CENTENNIAL POEM.

Read at the Centennial Celebration of the American Independence, at Mt. Vernon, July 4th, 1876. BY E. S. ROUSE, ESQ.

That ships may sail from seas to seas; And Britain also must give way To science on no distant day. Still other triumphs shall succeed— The world shall be improved indeed. We know not what may be in store, For the next hundred years or more. Things unimagined, unconceived As yet, will be man achieved. Man's intellect—we know not what Can check the power of human thought. God to no limits hath confined. The restless, deathless human mind. He made it, meant it, left it free. Endowed with immortality. Progress is God's high behest; He only sees, and knows the rest. Astonishment would seize our brains, At what faculty contains Could we descend the vista see The products of eternity. Though men are finite, as a whole, Man has infinity in his soul. Expanding will forever be, His powers, through all eternity. The tree of knowledge luring stands, Inviting man, with outstretched hands, To pluck and eat the luscious fruit. There is no interdiction here. Since an hundred years ago? We could not make a pin, And now what nation can compete With our centennial year? We now have thousands of factories, Employing millions of hands, Producing thousands of millions of goods. For home, and foreign lands. Hark! 'tis the welkin ringing! Angel choirs are singing! "Ring the old century out! Ring in the new!"

Address of the King of the Carnival of the "Merry Crew of Komus," at the Centennial Celebration of the Fourth of July in Mt. Vernon.

Address of the King of the Carnival of the "Merry Crew of Komus," at the Centennial Celebration of the Fourth of July in Mt. Vernon. I have assembled to renew our allegiance to, and show that the same spirit of liberty, inaugurated by the fathers of our country in 1776, still exists. But while viewing this vast assemblage of our fellow-citizens to-day, I see among your number many who I believe are much fuller of "spirits" than were our heroic forefathers of the spirit of one hundred years ago. In looking over this grand assemblage of American citizens, I behold many subjects of my late downfall kingdom, among whom may be seen the few remaining heroes of late cruel-cold war, waged upon poor and decrepit and defenseless women and ignorant Dutch, down at Silver Creek and Warrington coal mines. Look upon that noble band of veterans and tell me, are they not truly objects of pity? Gaze for a moment upon my entire band of followers and tell me, cannot you see stamped upon each and every brow that great gift of nature—intelligence. Behold our good city officers representing their different departments, here-to-day. Don't they look bold, honest, magnanimous and good? And while viewing those great powers of nobility, don't, O don't overlook our great and enterprising Gas Company, who have so ably and energetically endeavored to produce their share of the programme by taking part in our grand exercises of the day. Remembering that a spirit of reform has been established in this gas department that has long been on the summit of the Hill, and now, in order that a good and generous public may be better able to see the things that are dark and tricks that are vain, have magnanimously agreed to reduce the price of coal gas ten cents per thousand feet. Just think of this great reduction, and wonder how a monopoly like this can stand the reduction. Look on our good and patriotic silver cornet band, who have so generously donated their services to play on this our one hundredth anniversary of America, without money and without price. Long may they live to blow the loud blasts of music at our next centennial!

Governor Hayes's Letter of Acceptance.

