A Child's Fearful Agony In Teething Instantly Relieved.

NEWARK, Ohio, April 28th, 1892. Hand Medicine Co.,

GENTLEMEN:—My first child was suffering fearful agony in cutting his teeth. His gums were very much swollen and feverish. We had used a number of different preparations without obtaining any relief when Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion was recommended to us by Collins & Sons, druggists, and we began rubbling it on the gums, and almost instantly the swelling went down and the fever left the child entirely. I can recommend it to every mother with teething children as a most valuable remedy and perfectly harmless. I am confident I would have lost my second child from croup had I not had a bottle of Hand's Cough and Croup Medicine in the house at the time when it had an alarming attack, which the first dose relieved promptly. I have also used the Colic Cure with most satisfactory results. Hand Medicine Co.,

GENTLEMEN:—After using several preparations for my children teething without obtaining any relief, I purchased a bottle of Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion from our druggists, Geo. R. Egan's Crookedness.

Disclosures made to the New York World by reputable authority in Chilli, backed by conclusive documentary evidence makes it clear that Minister Egan and Counsel McCreery used their official positions during the late war in Chilli in speculative exchange dealings of enormous magnitude. McCreery sided with the usurper, Balmaeeda, and communicated to him important news of the insurgents' military oper-ations gathered by the American, Admiral Brown, for the exclusive information of Minister Egan and the Washington government. This has a bad look and explains the reasonableness of Chilli's demand that Egan and the Region and t McCreery should be recalled. The disclosures are of a character Secretary Blaine must take notice of, and he has promised an investigation.
