The Democratic Banner

EDITED BY L. HARPER.
"HE IS A FREEMAN WHOSE TRUE NAME IS FREE."
MOUNT VERNON, OHIO:
SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 30, 1867.

The Impeachment Poetry.

In Congress on Monday last, the Majority and Minority Reports on the subject of impeaching and removing President Johnson, were submitted. The first recommends his impeachment, and the latter opposes it. The galleries of the House were crowded to overflowing, when the Majority Report was read, the heroes and "mean whites" raised a furious hurrah. It is said that if the subject had been pressed to a vote at the instant the impeachment would have been carried. The crazy portion of the Radicals cry out for blood and vengeance, and demand the President's head.

The Philadelphia Post, a new Radical organ, declares that "unless Andrew Johnson is impeached the Republican party is ruined." It adds: "Leave Andrew Johnson where he is, and Congress might as well crown him 'with laurels, and carry him to the White House in triumphal procession. Not to impeach him now is to confirm his power and 'indorse his crimes.'"

On the other hand the Cincinnati Commercial, as well as many other sensible Republican papers, denounce the impeachment business in no measured terms, and declare that the scheme is a "fire brand," and a "violation of common fairness and public justice." The Commercial says:

"We are likely to have enough combustible material thrown into the pending Presidential campaign without the addition of this firebrand. It will add fuel to the strife, and test our capacity as a people for self-restraint and government, as it never has been tried."

Again, says the Commercial:

"The general sense of common fairness and public justice will be violated in the impeachment of the President if it is attempted. The impression that the proceeding originates in partisan spite or political calculations can not be overcome. High crimes and misdemeanors in the sense of the Constitution, do not need to be sought with much rakes or fine tooth combs."

The truth is, the crazy leaders of the Republican party—not the rank and file—wish to bring about another revolution, in order to keep their corrupt and wicked party in power. These political monsters inaugurated the late horrible war solely for the purpose of keeping their party in power; or, as the drunken wretch, Chandler, expressed it: "We must have a little blood letting, to save the Republican party from rupture." The country got the "blood let" with a vengeance, and the people now want peace, brotherly kindness, and the "Union as it was," under the Constitution of Washington. But with peace and a restored Union, the Radical party will go to perdition, and this is why the rascally leaders wish to keep the country in a state of convulsion, to remove the President, to establish negro ascendancy and bring about a war of races. The people by their votes, must put this party down, if they wish to avoid another horrible war.

This lovely and pious individual, (who represents the disunion Radicals in the U. S. Senate,) during his late trip to the West stopped at St. Louis a few days, and while there was the guest of the City, or at least the City Councils assumed to pay his bill. This bill has been regularly made out in due form, and has been published by some "diabolical" editor out there, who had not the fear of the Nigger "Bureau" before his eyes. A few items in this bill will be interesting to "Copperheads," who don't claim to be as "pious" as the Rev. Ben. First, we have for "washing" $33.80. (Ben must have been unusually dirty out there.) Next, "baths," $7.00. (But the pool of Bethesda would not cleanse such a man.) Then comes, "lemons," $2.50; "sugar," $2.00; "whisky," $18.00; and eighteen tumbler, $6. Ben must have been on a "grand bust," and smashed tumblers in the most approved style of modern rowdies, during his brief stay in St. Louis. How many bottles or gallons of whisky he disposed of is not stated, but the quantity is simply taxed at $18! It was at St. Louis, after placing himself outside of $18 worth of whisky, that this Radical beauty made his celebrated agrarian speech, in which he advocated an equal division of property among the rich and the poor, and which he afterwards undertook to explain away after he became partially sober.

Ben. Wade, Chandler, (the "blood-letting," Parson Brownlow and Hannuett, are all moderate representatives of their party—a party that claims "all the piety and all the decency and all the religion" for the land!

General Grant's Testimony.

