THE SITUATION.

Judge West, in his address at Cin clunati, Saturday, gave the following as his impressions during the canvass: Gentlemen, I have been over the State considerably within the present month. I have spoken twenty-nine times in twenty-two days, and our meetings have been exceedingly flattering. With one exception, I believe, they have been large; considering all circumstances they have been interesting and some exceedingly enthusiastic. The exception to which I refer was where a meeting was called but an where a meeting was called but an hour before I was to take the stand. A good state of feeling exists every-where. I have heard of but two or three Republicans in the State who will not vote the Republican ticket, and I have not heard of a single Republican, in my entire tour of the State, who is going to vote the Democratic ticket. [Cheers.] There may be a diversion, to some extent, in the la-bor movement; but to what extent it is impossible to ascertain now, and will be impossible to tell until the ballots are counted. The apprehension is, the understanding is, that that movement will affect our adversaries more seriously than it will us. In some places, perhaps, it will affect the Republicans ore than the Democrats. At the twenty-nine places where I have addressed the people, the finest state of feelings exists in the main. There is some apathy in a few places where the largest Republican majority exists; but we hope they will become aroused by the time the election comes around, and turn out the usual majorities. Some may feel that it is unrecessary to attack the state of the state o that it is unnecessary to attend the polls, as is often the case in an off-year. We cannot expect as large a vote as we had last year.

But a better state of feeling is now growing up every where, and it is coming from the triumphant march and enthusiastic progress of our citi-zen President through the land. [Cheers.] At first there was some feel-ing toward the President; some of our ing toward the President; some of our people thought that there had been an abandonment of our Southern colored friends, and they were inclined to feel sore and indifferent as to the party generally. But the President's visit to the New England States, his expressions there and the hearty response given to them by the neonle and sponse given to them by the people, and his enthusiastic reception in the West and South, have awakened in the and one from New York. minds of the people—those who have been coldly indifferent—a better feeling. They see that there is to be no abandonment of principle, but that equal rights and justice are to be mainbe restored, and that the Union as it was and is shall be maintained.

confined to any one class, or to the class STEPHEN BROWN. supposed to be especially benefited by Hayes' policy; but the colored people, who are the recipients of northern sympathy, join in the general sanction which the policy seems to be receiving. If they were dissatisfied and fearful of being deprived of their civil rights, it is probable that this opportunity would be taken to express their fears. Thus far the general feeling to the government has shown itself much more liberal and intelligent in the South than in some of the Northern States. The silly epithet of "His Fraudulency" is confined to a few Northern Democrats whose patriotism is only equaled by their bravery. Politics should never separate fami lies or friends, and every attempt to keep open the bloody chasm, to keep citizens of the same government at social war with each other, is treason. There has scarcely been a time within the last fifteen years when brother was not ready to take up arms against brother, and to-day we have sensible, intelligent men in our midst, who preach the doctrine of brotherly love from the Bible, and at the same time cherish a political hatred against the statesman who is doing more at present to create a good sectional feeling than three thousand such preachers. Hayes cannot be said to be toadying to rebels. In all his speeches he has made no concessions derogatory to his position as president, not even to the leadership of a great party. Peace, prosperity, and the general happiness of the people have been his theme and the special object of his administration, and we should all say "Amen." As the election draws near the prospects of a Republican victory grow brighter and brighter. The dissenting elements grow less and less, and like partisan contests in general, this will likely end in Republicans voting the straight ticket and Democrats the Democratic ticket. Unless will tell heavily against our opponents. A large part of the floating population of the cities either neglected or refused to register, and as this is the element to be feared by the Republican candidates, we shall child three years old fell into a well | not be surprised at a favorable result twenty-four feet deep, and when a in Hamilton, Cuyahoga and other gentleman who was standing near counties containing cities of much size. THE editor of the Banner is growing visibly cross again. A local item in the REPUBLICAN of two weeks ago, speaking favorably of a new bridge over Owl Creek, is severely criticised as an attack on the Board of Commissioners. Harper relieves himself by calling us a "squatter." The item referred to was written by Mr. King, of this office, and as he has squatted in Mt. Vernon ever since he could squat at all, we hardly think the term applicable. We suppose we shall be compelled to endure the charge of squatter until our father-in-law shall furnish us the stamps to buy a house.

This is to certify, that I have examined a section of Osage Hedge Fence on the emises of Hon. T. Ewing Miller, of this city, plashed and trained by the process ed by the Ohio Hedge Co., under the supervision of Mr. C. Keyes, and believe it to the most feasible plan yet adopted for the propagation of this healthful and useful nd of fence. It has only to be seen and examined to satisfy the most skeptical as to being a complete success. It is exceedingly suitable, occupies less space, and relieve less labor in training, than ordinary hedging, and is a supplete protection against all kinds of domestic animals.

NEURALCIA 4 YEARS.

Berea, O., Dec., 1876.

Gentlemen—Having suffered with neuralgia of the muscles for four years, and used the various remedies which are advertised, with little or no relief, I was induced to try your Curative. From using one bottle I am entirely cured of pain, but shall apply still another to completely eradicate the disease from the system, which I have every confidence to believe your remedy will do.

R. RUSSELL. SCIATIC RHEUMATISM.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec, 26th, 1876.

Gentlemen—I desire to make a statement regarding the effect of your Curative upon me. I suffered intensely for two months with Sciatic Rheumatism, and naturally tried all the remedies I could hear of, the Curative among the others, but found no relief, and came to the conclusion there was no cure for it. I was persuaded finally to give your Curative a thorough trial, by one who had been cured. I again commenced applying the Curative in earnest, under his direction, and in a week's time I was free from pain and well. I firmly believe every case of Rheumatism will yield to Lawson's Curative, but it must be used freely and persistently as you direct.

JAMES H. BROWN.

The importance of the thorough use of the medicine cannot be too strongly impressed on the patients. It will cure every time when used as we direct. See circulars around each bottle.

Truly yours, WILL H. BEARDSLEY.

To the People of Knox County, And all those who do business Mt. Vernon, we will say that we hav decided to establish in this city a house for the sale of Men's, Youths', Boys' and Children's Clothing, and Gents' Furnishing Goods. We have come among you, and have come to stay. Our system of doing business has been approved and encouraged in every city in which we have located, and in every instance we have succeeded beyond our most sanguine expectations. We have never failed to secure the confidence of the peo-ple, and when secured, that confidence has never been abused. We for sale all classes of goods known in our line. We warrant every article as represented. If any article or garment proves to be not as represented, we will exchange or return the money. We will be up with the times in styles, and down with the times in prices. No house in America has better, and they are few who possess the advantages we have. Our prices are lower than any house in the West. We have opened on Main street a large stock of fine clothing, made of the best material and in the latest style; strictly one price; no deviation. All goods marked in plain figures. Examne our stock and prices before purhasing. A. M. STADLER, Armstrong & Tilton' Grocery, Mt Vernou. Stamping.

THE FAIR.

The Display Yesterday.

Daily BULLETIN, Wednesday. Secretary Hyde and assistant, Mr L. B. Curtis, were each busy as they could be up to five o'clock yesterday making entries. The entries up to this morning will reach nearly nine hundred, being far in excess of any previous exhibition given by the Society. To enumerate each article on the Secretary's book would occupy more space than we have to spare. and take more time than we can give. Suffice it to say the display in every department is fine and unsurpassed by any fair held in this county. Floral Hall is well filled with every conceivable article of home manufacture, and the inventive qualities of our female friends are shown up in a creditable manner. The live stock departments are fully up to the usual standard of excellence. In the sheep pens are excellent specimens of different classes, and it would be difficult to find their superiors. Hogs form prominent part of the exhibition. China, Poland, Suffolk and Berkshire breeds are to be seen.

The usual fine display of fowls will attract the eye of many a bird fancier, who will find this department excelling former exhibitions.

The department of horses is represented by over 200 entries, which makes the display a credit to each one concerned. The great number of entries makes individual mention impossible. While some of the horses are below the average, the most of them showed that there is an improvement Farm implements and machinery are not so numerous; those on the grounds, however, are worthy of notice.

Second Day. Daily BULLETIN to-day.

Yesterday from some unknown reason the attendance was not nearly so large as was anticipated. From the opening of the gates in the morning up to noon but few persons, comparatively, were on hand, excepting those having entries on the Secretary's book. In the afternoon a moderate attendance only was on the grounds. Floral Hall was the chief point of attraction, and well might it be, for the Hall is in fact a floral bower. The arrangement of the different articles by the decorating committee-mentioned in the first number of the BULLETIN-has been done in excellent

Ball & Co., of New York (read advertisement on fourth page). A fine and clear toned piano from this factory is on exhibition and for trial. Last, but not by any means the least, is the elegant display of choice greenhouse plants and exotics. This department has been contributed to by Mrs. C. Keller, Mrs. G. W. Stahl, Mrs. H. P. Bennett, Mrs. James Lane and Mrs. J. G. Plimpton. These ladies are each renowned for their success in floriculture; and the beauty of the hall is mainly due to the display in this department. Noticeable among the cut flowers are the fine specimens of seedling geraniums, grown by Mrs. Bennett, some of which are very fine. J. Cooper & Co. have a farm engine puffing away, and also a patent steam cooker for cooking feed for stock, which receives considerable attention from the farmers. Reapers, mowers, horse rakes, windmill pumps, patent gates, threshers, plows, &c., of endless variety, each receive examination from those inter ested in the saving of outdoor labor. David Sanderson, from his factory on Water street, and George Neal, from his Front street factory, show fine specimens of work in carriages, buggies, and phætons, made at their several works.

