey
John Henry Lothrop
Richard R. Lower
H. G. Lund, Jr.
Robert MacArt
Charles C. Macauley
Richard Marburger
Fred C. Martin
Edward F. Masch, Jr.
George W. Masker
Albert G. Mason
Michael Mathis
Douglas G. Maxfield
B. Britton May, Jr.
Kenneth W. McCready
Donald S. McCreary
Robert E. McCullagh
Donald K. McElroy, Jr.
John B. McFeely
John M. McIntosh, Jr.
James W. McKinley
Leroy Meier
Marvin M. Mell
Ira Miller
James H. Miller II
Robert R. Miller
Roger G. Miller
John Mitchell
John D. Mooney, Jr.
Irving F. Moore
Jerald P. Moore
William E. Moore
George W. Morris
Jack Moses
Robert B. Muhl
John D. Mulford, Jr.
James R. Murphy
Richard Nash II
Daniel L. Newcomb
Charles O. Newell
James O. Newell
Paul L. Newman
George S. Nichols
John R. Nicholson
Richard N. Norris
G. Robert Nugent
Thomas F. O'Leary III
James B. Olmstead, Jr.
Joseph H. Orebaugh
Joseph B. Organ
William J. Orr III
James R. Packard
Anton I. Pailleron
Peter W. Palmer
John E. Park
F. M. Peake
Ronald A. Penfound
John O. Perry
Arthur R. Peterson
Peyton M. Pitney
Knowles L. Pittman
Philippe A. Plouvier
Harry L. Porcynalek
William C. Porter
James M. Propper
Thomas C. Quirt
George Ralston
Arnold H. Randell, Jr.
James C. Rathslag
William A. Reinke
Herbert C. Remien, Jr.
James P. Rentschler
Emory Renogle
James L. Rice
Henry W. Roberts
Nathaniel G. Robertson III
Jefferson D. Robinson III
John L. Romilly
Donald W. Ropa
Walter J. Roper
Robert B. Rorick

Robert L. Rosenberger
Donald S. Rothchild
Edward F. Runge, Jr.
Paul G. Russell
Harold A. St. John, Jr.
Judson St. John
David L. Sanders
John A. Sanford
Edward Sawyer
Jack Schaefer
Robert L. Scheel
Lee Schermerhorn, Jr.
Robert E. Schieier
Myron C. Schiffer
John Schlemmer
Danley C. Schmidt
Wm. H. Schneebeck
E. Peter Schroeder, Jr.
G. E. Schroeder
Robert M. Schroeder
James B. Scurfield
Wm. Seiberling
Thomas C. Seitz
Richard W. Sellers
Peter Seoane, Jr.
Thomas Sesler
William G. Sesler
G. Thomas Shantz
Lloyd O. Shawber
Thomas A. Shem
Wm. E. Shepler
Arthur Sherwood
Richard M. Shibley
Richard K. Shirk
James M. Shivas
James M. Shook
Wm. H. Shriber
Robert A. Shryock, Jr.
Robert C. Shutt
George L. Sidwell, Jr.
F. B. Siegfried
Wm. A. Simonds
Donald G. Slawson, Jr.
Albin W. Smith
Donald G. Smith
Joseph Smukler
H. Noyes Spellman
Donald D. Snerry, Jr.
James D. Squiers
Richard A. Stadler
Ralph E. Steffan
Robert Stix
James P. Storer
Wm. E. Strasser
George L. Striebing
Ralph E. String
Gari M. Stroh, Jr.
Wm. C. Stump
Henry G. Taggart
Richard G. Taggart
Richard Takas
Charles L. Thomas, Jr.
Douglas M. Thomas
Theodore K. Thomas
Earl Thompson, Jr.
George Tilton
Ronald G. Tinlin
Paul L. Tjossen
John S. Tomassene
Richard C. Tresie
Newton Tschaeche
Chas. W. Tuthill, Jr.
Donald J. Underwood
David A. Upstill
Edwin Uyeki
Walter L. Vansickle, Jr.
Philip J. Wall
William H. Walsh
Richard E. Warren
Charles D. Waters
Peter Weaver
Guy G. Wedthoff, Jr.
Vincent J. Weirs
Richard L. Welty
Joseph A. Wendel
Willis J. Wendler
Francis A. Wendling
George H. West III
Robert L. Westland
Louis S. Whitaker
Frank S. White
Roger M. Whiteman
Frank T. Whitney, Jr.
Charles D. Williams III
George B. Wilcox
Raymond L. Woodall, Jr.
Colin M. Woodworth
Harrison D. Worthington, Jr.
H. Glenn Woten, Jr.
Alan D. Wright
Gilbert Wuebker
Richard F. Zeigler
Jack Zelinsky
John E. Zeller
Harry Ziegler, Jr.
Robert H. Zimmerman

Bexley Alumni

Orville E. Watson
 Arthur Dumper
 David W. Thornberry
 Edwin B. Redhead
 Charles W. Baker
 Wm. A. Grier
 Wm. M. Sidener
 Robert L. Harris
 Thomas L. Jenkins
 H. St. Clair Hathaway
 George Davidson
 John R. Stalker
 Harry M. Babin
 Maxwell B. Long
 George A. Wieland
 Arthur T. Reasoner
 Harold G. C. Martin
 Walter F. Tunks
 Edwin W. Todd
 Phil Porter
 Wm. A. Thomas
 Wm. O. Leslie, Jr.
 Donald Wonders
 Vernon C. McMaster
 Eric M. Tasman
 W. C. Seitz

John P. Craine
 N. R. High Moor
 Harold F. Hohly
 J. Francis Sant
 Lane W. Barton
 Howard V. Harper
 J. Keeney McDowell
 Don V. Carey
 C. S. Reifsnider
 John R. Pattie
 Wm. W. Stewart
 Wm. C. Munds
 George R. Selway
 John D. Zimmerman
 Richard O. Petersen
 H. Ralph Higgins
 Kenneth C. Wilson
 Francis T. Coe
 Donald Henning
 C. Arch Hopper
 B. D. Brien
 Walter F. Tuhey
 O. Wendell McGinnis
 Kenneth S. Swift
 Louis M. Brereton
 Charles R. Stires
 Newell A. Lasher
 Wm. P. Weeks

James P. Brereton
 A. E. Pritchett
 W. Howard Graham
 L. H. Tober
 David M. Talbot
 Joseph S. Dickson
 Franklin J. Klohn
 John R. Green

Bexley Alumni who are alumni of the College are also listed with their College class.

Bexley Students

Shelbert C. Harris, Jr.
 Cloud C. Rutter
 Francis A. Hoeflinger
 Harry W. Vere
 Wm. E. Ferguson
 Robert E. Hancock
 J. Greenlee Haynes
 Harry W. Henning
 G. M. Ottsen
 Charles F. Schreiner
 Bruce C. Williamson
 Wm. G. Worman
 Herbert J. Vandort

TOTAL GIFTS

Alumni 666	Gifts $281,666.58
Undergraduates 479	Gifts $ 13,337.00
(Totals of Classes of 1947 and 1948 also Bexley students included with undergrad- uates)	