The testimony of General Grant, before the Impeachment Committee, has been published. It doesn't amount to much, one way or the other, and it certainly will not damage President Johnson very seriously. He says that the President was anxious to punish the leaders of the rebellion, while he (Grant) was opposed to it, for the reason that any punishment, or the adoption of any harsh measures, would be a violation of the parole. He admitted that the pardon of Longstreet and other leading Confederate Generals, was upon his recommendation. He says that the reconstruction policy of President Johnson "was substantially the plan inaugurated by Mr. Lincoln."

Wisconsin Election.

The Republican majority on Governor in Wisconsin will be about 4,800. This is a poor remnant of the 25,000 majority which it gave last year for the Republican Congressmen. The vote is very large, about equal to what it was in 1866. The Radicals can not, therefore, allege that they were beaten by a "stay-at-home vote." They were beaten by their bickering friends voting straight for the Democratic ticket. The State can be carried next year.

Our Victory in California.

The official vote of California at the election in September has been announced. For Governor, Haught, Democrat, received 49,005 votes; Gorham, Radical, 40,358, and Fay, Independent, 2,088. Haught's majority over Gorham, 9,646, and over both Gorham and Fay, 7,458. Enough for all practical purposes.

Death of Fitz Green Halleck.

Fitz Green Halleck, whose poetry is known to every intelligent school boy in America, died at his birth place, Guilford, Connecticut, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 20, in the seventy-seventh year of his age. Mr. Halleck has lived in retirement for many years past, and was but little known, save to his immediate personal friends, who rank among the leading literary and business men of our country. Twenty or thirty years ago, when he was in his prime, Halleck's name was associated with those of Bryant, Irving, Baileys, Cooper, Lang, Drake, and others, who were then the leading poets and prose writers of America. He and Joseph Rodman Drake were intimate as brothers, frequently contributing jointly to the production of the same poem. It was upon the death of his friend Drake, that Halleck wrote the world renowned poem, commencing:

"Green be the turf above thee,
Friend of my better days;
None know thee but to love thee,
None name thee but to praise."

Many of Halleck's descriptive verses form the most attractive features of our American School Readers, and have been recited by ambitious youths before admiring audiences at the annual school exhibitions and contests. Among the pieces that have an immortal fame, we may mention "Marco Bozzaris," which is admired wherever the English language is read. Here is a quotation from that stirring poem:

Come to the bridal chamber, Death!
Come to the mother, when she feels
For the first time, her first-born's breath;
Come when the blest souls are
That close the pestilence are broke,
And crowded cities wait its stroke;
Come when the pestilence is broke,
And crowded cities wait its stroke;
Come when the pestilence is broke,
And crowded cities wait its stroke;
Come when the pestilence is broke,
And crowded cities wait its stroke;

"We are likely to have enough combustible material thrown into the pending Presidential campaign without the addition of this firebrand. It will add fuel to the strife, and test our capacity as a people for self-restraint and government, as it never has been tried."

Again, says the Commercial:

"The general sense of common fairness and public justice will be violated in the impeachment of the President if it is attempted. The impression that the proceeding originates in partisan spite or political calculations can not be overcome. High crimes and misdemeanors in the sense of the Constitution, do not need to be sought with much rakes or fine tooth combs."

The truth is, the crazy leaders of the Republican party—not the rank and file—wish to bring about another revolution, in order to keep their corrupt and wicked party in power. These political monsters inaugurated the late horrible war solely for the purpose of keeping their party in power; or, as the drunken wretch, Chandler, expressed it: "We must have a little blood letting, to save the Republican party from rupture." Grand Democratic Celebration in Cincinnati.

On Saturday last the Democracy of Cincinnati and vicinity, had a grand celebration over the recent triumph of the people over the corrupt and unprincipled Radical faction, that has brought ruin and desolation to our country. It is estimated that 50,000 took part in the celebration. Speeches were made by Judge Thurman, Hon. Milton Saylor, Hon. C. L. Vallandigham, and others; and letters were read from a number of prominent Democrats and Conservatives, who were invited, but could not be present. Altogether it was a joyous occasion.

Trial of Jefferson Davis.

