KENYON ALUMNI BULLETIN

GAMBIER, OHIO

SUMMER, 1952

VOL. X, NO. 3

ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-FOURTH COMMENCEMENT

Three Alumni Honored

On Monday, June 9, one hundred and nine candidates for the bachelor's degree stepped across the platform erected in front of Mather Hall and knelt to receive the hood and to hear the Latin words pronounced by President Chalmers as he conferred the degree. Eight men distinguished for wisdom and accomplishment received honorary degrees at the same ceremony, three of them Kenyon alumni; and seven Bachelor of Divinity degrees and one certificate, were conferred on Bexley graduates.

In his Commencement address, Dr. Crane Brinton, author and McLean Professor of Ancient and Modern History at Harvard University, argued humorously and brilliantly with such modern historians and prophets of doom as Spengler, Toynbee, and Sorokin. With "Our Modern Sense of Doom" as title and theme, Dr. Brinton showed that the gloomy thesis maintained by his eminent colleagues is based largely upon only one case, that of the ripening and decline of the Graeco-Roman civilization. Not only is one case not enough evidence, but, Dr. Brinton went on to say, historians and sociologists still do not know enough about the causes of the collapse of the Graeco-Roman world to be able to say whether or not the same symptoms of decay exist in our own culture today.

Dr. Brinton also suggested that a part of the reasons for the current mood of despair is a result of an overoptimistic belief during the rather recent past in the ability of man to solve his problems through purely material means on the basis of an exclusively naturalistic view of the universe. Events of recent decades have not justified this optimism; and,

Gifts to Kenyon During the Year, Many and Varied, Total About The Same as Preceding Year

At the Alumni luncheon in Peirce Hall on Sunday, June 7, the Secretary of the College made his usual report of gifts to the College during the past year. He said at the outset that they would total about $305,000, and then broke them down departmentally to show that gifts for general purposes amounted to $59,597; for the Seminary, $47,709; for capital purposes through the Kenyon Development Program $82,091; for the restoration of Old Kenyon, $38,906; and for the Kenyon Fund for current operations, $27,036; and also a gift from the Ford Foundation to Kenyon for the work of the Committee on Admissions with Advanced Standing, $50,000.

The Secretary then highlighted some of the most interesting gifts received during the year as follows:

The second gift to Bexley Hall from the Firestone Foundation amounting to $9,000. This, with the gift announced last year, makes a total of $15,000 — all expendable for five theological students — to each $1,000 per year for the three years of their theological course.

The gift of $8,000 from Lilly Endowment, Inc., of Indianapolis to Bexley Hall for the renovating and remodeling of the basement of Colburn Library; for stacks, lighting equipment and for a new heating unit.

The anonymous gift of $6,500 for operations in the libraries.

The addition of $4,390 to the George Gund

Deke Centennial Celebration

by William P. Yobe, '53

PRESENTED TO THE
LAMBDA CHAPTER OF
DELTA KAPPA EPSILON, BY ITS
ALUMNI IN COMMEMORATION OF THE FIRST FRATERNITY
FOUNDED AT KENYON COLLEGE
TO ACHIEVE ONE HUNDRED YEARS ON GAMBIER'S HILL

1852 - 1952

So read the plaque presented to the Chapter during the centennial celebration of Lambda DKE, June 6-7, 1952. About 75 Dekes and several hundred assorted other people were on hand to help make the celebration one of the liveliest, yet most dignified, Kenyon has seen for many years.

A brief run-down of events occurring during the two-day affair must commence with Brother William B. Beck's ('94) open house on Friday evening in honor of the centennial. An estimated 400-500 people were attracted to partake of the fellowship within (and immediately without) West Wing at that time. Arriving guests were greeted by a colorful new Deke flag on the front of the Wing, a large banner on the Wing's side, proclaiming the centennial, three monstrous umbrella tables made in the Deke colors (crimson, blue, and gold), a tent behind the Wing commodious enough for a small circus, and a peace trophy given as a birthday present by the Psi U's.

The events of Saturday comprised the more serious side of the week-end proceedings.

The exodus from Gambier is well under way, as I sign off for the 1951-1952 academic year. It began immediately after the Commencement luncheon on June 9, when the undergraduates and the graduates with their families just disappeared and left Gambier subdued and quiet. There was still another day of it for the seminarians. Many clergy among the alumni stayed over for the Ordination service on Tuesday which, incidentally, was a moving and impressive service. After luncheon that day, the last of the visitors departed.

The week following the close of College is always a busy one here in Ascension Hall and in Mather Hall and up at Bexley. The administrative officers and faculty are cleaning up the year's business, and that is quite a job. Then, one by one, they fade away and there remain only those members of the College who have elected to spend the summer in Gambier — and there are much worse places in which to spend a summer.

Alumni Meetings

The usual annual meetings of the alumni were held during Commencement week end beginning with dinner Friday evening.

In order to provide for a little more leisurely Council meeting on Saturday morning, the Executive Committee of the Council met at dinner in the private dining room of Peirce Hall Friday evening and completed its business about nine o'clock, in time for most of the men to take in the delightful party which Mr. Beck of DKE was giving in and around the West Wing to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the fraternity at Kenyon.

Those present at the Executive Committee meeting were: President Caples, '30; Vice President McBride, '18; Secretary Brown, '11; members Stansfield, '26; Prosser, '40; Boren, '38; Scherr, '29; and three alumni trustees, Evans, '26; Goldsmith, '11; Cless, '25. Richard C. Lord, '31, a member of the Committee, did not arrive until later.

The usual routine business of the Committee was taken care of; a report was made on the Advisory Committee on Student Aid by Mr. Caples. The Rev. Dr. Phil Porter, '12, Bexley '14, was nominated to receive the Gregg Cup for the year. Mr. Caples announced to the Committee the request of the trustees, received last February, that a conference be arranged on certain phases of the reputation of the College. This, Mr. Caples said, would be arranged for September and will include the Faculty Council, the Student Council and a committee of alumni.

Alan Goldsmith then reported at some length on a meeting he had just come from of the Joint Committee of Trustees and Faculty on Admissions and pointed out the deficiencies which exist in the Admissions system between the Director of Admissions, who Mr. Goldsmith feels is doing an excellent job, and the alumni in the local areas. Mr. Goldsmith also touched on the quality of the student publications and pointed out that they could not, in their present form, be used for publicity purposes. He pleaded for more faculty supervision and a higher quality of year book. Mr. Caples promised to report this matter to the Council the following day.

President Chalmers, who would not be able to be present at the Alumni Council meeting on Saturday, joined the Committee before adjournment and discussed several College problems with the Committee.

