

7-1975

Kenyon College Bulletin - July 1975

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digital.kenyon.edu/kcab>

---

Recommended Citation

"Kenyon College Bulletin - July 1975" (1975). Kenyon College Alumni Bulletin. 105.
<https://digital.kenyon.edu/kcab/105>

This Alumni Bulletin is brought to you for free and open access by the College Archives at Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. It has been accepted for inclusion in Kenyon College Alumni Bulletin by an authorized administrator of Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. For more information, please contact noltj@kenyon.edu.

KENYON

COLLEGE BULLETIN

July, 1975

KENYON

COLLEGE BULLETIN

July, 1975
Volume 4, Number 1

---

---

William A. Long, Editor

---

---

---

Samuel Barone '72, Assistant Editor

---

Published five times a year in July, August, November, February, and April by Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio 43002. Second class postage paid at Gambier, Ohio, and additional mailing offices.

---

---

---

© Kenyon College, 1975

---

---

The Cover

President Emeritus William G. Caples (left) and Lord Kenyon (center) look to President Philip H. Jordan, Jr., in a meeting symbolic of the transfer of administrative responsibility to the sixteenth President of Kenyon. The meeting occurred on commencement weekend when Dr. Jordan was in Gambier on one of several visits to the campus prior to assuming the presidency on July 1.

Contents

William Goff Caples: Kenyon's Fifteenth President.....	page 1
Lord Kenyon Visits for Sesquicentennial Commencement.....	page 5
Over 500 Attend Reunion Weekend.....	page 8
Kenyon's Famous Alumni, Part II, by Richard S. West '77.....	page 13

Features

Along Middle Path.....	page 2
Alumni News.....	page 19
Job Line.....	page 19
Class Notes.....	page 20
Deaths.....	inside back cover

William Goff Caples:

Kenyon's Fifteenth President

WHEREAS, President William G. Caples has announced his retirement as President of Kenyon College effective July 1, 1975; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Caples, at the request of the Board of Trustees, assumed the Presidency of the College in 1968 at a time of turmoil for higher education in general and of economic crisis for Kenyon in particular; and

WHEREAS, during his tenure as President of the College, Dr. Caples' dedicated efforts and wise leadership were responsible, in large measure, for restoring the economic viability of the College and for enabling the College to avoid the confrontations and upheavals which beset so many other institutions of higher education; and

WHEREAS, during Dr. Caples' tenure the College successfully inaugurated the Coordinate College for Women and became a truly co-educational institution; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Trustees is deeply grateful to Dr. Caples for his untiring efforts on behalf of the College and for the exemplary results which his leadership has achieved;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Trustees of Kenyon College that William G. Caples be and he is hereby elected President Emeritus of Kenyon College, effective July 1, 1975.

With that resolution of the Board of Trustees, a succinct summary of the achievements of the College's fifteenth chief executive, William Goff Caples became the first to be elected President Emeritus of Kenyon College.

Dr. Caples assumed the presidency at one of the most pivotal moments in Kenyon's 150-year history. He was called by the Board of Trustees to take the helm in 1968 when the College was facing potentially ruinous debt, and was embarking upon a decade plan of development which included the opening of a coordinate college for women the following year.

His first year at the College was a turbulent one. In a time of brewing civil and student unrest, Kenyon was not immune from the national tremors. Some of the trials he faced were student demands for more liberal women's visitation hours in male dormitories, for the addition of black studies into the curriculum, and for ambivalence in the enforcement of drug laws.

The College community eventually struck a balance concerning women's hours and black studies, but on the drug issue, President Caples was uncompromising. His stand on drugs was taken following a weekend of excessive and conspicuous drug use in the student body barely two months after he had assumed office. In a speech to the students from the steps of Rosse Hall, he made it clear that his administration would not tolerate the illegal use of drugs.

He followed up his remarks with a letter to all parents of students, a move which led ultimately to the establishment of Kenyon's first Parent's Association. Guided by an advisory council of representatives of parents from each class, the association has become an important means of communication with parents and a sounding board in the development of policies concerning student life.

Having clearly established his leadership, Dr. Caples began the tasks of building the women's college and of reducing the College's deficit. Ground-breaking for the dining commons and the first of four residence units was held in October, 1968. By the summer of 1972 these buildings, the renovation of Samuel Mather Science Hall, and the construction of the modern Biology Building, were completed at a cost of $9 million.

Each year of the Caples administration was eventful, but 1970 was particularly noteworthy. In that year the level-headed response by the Kenyon community to the Kent State University shootings, which prompted so much disruption on other campuses, received national attention, as did the visit of Olaf Palme '49, the controversial Prime Minister of Sweden. But finally there was the stroke which kept President Caples from his desk from August to November, followed by his determined effort to overcome partial paralysis and speech impairment.

A measure of his success at rehabilitation was his appointment by President Nixon in October, 1971, little more than a year following his stroke, to serve on the non-partisan Pay Board of the Phase II economic recovery program. He served in that capacity until February, 1973.

Dr. Caples was selected for the Pay Board because of his accomplishments, particularly in the field of labor relations, as Vice President for Industrial and Public Relations of Inland Steel Corporation, the post he left to become president of Kenyon. His sharp business sense and experience also served the College well, as the accumulated deficits, which rose as high as $903,000 in 1970, were erased within three years. In fact, his policy of strict budgetary controls led to a budgetary surplus in each year since 1973. The greatest expansion in Kenyon's history — from 850 to 1450 students and from 70 to 108 faculty members — had been effected while holding the operating budgets "in the black."

Though admittedly not an academic, Dr. Caples has an appreciation for the liberal arts philosophy upon which Kenyon is built, for he is a product of that philosophy. A graduate in the Kenyon Class of 1930, he has often credited his Kenyon education for his successes in the fields of law and business, and his leadership in community life, so it is not surprising that academically, Kenyon was not stagnant during the Caples years. The period saw the addition of many courses to the curriculum, a revision of the degree requirements, a new department in Anthropology-Sociology, the establishment of the "Integrated Program in Humane Studies," and a broadening of off-campus study opportunities, including a special program in English at the University of Exeter in England.

William Goff Caples left Gambier in mid-June, but not before he had received tributes from many quarters. The Trustees sought to insure his continuing participation in the affairs of the college by naming him an emeritus member of the Board upon which he had served for 16 years before becoming president of the College. Some of the tributes from alumni, both individually and as a group, are recounted on other pages in this publication. And the Mt. Vernon News, in a lead editorial on June 16, praised the fifteenth president as "one who will be remembered as a man who steered the college to its present prominence and promising future."

But perhaps the most meaningful tribute came from Dr. Caples' successor. In his introductory remarks to the Kenyon community in April, President-elect Philip H. Jordan, Jr., credited much of Kenyon's bright future to William G. Caples.

"You have every reason to be as grateful for his leadership as I am grateful," Dr. Jordan said. "For its academic quality and reputation, its successful transition to coeducation, its financial stability, and its attractiveness to able young men and women, President Caples is in large part responsible. Thanks to him, we all inherit a college too good to falter."

ALONG MIDDLE PATH

Residence Named For Mrs. Caples

Kenyon dedicated its "high rise" residence hall in honor of Mrs. William G. Caples, wife of the College's first President Emeritus, in ceremonies on May 17.

The Executive Committee of the Board voted to name the building the "Jean Dunbar Caples Residence" in honor of Mrs. Caples, Kenyon's first lady since 1968, "in recognition of and deep appreciation for her many efforts on behalf of Kenyon College."

Mrs. Caples is a native of Illinois and attended Wellesley College. She and Dr. Caples were married in 1945. During their years in Chicago where Dr. Caples was vice president of industrial and public relations of the Inland Steel Company, she, like her husband, was a civic leader.

She served as head of the Women's Division of the Community Fund, organized and headed the Women's Auxiliary of the United Charities of Chicago, and was co-chairperson of the Chicago Heart Fund. She was a board member of the Park Ridge School for Girls and was a director of the Chicago chapter of the English Speaking Union. She is listed in "Who's Who of American Women." Dr. and Mrs. Caples have two children, William G. and Cynthia.

The residence named in Mrs. Caples' honor was known as "Dorm III" since it opened in 1971 as the third residence unit in the complex of buildings designed to house the Coordinate College for Women. Since the Coordinate College was discontinued as a separate entity in 1972, making Kenyon fully coeducational, the residence now houses both men and women students.

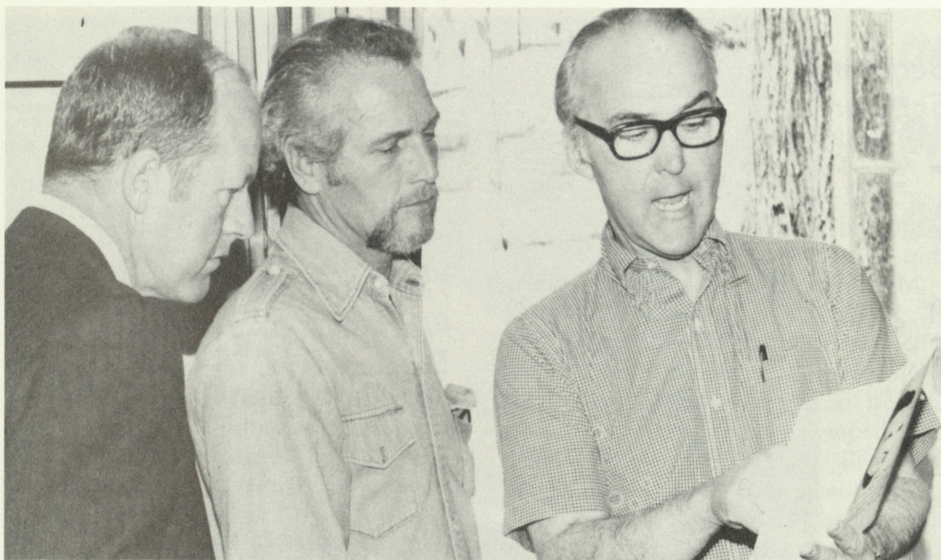

The other two residences and the commons building in the complex were named to honor women, each of whom were also wives of loyal Kenyon trustees. The Jessica Roessler Gund Commons, named for Mrs. George Gund of Cleveland; and the Virginia Hyatt McBride Residence, named for Mrs. Pierre B. McBride of Louisville, Ky., were dedicated in 1970. The Madeleine A. Mather Residence, honoring Mrs. Philip R. Mather of Boston, Mass., was named in 1972. The tradition is continued with the Jean Dunbar Caples Residence, as Dr. Caples was a Kenyon trustee from 1952 until he assumed the presidency of the College in 1968, and is now an emeritus member of the Board.

The Caples Residence accommodates 146 students on nine floors and, at 100 feet, is the tallest building in Knox County. Designed by the architectural firm of Perkins and Will of Chicago, it was built by the Kokosing Construction Company, Inc., of Fredericktown.

George Hutchinson (left), representing the architectural firm of Perkins and Will, presents Mrs. William G. Caples with a replica of the Jean Dunbar Caples Residence Hall in the dedication ceremony at the hall as Dr. Caples looks on proudly.

Paul Newman '49 made a brief visit to the campus in May to review plans for the new theater which is a goal of the Kenyon Sesquicentennial Campaign. In photo above James W. Michael (right), professor of drama, explains a concept to Newman, who is leading the campaign committee for the theater, and Richard L. Thomas '53, national chairman for the campaign. At right he surveys the proposed location for the new building with Janice Paran '75 (left) and Doug Lotspeich '76 who won the Paul Newman Trophy for acting this year. Below, he discusses one of a wide variety of topics with drama department students and faculty at the Hill Theater Picnic at Cromwell Cottage.

KPAF Features Bicentennial Theme

The first of a two-year series marking the nation's bicentennial was held April 24-27 by the Kenyon College Public Affairs Forum. The noted program brought for its ninth year a host of authorities, including former Ohio Governor John J. Gilligan, to the Kenyon campus for a three-day seminar on the topic "The Republic for Which It Stood—The National Purpose at the Founding."

Formerly known as the Public Affairs Conference Center, the Kenyon Public Affairs Forum (KPAF) each year brings a panel of experts to campus for an extended seminar on an issue of national importance. A book containing essays upon which the seminars are based is published yearly to record the issues.

This year's seminar will be followed next spring by a contemporary theme, "The Republic For Which It Stands—The National Purpose in 1976."

The seminars of this year and next are being partially funded by a $5,000 grant from the Gund Foundation upon recommendation by the State of Ohio Bicentennial Commission.

Campus Becomes Historical Site

Kenyon has been given preliminary approval as a historic district by the Ohio Historic Preservation Advisory Board for inclusion in the National Register of Historical Places of the National Park Service.

The district includes most of the main campus of Kenyon, and specifically five of its major buildings—Old Kenyon, Rosse Hall, Bexley Hall, the Church of the Holy Spirit, and Ascension Hall.

The National Register of Historic Places, maintained by the National Park Service, U.S. Department of Interior, is a listing of prehistoric and historic properties worthy of preservation because of local, state, or national significance. It affords recognition and protection for districts, sites, buildings, structures and objects significant in American history, architecture, archaeology and culture. Properties which meet National Register criteria and are listed on the Register are provided a measure of protection from adverse effects caused by federally funded or licensed projects.

Provost Bruce Haywood (left) chats with Thomas S. Smith '47, the president of Lawrence University, outside the auditorium at Lawrence where Dr. Haywood had just delivered a convocation address. The Kenyon provost was invited to keynote Lawrence University's observance of Wisconsin Independent Higher Education Week on April 24. His address, titled "A Declaration on Independence" which stressed the importance to society of maintaining private college and universities as a true alternative to public education, was very well received. Dr. Smith has been president of Lawrence since 1969 when he assumed the post after 17 years as a teacher and administrator at Ohio University in Athens.

Bequest Establishes Scholarship

A bequest to Kenyon from the estate of Alice Munger Wolf of Muncie, Indiana, will establish the "Harry Howe Wolf and Alice Munger Wolf Scholarship Fund."

Mrs. Wolf was the widow of Harry H. Wolf, KMA '92 and Kenyon '96, who died in 1964 at the age of 89. Mrs. Wolf's will gave Kenyon the remainder interest in the estate after several specific bequests. It is estimated the College will receive about $400,000 to endow the scholarship "to help defray the college expenses of worthy undergraduates . . ." according to the terms of the will.

Mr. Wolf had been a prominent Muncie insurance man and civic leader. Born in Akron, Ohio, he attended Kenyon Military Academy for four years, and entered Kenyon College in 1892 to be elected president of his freshman class and became a member of Alpha Delta Phi. He left College after his first year, soon moving to Muncie where he built his successful insurance business and was active throughout his life in community affairs.

Kenyon Gets Surplus Equipment

Kenyon has received a gift of surplus equipment valued at $5,570 from the Westinghouse Corporation.

The equipment, which was shipped from both the Baltimore, Md., and Cheswick, Pa., installations of Westinghouse, includes apparatus for use in science classes and an automatic type-setter which will be used in the College Relations Center.

Westinghouse regularly donates its surplus equipment to colleges and universities through its University Relations Office.

The Inauguration of President Jordan To Be Held in October

Philip H. Jordan, Jr. will be inaugurated the Sixteenth President of Kenyon College during the weekend of October 24-26.

President Jordan officially assumed his duties on July 1, coming to Kenyon from Connecticut College where he was professor of history and former dean.

A committee comprised of students, faculty, and administrative representatives has been formed to plan the events of the weekend. Kim Straus '76 and Richard Rosenfeld '77 are the student representatives; Professors Alan Batchelder (Economics) and Anita Burt (Music) are the faculty representatives; and John McKean, Vice President of the College, and Donald Reed, Director of Off-Campus Study, are administration representatives. Dr. McKean is chairing the Committee.

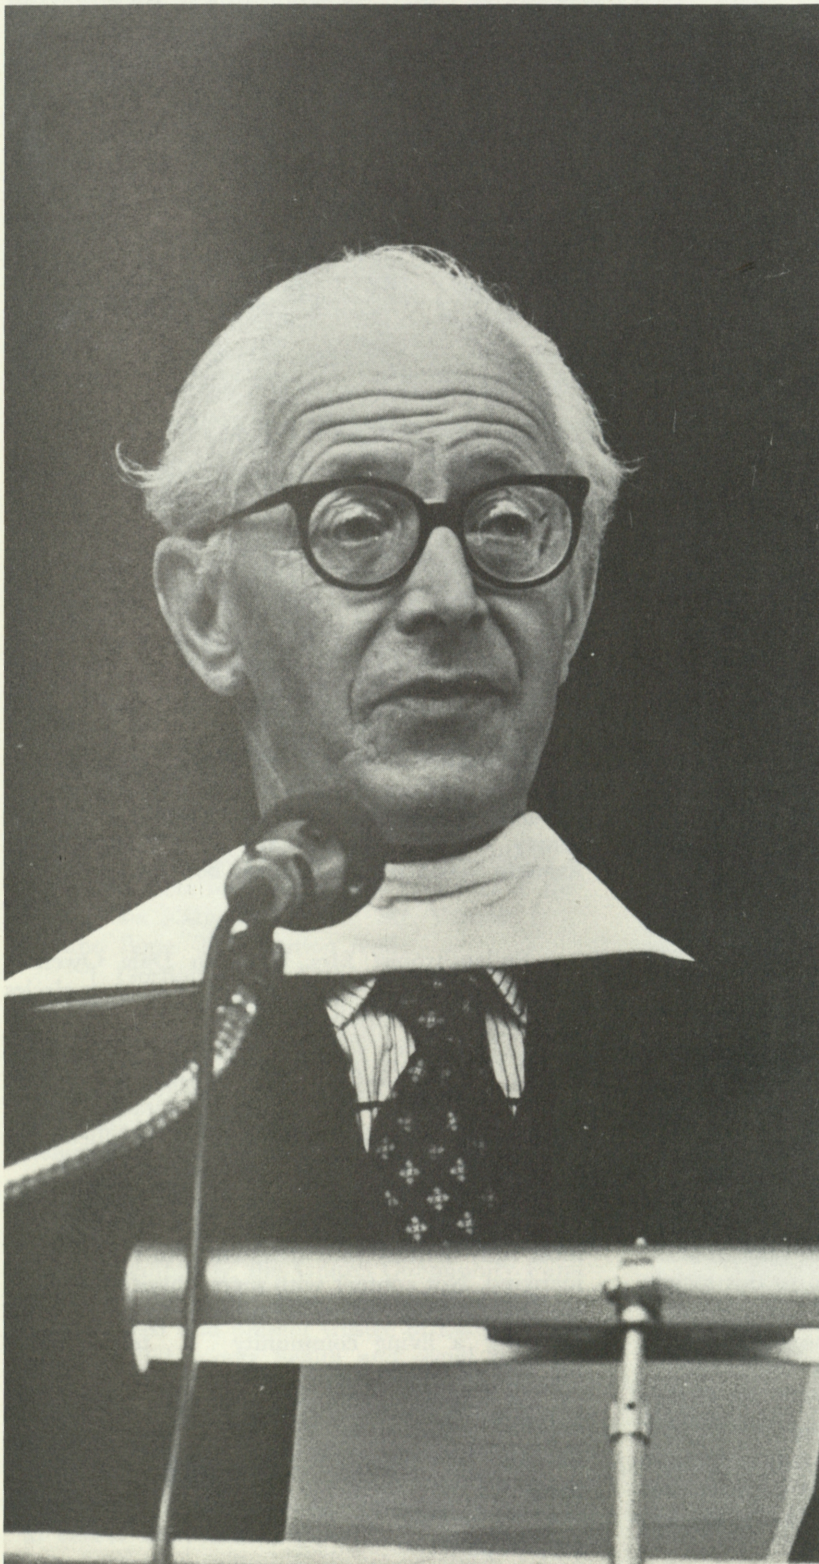

In addition to the festivities associated with President Jordan's Inauguration, the President and the Committee have decided to schedule a Dedicatory Concert in Rosse Hall on Saturday evening. Rosse Hall, built in 1831 and rebuilt following a fire in 1898, is being renovated this summer as a concert hall.

Perspective

Perspective, Kenyon's magazine of the humanities and sciences, will be published twice this coming year, in January and April 1976. Directed by a new editorial board, Perspective will include articles by Kenyon students, faculty, and outside contributors, as well as graphics and design.

Find out what's going on in the intellectual community of Kenyon College by subscribing to Perspective. Send $5.00 (Checks should be made out to Perspective) with name and return address to Perspective, Box 826, Gambier, Ohio 43022.

Lord Kenyon Visits For Sesquicentennial Commencement

Lord Kenyon joined retiring President William G. Caples on the commencement platform May 24 to wish the 147th graduating class well; then moments later he assured the college community that his descendants would be as concerned about Kenyon as he and his predecessors have been for the past 150 years.

The affable Lloyd Tyrell-Kenyon, 5th Baron of Gredington, was the honored guest at commencement in this, Kenyon's sesquicentennial year. Lord Kenyon was presented with a doctor of humane letters degree, his second honorary degree, having been previously honored by Kenyon in 1946. Also receiving honoraries were U.S. Attorney General Edward H. Levi, philanthropist Mrs. Kenneth Dale Owen, and Mt. Vernon businessman J. Gordon Bone.

Following presentation of the honorary degrees and introduction of president-elect Philip H. Jordan, President Caples awarded degrees to 288 members of the Class of 1975.

The traditional ceremony under the towering trees by Mather Hall capped three days of commencement activities for the students, their parents, and the faculty and staff.

Threatening Saturday morning skies gave way to pleasant weather for the ceremony and the picnic for graduates and their families which followed.

Lord Kenyon's address combined a tribute for retiring President Caples with anecdotes of his ancestors' various visits to Gambier. The witty and articulate great-great grandson of the college's benefactor displayed an absorbing interest in his family's history and kinship with Kenyon College.

In receiving his degree Lord Kenyon was saluted not only for his family ties but also for his work in England on behalf of education, the arts, and public health.

In other degree presentations, Attorney General Levi was lauded for his contributions as a scholar, teacher, academic administrator, lawyer and public servant. The citation said:

President William G. Caples (second from left) is pictured with honorary degree recipients U.S. Attorney General Edward Levi, Lord Kenyon, Mrs. Kenneth Owen and J. Gordon Bone.

"For your leadership in the field of education where you have supplied your vigor, energy and thought toward the cultivation of the mind and the betterment of the human condition, we honor you. To have achieved only a small portion of your contribution to education generally and to have added great stature to the great University of Chicago would in themselves represent a life richly fulfilled. But your achievement in these areas is incomparable. It is with a sense of deep humility that we of Kenyon acknowledge your accomplishments and welcome you to this society of scholars."

Levi had been President of the University of Chicago since 1968, before his nomination and confirmation to the office of Attorney General last February. He received his Ph.D. in 1932 from the University of Chicago and his J.D. degree there in 1935. He received a J.S.D. degree in 1938 from Yale University where he had been a Sterling Fellow in 1935 and 1936.

Philanthropist Mrs. Kenneth Dale Owen was honored for her contributions in many circles of need. The citation read:

"Throughout your life you have walked in beauty and built with love. In Houston you have applied your vigor and thought in establishing the International Seamen's Center, the Allied Arts Council, the English-Speaking Union, and the Committee for United World Colleges; but it is the restoration of New Harmony, Indiana, that most fully affirms your dedication to service to mankind. Not content with mere physical and historical detail, you are, to quote your own words, restoring 'a living community . . . to preserve the best of the past and to assure deeper values for the future.' Your pioneering spirit offers a hopeful headstart for this nation's greatest resource, its children. We are, indeed, proud to recognize your energetic crusade to enrich our lives by building for the future but with an eye on the past."

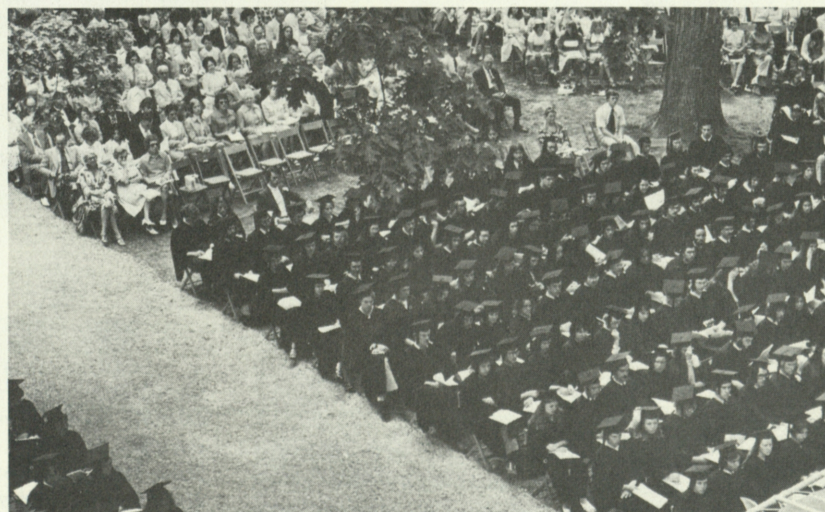

The Class of '75 gathers for a final song on the Rosse Hall steps on Friday night of Commencement Weekend. At right President-elect Philip Jordan, center, speaks to parents and Lord Kenyon (right). Below, the Class of '75 hears Lord Kenyon's address at Commencement.

Finally, Kenyon honored one of its ardent supporters close to home, retired President of the First Knox National Bank of Mt. Vernon J. Gordon Bone. The citation read:

"J. Gordon Bone: Knox County, Kenyon College, and the State of Ohio are better and stronger because of your wisdom, devotion and effort in the planning of their recent past and the future. A native of Mount Vernon, your career has been a progression of successful assignments of great responsibility, both in and out of the world of business. A banker who gives generously of self and time to civic, charitable and religious activities, a moving force in the Knox County Symphony, the United Community Fund of Knox County, the Knox County Historical Society; past and present trustee of many of the agencies that supply health and social services with the County, your life marks you as a 'good and faithful servant' of mankind. For your contributions to the society, of which Kenyon is part, we are happy and proud to welcome you as an official member of this community and to confer on you this honor."

A Record Attendance

Over 500 Attend Reunion Weekend

Try as they might a few spring showers failed to dampen the spirits of the largest group ever to attend a Kenyon Alumni Reunion Weekend. More than 500 grads and their families attended the three-day festivities.

The clouds gave way to sunshine for the golf and tennis tournaments, the Saturday afternoon Alumni Association luncheon in the Great Hall, and the subsequent fraternity sing down Middle Path to the new campus.

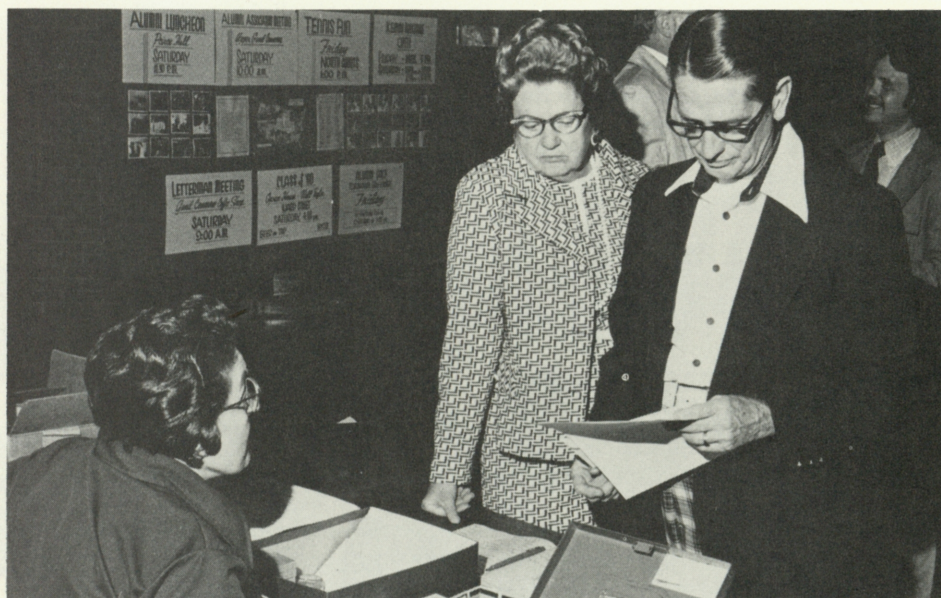

Good food, good music and the "good old days" were the weekend fare as old acquaintances were renewed and memories were exchanged between generations of Kenyon students.

The Class of '25 celebrating its 50th Reunion received the Peirce Cup for having the greatest percentage of living alumni at Reunion Weekend, as 17 of the original 35 grads were in attendance. The cup was presented at the Saturday luncheon where classes gathered together for presentation of alumni awards and the announcement of new officers.

Carl Kayser '35, top, joins in the fun at the annual alumni association luncheon in the Great Hall. Above, a few of the more than 100 alumni who sang fraternity songs down Middle Path. At left, an alumni twosome holes out in the annual handicap tournament.

Economics professor Alan Batchelder (left) climbs a ladder to make a point at his alumni seminar lecture. Above Alumni Secretary Dorothy Lahmon and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Macdonald '35. The second annual tennis tournament attracted a growing number of participants while Bob Cooper '24, below, celebrated his 51st reunion and 75th birthday the same weekend.

The alumni were formally introduced to Kenyon's new president, Philip H. Jordan, below, and were addressed by Kenyon Fund chairman Eppa Rixey '49, right. Pictured with Rixey are (l. to r.) Bill Williams '54, Bill Thomas '36, and Cal Frost '63. Below, retiring president William G. Caples '30, speaks with Jim Storer '49 and Will Pilcher '51.

Retiring President William G. Caples was presented with an inscribed silver bowl in appreciation of his service to the college during the past seven years and president-elect Philip A. Jordan was introduced to the alumni.

Recognized for outstanding alumni service during the past year were Robert A. Bowman '16, Jack L. Hart '48, Riggs S. Miller '58, Howard K. Morgan '38, Perry Pascarella '56, Peter D. Paisley '52, James Storer '49, and John P. Wolverton '23.

Richard L. Thomas '53, now serving as chairman of the Kenyon Sesquicentennial Campaign, was awarded the Gregg Cup as the alumnus contributing the most to the college during the past year.

After Calvin Frost '62 was presented with a token of appreciation for serving as last year's Alumni Association President, the officers for 1975-76 were presented. They are: Gerald Fields '62, President; William C. Williams '54, 1st Vice-President; and Will Reed '60, 2nd Vice-President.

Newly-elected to the Alumni Association Executive Committee was Betsy Upton '73, and re-elected for a second term as alumni trustees were Lawrence G. Bell, Jr. '40, and Bill B. Ranney '52. Eppa Rixey '49 will serve the second year of his term as Kenyon Fund Chairman.

President Caples, above receives a gift of appreciation from alumni. Above right are Bob Bowman '16, Bob Doepke '36, accepting Class of '21 Plate for the Class of 1936, and Perry Pascarella '50. At right, Murray Horwitz '70, (left), speaks with new Alumni Association Executive Committee member Betsy Upton '73, and Alumni Association president Gerald Fields '62 and Mrs. Fields.

The Class of '21 plate, given to the class with the greatest percentage of its members participating in the Kenyon Fund, was awarded to the Class of '36.

Other weekend highlights were the well-attended fourth Alumni Seminar; a presentation to the college in President Caples' name of a Bible box once used by Philander Chase, by three members of the class of '70; and a special luncheon for members of Alumni Executive Committee with Lord Kenyon. The class of 1925, marking its 50th reunion, also informed the college that they had collected $5,000 to establish a scholarship fund.

Copping trophies in the Sixth Annual Alumni Handicap Golf Tournament were Jim Wood '34, first place, and Dave Bell '50, second place. The Second Annual Tennis Tournament was won for the second consecutive year by Calvin and Anne Frost while Jerry and Jeanne Ellsworth '52, took runner-up honors.

A full range of activities once again was provided for children of alumni, including films, athletics, a square dance and more.

Above, three members of the Class of '70, from left, Murray Horwitz, Barry Schwartz, and Jeff Goldberg present a Bible Box once used by Philander Chase to the College in honor of President Caples, center. Clockwise, youth enjoy square dance at children's program, Riggs Miller '58 poses with Alumni Association award, alumni dance at Saturday night dinner-dance, and Don Carey '25 engrossed in alumni luncheon program.

Part II

Kenyon's Famous Alumni

By Richard S. West '77

Illustrated by James M. Borgman '76

Kenyon entered the 20th century with little reputation to speak of and even less money. But the small college had reasons to be confident. William Foster Peirce was president and his skillful leadership ushered in a period of academic stimulation and physical growth that would culminate in the decision to go co-educational in 1972. During Kenyon's "golden years" one of the distinctive qualities of the Kenyon Experience was the diverse education it offered the willing student. As a result Kenyon graduates have distinguished themselves in many fields.

Bill Veeck '36, one of the most colorful promoters in baseball history, came to Kenyon in 1932. The zany pranks that would make him famous were at this time but a part of the future. He immediately impressed his fellow students with his leadership qualities; they elected him Freshman class president. Veeck pledged Beta but before initiation fell out of one of the windows in Leonard and broke his foot. Consequently, he was initiated in a wheel chair. Though the incident must have proven humorous, the injury he sustained was so serious that it was to plague him for the rest of his life.

In his Sophomore year Veeck was again elected president of his class; he also played half-back for the Lords. Additionally, a classmate recalls, Bill had a keen mind and was an avid reader.