Jefferson Davis, with counsel, appeared in the U. S. Court, at Richmond, on Tuesday, ready for his trial; but Chief Justice Chase failed to "come to time"—he did not show himself in Richmond at all, and consequently the case was continued until the 25th of March next. Chase has got an elephant on his hands. He is afraid to take the responsibility to try Jeff. Davis, while he is a candidate for President. We suppose he will shift the responsibility upon the idiotic and brutal Underwood and a jury of negroes. What a farce!

Negro "Freedom" in the South.

A large body of infuriated negroes, armed with deadly weapons, marched into the town of Columbus, Miss., a few days ago, and demanded bread. They became so furious and disorderly that the U. S. troops were compelled to disperse them at the point of the bayonet. "Freedom" these Southern negroes think, is "freedom" from work, the right to vote and hold office, and to lord it over the white race. Radical teachings are beginning to bring forth their fruits.

Delano Checkmated.

A Washington dispatch says: It is said that Delano, of Ohio, after his defeat last year, with his friend Secretary McCulloch, had an interview with the President, and gave him assurance that he would support the President against Congress, if he were permitted to control the official patronage in his district, but he was checkmated in his nice little game. Since then Delano has been a howling Radical.

New York Election.

This State, which gave 13,000 majority for the Republican Governor last year, now goes Democratic on the official vote, by full 50,000 majority. Democratic gain, 63,000. The Democracy came near carrying the State even without the aid of the magnificent majority they received in New York City.

POLITICAL.

The Cincinnati Enquirer repeats the statement, by authority, that Mr. Pendleton is not, and will not be, a candidate for U. S. Senator.

A Washington dispatch suggests Gen. Hancock, of Pa., for President, and Judge Thurman, of Ohio, for Vice President.

Although Marshall, the Radical candidate for Governor, is elected in Minnesota by 5,364, the Negro Suffrage proposition was defeated by 6,248 majority.

A Philadelphia paper publishes the names of two hundred candidates for the Vice Presidency, and proposes to continue the list at a dollar a head.

Governor Horatio Seymour has written a letter declaring that he will not be a candidate for the Presidential nomination before the next National Democratic Convention.

A Republican paper having stated that in ten years no one will speak a word against the Radical party, Prentiss suggests that, long before that time, there will be no Radical party to speak a word against.

The white people of South Carolina almost unanimously refused to vote at the state's election. In North Carolina there was almost the same unanimity in staying away from the "polls."

A town election was held in Hartford, Conn., on Monday, and resulted in an average majority of 300 for the Democratic candidates.

The Democracy of Lexington, Kentucky, at a meeting last night, passed a resolution unanimously declaring Hon. G. H. Pendleton to be their choice as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency.

General Thomas Ewing, Jr., in a letter to a friend, says: "I hope to unite with my army friends in supporting General Grant for President, but I want first to know whether he approves of the reconstruction measures; for if he does, I can not support him."

For Sale—A Good Hit.

The "Grand Army" organization at Evansville, Indiana, having been beaten out of all countenance at the recent election, the Courier of that place winds up the concern by advertising its effects for sale in the following terms:

Two thousand army blankets, (of best black cambric).
Two thousand knapsacks.
Two thousand paper belts.
Two thousand percussion cartridge boxes.
Two thousand tin rifles (extra bed).
Two thousand pairs of pants (wounded in the sea).
Two thousand coats (buttons all over 'em).
Two thousand pairs of shoes (soleless from tramp, tramp, tramp, about the streets).

Letter from Montgomery Blair.

The following is the conclusion of the letter of Montgomery Blair to the Democracy of Cincinnati, which was read at the meeting on Saturday:

"I have been hoping, and yet hope, that General Grant will by declaring openly for the Constitution, put an end to these dangerous usurpations of the Radical oligarchy. The attempt of the usurpers to take refuge under his skirts enables him to deter them from a further prosecution of their designs by such a declaration, and he owes it to the country and to his own fame to give the assurance of peace. If he fails, it only imposes the greater obligations upon other less distinguished men to endeavor to mass the people for the preservation of their government, and to prevent a still more horrible strife than that through which we have passed."

George H. Pendleton.

The following is the concluding paragraph of a leading editorial from the Mascaine (Vernon) Courier of November 15:

"Voters are getting heartily sick of unnecessary taxation, sick of striving to enrich and rob the poor sick of a disordered country, sick of business prostration; and they are turning to the Democratic party for relief. The man who can and will lead them out of the difficulties which the Radicals have brought upon them will receive their hearty support and the approval of the people. Such a man now stands prominently before the people. We refer to George H. Pendleton, of Ohio."

We call the attention of our Democratic friends to the following paragraph from the New York Freeman's Journal. It contains counsel which should be heeded. We hope that Democrats everywhere will give it their attention:

THE CRISIS OF THE COUNTRY. We repeat what we said last week. Signal and glorious as late elections have proved, these are but preludes to the great contest of next year. Everything looks well—if followed up. We exert and entreat Democrats, however, not to lose time in forming associations in every neighborhood, and to begin to enroll their lists every Democrat with the several bounds. Let these Democrats meet together in neighborhoods at stated times, even if but few in number. Let them go to work with their neighbors. Let them explain our principles. It is wonderful how much misinformation has had to do with our past miseries. Every Democrat ought now to be a missionary of correct political principles."

Weston.

Weston, the pedestrian, arrived at South Bend, Ind., on Monday evening, after having made eighty five miles in 20 hours and 45 minutes. Owing to the rain and muddy roads, he gave up the attempt to make 100 miles in 24 hours. This was the fifth failure to walk 100 miles in 24 consecutive hours. But with fair weather, good roads, and no interference by others, and can and will yet perform that task.

Delano in Washington.

A special dispatch from Washington, Nov. 25th, says: Mr. Delano, of Ohio, has arrived, and gone to work against Gen. Morgan retaining his seat. Considering that charges of bribery in elections can be established against him, as well as other material points, it is evident that Delano relies more on reckless and unscrupulous party action than his petting smartness.

We know a fellow who, upon learning that a friend had gone into the printing business, at once subscribed for the paper. The publisher was rather delicate about sending the bill, after some ten years had elapsed, he made bold to dun his "constant reader," when the latter at once grew indignant, refused to pay, and ordered the paper stopped, alleging that he "had taken the paper for so many years just to keep it along, and now to be asked to pay was too darn'd mean."

Chicago is reveling in another peculiar display of the "democratic" spirit, in which, Mr. B. F. Quinby, a real estate agent, is charged by his wife with adultery committed with her mother while the party were on a bridal tour.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

A couple of female practical jokers frightened a young married woman into insanity, at Milwaukee, the other day, by telling her that her husband was dead.

The Dubuque Times tells of the discovery there of five immense lead caves, all of which are "chock full" of the mineral. Mr. Kelley, their owner, refuses $150,000 for his windfall.

Ex President Buchanan, who is very feeble at his home in Lancaster, Pa., is not expected to live through the winter.

Mount Vesuvius is again pouring forth immense volumes of fire, in seven distinct streams.

The Denver papers denounce loudly the scheme for forming a new territory by cutting off the northern border of Colorado.

Six men arrested in Allegheny City Thursday night for late extensive robberies in that city, and several thousand dollars' worth of property recovered.

Jeff Davis' counsel will object to his being tried by Judge Underwood, charging that the latter had shown himself bitterly prejudiced against him.

A man named Hiram Brooks, of Cleveland, on his way to Topeka, Kansas, was robbed in Chicago, on Thursday, of $1,000, by the confidence game.

The report of General Grant, as Secretary of War, is published. He estimates the cost of the army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1867, at something less than $8,000,000.

An agent of the Whisky Rings of the large cities is in Washington, endeavoring to get Mr. Belline removed from the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Considerable excitement prevails in New Orleans in consequence of General Grant having directed General Morre to suspend all removals until the arrival of General Hancock.

Mr. Bartlett and Mrs. Davis, about 25 years of age, recently eloped from River Head, L. I., and have gone, it is supposed, to California.

The working men in Pittsburgh propose running candidates for municipal offices. The Democratic candidate for Mayor will be adopted on their ticket, if he is at all favorable to their schemes. Samuel Allinder, present city treasurer, is an independent candidate for reelection.

Christmas No. of Young America.

No wonder the children say, "Hurrah! for 'Young America,' for it is, without exception, the brightest and jolliest youngster that ever claimed Uncle Sam's paternity. The Number, just received, will be a rich treat for the juveniles, for "Baby," who can appreciate the brilliant colored pictures, to "big" Brother and Sister, who don't disdain to spend an evening over the stories, games, and puzzles.

$1.50 for a year's subscription, with a nice premium microscope, jack knife, book, or paint box thrown in, is a mere nothing, compared with its interest and value to the family. The music alone, furnished with each number, is worth double the money. Address, W. Jennings Demorest, 473 Broadway, New York.

Thaddeus Stevens' bill for the division of Texas is not yet prepared, but he proposes to take hold of it as soon as the impeachment question has somewhat abated.

"Died Yesterday."

Every day is written the little sentence—"died yesterday." Every day a flower is plucked from some sunny home; a breach is made in some family circle; a jewel stolen from some treasure of love. Every day from the summer fields of life some harvester disappears—yes, every hour some sentinel falls from his post, and is thrown from the ramparts of time into the surging waters of eternity. Even as we write, the funeral of one who "died yesterday" winds like a winter shadow along the street.

"Died yesterday." Who died?—Perhaps it was a gentle babe; or, perhaps it was an angel, pure as zephyr's hymn—some whose laugh was as the gust of summer rains loitering in the bower of roses—whose life was a perpetual litany, a May time crowded with the passion of flowers that never fade. Or, perhaps, it was a youth, hopeful and generous, whose path was filled with wild flowers with not a serpent lurking underneath—one whose soul panted for communion with the great and good, and reached forth with earnest struggle for the garden in the distance.

But the heart is still now—he "died yesterday." A young girl, pure as the orange flowers that clasped her forehead, was stricken down as she stood at the altar; and from the dim aisles of the temple, she was borne to the "garden of slumber."

A tall, brown man, girt with the halo of victory, and at the day's close under his own vine and fig tree, fell to the dust, even as the antlion trembled on his lips; and he, too, was laid "where the rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep."

An aged patriarch, bowed with years and cares, even as he looked out on the distant hills for the coming of the angel host, sank into dreamless slumber; and on his door step was written, "died yesterday."

"Died yesterday." Daily, men, women and children are passing away, and hourly in some graveyard the soil is flung upon the dead. As often, in the morn, we find some flower that blushed so sweetly in the sunset, has withered up forever; so, daily as we rise from our bivouac, to stand against our posts, we miss some brother soldier, whose cheery eye in the sieges and struggles of the past has been like dew drops from heaven upon our hearts.

Each day some pearl drops from the jewel threads of friendship—some lyre to which we were wont to listen, has been hushed forever. But vice is he who mourns not the pearls and jewels lost.—Taylor.

A countryman, going to market with a load of pork, was met by a young girl who very generously made him a low courtesy, when he exclaimed: "What do you make a courtesy to dead hogs?"

"No, sir," answered the girl, "to a live hog."

LITERARY NOTICES.

Dickens' "American Notes."

When Charles Dickens, the celebrated English Novelist, visited the United States, some twenty five years ago, he wrote and published, after his return home, a book entitled: "American Notes for General Circulation," in which he described the places he visited while in this country. These Notes were severely criticized by many American newspapers, after they went into "circulation," and an effort was made to keep them at a low discount. In view of the fact that Mr. Dickens has again come to our shores, his publishers in this country, Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, have re-issued the "Notes," in a new volume, and the general impression now appears to be that, although not as good a Democratic coin, they will "go off" about as readily as "greenbacks." The American people generally don't like to "see themselves as others see them," and this is why they were so severe on Mr. Dickens in former years.—We believe they think a little better of him now.

The Old Guard for December.

The December number of The Old Guard is now ready, containing the concluding chapters of Wm. Gilmore Simms' story of "Joselyn." The Magazine opens with an article by the editor, entitled, "What the South has Not Lost by the War." "The Battles of Virginia," by John Estlin Cooke, will be concluded in January, the present number containing an account of Early's Campaign in the Shenandoah Valley. "Spells, Ly a Receiver," "Speculative Inquiry into the Old Principle," a "Sonnet," and the Book and Editor's Tables, complete a very readable number. The next volume of The Old Guard will also contain a series of articles from the pen of Dr. Van Evrie, on the Races of Men, which will be illustrated by beautiful plates of the different types of mankind. Single copies, 25c. Van Evrie, Horton & Co., publishers, No. 102 Nassau street, New York.

New York Wool Market.

NEW YORK, NOV. 26.

The market for fleeces manifests an improved feeling. There is considerable inquiry from the manufacturers and for larger lots than they have been in the habit of purchasing for several months past. Prices can hardly be quoted higher, though it is now comparatively easy to move lots at a price buyers would not have touched a week ago. The demand is not so general, and for all grades of fleeces. Pulled also, more quiet, though it is not so much changed. These wools are held at relatively higher prices than fleeces, and consequently are not so desirable. Foreign wool is inactive. The sales are 375,000 lbs. fleeces at 28c per unwashed; 34c (40c for low and medium western, State and Mt. JOKER'S CORNER

The first day a little boy went to school, the teacher asked him if he could spell.

"Yes, sir."

"Well, how do you spell boy?"

"O, just the same as all other folks do."

"Nancy, said a girl to her companion, "which railroad train do you like best?"

"That one," replied Nancy, "which furnishes a spark catcher."

As the quickest way to make a fortune a contemporary suggests marrying a fashionable young lady and selling her clothes.

What is the difference between a barber and a mother? One has razors to shave, and the others has shavers to raise.

"Mother, can't I go and get my photograph taken?"

"No, I guess it isn't worth while."

"Well, then, you might let me go and have a tooth pulled. I never go any where, and have no pleasures."

A lady having a great horror of tobacco, got into the New Haven cars the other day, and inquired of the masculine occupant:

"Do you chew tobacco?"

"No ma'am, I don't" was the reply, "but I can get a chew."

A QUACK'S MISTAKE.—A regular physician being sent for by a quack, expressed his surprise at being called in on an occasion apparently so trifling.

"Not so trifling, either," replied the quack, "for to tell the truth, I have by mistake taken some of my own pills."

POOR FELLOW!—A Western paper contains the following apology:

"The editor is absent, the foreman had the tooth ache, the devil is drunk and trying to drink beer out of a boot-jack, the press is out of order, and we ain't well ourselves—so please excuse a poor paper this week."

A justice, better versed in law than gospel, not long since married a couple in this way. "Hold up your hands.—You solemnly swear that you will perform the duties of your office, jointly and severally according to your best skill and judgment. So help you God; fee one dollar."

For Families and Manufacturers.

THE HOWE LOCK STITCH

These World-renowned Sewing Machines

WERE AWARDED the highest premium at the World's Fair in London, and six first premiums at the N. Y. State Fair of 1866, and are celebrated for doing the best work, using a much smaller needle for the same quality of gathering, than any other machine, and by the introduction of the most approved machinery, we are now able to supply the very best machines in the world.

These machines are made of our new and spacious Factory at Bridgeport, Conn., under the immediate supervision of the President of the Company, Elias Howe, Jr., the original inventor of the Sewing Machine.

They are adapted to all kinds of Family Sewing, and to the use of Seamstresses, Dress Makers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantles, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Curtains, Boots, Shoes, Harness, Saddles, Lipon Goods, Umbrellas, Parasols, &c. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will sew quilts, gather, hem, fold, cord, braid, blind, and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the articles sewed.

The Sewing Machine, by Mr. Howe, and made on this Machine, is the most popular and durable, and all Sewing Machines are subject to the principle invented by him.

does not "pump them dry."

