BEXLEY HALL

Bexley Hall is the oldest of the theological seminaries of the Episcopal Church west of the Allegheny Mountains. The roll of Alumni includes more than two hundred and fifty names, the first being recorded in the year 1828.

When, in 1826, Bishop Chase developed the plan of his educational enterprise, there were a Preparatory Department, a Collegiate and a Theological. Later on, the Theological Faculty was separated from that of the College, and in 1839 Bexley Hall was erected, and has ever since been the home of the students in Theology.

The design includes a high standard, and its vigorous enforcement. Thoroughness in theological education is a present demand which cannot with safety be neglected. Loyalty to the Church, for the service of which this institution was founded, requires insistence upon this point.

The instruction is Churchly and conservative, but does not shrink from discussion of those critical questions of the day, ignorance of which, on part of the minister of the Church, is a disqualification as serious as it is inexcusable.

The Bishops of Ohio and Southern Ohio, and others, deliver, from time to time, courses of lectures on subjects of a pastoral and practical nature.

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION

THE OLD TESTAMENT

PROFESSOR STREIBERT

Junior Year —

1. Language. The study of Hebrew begun, Harper's Elements of Hebrew, and Hebrew Method and Manual being used as text-books. In connection with these, easy historical prose is read in the Pentateuch and the Books of Samuel and Ruth. A thorough mastery of Hebrew etymology and the acquirement of a vocabulary are made the special aims of the year's work. Four hours a week.

2. Old Testament Introduction and History. The year is given to a careful study of the Historical Books in connection with the history of Israel, social, political, and religious. Attention is also given to the history of the old Canon of the Old Testament, and the origin of the several ancient versions, Aramaic, Syriac, Greek and Latin. Two hours a week.

Middle Year —

1. Language and Interpretation. In connection with the reading and critical exegesis of numerous Psalms and of poetical portions of the Pentateuch, the principles of Hebrew Syntax are carefully studied, Harper's Elements of Hebrew Syntax being used as a text-book, with constant reference to Driver's Use of the Tenses in Hebrew. Two hours a week.

2. Old Testament Introduction. The Poetical and Prophetical Books are studied in the Revised Version, with lectures on the several forms of Hebrew poetry, and the rise and development of prophecy. Two hours a week.

Senior Year —

Interpretation and Criticism. Portions of several Prophetical Books, chiefly Isaiah, are read in the original, in connection with the study of critical problems presented. Lectures are also delivered on Pentateuchal Criticism and Old Testament Theology. Two hours a week.

THE NEW TESTAMENT

PROFESSOR WATSON

The work in the Junior Year is devoted chiefly to the Life of Christ. St. Luke and St. John are read in class, with parallel passages from the other Gospels.

A course in New Testament History is pursued, and is followed by an outline course on Textual Criticism.

Recitations and lectures four hours a week.

In the Middle Year the Epistles are taken up in connection with the life of St. Paul, and a course in Introduction covers the outline and contents of the New Testament Books. Three hours a week.

The work of the Middle Year is continued in the Senior year. The Epistle to the Romans and Ephesians and the Johannine Writings receive especial attention. The more important and difficult questions in Introduction and Criticism are considered in detail. Three hours a week.

The course includes a careful examination of the larger part of the New Testament in Greek, and of the whole of it in English.

CHURCH HISTORY, POLITY AND CANON LAW

DEAN JONES

The course in Church History provides for an outline review of the whole field, in order that the student may appreciate the relations and proportions of the different parts. Special emphasis is placed upon the Second, Third, and Fourth Centuries in the earlier stages of the course, and upon the Fifteenth and Sixteenth in the latter. In the Middle Year the leading subject is the growth, culmination and decline of the Papal power. The development of Christian institutions is carefully considered in the Junior Course. The literature and life of the primitive Church receive as full treatment as time will allow.

In the Senior Year the History of the English Church occupies the full time, except that the Continental Reformation is considered in its leading aspects, and that the American Episcopal Church is reviewed in lectures and recitations.

Of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries full and detailed knowledge is expected, and the course of instruction is extended to provide for this.

Smith's Student's History, Kurtz, Plummer's Church of the Early Fathers, and Robertson's Church History, are recommended for use in the Junior Year, Smith, Kurtz, Hardwick's Middle Ages, and Duruy's History of the Middle Ages are recommended for use by the Middle Class. Jennings's Ecclesia Anglicana, Perry's and Dixon's Histories of the Church of England should be read during the Senior Year, also the histories of the American Church by McConnell and Tiffany.

The course in Polity follows, in the main, the direction suggested by the three great topics, i. e., the Being of the Church, the Authority of the Church, and the Ministry. It also includes a systematic study of Hooker.

THEOLOGY

PROFESSOR DAVIES

The first two terms of the year are given to a thorough study of Apologetics. Epistemology, Theism, the Anti-theistic Theories and Christian Origins are some of the subjects covered. The books used are Harris' Philosophical Basis of Theism, Fisher's Grounds of Theistic and Christian Belief, Bruce's Apologetics, Row's Bampton Lectures and others. Frequent written work is required. Three hours a week.

In the third term Dogmatic Theology is begun. The subjects studied are Theology Proper and Anthropology. Books used are Pearson on the Creed and Gibson on the Articles, and there is frequent reference to the earlier Anglican authors. Three hours a week.

Middle Year —

Dogmatic Theology is continued during the year. The subjects studied are Soteriology and Pneumatology. The books used are Hooker, Book V., Pearson and Gibson, and in addition work is done in Anglican authors—Jewel, Andrewes, Beveridge, Bull, Butler, Waterland and others. The attention paid to historic Anglican Theology is a feature of the course. There is written work throughout the year. Three hours a week.

Senior Year

The study of Theology is continued during the first term. Subjects studied are Ecclesiology and Eschatology. Books as before. But more extensive work is done in Anglican authors on the Church and on the Sacraments. Four hours a week.

The remaining two terms are given to the study of Christian Ethics. The subject is studied in a practical manner in its bearing on modern conditions. Books—Smyth, Martensen, Strong and others. Four hours a week.

LITURGICS

PROFESSOR WATSON

The study of Liturgics is begun in the middle year with lectures and recitations twice a week, and is continued once a week through the Senior year.

The course begins with lectures on the structure and contents of the Book of Common Prayer, and is continued with Pullan's "History of the Prayer Book."

The study of the offices and history of the Prayer Book is then pursued in lectures accompanying the textbook of Proctor and Frere.

In the Senior year a special study is made of the Communion Office and the Early Liturgies, with reference work in Scudamore, Freeman, Brightman and Lucklock. Last, the Prayer Book is taken up practically, with a view to its proper use.

Throughout the course frequent papers are prepared and discussed by the students on assigned topics.

ELOCUTION

PROFESSOR RUSSELL

Instruction in this subject is given to the students both in classes and singly, according to individual needs. They are taught correct breathing and the proper use of the voice, a clear and cultivated enunciation, as also various forms of expression for intelligent reading of the church's services, and for effective preaching and public speaking.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

PROFESSOR HALL

Two courses in Social Science are offered to theological students by the Edwin M. Stanton Professor of Economics and Social Science of the Collegiate Department, as follows:

Criminology. A study of the criminal class, of the nature and causes of crime, of the origin and development of criminal law, and of preventive, punitive and reformatory methods. The course will include lectures, reports on topics assigned for investigation, and the discussion and criticism of the reports in the class. Hall's "Crime and Social Progress" is the text-book used. First Semester. Three hours a week. Elective for Seniors.

Educational Philosophy. A study of the unskilled and inefficient, chiefly in the tenement districts of our big cities and factory towns, and of the best modern methods of social uplift. sand volumes. Additions are made from time to time, chiefly through the income of the Charles D. Betts Library Fund. During the past year a long-felt want has been met by the erection of a beautiful and commodious library building, named Colburn Hall, through the generosity of Mrs. Lavinia C. Colburn, of Toledo. The building is a memorial of her husband, Warren Colburn.

The students also have access to the excellent library and reading room of the Collegiate Department.

There is daily service, morning and evening, and Holy Communion on Sundays, Holy Days, and every Thursday in the Seminary Chapel. The students are appointed in turn to read the lessons for the day.