In the spring of his Sophomore year his father, the manager of the Chicago Cubs, died. William Wrigley, the club owner, offered Bill a job as office boy. It was the middle of the Depression and times were hard so Bill left Kenyon and accepted the job. In six years he rose to be club treasurer and, in 1941, came into his own when he bought the Milwaukee Brewers, a farm team of the Cubs. At the time of his purchase, he counted 22 people in attendance at one of the Brewers' games. They were in eighth place in an eight-team league. That soon changed. Veeck made baseball games an experience. He was known for crazy gags and his ridiculous give-aways to the crowd. Rolling beds out onto the field, invading the opposing team's dug-out with spacemen, or raffling off blocks of ice were all part of Veeck's show. But he was also a shrewd businessman. In his first year as owner, he traded 41 men and got results. The Brewers won their division pennant in '43, '44, and '45. His phenomenal success and out-of-the-ordinary practices caused one reporter to write: "Despite the war, transportation snarls and an acute player shortage, the beer-drinking, sports-loving citizens of Milwaukee are currently enthralled by the most exciting baseball boom in American Association

---

"Kenyon's Famous Alumni" is a series which the KENYON COLLEGIAN featured during this sesquicentennial year. Part I covered the most famous alumni of the 19th century and was published in the April BULLETIN. Part II continues with some 20th century Kenyon graduates.

Richard West, from Narberth, Pa., was managing editor of the COLLEGIAN last year and will be a contributing editor on next years staff. James Borgman was feature artist for the paper and the subjects for his caricatures have been not only these famous alumni, but several faculty members and administrators as well. He also created the cover art for Kenyon's new admissions catalog to be published in August. Jim is from Cincinnati.

Bill Veeck

records. Motivating force: explosive, unorthodox William (Sport-Shirt Bill) Veeck, Jr., newest of baseball's occasional 24-carat screwballs." In 1945, after four successful years, he sold the Brewers.

The following year he joined with a group of investors to purchase the Cleveland Indians. In two seasons he turned that team, also, into a pennant winner and sold it in 1948 at a profit of over $1,000,000.

He bought the St. Louis Browns in 1951 and made sports history the following year by sending 3'7" Eddie Gaedel to the plate. Gaedel's strike zone was so small he was assured of a walk. The Commissioner of Baseball immediately outlawed the use of midgets in any major league games thereafter, but Veeck had gained what he wanted—priceless publicity.

In 1961, after a stay with the Chicago White Sox, Veeck temporarily retired due to complications with his leg. It had been aggravated by an injury incurred during battle in World War II and subsequently amputated. After writing his autobiography, Veeck—As In Wreck, and resting up, he attempted to get back into baseball but was stymied and eventually, in 1969, accepted the managership of Suffolk Downs, a racetrack near Boston. He was less successful in his efforts to rehabilitate that money-losing prospect and quit two years later. Thirty Tons A Day (named for the "end product," as Veeck says, of the racetrack "residents") is a humorous account of his experience. Currently, he is retired and when last heard of was residing in Maryland.

Robert Lowell '40, winner of the Pulitzer Prize, the Bollingen award, the National Book Award and considered by many to be the greatest living poet today, came to Kenyon in 1937 as a sophomore after completing a year and a half of study at Harvard. His transfer was the result of the hiring that same year of John Crowe Ransom, one of the recognized leaders of the new poets in America, as professor of poetry. Lowell came to study poetry under Ransom; his ancestral credentials to pursue that study, if they bear on the matter, were impeccable: Lowell is a cousin of Amy Lowell and a great-grandnephew of James Russell Lowell.

During his first semester here he contributed to Hika, in its infancy but also in its hey-day. Lowell was an associate editor for one year. One issue during his tenure contained works of W. H. Auden, Ransom, Randall Jarrell and himself.

Lowell developed an interesting relationship with Ransom, his mentor. In the first issue of the Kenyon Review, published in 1939, Lowell made that honored list of contributors when Ransom accepted one of his poems for publication. After that, though, Ransom rejected all of Lowell's other work written at Kenyon. His poetry during his later college days did not come easy. Lowell said "it took me about a year to do two or three poems" and that "gradually I just stopped, and really sort of gave up . . . The kind of poem I thought was interesting and would work on became so cluttered and overdone that it wasn't really poetry."

In the meantime, Lowell won the Kenyon Oratorical Contest and was sent to the Ohio State Intercollegiate Competition to represent Kenyon. His speech, "Moulding the Golden Spoon," was about St. Mark's, a Massachusetts prep school which he had attended. In that essay he examines the educational bankruptcy of the school in which he spent part of his life.

Similarly, speaking twenty-five years after he left Kenyon, Lowell commented on his fellow classmates: "They belonged to fraternities and sang their songs. We literary students had our own sort of world."

A story frequently told about Lowell was his decision one weekend, to drive down to Tennessee from Kenyon to visit the esteemed poet, Allan Tate. Upon his arrival he decided to stay and bought a tent and sleeping bag. He camped out on the Tate's lawn for two months, using only the Tates' facilities. Mrs. Tate finally asked him to leave.

Since graduating in 1940 Lowell has come back to Gambier many times. He frequented the Ransom home and participated in the 1950 School of English. In '65 he returned to honor the memory of former teacher Randall Jarrell, who had died that year in an auto accident. The following year Lowell came to the opening of his play, "The Old Glory," in the Hill Theater, and returned again in 1968 to pay tribute to John Crowe Ransom. Most recently, he was a participant in the John Crowe Ransom Memorial lectures earlier this year in which he gave a poetry reading.

Robert Lowell

Jonathan Winters

The well-known comedian Jonathan Winters '49 arrived at Kenyon on April 8, 1946. He had served as a marine in WW II and came here as a result of the veterans education aid bill. The odd entrance date was due to the fact that the college altered the school calendar to accommodate the flood of new students. April to August was the summer semester. He enrolled in introductory History, English and Speech courses. His resulting grades were not exceptional. For the five months he was here, he lived in West Wing, Old Kenyon.

Rumors about Winters' stay have circulated around campus for many years. One story said that he modeled his famous Maudy Frichett character after Dorothy of Dorothy's Lunch. This isn't true. Winters developed Frichett after an invalid elderly woman in Springfield, Ohio, who Winters knew as a youngster. Another story was that Winters was expelled for riding down Middle Path on a bicycle naked and painted green in commemoration of St. Patrick's Day. First of all, Winters was not at Kenyon on St. Patrick's Day, and secondly, he was not expelled from Kenyon. The records show he withdrew on August 22nd, just before the fall semester began. If indeed he was riding the bike in the nude, he is mum on the matter and it isn't likely that we'll find out the answer unless Winters, himself, volunteers it.

Paul Leonard Newman '49 entered Kenyon on July 8, 1946. Like Jonathan Winters, Newman had served in the Armed Forces during WW II and was taking advantage of Kenyon's summer semester, following his discharge in April.

Newman's exploits at Kenyon were many. He recounted some of them for The Kenyon Collegian in 1949 in an article entitled "'Good Night, Sweet Prince,' A Brief Autobiographical Encomium." Newman wrote:

"After three hell-raising years in the Navy I was ready to forsake previous attachments to co-eds, frat clubs, and beer mugs in order to pursue the contents of the Encyclopedia Britannica and a Phi Beta Kappa Key. (How else but to isolate oneself at Kenyon.) With this intent I packed a four-year over-night bag in a trunk and shipped myself first-class to Gambier. As Hamlet said, 'Alas' (Act VII, Scene 1). In one way or another my lofty intellectual goal was thwarted. My first contact was not with Aristotle's Poetics or even with a reasonable facsimile, but with a roommate who was cleverly disguised by the Dean's Office as a cocktail shaker. Introducing myself as an Old Fashioned glass we poured through many interesting things together, none of which I presently recall. And so it continued, nip and nip. I quickly made friends on the campus by spilling and otherwise violating a full bowl of French 75's all over the Alpha Delt Bullseye. As a result people thronged to my door, sometimes so often and so heartily that I found doors hard to keep on hinges."

Newman's attachment to co-eds did continue—uninterrupted—and he actually pledged but he never became an active frat member. It should be pointed out that "P.L.'s" drinking habits were not uncommon on a campus made up primarily of returning G.I.'s. In fact, as the chief security officer in the '40's recalls, each weekend the students "would tear up everything." Newman, when drunk, was never violent but he did get into his share of trouble. He recalls:

"To further any social ambitions I enlisted in the football team: made great hit too, until Pat Pasini (Director of Athletics) found three bottles of beer attached to one of my groin pads.

"Suddenly I found myself a Junior, much to the surprise of my father whose only report of me in two years had been when a Cleveland Plain Dealer reporter called up home to tell him that I was in jail with five other Gambierians, one of whom had kicked five teeth loose from the face of a local constable. The people at home began to wonder what kind of company I was keeping. And people who were keeping company with me began to wonder what kind of company they were keeping with."

His abbreviated football career was, in fact, due to his habit of frequently missing practice or showing up drunk. But being kicked off the team didn't really seem to disturb Newman. He soon found other activities with which to entertain himself.

"No longer able to show my face (or what have you) in Ascension Hall, I found refuge beneath the skirt of one Dona Lucia D'Alvadorez, where the nuts come from. (It was here that I departed entirely from the pursuit of Phi Beta Kappa by developing the unique philosophy that I would not let my studies interfere with extra-curricular activities.) I modestly nicknamed myself 'Barrymore.' The directors modestly recognized my talents and set me to work—painting flats."

Newman did paint the scenery for productions in the Hill Theater on at least three occasions. His renown as an actor on the Hill relieved him of the duty of recounting his board-treading days. But in fact, he participated in ten plays while at Kenyon.

He got started due to the encouragement of friends who observed Newman's clowning at parties and discerned in it some real acting ability. In the fall of 1947 he tried out for a part in The Front Page, which the Drama Club was going to present in November of that year. He landed the main role, that of Hildy Johnson, and his acting debut proved an exceptional success. Besides playing minor roles in Antigone, The Taming of the Shrew, The Alchemist, R.U.R., and Ghosts, he was cast as Captain Shotover in Shaw's Heartbreak House, Lord Fancourt Babberly in Charlie's Aunt, Joke McNamara in Rude Awakening, and Dean Frank Bailey in The Kenyon Revue.

His performance in Charlie's Aunt is still warmly remembered by many who were at the college in '49. It played one week after the great Old Kenyon fire in which many students lost their lives. His excellent performance was said to have cheered up the low spirits of an understandably sad community. The Kenyon Revue, which he co-authored and directed, was a spoof on Kenyon life. It proved so popular that it played again that year during commencement weekend.

Despite his many social commitments, Newman even found time to operate a laundry. He explains:

"I may say without fear of contradiction that painting flats is a filthy job. The result was obvious. I attached myself to a laundry business. Every Monday night I would trudge around the barracks area collecting shirts with dirty collars. Every Friday afternoon I would trudge back through the barracks area returning shirts without any collars. Sometimes not even returning the shirts. The business grew and grew until now (sic) the laundry is, as one Gambier citizen put it, 'Yep; only student entaprise on main street.'"

Then there were Dance weekends.

Newman's dance weekend deeds were so well-known that he didn't have to elaborate on them.

