LUCILE'S LOVE AFFAIR.

fond of a pretty face, and when he caught a glimpse of Lucile's, as the wind blew her veil aside on the homeward trip of the Malta, he wished he was her cousin, or the stout ship's surgeon who dared offer his arm to her for a promenade. There was something almost familiar in the face, too. Where had he met her? At what German or reception? In the salons of the best society, or in the wards of a hospital? Or was it only a trick of imagination? Had he waltzed with her at some seaside hop, or taken her out at some state dinner or wedding breakfast? Dr. Harrisse was a bold man in his way; the few days on the Malta had hung like lead on his hands, there being but a handful of cabin passengers, and many of those without heir sea legs. He was a man quic to think, but somewhat forgetful. His eyes met Lucile's; a smile of recognition illuminated her face; he bowed confidentially, and advanced toward her. "I am happy to meet you again," she said, unblushingly. "Perhaps you find it as dull on board as I do?" "If you are at your wits' end for amusement, as I am, I'm sorry for you," she said. My poor aunt has not been able so far to lift her head from her pillow."

"Who in the deuce do I know with the appendage of an aunt?" Harrisse mentally considered: "However, it doesn't signify, if she is only amusing. and the aunt is not an ogre."

The ship's surgeon, Dr. Johns, consulted his watch. "I shall be obliged to deliver you to the tender mercies of Dr. Harrisse, Miss Lindsay," he said, as he hurried away.

"You see I am lame still," she said to himself, to do other than nostnone Miss Lindsay. After oresently.

"Is it possible!" he returned, feeling as if he were groping in the dark. Had one of his acquaintances suffered an accident which had escaped his memory? She took it for granted that ces. A misstep here might expose him. "But doubtless it will wear off in time," he hazarded.
"I fear not. You don't realize that the accident happened six years ago; I used it too soon. I must ride, von know, at that time, or die. It was weak, and I got another fall, and roke it again. "I am sincerely sorry to hear it," said Dr. Harrisse. Was it possible that he had known this blooming crea-ture for six years, and had neglected to cultivate her? However, he would learn by experience, and make the most of the present. "Is this your first visit abroad?" he asked, a day or two later. "Yes; have been away five years. call Europe my school room. I didn't know anything when I left America, except riding, you know. I was a perfect dunce. I have studied the arts and language. I can speak and sing to you in five tongues."

"With the tounges of men and angels, I've no doubt?" "I can paint you a picture that will not be half bad. Haven't 1 used my I wish to Heaven I had used mine "I had thought of going on the "I wouldn't. I am glad you gave it "Surely you are not one of those who are prejudiced against the "Certainly not. But I have unques tionable prejudice against having the women of my acquaintance or family before the foot-lights." "And yet somebody must sacrifice herself in the cause of art, or the drama "Yes; and so there must be Nautch girls, and tight-rope performers, and bare-back riders, I suppose, but we don't choose them for our wives and sweethearts, we don't elect to have our sisters and friends among them." Miss Lucile had withdrawn her hand from the doctor's arm to arrange her veil, but, that duty done, she did not replace it till he made a demand. But you would like your sister to write the great American novel?" she "Yes; the literary woman sits at work beside her own hearth-stone, in the shadow of her own roof-tree, pro-tected from the public gaze."

"But how often she is dragged before the foot-lights, so to speak. Every penny-a-liner makes her the subject of a paragraph; her household goods are inventoried, her profits estimated, her weakness chronicled, and her features photographed." "But personally she is not so much a public character. She has reserves."

And after that the subject dropped.

But Lucile and Dr. Harrisse had housand other things to discuss. He delighted in a woman who daied to disagree with him. They found that they had just missed each other at In-terlachen; that he had only been prevented by a chance from joining the party with which she had made the ascent of Mont Blanc; they had mutu-al friends abroad; but still the great enigma, where he had known her in America, remained unsolved. But he troubled himself very little about it just know; he was drifting with the tide; he was passing through a new phase of existence. He had believed himself invincible, and behold! he had been quered by "touch of hand, turn of head." It was absurd, perhaps, for a man of his years to be so easily chanted; he rather longed for the end of the voyage in order to discover if it was only the glamour of a pretty face and a sweet manner that would not last, but he seriously hoped it would. Such moonlight nights were never known before as those which he spent with Lucile; such star-light never shone upon palace gardens or mountain streams. Was it the same old sang to him in all the strange foreign tongues she knew; sometimes his tenory voice joined hers till it seemed as if they were merely two spirits soaring. He began to confess now that he had never been so happy in his life; he began to wish the voyage would last forever. He had forgotten to ask where he had met her, who she was, how descended, how placed.

It seemed to Dr. Harrisse, about this time that Dr. Johns was always of showed to the fellow that tells me how that trick was performed. I shall were rebuked for saying that Thompson should have "appealed to the cold law for vengeance." A man who should thus appeal "would become a mark of detestation, and even well-bred dogs would give him the right of way." And then Mr. Voorhees made this remarkable utterance: "Gentlemen, this is the first time that this States has ever dishonored itself by anxiety. depression of spirits and world, or had he been translated? She scended, how placed.

It seemed to Dr. Harrisse, about this time, that Dr. Johns was always joining them, that he had a weakness himself for Miss Lindsay; and Harrisse smiled, thinking how futile it was. "You remember Captain Hamer-ton?" asked Dr. Johns on one of these occasions, when the talk had somehow ton?" asked Dr. Johns on one of these occasions, when the talk had somehow drifted upon love and marriage.

"Oh, certainly," said Harrisse, wishing Captain Hamerton and Dr. Johns

"I think I must go below," said Lucile;"the sun is withering." Naturally enough, Lucile was tired of the sur-

Sitting down to due the following day with his bosom-friend, "Tom," he asked, "you know everything and everybody; can you tell me where I have met Miss Lucile Lindsay?" "She was the person Captain Hamerton wanted to marry. You remember old Hamerton? Forty years her senior; romantic story. He tempted her with jewels, as Faust tempted Marguerite; with kindness and luxury; but although she was only a poor little circus-rider, she wouldn't marry him. When he died he left her half his estate. I heard she went abroad. She broke a bone, falling from her horse, at one time in the circus. I suppose you must have set it. Gone, eh? Been on the ragged edge of flirtation on the voyage? Fancy a Harrisse marrying a circus-rider! How Beacon street

Dr. Harrisse was perhaps thankful that his patients demanded his attention, and gave them no time to think than postpone Miss Lindsay. After all had he compromised himself? Did not many a bachelor whisper tender nothings on a sea voyage without in-tentions? Was it not expected of him to charm away seasickness and ennui? Should be not go to see her naturally like any other friend-like Dr. Johns when opportunity offered, and let affairs adjust themselves? After a month's reflection he adopted this course. It seemed to him that Lucile was a trifle paler than before, but she made up for this defect by a greater vivacity. Presently he found that when he called for an hour he was apt to remain two. After his first visit he never referred to the voyage. One day he met Dr. Johns coming away from her presence; he had an air of suppressed excitement about him. It was a year since they had parted on the Malta. "The fellow is almost handsome," thought Harrisse, "and he is in love with Lucile." Miss Lindsome railway stations. This is a wild picturesque spot, on a high plateau, surrounded by mountain peaks, looking down upon either side into deep gulches. The country about is devoid of verdure, except the "scrub" say was engaged with a headache, and begged Dr. Harrisse would excuse her. The words sounded strangely to him; mesquite and chaparal, and a peculiar species of cacti, like sentinels, stand-ing about as they do, solitary shafts. he felt dazed and miserable, and angry with Dr. Johns, as if his visit had something to do with it. He drove home, and went to his li brary. It seemed as if there was no time to lose. He never remembered having been in such a hurry before in his life. Why had he postponed hap-piness so long? It was late the fol-lowing day when he received Lucile's reply.
"Your kind words," she wrote,

It was perhaps a half a dozen years later when, looking over some old papers, he happened ugon the charred remnant of Lucile's letter, which his servant had rescued from the fire and folded away. He opened it curiously, and lingered over it fascinated.
"I confessed all this to Dr. Johns when he proposed to me yesterday morning, and he was willing to ab-solve me," he read; "but if, you love me—poor Dr. Johns! I should like to punish you; I should like to quote to you, 'There must be Nautch girls and circus-riders, perhaps, but we do not choose our wives and sweethearts from among them,' and refuse your gift-

THE Republican Convention which met on Saturday at the Court House for selection of delegates to the State Convention, was a good indication of the feeling that begins to prevade the party throughout the country. The is now accused of laying the ropes for attendance was large, and consisted of a re-election in 1884. This profound the most substantial and intelligent citizens of the county. A feeling of hope and confidence was shown that lar desire to do the best he knows how bodes no good to the Democracy. Those timid Republicans who have become downhearted by the late temporary Democratic success in Ohio, should cheer up, buckle on their armor, and fall into rank. The Republican party of Ohio was never beaten when it went in to win.

NORTH CAROLINA may be an important factor in the next National ontest, and the position she is likely to occupy becomes, therefore, a matter of interest. The result of the election last year showed that the Democracy was in a demoralized condition, and had the opposition known its strength it would have succeeded. As it was the Democrats elected their candidate for Governor by less than 300 majority. The coalition between the Liberals and Republicans was then incomplete. This defect has been remedied, and Democrats will meet next year a thoroughly organized and well-equipped opposition. The Baltimore Sun's cormany of the younger Democrats are leaving the party and coming out openly in favor of the Republicans Besides electing a Governor next year, the Legislature will be chosen which will elect Senator VANCE's successor.

The honest farmer deserts his farm around which cluster a thousand emories of the past, and buckling on his web feet, he flees to the frog ponds of the great northern watershed, to make a 'free claim' and be happy. Such is life. We battle on bravely for quashing army worms on a shingle,in order that we may dwell beneath our own vine and plum tree; and then we sell and take wings toward a wild, unknown country, where land is dirt cheap, where the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary are at rest."

THE action of Gov. BUTLER in calling the attention of the Government to the importation of foreign paupers into Massachusetts may result in much good. It is a matter that has received altogether too little notice. While it has always been the American policy to invite and welcome immigration, yet some care should be exercised as to the kind and character of people who come. It has been discovered that the British Government has been engaged in gathering up the most troublesome and deprayed of their poorer classes and furnishing them transportation to this country. Every few days a shipload of these miserable beings is dumped off at some of our seaboard cities, and left to the mercy of the municipal authorities. Many of them are absolutely unfit for any sort of service and become at once inmates of poorhouses and other charitable institutions. This AKER, of Cincinnati, is bound to be is found by the British Government to these people than to take care of them at public expense. It is to be hoped that the State Department at Washington will promptly give its attention to this outrage and check it. While there is room here for millions more. it is not a matter of indifference as to who the people are. The day has not yet come when our government can afford to welcome everything that walks erect and make of them citizens. Foreigners who come here of their own accord to find homes for themselves and families and to improve their fortunes, will be gladly received his behalf are extravagant. The business of by a flock of sheep. gathering up these paupers is entrusted to an English emigration society which acts under the direction of the British authorities. Most of the emigrants are gleaned from Ireland. It is said that the British authorities, fearing that complications might arise with this Government, has commenced shipping these people to other foreign ports and thence to America; in this way it is hoped to escape responsibility for conduct which may lead to future international complications. If BEN BUTLER can be the means of awakening such attention to this matter as will there is no created thing but has its use

Just what a public officer would have to do to escape censure and condemnation at the hands of his political opponents is one of the things that no fellah can find out. Whatever moves he makes or in whatever direction he looks, his act is bound to be misconstrued by some one who believes that he is especially endowed for looking through a millstone. President ARTHUR has not escaped the venom of these critics. He conclusion has dawned upon his enemies because he has shown a particu for his party and for his country. Why should a man be so particular to do right unless he expects a reward? This is the reasoning that has been applied to him, and this is about the highest idea of duty that those who employ it are capable of conceiving. Not having any other data from which to build, except their own sorto reduce the number of revenue col did notions of things, they are determined to have it understood that the President, because he is showing an earnest desire to serve the country well, is scheming for a second term. The late move of President ARTHUR lectors, is a thing so utterly antagonistic to the ideas of a party whose sole ambition is the reward of spoils, and consequently the multiplication of places, that it looks upon the matter as covering over some dark and mysterious design. In order to understand the matter aright and to show the justification of the President's determination, it is necessary to state respondent in that State says that that there are now 126 internal revenue districts, and that in about forty of them the amounts collected are so small as to not justify the employment of collectors at the salaries fixed. The intention of the President is to consolidate and reduce the number to 82. This will dispense with over forty collectors and effect a saving in salaries of about $120,000 per year. Now in order to do this the President will have to incur the displeasure of all these deposed officers and their wants to see another crusade begun friends, yet our Democratic journals declare that he is plotting for a second term. It is just such conduct as this that should strengthen President AR-"We have a distinct recollection that THUR with the people, for there is a number of Democratic leaders, 'so- no reason for supposing that he is doing this from any other motive than that he recognizes it as a duty. LET US HAVE BETTER BUTTER.

Steps have been taken to inaugurate a National Dairy Fair to be held in Ohio sometime during the coming autumn. At the last meeting of the vears, cutting out white-oak grubs, and Central Ohio Butter and Egg Shippers' Association held at Lima, March 14th, Col. R. M. Littler, of Iowa, Sec retary of the National Butter, Cheese and Egg Association was present and presented the matter of holding a Na_ tional Fair and Convention in some central city in this State. Messrs. A. D. BUNN and H. H. Young have been appointed as delegates for this county to assist in the preliminary work of carrying out the enterprise The idea of the movement is to encourage and foster the business of diarying and butter-making, of disseminating more scientific and modern methods of production, which will increase the quantity and quality of the product, and afford the consumer a a better grade of butter and obtain for the producer a better price.

It can not be denied that Ohio has fallen behind many of the other States MRS. JENNIE BEAZLE. MRS. A. S. OGDEN of the Union in the quality of her butter product: with a climate, and soi and market facilities unsurpassed, our butter product is sold at from one quarter to one-fifth less than the product of Illinois and Iowa. There, associations have been formed for the advance of dairy matters; creameries are established in almost every neighborhood, and the business of buttermaking receives as much attention and yields as large a revenue as any other farm enterprise. The subject is one full of interest and importance. Knox county farmers and others interested in the subject should affect an organization early this season, and send representatives to the National Convention which will be held at Dayton this fall.

SIT JOHN LUBBOCK in The Nineteenth Century makes a statement which is hard to realize. Down to the year 1724 the English Government gave to the tax-pavers a notched stick as a receipt. The old Exchequer tallies were willow rods about five feet long, which were notched at certain intervals, each being understood to mean so many pounds, shillings and pence, or fractions thereof. When the amounts wer thus notched the stick was split one partibeing kept by the tax-payer and the other by the Government. > THE constitutionality of the Scot law is not to be tested before the meeting of the Republican State Conven tion. This fact has given consider able worry to a good many Republicans, and suggestions have been made that the convention be postponed until after such decision. We fail to see any sufficient reason for the delay. Whether the Scott law is sustained or not, the party is committed to its main feature -the taxation of the liquor traffic, and will so declare. It will be an important issue of the campaign whatever the court may hold. If it fails to stand the test, then the duty becomes all the more imperative to amend the Constitution to that end.

> DELEGATES to the State Convention should remember that their presence at Columbus is needed on the 5th of June (the day before the nomination, a meeting will be held on that day for consultation and organization. Every delegate will find it profitable to be there. The coming campaign will be no child's play. The State must and will be carried. The alliance of the Democracy with the worst elements of the population can not save them from defeat in October.

> The Scott tax law taxes a big dazzling saloon where a large traffic is carried on the same that it taxes a small saloon, kept by a poor man. This is about the usual style of Republican justice.-Banner. And the poll tax law of Ohio, taxes a little dried up citizen who isn't worth ten dollars, just as much as it taxes a bloated millionaire. But we don't reremember of ever having heard any one squealing. Absolute justice is a thing that don't belong to this wicked world.

WE notice friendly mention in some of our Democratic exchanges of the name of Hon. CLARK IRVINE of Knox county, as a candidate for Attorney General. Of course the Knox delegation will support him.

An exchange remarks that more than six months intervene before the the next Congress will meet, but a nervous fear is evident already among the Democrats as to the course things will take in the House. They know that next winter's work in Washington will have a potent influence upon the Presidential campaign of 1884, and they are naturally anxious that as few blunders as possible shall be commit-ted. So the Democratic organs are firing off a quantity of advice at the members-elect, and begging them to leave their hobbies at home and to suppress the cranks at the beginning. Positively Restores the Hearing, and is the Only Absolute Cure for Deafness Known. Only Absolute Cure for Deafness Known.

This oil is extracted from a peculiar species of small White Shark, caught in the Yellow sea, known as Carchardon Kondleth.

Every Chinese fisherman knows it. Its virtues as a restorative of hearing were discovered by a Bhuddist Priest about the year 1410. Its cures were so numerous and many so stemingly miraculous, that the remedy was officially proclaimed over the entire Empire. Its use became so universal that for over 300 years no Deafness has existed among the Chinese people. Sent, charges prepaid, to any address at $1 per bottle. Friday, June 8, 1883, First-For the construction of an iror bridge, one span, single track, fourteen (14 feet roadway, and one hundred and thirty (130) feet extreme length from pin to pin across Owl Creek, near Gambier, in College township, about one-half mile west of Gambier depot.

Second-Also for the construction of an roon bridge, single track, fourteen (14) feet coadway, and forty-five feet extreme length rom pin to pin, across stream near the Dennis church in Jackson township. It has performed a miracle in my case.

I have no unearthly noises in my head and hear much better.

I have been greatly benefitted.

roadway, and forty-five feet extreme length from pin to pin, across stream near the Dennis church in Jackson township.

Third—Also for the construction of an iron bridge, one span, single track, fourteen (14) feet roadway, and thirty (30) feet extreme length from pin to pin, across run near Charles Elliott's residence in Clay township about one mile north-west of Bladensburg village.

Fourth—Also for the construction of an iron bridge, one span, single track, fourteen (14) feet roadway, and forty-five (45) feet extreme length from pin to pin, across a branch of Jelloway Creek in Howard township near the John Larwi'l farm, and about two miles west of Danville Station.

Fifth—Also for the construction of an iron bridge, one span, single track, fourteen (14) feet roadway, and thirty-five (35) feet extreme length from pin to pin, across Sveamore Creek, near the res dence of L. H. Burgess, in Milford township, about four miles south—east of Liberty Station.

Bids will be received for stone work for the Shaffer bridge in College township, near fambier, also for stone work for bridge near the Dennis church, in Jackson township; also for stone work for bridge in Howard township near the Larwill farm.

All bidders will take notice that bids will be received for each bridge separately, also for the entire work.

All stone work to be done by the cubic yard of twenty-seven (27) feet, For full particulars reference is had to specifications and plans now on file at the Auditor's office.

All bidders will take notice that the County Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids as circumstances may require, and further that in their bids for the construction of bridges, they must describe in detail, as far as practicable, the kind of bridge, the capacity for sustaining weight; and present the general plan of the bridges together with the cost thereof when completed.

Colossal Sale OF SPRING AND SUMMER

DRY GOODS, J. S. RINGWALT'S

Monday, April 30.

Our new stock, recently purchased in New York, has arrived, and we are now prepared to show our patrons bargains never before equaled in Knox county. We reached the Eastern markets in advance of the season, and owing to the scarcity of buyers, were able to purchase entire lines of desirable goods at our own prices, -- in many cases at much less than the cost of production. We have no room or time to enumerate the many bargains we have to offer, but invite the public to call and see for themselves. Very truly,

JOHN S. RINGWALT.

The Republican County Convention which assembled according to announcement at the Court House on Saturday afternoon, to select delegates to the State Convention, and to nominate a Central and Executive Committee, was very largely attended by the enthusiastic wide-awake Republi cans of the county. Notwithstanding the farmers are in the midst of cornplanting and sheep-shearing, every voting precinct in the county was rep-

The convention was called to order by W. C. Culbertson, Esq., president pro tem of the County Executive Committee, who nominated H. H. Greer, Esq., as chairman of the convention. Mr. Greer in response to an unani mous aye, took the chair, and in a few brief and terse remarks thanked the convention for the honor, and eulogized the grand old Republican party which had stood so long in the front rank battling for freedom, liberty and resented by a dozen or more delegates.

The organization of the convention was perfected by the election of Gideon Elliott, of Wayne, and Andrew Wel-ker of Howard, as Vice Presidents, and W. F. Baldwin and B. F. Moree as

After being repeatedly urged I purchased a bottle, and before I had used all of it I passed a stone as large as a pea, followed by smaller ones. I have used in all ten bottles and it has completely cured me. My kidneys are in excellent, conme. My kidneys are in excellent conme. My kidneys are in excellent collidition, and for one of my age, (68) sixty-eight years, I can truly say I feel like a young man with strength and vitality. My family use the Remedy and would not be without it, and never fail to recommend it to our friends and neighbors in Cambridge and Boston. You are at liberty to use my name in praise of the best kidney and liver medicine. Hunt's Remedicine Hunt's Rem ney and liver medicine, Hunt's Remedy." "Did Wonders For Me."

"Did Wonders For Me."

The above words are from Mrs.
Lewis Keen, No 9 Highland Avenue, Malden, Mass., April 28, 1883. He says: "I have been troubled for years with kidney and 'liver' complaint, followed by gravel with severe pains in in my back and groins. I had great trouble in passing water, it being scanty, and accompanied by terrible burning, the vessel being coated with brick-dust deposit. I was recommended to use Hunt's Remedy by a friend who had been completely cured, of a similar trouble. I purchased a bottle who had been completely cured of a similar trouble. I purchased a bottle at the druggist's and commenced to improve at once. I have used but two bottles, and it has done wonders for me—no more kidney trouble no more pain. It has given me new life, and I would not be without Hunt's and I would not be without Hunt's Remedy at any price. It is all that it is recommended to be, and I cheerfully give this testimony for the bene-fit of the many sufferers from kidney disease and gravel."

Why She Hated a Tunnel. "I hate a tunnel!" the maiden said,

And closer to the drammer drew; "They always make me feel afraid Of some disaster; don't they you? And then the drummer shook his mane,

"Your safe enough with me," said he; Whatever happens on the train, You always can rely on me!" And with car-splitting whistle's shrick, The train plunged in the black abyss; The drummer sought her blooming cheek.

And frescoed it with manly kiss Emboldened by her sweet alarm, As on they tore through that eclip He laid her head upon his arm. And friezed a dado on her lips.

"Ah, me!" the maiden sweetly smiled. As she arranged her tumbled hat, And once again the sunbeams filed In at the window where they sat, "I thank you for your interest;

Excuse me, sir; I get off here!"

And so she left him drownet in sighs, And on the sea of soft dreams tossed, Of her sweet lips and pure, bright eyes, So quickly gained and quickly lost. To dream! but, ah, at last to wake And learn that in the tunnel's din She'd siezed upon her chance to snake His chain and watch and diamond pin!

Getting the Worth of his Money. Yesterday evening a man, a little top-heavy, rushed into a Sixth avenue telegraph office, seized a telegraph blank and a stub pen with a ball of ink on the end, and by proping himself against the counter, managed to write the following message.

"Kate, I wont be home till morning, "What'll that cost?" said the man, handing the message through the port hole to the manipulator of electricity. "Let me see. Seven words-fifteen "Fifteen cents? How much for ten

"The same price; anything not exceeding ten will cost you fifteen cents to any address in the city," answered the operator, making a spring to muz-zle an instrument that was sputtering as if it had dilerium tremens.

"I'm bound to have the worth of my money out of your corporations, then,' said the man, bracing himself against the counter as he traced on a blank

this clear message:
"Incompreshensiblity, manufacturers, transcendentalism, Constantino-ple, concavo-convex, Massachusetts, assassination, Pennsylvania, imper-turbability, philoprogentiveness."

"There, string that on your wire and send her at a 2-40 gait," said the man with a look of vengeance in his

The operator counted the words, but volunteered the information that there was no sense in the message and that the dictionary must have been ran-sacked for the longest words.

"I know there's no sense in it, but Kate'll understand it all the same; she'll know I'm on a drunk any way when I send a message at this hour, whether it's sense or not. I make 'em long on purpose to break the back of your darned machine. Shovel 'em in and start the crank. I'm in for a good time. Never mind the expense, here's your fifteen cents." And the man ran out and hailed a passing cab.

sumption, asthma, whooping cough, loss voice, irritation of the throat, sareness the chest and lungs, dryness and tickling the throat. For sale by Beardslee & Barr.

We guarantee that it is a remedy that excels all other medicines now prepared for infants, as it is perfectly harmless and pleasant to the taste, even to the most delicate infant. It will positively give relief in ten minutes in any of the mentioned diseases that infants are hely to, such as cramp colic, moaning, fretfulness at night, wind colo and cutting teeth. The advantage this medicine possesses over all other medicines, apart from it being more pleasant to take, it also applies to the digestive organs, which are always implicated in the above-memtioned diseases. Dr. J. H. Wolf's Baby Friend tones the stomach to healthy action, improves the appetite and facilitates the proper digestion of food to nourish and build up the body. It also acts on the liver, promoting the secretion of healthy bile to regulate the bowels and purify the blood, thus to strengthen and build up the general health in all cases. It is so mild in its action that the most delicate infant can take it with benefit. All children crave it as candy. Mothers recommend it! Physicians prescribed it in preference to all other medicines for children. For sale by Dr. J. H. Wolf's Baby Friend.

attacked with a severe cold which set-tled on her lungs. We tried several medicines, none of which seemed to do her any good, but she continued to get worse, and finally raised large amounts of blood from her lungs. We called in a family physician but he failed to do her any good. We then called in a physician—a most skillful professor in one of our colleges—he said that she could not get well. At this time a friend who had been cured by DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, advised me to give it a trial. We then got a bottle, and before she had used it all up she began to improve and by the use of three to improve, and by the use of three bottles was entirely cured.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN,

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pink-ham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She assistants, to help her answer the large corr essistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country.

one says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhoea, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the con-sequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life." the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, detroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will atalkimes, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1, per bottle or six for $5, and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and