Governor Hayes's Letter of Acceptance. Hon. Edward McPherson, Hon. Wm. A. Howard, Hon. Joseph H. Rainey, and others, Committee of the Republican National Convention. GENTLEMEN: In reply to your official communication of June 17th, by which I am informed of my nomination for the office of President of the United States, by the Republican National Convention at Cincinnati, I accept the nomination with gratitude, hoping that, under Providence, I shall be able, if elected, to execute the duties of the high office as a trust for the benefit of all the people. I do not deem it necessary to enter upon any extended examination of the declaration of principles made by the Convention. The resolutions are in accord with my views, and I heartily concur in the principles they announce. In several of the resolutions, however, questions are considered, which are of such importance, that I deem it proper to briefly express my convictions in regard to them. The first resolution adopted by the Convention, is of paramount interest. More than forty years ago, a system of making appointments by office, grew up, based upon the maxim, "To the victor belong the spoils." The old rule—the true rule—that honesty, capacity and fidelity constitute the only real qualifications for office, and that there is no other claim, gave place to the idea that party services were to be chiefly considered. All parties, in practice have adopted this system. It has been essentially modified since its first introduction. It has not, however been improved. At first the President, either directly or through the heads of Departments made all the appointments. But gradually the appointing power, in many cases, passed into the control of the members of Congress. The offices in these cases have become not merely rewards for party services, but rewards for services to party leaders. This system destroys the independence of the separate Departments of the Government; it tends directly to extravagance and official incapacity; it is a temptation to dishonesty; it hinders and impairs that careful supervision and strict accountability, by which alone faithful and efficient public service can be secured; it obstructs the prompt removal and sure punishment of the unworthy. In every way it degrades the civil service and the character of the Government. It is, I feel, an intolerable burden, and an unwarrantable hindrance to the proper discharge of their legitimate duties. It ought to be abolished. The reform should be thorough, radical and complete. We should return to the principles and practice of the founders of the Government, supplying by legislation when needed, that which was formerly established custom. They neither expected nor desired from the public officer any partisan service. They meant that public officers should owe their whole service to the Government and to the people. They meant that the officer should be secure in his tenure as long as his personal character remained untarnished, and the performance of his duties satisfactory. If elected, I shall conduct the administration of the Government upon these principles; and all Constitutional powers vested in the Executive, will be employed to establish this reform. The declaration of principles by the Cincinnati Convention makes no announcement in favor of a single Presidential term. I do not assume to add to that declaration; but believing that the restoration of the civil service, to the system established by Washington and followed by the early Presidents, can be best accomplished by an Executive who is under no temptation to use the patronage of his office, to promote his own re-election, I desire to perform what I regard as a duty, in stating now, my inflexible purpose, if elected, not to be a candidate for election to a second term. On the currency question I have frequently expressed my views in public, and I stand by my record on this subject. I regard all the laws of the United States relating to the payment of the public indebtedness, the legal tender notes included, as constituting a pledge and moral obligation of the Government which must in good faith be kept. It is my conviction that the feeling of uncertainty inseparable from an irredeemable paper currency, with its fluctuations of values is one of the great obstacles to a revival of confidence and business, and to a return of prosperity. That uncertainty can be ended in but one way—the resumption of specie payments—but the longer the instability connected with our present money system is permitted to continue, the greater will be the injury inflicted upon our economic interests, and all classes of society.

If elected, I shall approve every appropriate measure to accomplish the desired end, and shall oppose any step backward. The resolution with respect to the public school system, is one which should receive the hearty support of the American people. Agitation upon this subject is to be apprehended until, by constitutional amendment, the schools are placed beyond all danger of sectarian control, or interference. The Republican party is pledged to secure such an amendment. The resolution of the Convention on the subject of the permanent pacification of the country, and the complete protection of all its citizens in the free enjoyment of all their constitutional rights, is timely and of great importance. The condition of the southern states attracts the attention and commands the sympathy of the people of the whole Union. In their progressive recovery from the effects of the war, their first necessity is an intelligent and honest administration of government, which will protect all classes of citizens in all their political and private rights. What the south most needs, is peace and peace depends upon the supremacy of law. There can be no enduring peace, if the constitutional rights of any portion of the people are habitually disregarded. A division of political parties, resting merely upon distinctions of race, or upon sectional lines, is always unfortunate, and may be disastrous. The welfare of the south, alike with that of every other part of the country, depends upon the attractions it can offer to labor, to immigration, and to capital. But laborers will not go and capital will not be ventured, where the Constitution and the laws are set at defiance, and distraction, apprehension and alarm take the place of peace-loving and law-abiding social life. All parts of the Constitution are sacred, and must be sacredly observed—the parts that are new no less than the parts that are old. The moral and material prosperity of the southern states can be most effectually advanced by a hearty and generous recognition of the rights of all, by all—a recognition without reserve or exception. With such a recognition fully accorded, it will be practicable to promote, by the influence of all legitimate agencies of the general Government, the efforts of the people of those States, to obtain for themselves, the blessings of honest and capable local government. If elected, I shall consider it not only my duty, but it will be my ardent desire to labor for the attainment of this end. Let me assure my countrymen of the southern states that if I shall be charged with the duty of organizing an Administration, it will be one which will regard and cherish their true interests—the interest of the white, and of the colored people both, and equally; and which will put forth its best efforts in behalf of a civil policy, which will wipe out forever the distinction between north and south in our common country. With a civil service organized upon a system which will secure purity, experience, efficiency, and economy, a strict regard for the public welfare, solely in appointments, and the speedy, thorough and unsparring prosecution and punishment of all public officers who betray official trusts; with a sound currency; with education unsectarian and free to all; with simplicity and frugality in public and private affairs; and with a fraternal spirit of harmony pervading the people of all sections and classes, we may reasonably hope that the second century of our existence as a Nation will, by the blessing of God, be pre-eminent as "an era of good feeling," and a period of progress, prosperity and happiness. Very Respectfully, Your fellow citizen, R. B. HAYES.