Paul Newman

One in particular was remembered by Roy Styers, chief security officer at the time and good friend of Newman's. Styers recalls that, as each dance weekend approached, Newman would ask Roy to get some handcuffs so Newman could attach himself to his date and be assured of not losing her to any of the Kenyon "wolves." On the night of Newman's last dance weekend at Kenyon, he almost jokingly asked Roy if he had the handcuffs. Styers surprised him by producing a pair he had borrowed from the Mt. Vernon police. Newman was delighted. After locking them together, Styers bid them goodnight and he returned to his rounds. About an hour and a half later he was told that Newman had been asking for him. Styers knew why and just continued on his rounds. Then, after another half hour had passed, Styers decided to head back over to Peirce and see how Newman and his date were doing. Casually he entered the coffee shop and ordered a beer. Newman spotted Styers and rushed up to ask Roy for the Key. Styers decided he'd let Newman sweat a little. He replied that he didn't have the key and that it was back in the office. After Newman was reduced to explaining why they needed to be unlocked, Roy suggested that the darkness outside and the many trees around campus lent themselves to that activity. Now the girl began to plead with Roy, at which time he uncuffed them and Newman's date ran off to the bathroom.

With all of Newman's extracurricular activities, one wonders when he found the time to work. Yet not only did he complete his assignments but he gained distinction in the process. He concludes his article:

"Finally in my senior year I became adjusted mentally. Professors tore out mit der hair and trousers. Why? 'Barrymore' made the 'Merit List'—right between Moorman and Nugent.

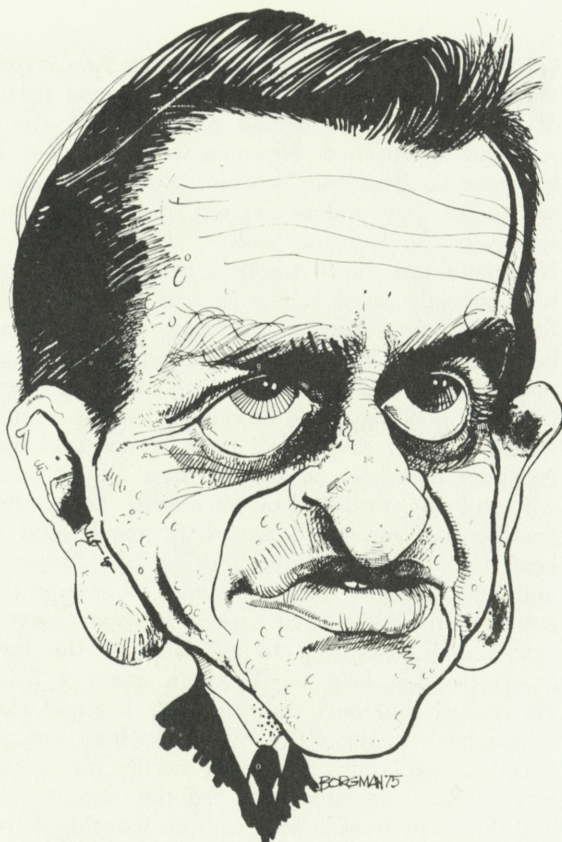

"'Merit List! My dream come true!'"

Newman graduated in June of 1949. He has returned to campus a couple of times, most memorably in 1961 in the company of his wife, Joanne Woodward, to accept an honorary Degree in Humane Letters.

S. Olof J. Palme '48, present Prime Minister of Sweden, came to Kenyon in 1947. It is believed that he was a post-war scholarship recipient and came here from his native country, Sweden, through that program.

He was an excellent student. In the 1948 year-book the editors, in representing his year at Kenyon, chose to cluster a group of "A's" around his picture. Palme's record before coming here was no less impressive. He had had four years each of Latin and French, six years of English and eight of German. But his interest was politics and so he declared a Political Science major. Palme also had the distinction of being a member of Kenyon's first soccer team.

Olaf Palme

He resided in Harcourt Village, a temporary barracks-like housing set-up, located where the Gund-Norton-Lewis complex is today. It had been built for the flood of students taking advantage of the post-war G.I. education bill; because of its cheap character the campus community dubbed it "Splinterville."

Palme petitioned the academic assembly for graduation after one year at Kenyon. The faculty reviewed his past schooling and granted the request. He was awarded a Kenyon B.A. in June of 1948.

When Palme returned to Sweden, he enlisted in the ranks of the Social Democratic Party. He later explained: "While I was a student at Kenyon College, I took an extended bus tour of the United States. It was the appalling poverty and injustices that I saw during that trip, especially in the South, that made me a Socialist."

After joining the Socialists, the New Statesman reported, he "quickly established a direct relationship with Erlander (Prime Minister at the time and Palme's predecessor) as his political secretary. He went on to be Sweden's youngest MP (Member of Parliament), and soon picked up ministerial jobs: first Transportation (where he presided over Sweden's switch from left to right-hand driving), then Education (where he kept commercial television out of the country). In fact, for years he was Erlander's assistant Prime Minister. Nobody seriously doubted his claim to the succession after the Social Democrats' record victory in 1968." Palme has since been re-elected three times. The last was won only with the support of a coalition government. (The Swedes have a tendency to keep incumbents; Palme's two predecessors served about twenty years each.)

In June of 1970 Palme returned to Kenyon to take part in the commencement exercises at which an honorary degree was conferred upon him. The event was given national coverage, largely due to the strong stand Sweden and Palme had taken against America's war policy in Vietnam. As a consequence, the College received much abuse for inviting back the former student and socialist. During the ceremony, about 80 longshoremen noisily demonstrated in protest of Sweden's anti-American policies, disrupting the program and making it hard to hear the speech. One newspaper, at the time, wrote: "Make a note of Kenyon College as a place not to send your son, your daughter, or your donations to further education in America. . . Kenyon proves to be the kind of College that is proud of a former student now leading one of the world's most anti-American countries. It makes us wonder if Kenyon taught him anti-Americanism or if he learned it on his own in Sweden."

Kenyon's liberal arts education of the 20th century has sent its graduates out into the world to pursue a wide spectrum of occupations. Prize-winning scientist Carl Djerassi, Ohio Senator Stephen Young, Herald Tribune columnist John McClain, Time movie critic Jay Cocks, and dozens of prominent men in the world of business must be added to the already diverse list. As the liberal arts education reasserts itself in an age of specialization-gone-haywire, Kenyon can look confidently ahead to a bright and prosperous future.

---

ALUMNI NEWS

---

88 Listed in Who's Who

A recent survey of the current 38th edition of Who's Who in America found 88 Kenyon alumni listed.

This was an increase of more than 170 per cent in Kenyon representation in the publication since the 1962-63 edition when 51 alumni were included. The leading profession is education with 34 alumni reaching prominence in this field, followed by 15 business executives, and 12 lawyers. The rest represent a wide range with writing, editing, and advertising appearing frequently.

Rosse Hall Renovation Begins

The renovation of Rosse Hall began in May in hopeful anticipation of the success of a special appeal to alumni now being conducted for supporting the renovation project.

Those returning for reunion weekend saw the interior empty and the ceiling and balcony removed exposing the original timber trusses in the hall. The original ceiling will remain in view over the enlarged stage and sloping main floor with permanent seating. A new balcony will increase the seating capacity to 600 for the concerts, films and assemblies held in the hall.

The ground floor is being remodeled to provide offices, classrooms, practice rooms and a library-listening room for the music department. The only changes to the exterior of the building will be the addition of an equipment and backstage area at the rear, and slight changes at the front to replace the old steps.

Pieces of the original steps have been saved to be embedded in lucite to make an attractive paperweight. These will be awarded to those who contribute $500 or more to the Rosse Hall Renovation Fund. The total alumni effort in the project will also be recognized with the establishment of the Alumni Lobby at the entrance to the hall to house pictures, plaques, and other Alumni memorabilia.

William C. Bradford, Alumni chairman for the Sesquicentennial Campaign, has organized the fund-raising effort with the assistance of 21 alumni in 18 areas. Solicitation is to begin in mid-July and should be completed by mid-September, to coincide with the scheduled completion of the Rosse Hall Renovation.

Hawaii Group Meets

The most recent alumni group to gather for informal meetings is based in Hawaii. Robert Mitchell '39 had visited the campus last November to find that many changes had occurred since his undergraduate days. As a consequence of that visit, he arranged a luncheon in April for other alumni in the 50th state to view a slide and tape show of Kenyon as it is today.

All who attended were interested in continuing to meet periodically and the next meeting is scheduled for August with wives included and Lionel Tokioka '56 as host.

Attending were: Dan Boylan '65, Bob Cook '66, Selwyn P. Jenkins '40, Dick Emery '56, Ed Bennett '54, E. R. Yee '56, Bill Aulenbach '54, Lionel Tokioka '56, Warren Iwasa '65, and Bob Miller '54.

---

JOB LINE

---

POSITION WANTED

Thomas G. Weltchek '74, living past year and half in San Diego, is forced to relocate to New Jersey and needs job! Has experience as swim coach, construction worker, studio and fine artist, bartender — willing to take anything. Contact at: 1140 Kipling Road, Elizabeth, New Jersey 07208; Phone (201) 354-3423.

Legacy Omitted from List

When the list of new Kenyon legacies was published last fall the name of Douglas N. Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Thompson '37, was omitted.

And of all people to leave out, he is a collateral descendant of Kenyon's most prominent alumnus. Doug's mother, the former Charlotte Hayes, is a descendant of President Rutherford B. Hayes.

Doug transferred to Kenyon last fall as a junior. His father is on the faculty of Keene State College in New Hampshire and his mother is an art teacher in the Fall Mountain Regional School System.

Bob Bowman '16 (the gentleman at right) is pictured encircled by members of the cast of the Vaud-Villities, a community musical presented annually in Columbus. In April, Bob and Dwight DeLong (the other gentlemen pictured) gave their 33rd consecutive performance in the production which began as a minstrel-type show in a high school auditorium and has grown to a four-night extravaganza in Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Columbus Dispatch Photo
by Michael Hamman

CLASS NOTES

'17 Dana E. Hill
1254 Hathaway Ave.
Lakewood, Ohio 44107

Donald G. Allen was awarded a certificate of distinction from the Ohio State Medical Association on Jan. 9, 1975, at the annual dinner of the Cleveland Medical Society for fifty years "of devotion to his patients, his contributions to the health and wealth of the public . . ." On March 12, 1975, Don hung up his shingle and retired. An ophthalmologist, he had had his office in the Osborn Building in downtown Cleveland since the fall of 1924.

'22 The Rev. Benson H. Harvey
West Chesterfield, Mass. 01084

Henry C. Wolfe has been elected to membership in the recently organized National Book Critics Circle.

Alumni wishing 8 x 10 glossy reprints of class reunion pictures may order them at a cost of $2.00 each. Order and payment should be addressed to: Office of Public Relations, Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio 43022.

'23 Philip T. Hummel
2635 N. Moreland Blvd.
Cleveland, Ohio 44120

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bowman observed their golden wedding anniversary June 1 with Open House at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Greenville, Ohio. They were married in the little chapel in Bexley Hall by Canon Orville E. Watson.

F.L. (Lippy) Liepman reports he is "still hanging on, going on 75," and has recently returned from the hospital after "a couple of minor surgeries."

'26 Richard B. Lyman
45 Eastern Promenade
Portland, Maine 04101

Richard B. Lyman has been elected vice chairman of his local SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives) Chapter in Portland, Me. His special interest is conducting workshops for small business persons, sponsored by the chapter. Co-sponsors have been the Greater Portland Chamber of Commerce and Small Business Administration.

'29 Thomas H. Sheldon
2118 N.E. 58th St.
Fort Lauderdale, Fla. 33308

George D. Hitler spent 6 months from Nov. 1 to May 1 in Naples, Florida.

Charles F. Vent is semi-retired and working part time with Specialty Products Equipment Corp. in Northbrook, Ill. For many years he lived in Denver, Colo., where he was an air conditioning sales engineer with the Worthington Corp.

'31 James A. Hughes
415 Washington Ave.
Wilmette, Ill. 60091

John G. Carlton retired from active ministry as of Sept. 30, 1974. He is residing in Marquette, Michigan.

F. Birt Evans retired from the USNR in August of 1969 and will retire in July, 1975, from the Baldwinville Public School System as a guidance counselor. He spent 39 years with the New York State schools.

On February 23, 1975, in Dallas, Texas, the American Association of School Administrators conferred upon Dr. Novice G. Fawcett its Distinguished Service Award for the contribution his career made to the field of educational administration. Dr. Fawcett also spoke on May 17 at the annual banquet of the Alumni Association of the former Gambier High School.

'32 The Rev. Charles R. Stires
Amagansett Hedges Lane
Long Island, N.Y. 11930

The Rt. Rev. John P. Craine received an honorary D.D. degree at the commencement exercises of Wabash College on May 18. He was cited by Wabash President Thaddeus Seymour for "leadership in the Church, in your community, and in the cause of liberal education." The Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis is chairman of Kenyon's Board of Trustees.

Since 'retirement' The Rev. Charles R. Stires has kept his ministry active as an ecumenical supply clergyman for several churches located on the South Fork of Long Island.

James Newcomer
Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs
'33 Texas Christian University
Fort Worth, Texas 76129

Frank Merrill Lindsay, Jr., has been elected chairman of the board of Lindsay-Schaub Newspapers, Inc. in Decatur, Ill. He had previously been president.

'35 James R. Alexander
289 B Pine Ridge Drive
Whispering Pines, N.C. 28389

The New Jersey Zinc Co. has appointed James R. Alexander senior vice president of industry and government relations. He has been with the company since 1960 as vice president of sales.

50th Reunion — (row 1) Reginald D. Wells, Walter Rainie, Bob Thebaud, Tom Thurston; (row 2) Theodore Craig Diller, Ed Hunting, Bob Hovorka, Walt Tuhey, Willard Lawrence; (row 3) Bob Hyde, W. Herbert Rusk, Albert Johnson, Donald Carey.

Joint 40th Reunion — (row 1) Bob Hudson, Ben Park, Jim Alexander, Jim Wood, Les Wood, Jack Walworth; (row 2) Dutch Kayser, Burt Neidig, Bob Macdonald, Bob Dhonau, Bill Gould, Crawford Brooks; (row 3) Al Braddock, Gene Pugh, Bernard DeWeese, Frank Jones, Bob Doepke, Frank Ake, Bill Thomas.

Robert D. Hudson served as chairman of the 1975 World Trade Week Committee to preside over the 49th annual observance of World Trade Week, May 18-24 in Los Angeles. The Week became a national event in 1935 during the first administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Wilson M. Meeks took an early retirement from the Illinois Corrections where he had been Assistant State Criminologist and Superintendent of the Reception and Diagnostic Services for the State. He and his wife have been living  $\frac{2}{3}$  of the time in Durrus County Cork, Ireland, a small village (114 pop.—5 pubs) on Dunmanns Bay. "We have a bungalow there and really enjoy the peace, tranquility and easy Irish life!" They also have a small house on his son's place in Garrison, New York.

'36 Robert P. Doepke
1228 Edwards Rd.
Cincinnati, Ohio 45208

Bruce W. Kenyon is now retired and living in Florida after 31 years with Montgomery Ward, the last 10 years as a national merchandise manager.

'38 David W. Jasper
309 Sedgewick Dr.
Syracuse, N.Y. 13203

After over 30 years with McGraw-Hill, Inc. in New York, where he was Group President and a Director, Joseph H. Allen joined United Technologies Corp. in Hartford, Ct. as senior vice president in June, 1974.

John J. Evans has been a professor at Ohio University in Athens since 1956. His one son, John W., received his BFA from O.U. in 1974.

On Bastille Day, 1971, Charles Henderson stopped racing rats in Detroit and moved to Alcona County in Michigan. He is currently the local medical examiner and runs a small Family Planning Clinic, and he claims to be the second best sheep doctor in the County. "I am as conservative as my neighbors and frequently wonder what ever happened to my Kenyon College. I'd like to return, but it would be a good deal like visiting the grave of an old friend. Betty and I live a life of genteel poverty, but send you our love (that we have lots of!)."

William Weeks says "It is good to see Kenyon men here in Tucson from time to time. Rich James '73 is a member of my Parish here."

Jack Widmer had his own reunion in March at his home in Ocean Springs, Miss. on the gulf coast with Jack Sammon '38 and Bill Alexander '39, both brother Beta's. They planned to "drink to other days."

'40 Lawrence G. Bell, Jr.
200 Libbey-Owens-Ford Bldg.
P.O. Box 489
Toledo, Ohio 43601

Kenneth D. Hill, better known as "Bunker Hill" while in school, is director of the alcoholism programs at the Community Correctional Institution in Cincinnati, Ohio.

35th Reunion — (row 1) Jack Cavender, Larry Bell; (row 2) Norm Smith, Carroll Prosser, Ed Schuller.

Dr. David R. Lehrer is a surgeon for the Clermont Medical Center in Clermont, Fla.

James P. Rowley has retired from the Insurance Industry and returned back to Gambier, residing on Quarry Chapel Road. He is associated with Tomahawk Hollow Golf Course.

'41 Charles V. Mitchell
3305 Dorchester Rd.
Shaker Heights, Ohio 44120

Last summer, W. Howard Graham went to Israel on a Beersheba dig for a three-week stint. He dealt with materials dating from 3500 B.C. and discovered that archeology is a very hot interest as the temperatures were 130 degrees during the day and perhaps 40 degrees at night. The dig was sponsored by the University of North Carolina.

George Lytle retired in Dec. 1974, following more than 32 years of civilian and military service with the U.S. Air Force, principally with the Logistics Command at Wright-Patterson AFB. In retirement, George will continue as housekeeper at his home in Dayton and as squire of his mid-18th century "Sow's Ear Manor," a compound of 13 tillable and tilted acres. In the several years preceding his retirement, George was widely recognized for his work with Functional Account Requirement Technicians for manpower programs of the Logistics Command.

Chase Small has been appointed Director of Public Relations for Sussex County Vocational Technical School in Sparta, N.J. A former award-winning advertising writer and retired Captain of the U.S. Marines, he has been teaching English and reading at the school for the past seven years. He is also currently studying the ancient and arcane art of baggiping under the tutelage of the renowned champion Pipe Major Duncan McCaskill of Glasgow, Scotland and Piscataway, N.J.

'42 Donald G. May, M.D.
3431 Pine Grove Lane
Kalamazoo, Mich. 49001

Rev. George W. DeGraff is currently in training to become an agent for Mutual of Omaha Insurance Co. He is also assisting frequently in his former Parish, the Grace Episcopal Church in Galesburg, Ill. For the past three years he was an Extension Specialist in Civil Defense Training with the University of Illinois.

'45 Robert W. Ballantine
1809 Herkimer Dr.
Jackson, Michigan 49203

W. David Cannon represented Kenyon at the inauguration of Philip B. Secor as the twelfth president of Cornell College.

Dr. Allen Hauck is having his book called "Calendar of Christianity" published by the C.S.S. Publishing Company. He will also be escorting a tour to Greece, Egypt, Lebanon, and Israel on May 24, 1976, for 15 days. He welcomes friends and alumni.

David L. Parke served as President of the Inter-Church Council of Greater New Bedford for 1974-75. He raised $616,000 for building an involvement center; sponsoring a $10 million, 320 unit high rise for the elderly; and started a pastoral counselling service this year. He is currently employed as a broker with Burbank and Company and is a member of the Boston Stock Exchange.

'48 David Harbison
640 Dartmoor
Ann Arbor, Michigan 48103

Howard A. Bradley resigned recently as General Manager and Board President of the Buffalo Philharmonic. He plans to stay in the Buffalo, N.Y. area.

Theodore Price was awarded his Ph.D. in June from Rutgers University. His dissertation is "The Ugly Duckling: Recurrent Themes in George Eliot." Calling himself "a career-change business drop-out," he was formerly manager of Advanced Underwriting Sales at Prudential's corporate home office, and is now an assistant professor of English at Montclair State College where he teaches a course on the films of the American thirties and one on Lenny Bruce. He is also a member of the National Project Center for Film and the Humanities, and he's just completed "Fellini's Penance: A Scene-by-Scene Commentary of Amarcord."

'49 Dr. Bernard S. Hoyt
400 W. Washington Blvd.
Grove City, Pa. 16127

Donald R. Behm, formerly Rector of All Saints Parish, Long Beach, Calif., is now Archdeacon of The Diocese of Los Angeles. His main responsibility will be the pastoral and administrative care of 41 mission congregations in the Diocese.

25th Reunion — (kneeling) Tom Hammond, Jack Horner, Elliot Ellis, Ron Tinlin, Dick Keener, George Holthaus, Bob Koke, Ran Bucey, Peter Weaver; (row 2) George Hull, Paul Russell, Don Gray, Bill Sesler, Don Wahlstrom, Lew Whitaker, Bob Carr, Bob Stix, Ken Goldsmith, John C. Mitchell, George Baker, Bob Rosenberger; (row 3) Russ Dunham, Bob Bonnist, Joe Organ, Tom Sesler, Arden Grover, Bill Strasser, Gordon Greene, Jack Bartlett, Dave Jensen, Jim Squires, Bob Johnson; (back rows) Fred Peake, Bill Schneebeck, Bob Himmelright, John Young, Jim Grose, Lane Hart, Crandon Caufield, Tom Davis, Dave Bell, Charles Dolan, Hank Roberts, Perry Trinkner, Lloyd Hood, T. W. Hearne, Bob McLain, Tom Carruth, Al Pentz, Ralph String.

John W. Borden has been promoted to Vice President of Collateral Material of Dean Witter & Co., Inc.

Jack E. Carter, after 25 years of living and traveling around the world with Goodyear and its Kelly-Springfield subsidiary's international operations, finally decided to become domesticated. Accordingly, he accepted the position of Senior Vice President of the First Federal Savings and Loan of Cumberland, Md., and will assume the presidency July 1 of this year. "The unique experience of total immersion in local community activity has been something of a cultural shock, but I'm enjoying it."

Louis J. Levinson has been named headmaster of St. James Day School in Texarkana, Texas.

'51 The Rev. John A. Greely
37 Randolph Rd.
Chestnut Hill, Mass. 02167

Peyton M. Pitney has recently been appointed assistant headmaster and dean of students at Northfield Mount Hermon School in Northfield, Mass. NMH is a large co-educational boarding school located on the Connecticut River in western Massachusetts. He is former chairman of the Mathematics Dept.

Murray and Judith Segal breed Belgian Sheepdogs in Pawling, N.Y. Their male "Flint" is ranked number three in the United States with both blue ribbons and silver completely covering three shelves of their hutch!

Alan D. Wright has been named director of governmental relations and special counsel for the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. He is also a member of the Court Management Project Committee of the Cleveland Bar Association and serves on the Electricity Committee of the Public Utilities Section of the American Bar Association.

'52 Peter O. Knapp
5983 Turpin Hills Dr.
Cincinnati, Ohio 45244

Charles H. Fultz, president of Fultz Manufacturing, is pleased to announce the completion of their new 6000 square foot production facility in Traverse City, Mich. Specializing in Die-Cut parts from plywood, particleboard, and hardboard, the firm is very proud to have recently added Steelcase, Inc. of Grand Rapids, Mich., to their list of most valued customers.

Bob Roth has left AUCO Corporation and joined the Charles Starke Draper Lab, the former MIT Instrumentation Lab. He, wife Micheline and son John, live in a condominium in Boston's Back Bay.

Robert S. Stein has been promoted to the newly created post of Market Development Manager of the Ekco Housewares Company in Franklin Park, Ill.

'53 Norman D. Nichol
1268 Cleveland Heights Blvd.
Cleveland Heights, Ohio 44121

Jeremy McNamara, while on sabbatical leave from Monmouth College in 1973-74, studied at the University College in Dublin, Ireland. In Nov. 1974, he received an MA degree in Anglo-Irish studies from the National University of Ireland. During the 1974-75 school year he has instituted several courses in Irish Literature at Monmouth College.

Jerome D. Reese was recently elected assistant secretary of the Insurance Company of North America in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the officer in charge of one or two units of the company's liability claims operations.

Ron Ryan was ranked number 5 in the Men's Singles at the 1974 Buffalo City Tennis Tournament.

Richard Tallman is presently doing research on aluminum corrosion at the GM Research Labs in Warren, Michigan. His wife Jean sings opera in the Detroit area.

'54 Ronald A. Petti
78 Ski Hill Rd., Box 379
Ogden Dunes
Portage, Ind. 46368

Stuart H. Cole is Director of Business Affairs at the American School in Japan in Tokyo.

Roland L. Hobbs was recently elected to the Board of Directors of the Wheeling Dollar Savings & Trust Company of Wheeling, W. Va. He was also appointed to the five man Wheeling Park Commission which operates Oglebay Park.

'55 James A. Hughes, Jr.
300 N. State St., Apt. 4212
Chicago, Ill. 60610

R. John Bradfield, M.D., is in solo OB-GYN practice and earnestly is seeking an associate who might be interested in joining him in Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Wilson Ferguson will be a participant this summer in a National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Seminar at Indiana University. During the academic year 1975-76, he will be on leave from Russell Sage College and will be a visiting scholar in the Department of History and Sociology Science at the University of Pennsylvania.

William L. Ostrander has been elected vice president in charge of the Chicago Office of the First Boston Corp.

Edward T. Rhodes was sworn in as the HEW Assistant Secretary for Grants and Procurement Management in January, 1975. His office is responsible for providing policy, procedural and regulatory guidance for the Departmental operating agencies that award grants and contracts.

20th Reunion — Jim Hughes, Dick Evans, Jim Wallace.

'56 Perry Pascarella
29701 Wolf Rd.
Bay Village, Ohio 44140

The Rev. Roger Alling recently attended the enthronement of his friend, the Rt. Rev. Stuart Y. Blanch, Bishop of Liverpool, as the 94th Archbishop of York. Bishop Blanch was the guest of the Allings for three weeks at Christ Church, Corning, New York, on an "educational venture" in 1959 and Roger and the bishop have kept in touch ever since. At the enthronement Roger was seated in the Great Choir of the cathedral and invited to "all the doings" that followed the service.

Paul B. Belin has sold his old home in Waverly, Pa. and built a new small secluded house way out in the country with woods, wildlife and privacy all around.

James Riley will become vicar of St. Mary's, Heathcote, and Church of the Ascension, Mt. Pleasant, in Christchurch, New Zealand, as of August 1, 1975.

R. Michael Sly, M.D., has been promoted to Professor of Pediatrics at the Louisiana State University Medical Center in New Orleans, where he joined the faculty in 1967 as assistant professor and Director of Pediatric Allergy and Immunology. He has been author or co-author of 40 articles published in medical journals, including many investigations of the effects of exercise in asthmatic children.

'57 J. Thomas Rouland
Executive Director
The Federal Bar Assoc.
1815 H Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20006

Donald A. Stephen has joined Charter New York Corporation as a regional vice president with administrative duties concerning the Corporation's 14 upstate banks.

'58 Robert S. Price
1034 West Upsal St.
Philadelphia, Pa. 19119

Ron Bennington has been elected secretary of the Hoover Worldwide Corporation. He is still a practicing attorney in Canton, O.

Eric May is director of Hillendale Museum (formerly project 400) in Mendenhall, Pa. It is the only museum in existence that illustrates the influence of geography on the discovery and exploration of North America. The museum is 30 minutes drive from either the Pennsylvania Turnpike or Wilmington, Delaware. Interested Kenyonites should telephone (215) 388-7393 or write to the Museum at P.O. Box 129, Mendenhall, Pa. 19357.

Allen T. McDonough moved from Denver and started a business in Boston eight years ago called Eastern Mountain Sports, Inc. which currently has several retail stores which specialize in mountain climbing, backpacking, and country ski equipment. He is president of the company, married, with three children.

Riggs Miller is still selling door locks for the Schlage Lock Company which recently merged with Ingersoll-Rand Company. He is also toning up his muscles by active participation in the Birmingham YMCA physical fitness program.

William R. Morrow is the executive director of the Counseling and Growth Center, an ecumenical family counseling center serving three counties around Ft. Myers, Florida.

'59 Alan Wainwright
529 South Court St.
Medina, Ohio 44256

Rev. Alvin B. Burnworth and his wife are proud to announce the birth of a daughter, Dorothy Ruth born Aug. 21, 1974.

A. Robert Stevenson is now director of government and public relations for the S.S. Kresge Company.

'60 Wilson K. Roane
2006 N. Point St.
Oshkosh, Wisconsin 54901

15th Reunion — (row 1) Will Reed, Dick Schori, Bob Maurer, Duncan Muir; (row 2) Wes MacAdam, Walt Taylor.

Eugene DePasquale is starting his second year at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York City. He will have a Cardiology Fellowship.

J.L. Dressor has received his M.A. in Business Administration from Eastern Washington State College and is employed as an instructor at Ft. Steilacoom Community College in Tacoma.

Arnold Ison has set up his own practice of Dermatology in St. Petersburg, Fla. He is also a clinical associate professor at the University of South Florida. He has two children.

J. Thomas Moore has been elected Chairman of the Philosophy and History Dept. at Phillips University where he is starting his seventh year teaching philosophy.

Robert B. Palmer will be a 'co-librarian' this summer at Bread Loaf School of English, Middlebury College in Vermont, where he earned a master's in English in 1965.

Besides his usual activities as a mathematics professor, noon-time jogger, and returning to bachelorhood, Richard Schori's interest in solar energy has put him as chairman of the LSU Solar Energy Steering Committee, which has recently been funded by a grant from the State Energy Agency to start several long range solar energy projects in Louisiana.

Jeff Thompson has just finished a two year teaching fellowship at Williams College. He received his M.A. in biology in June and will be moving with wife Madeleine and son Brett (age 3) to St. Louis, Missouri where he will join the faculty of St. Louis Country Day School.

Fred J. Zalokar has been appointed Vice President of Finance of Agrico International, a subsidiary of The Williams Companies of Tulsa. Prior to joining Agrico he was with the controller-international division of the Atlantic Richfield Co. in Los Angeles.

'61 Norman R. Hane
741 35th St.
Des Moines, Iowa 50312

Joseph D. Babb is Assistant Professor of Medicine in Cardiology at the Milton S. Hershey Medical Center of the Pennsylvania State University School of Medicine. His current assignment is Director of the Coronary Care Unit and Assistant Director of the Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory.

Richard Carter is part owner and operator of Ski Sundown in New Hartford, Conn. He and his wife have one son, Timothy, age 3 and another one due in September.

Doug Raymond has started his own company, Cornerstone Corp., which provides computer consulting and related data processing services in Pittsburgh, Pa.

'62 Peter H. Glaubitz
716 Mannington Ave.
Cincinnati, Ohio 45226

Paul C. Heintz has been named a school board director of the Lower Merion School system in Pennsylvania. A partner in the law firm of Obermayer, Robmann, Maxwell, and Hippel, he is also an aviation writer for the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Ivan Rollit

John R. Knepper was recently elected President of the Allegheny Mountain Tennis Association for 1975.

Charles Ivan Rollit has been elected Corporate President of the Columbus Steel Supply Co. of Columbus, Ohio. He has been employed by Columbus Steel since 1962 and was named executive vice president and general manager of the corporation in 1972.

'63 Calvin S. Frost
433 N. Drexel Ave.
Columbus, Ohio 43209

Phil Bissell and family are still living outside Paris. In addition to his responsibility as industrial Relations Manager for the International Group of Federal-Mogul, he has also been given the responsibility to direct sales into Benelux and Northern Europe.

Neal M. Mayer and his wife Jane are pleased to announce that on Jan. 29, 1975, Jenny Leigh Mayer was born. Jenny joins Andy, age 8; Amy, age 4; and Becca, age 2. Jane and he are glad Kenyon's coeducational so their three daughters and one son can all go here if they choose.

The Rev. Paul Henry Moser is proud to announce the birth of a daughter, Ellen, born in November 1974. She joins a 2½ year old brother and an 8 year old sister. Rev. Moser is still rector of the local Episcopal Parish, Dean of the Eastern Convocation of the Diocese of West Virginia and Chaplain to Shepherd College in Shepherdstown, W. Va.

Tom Novinson will present research papers at two International Chemistry Conferences in Bratislava, Czech., and Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, and at the International Congress of Pharmacology in Helsinki this July. He is presently at ICA Pharmaceuticals in Irvine, California.

Dave VanLooy was recently awarded a trip to Hawaii for his outstanding marketing performance and will receive honors in the IBM Golden Circle. He celebrated his 10th wedding anniversary while in Hawaii.

'64 John J. Camper
1214 S. 7th St., Apt. 8
Springfield, Illinois 62704

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hylton, Jr. are pleased to announce the birth of a son, William Sheffield Hylton, born on Sept. 27, 1974.

Boyd P. King is completing a fellowship at the Rhode Island Hospital on the Brown University program. He was a recipient of the Haffenreffer Research Fellowship award for 1975. In July, he enters the practice of Nephrology in Providence, R.I. and will be a clinical assistant at the Brown University Medical School.

Lee Piepho is still teaching English literature at Sweet Briar College. Last October he read a paper on Herbert Herrick's use of the classics at the Herrick Memorial Conference, sponsored by the University of Michigan. Next year he will have a sabbatical leave which he shall use studying Latin backgrounds for seventeenth-century English poetry at the Bodleian Library at Oxford.

Richard Scheidenhelm is now in law school at the University of Colorado, attempting to transform his Ph.D. in American History into negotiable paper.

'65 William S. Hamilton
6316 Iris Ave.
Cincinnati, Ohio 45213

Larry Brown has been elected assistant vice president of the Commercial Banking Division for Pittsburgh National Bank.

10th Reunion — (row 1) John Miller, Steve Newcomer, Jim Branagan, Jerry Giarraputo, Jeffrey Fisher, Barb Branagan; (row 2) M. David Harrison, Alex Valchuk, Gene Little; (row 3) Art Kronenberg, Larry Brown, Ken Klug, Bill Hamilton, John A. Gable, Michael Underwood.

Michael K. Herbert has been named Editor of three of Century Publishing Company's monthly sports fan magazines, "Auto Racing Digest," "Basketball Digest," and "Football Digest." The magazines cover pro sports and are distributed nationally. He also assists with the editorial work on Century's other publications, "Baseball Digest" and "Hockey Digest." All are located in Evanston, Ill. Mike and his family, Lana, Nancy (8) and Susan (1), live in Naperville, Ill. and now know what fellow classmate Jim Williams always said—it's a wonderful suburb.

Peter Hewitt is living in Old Greenwich, Conn. and practicing law in Greenwich as number 13 in a 13 member law firm.

Tim Isaacs has begun a private practice in Psychiatry in San Francisco. He will spend the month of August bicycling in England.

Isaac M. Kikawada is teaching in the Near Eastern Studies Dept., University of California at Berkeley. He is becoming active in publishing articles dealing with classical (Biblical) Hebrew Rhetoric, in journals such as the Journal of Biblical Literature, Annual of the Japanese Biblical Institute, etc. He also has been invited to give a lecture on Rhetorical Criticism of the Hebrew Bible at Semitics Congress in Pretoria, South Africa in July.

Gene and Sally Little are proud to announce the birth of their first child, a son, born in February, 1975.

Brian E. Michaels says it only took him 10 years to join his classmates in the Kenyon fund—but he vows to be a regular from now on.

N. Stevens Newcomer has joined the partnership of Green, Lackey, Newcomer & Harris in Toledo, O. He is also Chief Public Defender for Henry County in Ohio.

Ford Tucker is currently Assistant Director of Social Work and Assistant Professor of Health Services at the University of Rochester Medical Center in Rochester, N.Y. He, his wife, Gretchen and two year old Adam are living in the new community of River-ton.

William C. Walker received a J.D. from Ohio Northern College of Law in June, 1968. He married Sandra Narzowich in November, 1968. A son, Jason Keith, was born in May, 1971 and a daughter, Vanessa Lynn in May, 1973. He received his LLM degree from George Washington University in August, 1974 in Labor Law and is presently Labor Relations Counsel for Strategic Air Command in Omaha, Nebraska.

'66 John C. Rohrer
35 Willow Rd.
Menlo Park, Calif. 94025

Word has arrived that Deke Kenyon Egger celebrated his first birthday March 29 in Washington state. His parents, Tate and Jane, are delighted.

Martin L. Madorsky, M.D. is moving to Miami with his wife Peggy and their two children Jon and Karen, where he will be practicing Urology.

James McBurney is currently produce manager of the Alka-Seltzer Consumer Products Division in Elkhart, Indiana.

Capt. Gerald E. Reynolds was decorated with the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal in recent ceremonies at Offutt AFB, Nebraska. An intelligence staff officer, he was cited for meritorious service at Headquarters, USAF.

Gordon L. Todd III has been named professor of Anatomy at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

'67 Lee P. Van Voris
17195 W. Bernardo Dr., #202
San Diego, California 92127

Dr. Stephen W. Carmichael has recently been promoted to Associate Professor of Anatomy at West Virginia University School of Medicine. Some of his new duties include the directorship of the Medical Gross Anatomy course and Chairman of the Departmental Graduate Program. He was also named one of the "Outstanding Teachers" by the President of the University. Steve was to have had his beard shaved off with an axe at the Woodchopping Festival on Memorial Day weekend in Webster Springs, W. Va.

Bob Davidson is currently working for Reynolds & Reynolds Company in Dayton, Ohio. A son, Tre (Robert III), was born Sept. 16, 1972.

Mark L. Gardner was promoted to Assistant Professor of Economics at Campbell College in Buie's Creek, N.C.

J. Thomas Lockard and his wife Mary Lou announce the birth of a daughter, Laura Emily, on April 8, 1975. He was recently promoted to assistant manager of Halle's Severance Center Store. "Any Kenyon alumni visiting the Cleveland area—please give us a call."

Nathan and Rachelle Parker proudly announce the birth of their son, Jeremy Neely, on March 21, 1975.

James Robinson is finishing his dissertation on Eugene O'Neill, and pondering the joys of pencil-selling if he can't find a teaching job.

Charles Schwarzbeck will complete a fellowship in clinical psychology this summer at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kansas. In September he begins another fellowship in the Department of Pediatric Psychology at Children's Hospital in Washington, D.C.

Joseph E. Simon is currently interning at Rainbow Babies and Childrens Hospital in Cleveland, Ohio, in Pediatrics.

Stephen Stonehouse moved to the Chicago area in September, 1974 with his wife, Barbara, and son Garrett. He is currently with Chubb and Son, Inc. as a security bond manager.

R. Barry Tatgenhorst has been named to the honorable position of "The Godfather" to Stephen Gordon Miller, '94, son of Jeremiah S. Miller. Barry's wife, the former Ann Carter, known to all DEKES in a slightly different role, says Barry is in his third childhood, his second having been at Kenyon, as we all know.

Stephen Tormey and his wife Karen, proudly announce the birth of a son, Alan, born Sept. 4, 1974 in Cleveland.

Lee P. Van Voris and his wife Ann had a recent addition to their family, Kristin Ann, on Nov. 29, 1974. He will be completing two years of active duty in the U.S. Navy and will be entering a second year residency program in Internal Medicine at the State University of New York Upstate Medical Center in July.

Karl E. Wagner received his M.D. from the University of North Carolina in May, 1974. He is currently a resident in Psychiatry at John Umstead Hospital in Batner, N.C. He was also married in November, 1974 to Barbara R. Mott of Knoxville, Tenn. His 3rd novel, Bloodstone, was published in March, 1975 by Warner Paperback Library. Karl has his own small amateur press in Chapel Hill and edited and published to date, Worse Things Waiting by Manly Wade Wellman with a 2nd book now at press.

D. Barry Wood is stationed at Randolph AFB in San Antonio, Texas. He is an instructor pilot at the Pilot Instructor Training School (PIT)

'68 Howard B. Edelstein
925 Superior Bldg.
Cleveland, Ohio 44114

Merrill O. Burns was recently elected Vice President of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company in New York City.

John Carman was married Feb. 15, 1975 to Leslie Debbs Hill of Maryville, Tenn., at Macalester College in St. Paul, Minn.

Ed Gaines received his J.D. degree from the University of Iowa in December, 1974 and became a member of the Iowa Bar in January, 1975.

Steve and Sally Hayes are proud to announce the birth of their first child, a son, Jeffrey Stephen, born Nov. 2, 1974. Steve is employed in Dayton in the family distribution business and Sally is a retired teacher.

Tim Holder received his Master of Urban Planning in 1974 from Wayne State University. He is now working for the city of Milwaukie, Oregon, as an assistant planner.

Faxon Learner is a production planning supervisor for the T.J. Lipton Company in Albion, N.Y. He and his wife Susan are now living in Brockport, N.Y. with their two year old son, Faxon, Jr.

Parker Molden recently conducted a workshop for social studies teachers and librarians in Kingstons, N.Y.

Dr. Jeffrey C. Northup is currently completing a residency in obstetrics and gynecologic surgery at Bi County Hospital in Warren, Michigan. A son, David Scott, was born to him and his wife in March, 1975.

Mac and Diane Vogeler are now living in San Francisco. Mac is pursuing a career as a guide for canoe and float expeditions on the mighty yellow river.

David Wallace is working for Westvaco and taking evening courses toward an MBA degree at the University of Detroit.

Jerome F. Williams has announced his engagement to Carla Pace of Sao Paulo, Brazil. The wedding will be held this October in Watkins Glen, New York.

Dr. William Wright is currently polishing up his checker game under the auspices of an NIMH Fellowship in Child Psychiatry at the University of Cincinnati Medical Center. His wife Valerie is an instructor in the College of Medicine there.

Stephen B. Wuori is presently Director of Guidance at Milford Central School in Milford, N.Y. He is also head football coach.

'69 Edward E. Shook, Jr.
7851 Van Dyke Place
Detroit, Michigan 48214

Tom Angi has completed all course work and comprehensive exams toward a Ph.D. in French language and literature at the University of Cincinnati. He is presently doing dissertation research and concurrently taking courses toward an M.S. in Rehabilitation Counseling at Wright State University in Dayton. He is now certified in Ohio as a Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor III and has worked with handicapped children and adults at a private school in Cincinnati.

Richard Baehr was graduated from the Sloan School at M.I.T. in January, 1975, and is currently employed as a financial consultant for Amherst Associates in Amherst, Mass.

Air Force Capt. Malcolm L. Burdine has been assigned to Osan AB, Republic of Korea, for duty with a unit of the Pacific Air Forces. He is an assistant staff judge advocate with the 51st Composite Wing at Osan. He previously served at L.G. Hanscom AFB in Massachusetts.

Jeffrey Butz has accepted an appointment as assistant professor in mathematics at the University of Oklahoma.

H. Clifford Carlson was married Feb. 1, 1975 to the former Priscilla Brees of Rockford, Ill. After honeymooning in Hawaii, they will reside in Rockford.

Brackett Badger Denniston, III, and Kathleen Foley of Cumberland, Mass., are planning to be married August 2. Brackett has also graduated from Harvard Law School and was editor of the Harvard Law Review.

Jim Eastman is currently doing a residency in Pathology at Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland, Oregon. He married last June 1st the former Janice Maurey of Santa Cruz, Calif.

Albert D. Friday graduated recently from the Medical University of South Carolina and is currently completing a medical internship in Atlanta, Ga.

Robert Fugitt begins his urology residency at E.S. Meyer Hospital in Buffalo, N.Y., in July.

Henry C. Galganowicz has completed studies at Bexley Hall this year, and was ordained in Pecusa on June 22, 1975.

Austin McElroy is now working on the new psychiatric unit at St. Ann's Hospital in Columbus, Ohio. Among other duties, he conducts group therapy sessions and individual counseling on the unit.

Robert L. Nevin, Jr. has completed his masters degree in business administration and public health administration, both from Columbia University. He is now working in the administration of The Roosevelt Hospital in Manhattan, New York City.

Wes Poth is teaching and coaching at Newark Catholic High School in Newark, Ohio. He is head baseball coach. The team won their conference championship and at mid-season had a 15-3 record. He is also assistant football coach, the team winning their conference championship and going to the state's A playoffs.

John F. Saari is still working as a physician on the San Carlos Indian Reservation near Phoenix, Arizona.

Edward E. Shook, Jr., has been working as an assistant in the Detroit Waldorf Kindergarten and spends most of his other waking hours trying to learn how to play guitar.

'70 R. Edward Pope
204 Delhi St., #2
Mattapan, Mass. 02126

Charles Acton has finished his internship in small animal medicine and surgery and will be staying in California in private practice.

Philip G. Butler, Jr., is practicing law in West Palm Beach, Fla. with Foley, Colton & Butler, specializing in criminal law. He is working on a paper entitled "How to Practice Criminal Law Without Being Indicted Yourself."

Edgar K. Byham and his wife Penelope are proud to announce the birth of their first child, a son, Brice Michael, on May 8, 1975.

Dwight D. Hatcher is Head Football Coach and Head Lacrosse Coach at The Berkshire School.

Bill Howard is in his second year as an English teacher at Blair Academy in Blairstown, New Jersey. He will begin work on a Ph.D. in English this fall.

Don and Susie Mayer are having lots of fun with Greg around—he's now nine months old. Don is practicing law in Chapel Hill and he'd like to hear from Kenyon people.

Jim Nininger is finishing his first year as a resident in psychiatry at Mount Sinai Hospital in New York City.

Edmund R. Novak, Jr. recently moved to the Maryland National Bank to head the area of Personnel Research. