nation at Loudonville on August 10 to fill a position as rural carrier at Brinkhaven and for vacancies occurring on other rural routes in Knox county. In conformity with the request of the postoffice department, the civil service commission will admit women to these examinations on the same basis as men during the continuance of the war.

Applications may be secured from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

COLORED MEN CALLED

A call was received by the local exemption board Friday for all colored registrants remaining in Class 1. The men will be sent to camp on August 1 or in the five days immediately following that date.

Court News

In the matter of the suit of Mary H. Ball against Ellen Yeager and others, an answer and cross petition has been filed in the common pleas court by Jessie V. LaFever, a party defendant, in which she says that all property, personal and real which belongs to John B. LaFever was given to her under his last will and testament and that the plaintiff has no claim on any of it.