Scioto Valley Railroad.

The locating party of the Scioto Valley Railroad were at the Russell place on Monday morning, and are expected to reach Portsmouth this week. From a point two miles above Lucasville to the George Davis farm the line runs directly by the turnpike, on the east side. Mr. Underwood reports excellent success in securing the right of way, the farmers generally giving it cheerfully. The largest sea lions in the world, and the only ones on exhibition in the United States, can be seen sporting in their wrought iron tanks with Old John Robinson's big show, which exhibits here on Monday, July 24th. John Wilson rides and drives four horses, with the Robinson show. The big show. Two performances. One day only.

The time appointed by law for the payment of the June taxes expired on the 20th of June, but owing to the stringency in money matters, Treasurer Dunham has fixed the date at Friday, July 21st, as the utmost limit within which to pay the same. It is imperative that settlements be made at by that time, in the hands of collectors, after that date.

The Boston Traveler relates this incident, which occurred in that city Sunday: "During the delivery of the Rev. James Freeman Clarke's sermon at the church of the Disciples he alluded to the great number of National officials who have been corrupt, and pausing a second, asked, 'What is the remedy for this evil?' A parrot, whose cage was on the portico of a house on Shawmut-ave., and directly opposite the church, shouted out, 'Good by, all.'

The following is from the Gambier Argus: Mrs. Eunice Beardsley, mother of Mrs. G. S. Benedict of Gambier, and of Platt G. Beardsley, Esq., formerly of Mt. Vernon, died at her home in Brandon last Sunday. We believe she was in the 91st year of her age at the time of her death, but had been quite active until during the past year.—Prof. Benson and his son Harry left for the Centennial on Monday. Prof. Strong intends going soon. Prof. Rust went last week.

Learning that our genial townsman and valued chorister, F. C. Nichols, Esq., is about to remove to Columbus, many of his friends of the Baptist church, congregation and choir, met at his residence last Friday evening and gave him an agreeable surprise. As a token of friendship, and especially of appreciation of his services as chorister, they presented him with two pieces of beautiful silverware—a cake basket and a butter dish. In presenting these, the pastor gave voice in a few, simple words to those sentiments of respect and friendship which prompted the offering. The brief reply of Mr. Nichols left no room to doubt that those sentiments are fully reciprocated by himself and his estimable lady, and that the testimonial was as welcome as it was unexpected.

A fair audience greeted Gen. J. S. Jones at the Court House last Friday night. A. R. McIntyre, Esq. presided, and the organization of a Hayes club was perfected by the adoption of a constitution and the election of permanent officers: Hon. R. C. Kirk, president; H. H. Greer, vice president; F. Clark and W. S. Hyde, secretaries, after which Gen. Jones delivered a good speech on the political issues of the day. The meeting closed with three cheers for our candidate for Congress, J. S. Jones, and three cheers for Hayes and Wheeler.

A Few Gems to Begin With. Cincinnati Enquirer, June 8, 1876. A private letter just received from New York, from a gentleman of fairness and intelligence, says: "I had a good opinion of Tilden until I came among those that know him, but I find that they all agree that his show of reform is a humbug. The recent Albany conference is corroborative of all this testimony. The controlling politicians, as well as the masses of the people in the Democratic party in New York, who can draw a dividing line between an honest man and a Bengal tiger or a hypocrite, are alike well aware that Tilden cannot carry his own State, should he, by the wrath of God, be nominated for the presidency. If there are potent reasons why the democracy of Tilden's own State are opposed to his nomination, there are more and greater reasons why the democracy of the west and south should be intelligent and honorable enough to resist his bribes and defeat his nomination. We do not apprehend his nomination, but we are not insensible to the power of money and management. There are a few facts concerning Sam Tilden, which, we trust, will sink into the minds of western and southern Democrats.

1. He cannot carry his own State in November.

2. He cannot carry any northern State.

3. He is a hypocrite, a political swindler, has long been a public plunderer, and is really the only disreputable candidate prominently named on the democratic side.

4. He did what he could to defeat the democratic party of Ohio in 1875, expending his money and subsidizing the eastern democratic press to that end, knowing that Ohio's victory was his defeat, and loving Tilden more than the democratic party. He has earned the enmity of the west and south.

5. He has sought this high office by methods so unprecedentedly shameless and disreputable that it would be an everlasting stigma upon a Democratic convention to nominate him, and a reproach upon the American people to elect him, if nominated.

6. Upon the foremost question of the hour he is a most pitiless foe of the interests of the west and south. He is the unscrupulous oppressor of the great struggling industries of the producing sections of the country. No Republican administration could be more hostile to them than would his.

7. Should "God's providence, seeming estranged," permit his nomination, by whom and what would he be nominated? By the servile, conscienceless tools that money can purchase; by the most corrupt influences that have ever entered into a presidential nomination; by the system of bribery and corruption which has become so general in the Democratic party.

8. Upon the foremost question of the hour he is a most pitiless foe of the interests of the west and south. He is the unscrupulous oppressor of the great struggling industries of the producing sections of the country. No Republican administration could be more hostile to them than would his.

Many of the Democratic papers of Ohio are humiliated at the idea of eating crow. The Dayton Gazette has refused to raise the Tilden flag. The Jackson Herald and the Steubenville Gazette, both Democratic papers refuse to eat crow, but will likely relish the diet better after tasting it often. The Marysville Journal eats crow and is ready to verify upon oath that it tastes pretty well.—[Marysville Tribune.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A sequel to the recent excitement in land—the earthquake in Greece. A polite way of putting it—Troubled with a chronic indisposition to exertion.

Why is every teacher of music necessarily a good teacher? Because he is a sound instructor.

When the young ladies hand you a card nowadays with the capitalistic letters Y. M. C. A. it means "you may call again."

"If you wish to visit the tomb of your country's father just jump into my carriage," said a Washington hackdriver to Dom Pedro.

Those striking Berlin compositions ought to try and settle their troubles by calling a conference at Ems.

It is given on the authority of a New Orleans paper that there is in that city a hog with his ears so far back that he cannot hear himself squeal.

The new Centennial handkerchief is a small American flag. This would seem to involve a direct blow at the stars and stripes.

An Irishman having been told that the price of bread had been lowered, exclaimed, "That is the first time I ever rejoiced at the fall of my best friend!"

"Mike, and is it yourself that can be after telling me how they make ice-cream?" "In truth I can. Don't they bake them in cowl ovens, to be sure?"

"Here now none of your slack," as the potato bug remarked when a Jersey farmer came at him the other day with a handful of lime.

Irate Landlady (warmly)—"Really, sir, this account's been a running so long." Impetuous Lodger (coolly)—"Running, has it? Then perhaps, it would be as well to let it rest a bit!"

European capitalists as a general thing are represented as very much down on the war feelings. A good many of our citizens too are daily down on the wharf, ceiling.

A Yankee, describing an opponent whose person was extremely thin, says: "I will tell you what, sir—that man don't amount to a sum in arithmetic; cast him up, and there's nothing to carry."

"Is fishing with angle worms a cruelty?" was the subject of a recent debate in a Wisconsin Lyceum. We should like to see a ver-batim report of that discussion.

Isn't this a trifle paradoxical? Eleven young ladies have just been made Bachelors of Arts at Elmira. Now, let them turn about, and go for the arts of bachelors, as well.

"You must have lived here a long time," said a travelling Englishman to an Oregon pioneer. "Yes, sir, I have. Do you see that mountain? Well, when I came here that mountain was a hole in the ground."

And great was the fall thereof.—Sister—"Well, you know, Bobby, your eye's very inflamed; you can't go out with Tommy Brown till that speck of dust's out of it!" Bobby (anxious to be off)—"In all right—I know it's out now—(earnestly)—I—I think I hear it fall!"

Plato says that philosophy consoles a man in all trials; but we would have liked to see Plato chasing a lava mover about his front yard and trying to produce a pleasing impression on the pretty girl across the way about the time the machine struck a stone and the handle took him in the pit of the stomach.

A Fifty-four Feet Fall. Toledo Commercial. Saturday night witnessed the wind-up of the Adelphi variety season for the season, and the event was signalized by an event bordering on the tragic. Harry Davenport, a tight-rope performer and juggler, whose home is in Detroit, has been playing a two-weeks engagement at the Adelphi. Among other duties, he was required to give a free exhibition of tight-rope walking, in front of the theatre, every evening.

The rope was stretched across Summit street from the top of the Adelphi to the top of the Speyer block, at an elevation of sixty feet, and was sustained by guy-ropes held by men on the ground.

