The Banner.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

What about Delano?

The letter of resignation sent by the six unbought members of the Indian Board to President Grant has been published in full. It contains several significant passages. The Commissioners "regret that it is not deemed expedient by the Honorable Secretary of the Interior to urge upon Congress the legislation we recommend," which would secure the independence of the Interior Bureau, and make it impossible for a Secretary of the Interior in league with the Indian Ring to secure the payment of the Ring's fraudulent vouchers.

The Board is glad to know that Grant would like to have them freed from Delano. The country would be glad to know that the President should urge the charge, it could be effected. The Commissioners state that "under existing laws the overruling of the decision of the Board by the Interior Department would frequently render the labor of examining and deciding upon the accounts and vouchers as useless as it is at present, and that the recent changes in the law have been for the worse instead of the better. These changes were dictated by Delano. Finally, the Commissioners say that a Board which has the power to remove a Secretary cannot operate harmoniously with the Interior Department, and that such a Board, "under the influence or control of the Interior Department," would be a "comparatively useless appendage to the service."

All this amounts to saying, in diplomatic language, that Secretary Delano has steadily thwarted the efforts of the Indian Commissioners to check the Indian Ring.

In this he seems to have been aided by the House Committee on Indian Affairs, which has carefully refrained from finding out anything during all its sham investigations.

The Ring certainly enjoys an enormous power. The money it has stolen from the people is corrupting the representatives of the people. It has defied honest investigation for years. Its chief members are hand-in-glove with the Secretary of the Interior.

WOOL CLIPPINGS.

London, Ohio, buyers are paying an average price of 46 cents.

At McConnellville the market opened at 45 to 46c.

Sheep shearers in the neighborhood of Jefferson are shearing for six cents and board.

The estimated wool clip of Coshocton county this season is half a million pounds.

About 5000 pounds have been taken in,

thus far, at Sandusky, buyers paying from 38 to 41c.

In Coshocton county the grange clubs of Linton, Franklin and Lafayette townships intend bulk grading and selling their wool direct to the manufacturer.

Coshocton wool comes in "very slowly"

The farmers are asking from 43 to 50 cents, and the buyers do not seem disposed to pay more than from 43 to 45 cents.

The wool trade has opened in Belmont county. Three hundred and seventy-five tons of wool are being sold at 45 cents per pound. The impression