—A friend of ours, who has had some experience as a smokist, gives it as his opinion that Messrs. Woodward & Scribner keep for sale the best cigars in the city. Those who may have any doubts upon the subject, had better call and try for themselves.

—The Methodist Protestant church build-by Mr. Chris. Keller, and is now being converted into two dwelling houses.

—The Methodist Protestant and the Wes-having united, they have sold their old church buildings, and purchased the old Congregaadopt measures at once for the improve-

Dr. Jacob Stamp.

Our young friend Dr. Jacob Stamp, who fills a Professor's chair in the Cleveland Medical College, will be necessarily absent for a few months, attending to his duties in that popular and prosperous institution. We are pleased to learn, however, that he will return to Mt. Vernon as soon as his engagement in the College terminates, and resume his practice. Dr. Stamp, although one of our youngest physicians, stands second to none in the confidence and esteem of our citizens. He has already secured a large practice in this his native city, and his uniform success, as a physician and surgeon, even in the most difficult cases, has given him a reputation that even an old practitioner might envy.

Fredericktown Jewelry Store.

We take great pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. Geo. D. Lewin, who has opened a fine

Jewelry and Variety Store in the enterprising city of Fredericktown. He keeps on hand a very handsome stock of Goods, which he is selling at very low prices. He has had manufactured, expressly for his own trade, a lot of the best gold pens we have tried for many years. Our friends who wish to purchase useful or ornamental articles, suitable for Christmas presents, will find it to their interest to call at Mr. Lewin's establishment. He will deal fairly and honorably with them.

The New Clothing Store.

A. Wolff, at his new Clothing Store, corner of Main street and the Public Square, has the largest and most complete stock of Ready-made Clothing and Piece Goods to be found in Central Ohio. Every article needed for a gentleman's complete wardrobe, will be found at his establishment; and it is his determination to sell at such extremely low prices as cannot fail to give satisfaction to all who may favor him with their custom. He particularly invites his old friends and customers to call and see him in his new quarters. It will be pleased to see them whether they wish to purchase or not.

Preston House, Newark.

This large and elegant establishment has been leased by Messrs. Scarborough, Russell &

Johnson, who are now keeping it in tip-top style. Mr. Scarborough formerly kept the Kenyon House in this city. Mr. Russell is known to nearly every farmer in Knox and the surrounding counties, as the seller of subsoil plow points; and Mr. Johnson is the gentleman who has leased the Belleville Gold Mines.

They are all whole-souled fellows, and "know how to keep a hotel," which cannot be said of every man who is in the business. Success to them.

A Natural Bridge in Ohio.

The great natural curiosity in Washington county is thus alluded to by a correspondent of the Athens Messenger: "The Natural

Bridge is in section thirty-three, Decatur township, Washington county, Ohio, and is one of the most picturesque natural scenes in East ern Ohio. The bridge is eighty three feet in height, forty feet in length and ten feet in

—In the Criminal Court, at Steubenville,

Judge McIlvaine sentenced Lewis K. McCoy, convicted of the murder of Joseph McDonald, away when he met McDonald, and that on the day he shot him deceased had a pistol in his hand.

—Thos. Higgins, of Birming, was in Chil-

we get from the Advertiser.

—Several cases of milk sickness have occured in Wyandot county, in this State, as we learn from the Pioneer. The London Democrat says that the same disease has made its appearance in Clark county. Mrs. Warrington, a most estimable lady residing in the vicinity of South Charleston, died of the disease last Friday. Dr. Toland Jones, who was called to consult considers it a well marked case.

—Two boys, aged respectively nine and eleven years, have been acquitted in Vinton county, Ohio, of manslaughter. The facts of the case, as shown in the evidence, were simply that the two boys accompanied by the third, about the same age, were bathing, when the third one got into deep water and was drowned. A child five years of age offered to give testimony on a certain point but the court then armed a posse of twelve men with muskets, shot guns, &c., marched them down in front of the dry goods citadel, and demanded its surrender. The demand was refused, and