Saturday night Mr. Davenport went through his performance as usual; walking backwards and forwards on the rope; with his feet in baskets; enveloped in a sack; and winding up with a performance upon a trapeze, which hangs down some six feet from the rope. He had come to this part of the performance and was preparing to do his last feat which consisted of twisting both legs around the side-ropes of the trapeze, and dropping until he could catch the bars with his bent knees.

He did this in one instance, and was preparing to repeat it with one leg, when he shot like a rocket heavenward, and then the unfortunate man, whirling just before he reached the pavement, struck with a dull thud the hard cobble-stone pavement, on his right side. He was immediately taken, apparently dead, into the hospital, and surgical aid summoned. Drs. Jones, Woods and Bergen were called, and the young man brought to his senses. An examination showed that he had escaped with a compound, comminuted fracture of the right arm above the elbow, and a fracture of the right wrist. He was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where he now lies, and his wounds dressed.

A brother was in the city with him at the time of the accident.

One of the unrecorded incidents of the late Convention at St. Louis was a personal controversy between Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and General Morgan, of Ohio. Mr. Watterson had moved the previous question on the Ewing substitute. General Morgan rose in the midst of much confusion, and was understood to say, "I denounce the motion and the mover of it." Mr. Watterson is not the kind of man to submit tamely to an insult of this description. He meditated a duel, and would have challenged Morgan if natural friends had not interposed and offered on behalf of General Morgan an appropriate apology. The matter is seriously treated in the correspondence of the Louisville Courier-Journal, which is authority for the statements contained in this paragraph. The Tribune agrees to retreat and apologize if Mr. Watterson objects to anything herein contained.—[Chicago Tribune.]

Old John Robinson, at Mt. Vernon, July 24th.

Remember Old John Robinson's show exhibits at Mt. Vernon, July 24th.

Old John Robinson has a giant octopus on exhibition, 15 feet high, with his big show. It comes Monday, July 24th.

The largest, greatest and best show in the world is Old John Robinson's, which exhibits in Mt. Vernon on July 24th.

The greatest equestrienne—Miss Emma Lake, the most artistic and graceful horse woman in the world, appears in her wonderful menage act in each performance of Old John Robinson's big show, which exhibits here on Monday, July 24th.

Cassowaries, Emues and every rare tropical bird known to naturalists are in the aviary connected with Old John Robinson's great works exposition. Don't forget the date that the big show comes July 24th.

More animals, more cages, more dens, more chariots, more performers, more horses, more ponies, more reptiles, largest procession, more musicians and the greatest parade ever witnessed, can be seen the day Old John Robinson exhibits in Mt. Vernon, July 24th.

Liver Complaint. By R. V. Pierce, M.D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," etc., etc.

The liver is the great purifying (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the "housekeeper" of our health. I have observed in the dissecting-room, and also in making post-mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has given evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the liver of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested, or if, from any cause, it is disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and preventing every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious materials by means of other organs, as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which become overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, gloomy foreboding, and irritability of temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, boils, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels, sooner or later, become affected, and constipation, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhoea, is the inevitable result.

Symptoms of Liver Complaint. A sallow color of the skin, or yellowish brown spots on the face, and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headaches; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat, and internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry, spasmodic cough, sore throat, unsteady appetite, sour stomach, raising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting, distress, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the chest, breast, or about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels; constipation, alternating with diarrhoea; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremities, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; numbness of the limbs (especially at night), and chills, alternating with hot flashes; kidney and other urinary difficulties, dullness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

Treatment.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with small doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pills, which acts as an alternative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. Its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active, healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.

The Discovery is sold by druggists. R. V. Pierce, M.D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y.

A private revenue stamp three inches long, with a likeness of Mr. Hall in the center, is placed over the cork of each genuine bottle of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer. Take no other.

Over 50 cages of animals, among which can be found the rhinoceros or "Unicorn of Holy Writ," the eland, the yak, the gnu, or horned horse, the three horned ox, the three eyed sacred bull, and many other rare species with John Robinson's big show.

Sire and son—Robert Stickney, whom the amusement public have so eulogized as the best ideal of artistic grace and elegance, whose feats of horsemanship have made his name famous, will introduce his infant son in a series of graceful poses while exhibiting his wonderful skill as an equestrian, at each performance.

Old John Robinson's great show, which exhibits here on July 24th.