There are three of them, two men and one woman, aged 65 or 70 years. They immigrated to the spot where they now live from Pennsylvania in 1838. Their names are Joshua, Benjamin, and Sarah Hill. From the time of their location on the farm they have occupied nearly forty years, until last week, neither of the brothers or sister had ever visited the town of Delaware. distant only about eight miles. Some few years since a young man by the name of Robinson, a nephew of the "Hermits," happened at their house, remained for a time, when they adopted yesterday, Peres Critchfield won first him as their own son; since which time, he has assumed the management of their affairs. The three old "Hermits" deeded their property to him, on condition that he pay them a certain sum per annum during their life-time, It is the existence of this state of the affairs of the "Hermits" that has caused another nephew to institute proceed ings against them for the appointment of a guardian. The case was tried, the Judge deciding that the old people were competent to transact their own business, and a guardian unnecessary On this occasion the three old people were taken to Delzware where the pro-ceedings of the case were held before the Probate Court. At his residence, in Middlebury township, in this county, on the 24th day of August, 1877, Richard Roberts. aged 88 years.

The subject of this notice, from many considerations, justifies some further sketch of his life. He was remarkable in having outlived all his compatriots of the early pioneers of Knox County, and, at the time of his death, is believed to have been the oldest actual settler then living. He was of Quaker parentage, and was born in his father, Henry Roberts, to St. Clairsville, Ohio, in 1805, and from there in 1807, the family removed to this county, ultimately settling on the farm where deceased died, about three miles north of Fredericktown, and where the two successive generations of the family have resided for nearly seventy years past. In 1814 Mr. Roberts was married to Sarah Garrison, a daughter of John Garrison, formerly a merchant in Fredericktown, and later President of the Mansfield Bank, an unchartered institution, that like many others in the country, sprung up after the war of 1812, and failed in 1816. Mrs. Roberts died in 1872. In the war of 1812 the patriotism of the deceased so far modified the religious principles in which he had Lynchburg, Virginia, on Monday. been brought up, that he entered the The reception was marked by old-time povernment service as a volunteer and for a considerable time served as a frontier. His home was always distinguished for its hospitality, and for the cordial welcome with which his neighbors and numerous friends were ever received. He was DEFIANCE, O., September 23 .- Con iderable excitement was manifested the past few days certain parties have been looking the matter up, and last evening had telegraphic communication with the State Auditor, which Solicitor be directed to draft an ordi- ended in Dr. George O. The New York reports continue to represent the fall trade as prosperous and increasing. The general average among the wholesale houses will be an increase of 20 per cent over the sales of last year. The Southern trade is better than at any time since the war, not only because there is a demand for goods in much larger quantities than heretofore, but because the goods called for are of much higher grade than the South has needed since 1861. OHIO HEDGE CO.

No. 71 North High St., COLUMBUS, OHIO

TESTIMONIAL OF JACOB BAUM.

St. PAUL, PICKAWAY Co., OHIO, August 10, 1875.

This is to certify that the Ohio Hedging Company planted 300 rods of hedging for me in the spring of 1871, which they trimmed, pleached, wired down and pruned, during the season of 1875, and which is completed in every particular, and turns all kinds of stock, small or large. The said Company also planted 302 rods in the spring of 1875, with like good success, and which I can say is doing splendidly; and I have further given them a contract for the season's planting for 1876. For my complete hedge, as it left their experienced hands, I would not accept five dollars per rod, and be deprived of it. I am satisfied they are the right men in the right business.

JACOB BAUM, (since deceased.)

The above cut represents the patent method used by the Ohio Hedge Company Martinsburg, O., Sept. 1st, 1877,
This is to certify that I have examined a Hedge on the farm of Robert Robinson, on the Fredericktown road, wired, trained and pruned by the Ohio Hedge Co., and must say I am well pleased with the system. It is a complete protection against the smallest animals, and very ornamental. I can fully recommend this Company to the farmers of Knox and adjoining counties, as men who fully understand the system of hedging. I would advise all farmers to patronize this Company in fencing with hedge constructed in this way, and only wish all my brother farmers could see it.
W. C. HORN.

To whom it may concern:

Columbus, O., June 26, 1877.

This is to certify, that I have examined a section of Osage Hedge Fence on the premises of Hon. T. Ewing Miller, of this city, plashed and trained by the process used by the Ohio Hedge Co., under the supervision of Mr. C. Keyes, and believe it to be the most feasible plan yet adopted for the propagation of this healthful and useful kind of fence. It has only to be seen and examined to satisfy the most skeptical as to its being a complete success. It is exceedingly suitable, occupies less space, and requires less labor in training, than ordinary hedging, and is a complete protection against all kinds of domestic animals.

MILTON BARNES, Secretary of State, MT. VERNON, Knox Co., O., June 29, 1877.

This is to certify that Wesley Young & Co. wired down 100 rods of hedge for me during the Spring of 1877. The hedge before being wired would not turn hogs. It is so thick now that it will turn the smallest pigs and chickens. I have been growing hedge for eight years, and must say that this is the most complete and perfect way of making a hedge fence. I can further say that the wire does not even phaze the bark. These men are just what they represent themselves to be, the right men in the right place. I would not miss having it wired down for a dollar a rod. It is a complete success in every respect, and no doubt will lessen the labor of trimming, because the shoots grow so thick and dense from the pleached canes. It looks most beautiful.