On Saturday, the Alumni Council met as usual in Philo Hall, the following being present: President Caples, '30; Vice President McBride, '18; Secretary Brown, '11; and the following members of the Council: Adams, '22; Beggs, '08; Boren, '38; Fultz, '10; Furniss, '52; Harter, '27; Heath, '39; Henry, '11; Hughes, '31; Lord, '31; Maire, '21; Mallett, '34;

COLONEL ROBERT L. QUEISSER, JR.,

To The Memory Of Orville E. Watson (1857 - 1951)

Lighten our darkness, we beseech thee, O Lord.

When God said light should be, no sudden torch
Kindled the chaos to one heavenly flame,
But only across the endless dark there came
The finger-tips of stars, that in the arch
Themselves created waved as from a porch
To night-bound stumblers. Cosmos is the name
Of the little light, much darkness where these same
Faint stars alone bear fires that blaze and scorch.

Hail, holy light! God lifts a candle high
Above our heads and makes the dark half-plain,
And stays his hand a while and lets us spy
Into a world of shadowed things, and then
Takes it away; but when we vainly cry
Our light is quenched, replies, My stars remain.

Philip W. Timberlake
Gambier, May, 1952

'16, president of the Queisser Builders Supply & Coal Co., died June 19 at his home in Cleveland Heights. He was a veteran of both world wars, serving as lieutenant colonel in the Army Air Force during World War II. He was a member of the Ohio National Guard, of the Cleveland Chapter of the National Sojourners, the Coeur de Lion Commandery, and the Al Koran Shrine. At Kenyon he was a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

Col. Queisser came of a family whose members were intensely loyal to their country and to the military service in which they were engaged. It was Col. Queisser's father, Col. R. L. Queisser, Sr., who designed the red-bordered service flag which has hung in the windows of so many homes where a son or a father is away fighting for his country. The original flag made by Col. Queisser while he was under enforced inactivity due to wounds in World War I, was designed in honor of his two sons, both in service and of whom the Colonel was very proud. The idea caught on, and when Congress decided against adopting the flag as a national service emblem, Col. Queisser patented his design and allotted 80 per cent of the proceeds of sales to the Red Cross.

THE REVEREND DOCTOR HOWARD CHANDLER ROBBINS, Hon. '39, a former dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, died at his home in Washington, D. C., on March 20, after a long illness. Beginning as curate of old St. Peter's Protestant Church, Morristown, N. J., Dr. Robbins served his church in many capacities: as rector of the Church of the Incarnation, Madison Avenue, New York, as professor of pastoral theology at General Theological Seminary, and as visiting preacher at St. John's Church, Washington. Kenyon College gave him an honorary Doctorate of Sacred Theology in 1939.

WILLARD I. RUTTER, Hon. '47, for many years auditor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, died in Philadelphia on May 12. He was 80 years old. Mr. Rutter was the founder and secretary of the Church Historical Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States and for many years was a member of the Vestry of St. Andrew's Collegiate Chapel of the Philadelphia Divinity School. Kenyon College awarded him an honorary degree of Doctor of Canon Law in 1947.

ROBERT M. TILDEN, '19, died in Cleveland on March 30. Mr. Tilden had been for some years a paint salesman for the Sherwin-Williams Company. He was a veteran of World War I.

THE REVEREND JENKIN WATKINS, Bex. '12, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Hillsboro, Ohio, died June 9 in the Highlands Community hospital, Hillsboro. Funeral services were held on June 11 in St. Mary's Church, with the Right Reverend Henry W. Hobson, Bishop of Southern Ohio, in charge. A native of Mastaeg, Wales, the Reverend Mr. Watkins was educated at the University of Wales and Trevecca before coming to this country 41 years ago. Here in the United States he attended Bexley Hall and was ordained priest in December, 1912. After serving in various parishes in Pennsylvania and Ohio, Mr. Watkins came to Bellaire in 1923 and remained there until 1938, when he went to St. Mary's at Hillsboro.

Word has been received from Miss E. Hortense White of the death on April 7, 1951, of her father, DAVID H. WHITE, '00. Mr. White will be remembered by friends who saw him when he attended the fiftieth reunion of his class several years ago. Mr. White was residing in Berkeley, California, at the time of his death.

LIBRARY NOTES

The Library Supper at Commencement time has become one of the most enjoyable of all the events which take place on the Hill during a week end of many delightful occasions. This year the guest speaker was Robert Penn Warren, the novelist, poet, and critic, who received an honorary Doctor of Letters at the Commencement exercises the following day. Mr. Warren, who is perhaps better known for his novels than his poetry, gave his audience a preview of a poem on which he is presently working and which he hopes to have published before the end of the year by Random House. "Brother to Dragons," as the poem is entitled, concerns "some violence in Kentucky," and has to do with two nephews of Thomas Jefferson. Mr. Warren also read the opening few hundred lines of the poem.

Immediately preceding Mr. Warren's talk, new Head Librarian Edward C. Heintz, in a report on his work in the Kenyon Library to date, announced a record this year of book-loans to students of twenty-five books per reader. This tops any previous recorded figure.

Alumni, do you have any of the following numbers of the Harvard Law Review which you would be willing to pass on to the Kenyon Library in order to complete the files on this item?

V. 50, No. 5, 8, March, June, 1937; V. 51, No. 5, March, 1938; V. 52, No. 6, April, 1939; V. 57, No. 2, November, 1943; V. 59 all 1945-46; V. 61 all 1947-48; V. 62, all 1948-49.

The collection of art books which has been bought with the money sent as a memorial to Don Wheaton, '13, and Kenyon trustee, has been growing. Some of the items which have been purchased are books published by the Swiss firm, Skira, and the American firm, Abrams. Both of these firms have become noted in recent years for their extraordinarily faithful color reproductions of paintings. Another item is the four-volume "Forms and Functions of Twentieth-century Architecture," by Talbot Hamlin, and published by the Columbia University Press.

From Hamilton Hackney of Finksburg, Maryland, comes a collection of letters written to his grandfather, George Hogg, and his great-grandfather, George Hogg, senior, one the nephew and the other the grand-nephew of the William Hogg of Brownsville, Pennsylvania, who was the owner of the 8,000-acre tract purchased by Bishop Philander Chase as a site for his college in Gambier. George Sr., was Class of 1836, and George Jr. was Class of 1867.

A letter dated December 5, 1834, shows that even in its infancy Kenyon College had a reputation for scholastic excellence. Writes Mr. George Hogg, Senior, "I inquired of Mr.

Book by President Chalmers

"The Republic and the Person" is the title of a book by President Gordon K. Chalmers to be published this fall by Henry Regnery Company, Publishers, Chicago. The book, which has as its subtitle, "A discussion of necessities in modern American education," is the product of President Chalmers's long experience in education, both as a teacher and as an administrator. It takes up many aspects of a problem which continually engages the attention of the thinking American public.

Cleveland alumni will want to note that an autograph party for the new book and its author is planned for October 31st at Halle's Book Shop. From 2:30 until 4:00 in the afternoon President Chalmers will be on hand in the Book Shop to autograph copies of "The Republic and the Person."

D. the cause of so many young men who approximating the time for graduating seem so desirous of leaving Kenyon for an eastern college. He gave it as his opinion that it originates in a little ambition to have it said that they graduated at Yale or Harvard. He says he attended the chemical lectures at Yale with some profit but that in any other branch he thinks Kenyon will compare with the best of them and far excels Washington and Jefferson in every respect. These opinions he seemed to give candidly and it must be admitted that he has had an opportunity of judging."

The Library is very happy to have these letters for its growing collection of Kenyoniana.

FACULTY NOTES

DR. V. C. ALDRICH of the Kenyon Philosophy Department is conducting a seminar this summer at Michigan State College at East Lansing, Michigan. His essay, "Colors as Universals," has been accepted for publication in The Philosophical Review.

DR. JAMES R. BROWNE of the Kenyon Modern Languages Department and DR. CHARLES M. COFFIN of the Kenyon English Department have been awarded fellowships from the Ford Fund for the Advancement of Education. The object of the type of fellowship which Dr. Browne and Dr. Coffin have received is to enable teachers to become better qualified to teach in their fields, which include the humanities, social and natural sciences. Dr. Browne has already left Gambier for the University of Mexico where he will conduct his studies during the next year. Dr. Coffin plans to leave for California at the end of the summer in order to do work next year at the Huntington Library.

DR. SAMUEL B. CUMMINGS of the Kenyon Psychology Department attended the meetings in Cleveland of the Mid-West Psychological Association April 25, 26.

Jack Goldberg and Tim Ryan, who have contributed so much to Kenyon success in tennis. Both graduated this June.

Kenyon Champs In Conference Tennis

The Lord's red-hot tennis team defeated six other conference opponents at Oberlin, May 16 and 17, to annex the Conference crown for the second consecutive year. Banking on their depth, the team, under Coach H. Landon Warner, totaled seventeen points — one point is scored for each match won — to top Oberlin, their nearest competitor, by three. In winning, the Kenyon team capped its ninth tennis title in the last seventeen years.

The conference meet is run so that each player meets only those in his own bracket, that is, all the number one singles players compete separately from the number twos, and on down the line. Each school sent five singles players and two doubles teams. The Kenyon victory came through four wins in the finals of the individual brackets, two losses in finals and a loss in the semi-finals of the other.

The only disappointment of the meet was Ron Ryan's loss of the singles crown he had won the year before. Ron dropped his semi-final match to Bob Blumenthal of Oberlin, 6-1, 8-6, after which Blumenthal went on to win the title. Winners for the Lords were Tildon McMasters, Jack Goldberg and Bill Greaves in singles and the doubles combination of Ron Ryan and McMasters. The doubles team of Tim Ryan and Goldberg advanced as far as the finals before losing.

Spring Sports at Kenyon

by Pete Paisley, '52

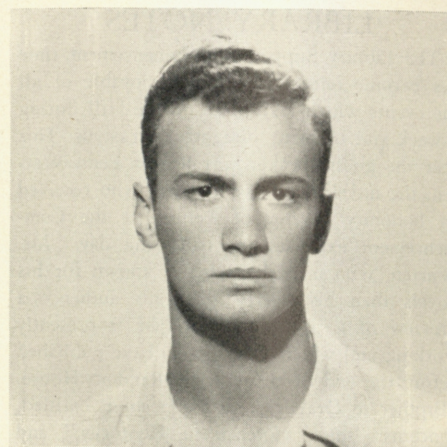

The three Lord spring athletic squads surprised even the most optimistic fans and ended their individual warfares with probably the most impressive record ever accumulated at the College. Combined, they won twenty-two contests, lost only seven and tied one. Breaking this down into the individual teams, all of which played better than .500 ball, we read that the Ohio Conference tennis champions were 8-1, the mythical Midwestern lacrosse kings were 8-2-1 and the baseball squad, early season conference leaders, were 5-4.

The biggest surprise was the baseball squad, which bounced back from its winless southern trek to triumph in its first four conference clashes before being slowed by rain and improved opposition. It was undoubtedly the first winning ball team Kenyon has fielded for years, being strong defensively and relatively sound at the plate. Most amazing was the depth of pitching strength, for behind the ace southpaw, Joe Pavlovich, were three other dependable hurlers, Mouse Forsythe, Bill Williams and Will Kruysman. Behind the plate, Hugh McGowan sparked the squad with his fine stick work as well as his steady catching. With an occasional long ball by left fielder Ron Fraley or second baseman Dom Cabriele, two of Kenyon's most versatile athletes, the squad was usually capable of supplying the big inning in the pinch. Captain and team leader was shortstop Dick Thomas. Tommy is a flawless fielder and the team's top hitter.

Two contests left the local rooters especially happy this spring. In the home opener, the Lords were on the short end of a 8-4 count going into the last of the ninth. After doubles by Dick Promin and Dom Cabriele had predominated in putting the Lords within one run of a tie and a streak of wildness had loaded the bases, Ron Fraley pulled a pitch out of the playing field to bring home the tying and winning runs while he jogged around to second. In the season finale, also a home game, Joe Pavlovich tamed the Fighting Muskies of Muskingum with a neat three hitter, 1-0. Joe, whose sharp curve, effective sinker and ample fast ball are superb when they are all working, was never better as he downed a team which had been topped but once before this season. The Kenyon tally came when Dick Thomas punched one through the middle to score Hugh McGowan from third in the fourth.

High hopes are held for next spring, for none of this well-rounded squad will be lost by graduation. Only coach Pat Pasini will be missing, for the former director of athletics and mentor of this year's swimming and baseball teams has accepted a post with the March of Dimes Organization and will leave the campus at the end of this semester.

Jerry Ellsworth, '52, All-South Lacrosse Team player.

Ellsworth in National Lacrosse Meet

Jerry Ellsworth, '52, one of the outstanding players on Kenyon's conference-winning lacrosse team, was selected this year to play on the All-South Lacrosse Team which battled it out for supremacy with the All-North Lacrosse Team at the New York Polo Grounds on June 6. Ellsworth played midfield for six minutes with the victorious All-South aggregation.

Henderson Goes to Allegheny

Dave Henderson, who came to Kenyon as coach in 1946, has resigned his post here to go to Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. Kenyon College regrets seeing him go; and Athletic Director William C. Stiles expressed the general feeling when he said on hearing of the change, "We're losing a good man and an excellent coach. I certainly wish him success at Allegheny."

Henderson already had a state-wide reputation as an athlete when he graduated from Wooster College in 1939, for there he was a star performer in three sports. After coaching at Upper Sandusky and Mentor High Schools and after a hitch in the U. S. Navy where he served with the rank of lieutenant, j. g., Henderson came to Kenyon to develop the football and basketball teams.

Some of the products of his energy and know-how were the winning years when Eppa Rixey played on the basketball team, and the no-loss football season of 1950. When he goes to Allegheny, Henderson will replace Bill Daddio, who is joining the Chicago Cardinals of the National Professional Football League. He will have the rank of assistant professor of physical education.

Porter, '49; Prosser, '40; Sangdahl, '45V; Scherr, '29; Schley, '02; Simmons, '30; Stansfield, '26; Tozzer, '39; Tuttle, '37; Whitaker, '50. The following guests: Guy Prosser, '16; Don Mell, '21; and officers of the College: Dean Bailey, Registrar McGowan, Director of Admissions Scudder.

The Secretary, in his report, pointed out that at the moment there are about 3500 living alumni, less than two-thirds of whom are graduates of the College; the others former students. One-half of the total number are included in the sixteen classes from 1936 to 1951. The other half make up all the sixty-six classes from 1869 to 1935. The point was made that this means a very young alumni group and that results from fund raising and other forms of alumni work must be considered in the light of these facts.

Reports were made on the Kenyon Fund; on the installation of the new organ, which is going satisfactorily and will be completed and the organ ready for use before Commencement, 1953; on the results of the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges' solicitation of Ohio Corporations which brought Kenyon this year about $8600 as its share of approximately $200,000 received by the Foundation; on renewed cooperation with Hobart, Trinity and Sewanee in the four Church college group.

Mr. Caples reported on the change which has taken place in the Alumni Grant-in-Aid and Loan Fund setup in accordance with action taken by the Executive Committee in March. Hereafter all grants-in-aid will be made by the Dean of the College, but he will have the benefit of advice from the Advisory Committee on Student Aid which is composed of Messrs. Scherr, McBride and Prosser, with Stuart McGowan, Registrar, and Robert Brown, Secretary, as resident members.

The Chairman reported that the Executive Committee, in its meeting the previous evening, had nominated Dr. Porter to receive the Gregg Cup for the current year, and that was unanimously and enthusiastically endorsed by the Council.

The report of the Committee on Nominations was made by William C. Porter, '49, for the Committee, which included John Furniss, '26, R. Wells Simmons, '30, and Charles W. Ayers, '46. The nominations of the Committee were as follows: for President of the Alumni Council, Pierre B. McBride, '18, of Louisville to succeed Mr. Caples; for Vice President, A. Rodney Boren, '38, of Dayton, to succeed Mr. McBride; for Secretary-Treasurer, Robert B. Brown, '11, to succeed himself. For members of the Executive Committee: Novice G. Fawcett, '31, to succeed Mr. Tuttle; Richard C. Lord, '31, Boston, to succeed himself; A. G. Johnson, Jr., '25, Chicago, to succeed himself; James H. Boyd, '24, New York, to succeed Mr. Boren. For members of the Alumni Council

'Pat' Pasini as he appeared at a 30th reunion dinner at Case Institute this spring.

(to be elected by the Council): Richard C. Lord, '31, to succeed himself, and James H. Boyd, '24, to succeed Mr. Caples.

There being no nominations from the floor, nominations were closed and a unanimous ballot was cast for the above. Mr. Porter then reported that at the meeting of the Alumni Association on Sunday the Committee would make the following nominations for Association officers: for President of the Alumni Association, Mr. McBride; for Vice President, Mr. Boren; for members of the Council-at-large: Walter C. Curtis, '37, to succeed himself, and Pierre B. McBride, '18, to succeed himself. The President then appointed James A. Hughes, '31, and Richard C. Lord, '31, as tellers for election of alumni trustees to report at the Alumni Association on Sunday.

There were then excellent, somewhat detailed and exhaustive reports on various phases of the College from Dean Bailey, who reported particularly on the work of the Alumni Grant-in-Aid and Loan Fund Committee, and pointed out that this had been as helpful to the College in general, and particularly to the Athletic Department, as anything which the alumni could possibly do; Mr. McGowan reported on the year's athletic program in place of Mr. Stiles, who was in New York with one of his lacrosse players who was playing on the All-South lacrosse team; and Mr. Scudder talked on admissions and enrollments and the part which alumni are playing and could play in his work.

Pat Pasini Leaves for March of Dimes

Pat Pasini, the stormy little man noted for long stories, cigars and a ready smile, is leaving Kenyon to take up promotional work with the March of Dimes Organization. Arrived at retirement age, Pat is still full of energy and initiative, and in the years ahead the famous organization devoted to stamping out the arch-enemy of healthy well-coordinated limbs will have the benefit of the experience and dynamic personality of a man who has spent a lifetime with young people and athletes.

In the six years with Pat at the helm, Kenyon's athletic record has kept climbing. That first season, the football team scored only two T.D.'s in dropping all six of its contests, while the basketball squad compiled an unblemished 0-18 record. The next season Dave Henderson was hired to coach the football and basketball teams, and the fortunes of both improved. The pigskin squads progressively improved until in 1950 Kenyon had its first unbeaten team. The basketball teams also improved, highlighted by the 1948-49 five which won 12 of its 18 games and totaled 96 points in one contest. This was probably Kenyon's best all-time team; only two have had better overall records, and they were in the mid-twenties.

Tennis has also made a good showing with teams matching the ability of those in Don MacNeill's hey-day; while the soccer and swimming squads have become constant winners. Also during these years Ohio saw the advent of lacrosse, a sport now associated in the Midwest with Kenyon.

Kenyon is sorry to see Pat go, but one thing is certain: a lot more dimes are going to join the march against polio because of Pat's untiring efforts.

It was generally felt that these three reports were the best that had ever been given before a Council meeting, and many members said that they had never felt so well posted on College policies as they did after hearing them.

Frank Mallett of Columbus talked on attendance at Council meetings, and Jim Boyd suggested that all alumni might be invited to the Council meetings if they are on the Hill. This will be done in the future.

Mr. Caples reminded the Council that President Chalmers is completing his fifteenth year as president of Kenyon. He asked for no resolution since a resolution was adopted last year on the President's fourteen years and said that that resolution would be made the subject of remarks before the Alumni luncheon on Sunday.

Mr. Caples reported to the Council the desire of the Board of Trustees that certain phases of the reputation of the College be discussed among the alumni and with the

Six Fulbrights to Kenyon

Kenyon continues to maintain its high record of Fulbright awards, and this year pulled down six — five to students and one to a faculty member. Dr. Charles S. Thornton, chairman of the Biology Department, has received a Fulbright Fellowship to Egypt, where he will be a lecturer in experimental biology. Accompanied by his wife and three children he will sail for Egypt sometime in August.

Four of this year's seniors received Fulbright awards. Allen B. Ballard, Jr., of Philadelphia, goes to France and has been assigned to the University of Bordeaux, where he will continue his studies in political science. Charles T. Bundy, II, of Eau Claire, Wisconsin, also goes to France, and has been assigned to the University of Grenoble. Bundy, a major in Classical Languages, expects to take up studies in linguistics and phonetics.

James A. Wright of Warnock, Ohio, has won a Fulbright to Austria, and plans to study at the University of Vienna. His project is in German literature. Another Fulbright Scholarship went to Frederick C. Neidhardt of Penn's Park, Pa., who, however, decided to accept instead a fellowship from the Harvard Medical School.

James R. Busenburg, '49, of Danville, Ohio, has received a Fulbright Scholarship for India, where he will go on with his studies in political science. All of the recipients won many honors at graduation and represent the best among Kenyon's graduates.

Graduate Fellowships and Assistantships

At the Senior Dinner on Friday evening, June 6, Dean Frank E. Bailey presented some statistics on the graduating class. One of the most impressive figures in his report was that of the percentage of seniors going on to graduate school or to further study. It was 42%, a remarkable record.

Some of these men won fellowships or assistantships, and of these the English Department claims three. Richard L. Francisco of Cleveland has been awarded a fellowship carrying a stipend of $1,000 at Duke University. Constantine Patrides of Forest Hills, L. I., has been appointed an assistant in the English Department at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey. Lorrie J. Bright of Philadelphia has been awarded a tuition scholarship and a departmental fellowship in English at the University of Rochester, the combined awards amounting to $1,400.

Frederick C. Neidhardt of Penn's Park, Pa., has been awarded a fellowship at the Harvard Medical School. The fellowship, which carries a stipend of $1,800, is one of twenty awarded to seniors in colleges over the nation, and the recipients will be the first to follow

Gillis Receives Law Scholarship

Donald H. Gillis, '51, of Philadelphia, who has been at Pembroke College, Oxford, during the past year studying jurisprudence on a Fulbright Scholarship has been awarded one of the Elihu Root-Samuel J. Tilden scholarships by the New York University School of Law. The University awards twenty Root-Tilden scholarships annually, two to each of the ten federal judicial districts. The scholarships are valued at $6,600 each for a three-year period.

The selection committee interviewed candidates from Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky before making the awards. Final selections were made by Chief Judge Charles C. Simons of the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit; George C. Brainard, Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of the Circuit, and President Arthur S. Fleming of Ohio Wesleyan University.

a new program recently instituted by the Harvard Medical School. The program is new in that the graduate courses, which are designed for students working toward a Ph.D. in medical science rather than toward an M.D., are integrated around a central concept instead of being presented as a series of separate disciplines.

Robert L. Hesse of Chicago has been awarded the Dean Fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania Law School. The Fellowship carries a stipend of $750. William E. Camp, III, who won the Henry G. Dalton Fellowship

Baker Scholars for Next Year

On May 1 the Scholarship Committee announced the recipients of the Baker Scholarships for the next year. These scholarships, which are provided for by funds from the estate of the late George F. Baker, are among the most desirable which the College has to offer since they carry stipends as high as $5,000 for the four-year course. Last year Kenyon, along with eleven other colleges, was again named administrator of $50,000 from the Baker Fund for another three-year period.

Next year's Baker Scholars are: John Gordon Duffey of Wilmington, Ohio; Robert W. Rowe of Evanston, Illinois; William Stanley Walch of Sedalia, Missouri; and Dexter Seto of Honolulu, Hawaii.

in American Studies, an award, the gift of Kenyon College, will use his fellowship for study at the Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs of Syracuse University. He plans to take the year's course leading to a Master's Degree in Public Administration.

Others of the graduating class have been accepted into graduate schools all over the country including the Harvard Law School, the Harvard School of Business, Columbia Law School, Columbia Graduate School, Columbia Library School, and the Yale Graduate School. The four winners of Fulbright Scholarships will, of course, study in graduate schools abroad.

Bexley Commencement Activities

Bexley Hall activities continued for a day after the shouting and tumult at the other end of the Hill had died down. On Monday afternoon at 5 p.m. the ceremony of the presentation of the crosses took place at St. Mary's Chapel. The Reverend John P. Craine, '32, Bev. '35, and Honorary Doctor in Divinity as of that morning, spoke at the simple service, and at its termination the Right Reverend Nelson M. Burroughs, Bishop of Ohio, hung the crosses around the necks of the new Bexley graduates.

In the evening the Bexley Society, both students and alumni, gathered at Peirce Hall for the annual Bexley Society Banquet, where Herbert Myers, middler and Kenyon debate coach for the past year, acted as master of ceremonies. Guest speaker for the occasion was Dr. George F. Thomas, Professor of Religious Thought at Princeton University and recipient at the Commencement exercises of an honorary Doctor of Sacred Theology.

Doctor Thomas's address, "Wisdom in Theology," advocated a mediating theology. Said Dr. Thomas: "A mediating theology will do justice to the strong insistence of Neo-Orthodox thinkers upon the special revelation in the Bible, the transcendence of God, and the need of man for redemption through Christ. At the same time, it will hold fast to the fundamental insight of Liberalism that God has revealed Himself in some measure to every people, that we must interpret the Bible by our own reason and conscience, and that we must show the relevance of the Bible to the needs of modern man."

He urged also that Christians use both the Liberal theology and the Neo-Orthodox insight for effective living in the chaotic modern world. "Wisdom requires us not only to accept the responsibilities of our world position but also to maintain the Liberal hope for the improvement of man's lot in this world by resolute effort. Yet all our 'proximate hopes' for this world must be supplemented by the Neo-Orthodox insight that man can never wholly fulfill himself in history, and that he needs the 'ultimate hope,' symbolized by the Kingdom of God, of a divine fulfillment at the end of history. Thus, wisdom in theology maintains, in balance and tension, the claims of revelation and reason, the claims of this world and the next."

The next morning returning alumni, students, friends, and relatives of Robert M. Harvey, '50, Bex. '52, son of the Honorable and Mrs. Frank H. Harvey of Akron, gathered at the Church of the Holy Spirit to attend the ceremony of his ordination to the diaconate. He was presented by the Reverend Dr. Walter F. Tunks, '15, Bex. '33, rector of St. Paul's, Akron; and the Reverend Dr. Maxfield Dowell, '26, Bex. '28, rector of Christ Church, Shaker Heights, preached the ordination sermon. Reading the epistle was the Reverend John D. Hughes, rector of St. James', Bucyrus, and reading the litany was the Scholarship making the total of that fund now $31,952.

Mr. Babst's gift of $4,000 to the restoration of Old Kenyon.

The gifts of Mr. Laurence Norton and other members of his family of $26,000. That part of this year's gift allocated to the Norton Fund increases the total of that fund to $87,675. An equal amount of this year's gift went to the restoration of Old Kenyon.

The addition of $15,000 from the estate of William Nelson Cromwell, from which $250,000 had already been received.

Mr. Ganter's gifts of over $3,000 for several purposes, including care of the College garden, faculty salaries and current operations.

Additions to the Juliana Cuyler Matthews Scholarship Fund by Mr. Thomas Matthews, trustee, $7,747, raising the total of that fund to $15,452.

The gifts toward the restoration of Old Kenyon of $5,000 each from the Honorable John W. Ford, trustee, and Mr. Charles E. Merrill, and of $6,075 for the same purpose from Mr. Philip R. Mather, trustee.

From Ohio corporations through the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges, $8,624. This is the Kenyon share of approximately $200,000 received by the Foundation since solicitation began on November first divided by formula — 60% equally (22 colleges — then 19) 40% on the basis of enrollment. This is a very promising new source of help.

To the Organ Fund from Harcourt Parish — the bequest of Guy Buttolph, '92, and the gifts of other members of the Buttolph family; this to be used toward the rebuilding and installation of the organ which was presented last year by the father of Albert Herzing, '51. Still needed: $7,000.

The first two years' contribution from St. Christopher's, Gates Mills, to the Bishop Tucker Scholarship Fund of $1,200. This scholarship is to receive $600 each year.

Mr. Brown said in closing that at this time the College has two all-important needs — gifts for current operations to the Kenyon Fund in order to make good the commitment which the alumni have made to the trustees before the end of the fiscal year, and gifts for the balance of $7,000 for the rebuilding and installation of the new organ.

Reverend Kenneth G. T. Stanley, assistant rector of St. Paul's, Akron. Master of ceremonies was the Venerable Dr. Donald Wonders, Archdeacon of Ohio.

At one o'clock Bexley faculty, students, recent graduates, and alumni convened for the final event of the week end, a luncheon in the Great Hall, Peirce Hall. News of various assignments of the Bexley class of '52 may be found on the next page.

Bexley Students Present Play

Under the direction of faculty-wife, Mrs. Clement W. Welsh, a group of students of Bexley Hall and their wives put on an "in the round" production of Christopher Fry's "Thor with Angels" in the Church of the Holy Spirit on May 9. Setting, lighting, and costumes were handled by the students themselves.

The play, which concerns the conflict between the faint but persistent tradition of an early Christian mission to England with the pagan religion of the Jutes, who had dominated the Christian Britons, is one written by Fry for the 1948 Canterbury Cathedral Festival. Its performance on May 9 at the Church of the Holy Spirit was the first in America.

The production was staged by Malcolm Prouty (Diocese of South Carolina), and costumes were assembled by Ruth Evans, Carolyn Anderson, and Jane Winters (Diocese of Ohio). Jane Winters also acted as prompter. Special incidental music was composed by Professor Paul Schwartz of the Kenyon Music Department and performed by the Bexley Hall Choir and by two Kenyon students, Jules Kluger and David Paul. The music was recorded beforehand on tape and played during the performance under the supervision of Libuse Miller.

On June 6 the cast went to Cleveland and gave a performance of the play at the Church of the Incarnation in East Cleveland under the sponsorship of the Cleveland Clericus. Plans are afoot to produce two more plays next year, both designed for presentation in churches.

Church Assignments

The Reverend Robert M. Harvey has been assigned by Bishop Burroughs to the parishes of St. Paul's, Conneaut, and Trinity, Jefferson, where he will be minister in charge. Before taking up his duties on August 15, Mr. Harvey will spend two months in England.

The Reverend Paul E. Hannaford, who was ordained to the diaconate by the Right Reverend Henry Wise Hobson, Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Ohio, on June 24th at St. Mary's Church, Hillsboro, has been assigned by Bishop Hobson to be minister in charge of the Church of the Epiphany at Nelsonville and St. Paul's Church, Logan, Ohio.

The Reverend Albert Edward Line will be assistant to the Reverend Frederick Brownell at St. Paul's Church, Jackson, Michigan.

A scene from "Thor with Angels," the Bexley production of Christopher Fry's religious drama. It was performed in the Church of the Holy Spirit on May 9.

The Reverend Charles Alvin Forbes, Jr., from the Diocese of Olympia, will work as part-time assistant to the Reverend Gordon Lind at Trinity Church, Everett, Washington, and also be in charge of a new mission on Whidbey Island, in Puget Sound.

The Reverend Charles Ramsey Speer of Springfield, Ohio, has been assigned by Bishop Hobson to Grace Church, Pomeroy, and to Trinity Church, McArthur, Ohio.

The Reverend George Lincoln Sidwell, Kenyon '49, who is a Methodist minister but who took his divinity degree from Bexley this June, will direct a 36-church Methodist parish in Gallia County, Ohio. He will also assist the Baptist minister as chaplain of Rio Grande College, which is located in the parish. On June 15 he was ordained an elder in the Methodist Church at a service in the Lakeside Methodist Church. Methodist Bishop Hazen G. Ferner officiated, and the Reverend S. R. Martin served as sponsor.

Both one-act plays, the productions were student-produced and student-directed. A good-sized and appreciative audience attended the performances.

SECRETARY'S COLUMN

I should say that all in all this has been a good year. We were more fortunate than we had thought we would be with respect to the number of students enrolled last September, and we were fortunate throughout the year in the small number of students who were obliged to leave College for one reason or another, or who transferred to other institutions.

As will be seen by my report in another column, many people were generous to us again this year — both alumni and friends — with the result that our gifts totaled about the same as the previous year.

Evidence multiplies constantly to the effect that Kenyon is doing a better and better academic job. The level of teaching, which has always been above average, is, I think, higher than ever. Our graduates are making enviable records in graduate schools in almost all fields, and Kenyon is looked upon everywhere now as one of the very top colleges in the country.

I quote the following excerpts from letters received within the last few days from recent graduates just to show what a warm spot the College has in the hearts of its alumni, young as well as old. From a member of the class of '51:

"I enjoyed a certain pervading attitude at Kenyon, and although I am a persistent individualist, I would rather identify myself with this institution than with three others attended. Kenyon's gentlemanly mood, its humorous incidents, its calm tranquility on the hill, together with the old English tradition give it a sanity entirely lacking in festive social colleges, frantic leftist havens or factory-style universities. We are today drifting further and further from the old world of decency and respectability into a turbulent world directed by soulless men, by noisy, clever, shallow men. Kenyon is a faint hope amidst an ever thickening cloud of collectivism which seems to deny the stars and all that is best in the Individual. Kenyon in my mind is a symbol of Humanism, a symbol that stands for the finest and noblest qualities in human nature."

And from a member of the class of '52:

"When I entered Kenyon in September of 1948, I considered my attendance there to be no more than a means of entering medical school. Now, four years later, I can look back at my time at Kenyon; I can see what a profound influence it has had on my life, and I can realize that Kenyon is more than a means: its scholarship and way of life are an end in itself.

"Life at Kenyon, including intramural sports, fraternity activities, dances, "peep nights," and the more commonplace events: eating in Peirce Hall, bull-sessions in the divisions, etc., all of these aspects of Kenyon life produce memorable impressions on students. And not only on students; my father, who never had the opportunity of attending college, has had such a wonderful time during his frequent visits to the Hill, particularly at Commencement time that he considers himself to be an honorary alumnus of Kenyon, and I guess he'll be back

"Above all, however, I am most indebted to Kenyon for the intellectual instruction I received. My rather vague desire to become a physician was soon crystallized into a great interest in the problems of the natural world concerned with the phenomenon of life. Kenyon offers one the excellent and rather unique opportunity of studying what are considered by some to be technical subjects in an environment of great scholastic activity in the Arts — a situation that is not to be found in many educational institutions to the degree that it is present at Kenyon. Serious study was never a drudgery at Kenyon; it was work, and hard work, but never sterile or uninteresting."

And now Mrs. Brown and I are loading up the car in preparation for the trek northward. We will have our children and grandchildren with us during July and August in Canada, and I will be back on the job the latter part of August.

A pleasant summer to you all!

New Organ Being Installed in The Church of the Holy Spirit

Work has begun on the installation of the organ which was presented to the College last year by Mr. Philip H. Herzing of St. Mary's, Ohio, father of Albert Herzing of the Class of '51.

The Committee on Buildings and Grounds and the Committee on the Redecoration of the Chapel met prior to the meeting of the Board of Trustees on June 7, and submitted to the Board the following resolution which was passed by the Board:

RESOLVED, That the plans of the Committee on Buildings and Grounds for the rebuilding and installing of the Herzing organ in the Church of the Holy Spirit, including the electrification of the clock and the necessary structural changes in the tower at a total cost of $18,500 be approved;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Treasurer, with the approval of the Secretary of the College, be authorized to sign the necessary contracts for the work described above;

That the funds now in the College Organ Fund amounting to $3,371.74, and those to be received from Harcourt Parish, the custodian of the bequest of Guy H. Buttolph, '92, amounting to approximately $8,105, making a total of approximately $11,477, be used for this purpose; and

That the balance necessary, approximately $7,000, be underwritten from current funds by the Board of Trustees and raised by subscription, with the understanding that any amount not so provided be charged against unrestricted gifts in the fiscal year 1952-1953.

Immediately following the meeting, contracts were signed for the work which must be done in preparation for the actual installation of the organ and for the work to be done on the organ before it is ready for installation. W. A. Brandt of Columbus, who dismantled the organ at St. Marys and supervised its removal to Gambier, has the contract for rebuilding the organ and furnishing the necessary new parts and installing it in the Chapel tower.

In order to make room for the very much larger instrument in the tower, it is necessary to make some structural changes in the west transept entrance to the Chapel and in the tower overhead. Also, a contract has been let for the complete electrification of the clock and for the refinishing of the face and hands. For many years, since the installation of the present clock, it has been hand wound daily—a tiresome, time-consuming, and expensive job.

When the work, which is now in process, is completed, the clock will be electrically operated, will, of course, be much more accurate, and some three hundred dollars per year will be saved in operation and repairs. But the main reason for the electrification of the clock is to get rid of the tremendous

Patrides Given Medal

Immediately following the Phi Beta Kappa initiation ceremony Commencement week end, another brief ceremony took place. At that time President Chalmers, by request of the Legate in Greece of the Patriarch of Jerusalem, the Head of the Greek Orthodox Church, decorated Constantine Patrides, '52, (known to his classmates as 'Gus'), with the Order of Unknown Heroes 'for his extraordinary and distinguished services for the Faith, the Country and the Liberty during the period of enemy occupation of Greece.' A medal and a citation were presented to Patrides.

In an interview after the presentation Gus revealed that more than 85% of the Greek 'underground' personnel did not survive those terrible days. Most of them were young men and boys like himself who carried messages or did clerical work which demanded absolute secrecy. Friends of Gus Patrides will remember that during his second year at Kenyon he organized a campaign for the collection of clothing to be sent to the destitute in his war-ravaged native country.

Gus lives in Forest Hills, L. I., and next year will hold an assistantship in the English Department of Rutgers University.

weights and pendulum which hang down into the chamber into which a part of the new organ must go.

The organ itself will be a very fine three-manual instrument, one of which the College may be proud, and which will be suitable for the organ recitals which will be a regular part of the program in the Music Department hereafter. The old pipes will remain exactly as they are. There will be some small changes made in the paneling just under the pipes, and the console will be on the east side of the aisle, from which position the organist can command the choir on both sides of the aisle.

Organ rebuilding and installing is a very slow job. The work on the organ will start in the early fall, but the instrument will not be ready for use until shortly before Commencement, 1953. In the meantime, a piano will have to serve in the Chapel and much of the choir work next year will be a cappella, according to Dr. Schwartz.

As will be noted from the above resolutions, we lack some $7,000 of the total required for the new organ, and we are very anxious to receive this in special gifts from alumni and friends. The organ will be suitably identified as having been received through the gift of the original donors (because part of the old organ will be used in the new instrument); as the gift of Guy H. Buttolph, '92, and members of his family; the class of 1896, which has turned over for this purpose, the total of its class fund; and any other donor or donors who may make up the balance still necessary to complete the work.

as Dr. Brinton pointed out, such a naturalistic approach, to be consistent, would have to allow, for the further improvement of mankind, geologic ages on a scale suggested by our knowledge of the geologic past.

He concluded by calling attention to the belief of the Christian, who regards the struggle between good and evil here on earth as endless. Said Dr. Brinton, "The fate of man, from the Christian point of view, is not 'rigged.' The struggle therefore cannot be predetermined by so pale a substitute for the divine will as mere history can afford."

Besides Dr. Brinton, who received an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters, other recipients of honorary degrees were the novelist and poet, Robert Penn Warren (Doctor of Letters), Charles Allen Thomas, research chemist, atomic scientist, and president of the Monsanto Chemical Corporation of St. Louis (Doctor of Science), Dr. George F. Thomas, Professor of Religious Thought at Princeton University (Doctor of Sacred Theology), and the Reverend Almus M. Thorp, rector of St. Stephen's, Columbus (Doctor in Divinity).

The three Kenyon alumni who were honored by their alma mater were Novice G. Fawcett, Superintendent of the Public Schools, Columbus, Ohio (Doctor of Laws), the Reverend John P. Craine, '32, Bex., '35, rector of Christ Church, Indianapolis, and Kenyon alumnus trustee (Doctor in Divinity), and the Honor-

Watson Prize for Excellence in Reading the Service. The winners of prizes in speech were Robert A. Greenberger, '55, of Sharon, Pa., who received the Oratorical Contest Prize; Robert H. Ashby, '53, of Cincinnati, who received the Extemporaneous Speaking Prize; and F. Frank Lefever, Jr., '53, of Berwyn, Md., who received the Interpretive Reading Prize.

Favored by sunny weather the week end of festivities attendant upon the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Kenyon Commencement proved to be as satisfying a one as any on record. The gaily began with the buffet party in the West Wing parlors, where William B. Beck, '94, of Akron was host to undergraduates, alumni, and faculty on the occasion of the centennial celebration of the founding at Kenyon of Lambda chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon. Described by an old-timer as "best party I ever attended on the Hill," the gathering, which spread from the parlors out onto the Deke terrace, was indeed a cheerful one. (See Deke Centennial.)

After a Saturday morning devoted to meetings of a serious nature reported elsewhere in this Bulletin, alumni spent Saturday afternoon and evening in the enjoyment of exhibition tennis, division banquets, and "sing downs." Sunday began with the Klan Breakfast, followed by the Baccalaureate Service, with President Chalmers as speaker. At one o'clock the alumni luncheon took place in the Great Hall, Peirce Hall, and the Class of '02, with the highest percent of its members present, walked away handily with the Peirce Cup. The Gregg Cup, awarded to the alumnus who has done most for Kenyon during the past year, went on this occasion to the Reverend Dr. Phil Porter, '12, Bex. '14, rector of Christ Church, Dayton, and trustee of the College. Dr. Porter was designated the winner this year in recognition of the many years of service he has rendered his alma mater. This year's Anderson Cup winner was Frederick C. Neidhardt, who is judged, in the eyes of fellow students and faculty members, to have done the most for Kenyon during the past year. Winner of almost every scholastic prize and honor, Neidhardt, as president of the Student Council, performed outstanding service to the College by his able conducting of student affairs. The President's reception, some division parties, the Library Supper and singing on the steps of Rosse Hall concluded Sunday's activities.

On Monday, Commencement exercises, again held outdoors in front of Mather Hall, were followed by the buffet luncheon on the lawn back of Peirce Hall. Bexley graduates, faculty, and alumni still had further ceremonies to observe and a banquet to attend, but by Monday afternoon Kenyon graduates, their parents, alumni, and guests were making their adieux to "the Hill." Another academic year had been completed, another Kenyon Commencement had become part of the precious tradition horded in the memories of Kenyon men.

The tennis squad performed much as was hoped but better than could have been expected. In winning eight of their nine meets and repeating as conference champs, the squad accumulated a total of sixty-five matches won and but fourteen lost, half of those coming against their lone vanquisher, Kalamazoo. Their outstanding record brought their total of conference championships to nine during the past seventeen years and boosted their two-year total to 21-2, for an average of .913. No conference opponent has topped the Lords since Oberlin turned the trick in 1950.

No letdown should be expected next spring. Of this season's squad, only the number three and four men will not be on hand to start next season. They are seniors Tim Ryan and Jack Goldberg, who also combined to form the number two doubles team this year. In addition, Wayne Cody, a recent transfer student, will be eligible for play next spring. Wayne has served notice that he will be one of the top three next spring when he played this year on at least an even keel in practice with the best of the squad.

Bill Stiles' lacrosse squad, in rolling over all local opposition and going so far as to finally triumph against an Eastern club, was probably the best yet to represent the College. By defeating Ohio State, Oberlin and Denison twice each and the Cleveland Lacrosse Club once, the squad again could legitimately claim the mythical Midwestern championship and the trophy which goes with it, a trophy which in its entire existence has been held only by Kenyon.

The team was a winner because it played well together. Gone this season were all but two players — Jerry Ellsworth and Fred Papsin — who had gathered experience before coming to Kenyon. Also gone was the scoring power of last year's squad, the big guns, Johnny Jones, Len Burrows, and Whitey Hollenbach, Whitey having gained All-American honorable mention last season. Instead, Coach Stiles had to mold a closely-knit team which, through conditioning and smart play, could make up for its lack of finesse. The scores indicated that it worked.

On such a team the standouts are hard to pin-point, for the play of many was notable. Goalie John Horswell, although completely new at the sport, probably saved at least one win — that against Hamilton — as well as the tie games against Delaware. At defense, co-captain Brook Abrahams was forced to miss the last eight games due to injury, but his expert play was at least compensated by the work of Butch Aulenbach, Joe Culp, Howie Robbins, Bob First and Phil Bently, all of whom played often and well. Amongst the midfielders, the first threesome of co-captains Si Axtell, Jerry Ellsworth and Bill Ririe was expert. At attack, Fred Papsin, Toookie Cole, Vinc Guandolo and Bruce Pennington led the way to the team's scoring.

Class of '52 Adopts Giving Plan

The class of '52, desiring to begin making contributions to the College immediately upon graduation, has adopted a plan whereby those members who signed an appropriate pledge before leaving College, or immediately after, will contribute to the Kenyon Fund one dollar for each year out of College, to and including the tenth year. The first payment of one dollar will be due in April, 1953. The last payment of ten dollars will be due in April, 1962, and each individual will then have contributed at the end of his tenth year out a total of fifty-five dollars. A class of one hundred men, most of whom adopted this plan, will by this means alone contribute to Kenyon a total of about five thousand dollars in its first ten years out.

It is hoped that the "'52 plan" will be adopted by all succeeding classes and that as it goes along more and more nearly one hundred percent of Kenyon graduates will adopt the plan and thus contribute something to the College from the year they graduate.

Cleveland Alumni
Stage Tea Dance

A tea dance, a type of social gathering growing in popularity for busy business-men and their wives, was the function decided upon by the Cleveland Alumni group. On April 12 the Cleveland Skating Club was the scene of a tea dance, with the orchestra playing from 4 until 7. The proceeds of the dance went to the College.

The affair was organized entirely by the men, who were: Carroll W. Prosser, '40, Robert F. Sangdahl, '40, and John H. Hackley, '48. The ladies assisted by stitching up a seam here and there on the big Kenyon banner that was hung at the Skating Club for the occasion, and by getting into their best bibs and tuckers.

After the dance there were a number of dinner parties. Those entertaining were: Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Peake, '50, Mr. and Mrs. Carrol W. Prosser, '40, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Sangdahl, '46, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Wehner, '49, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Wilkin, '21, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Thomas, Jr., '36, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hackley, '48, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip T.
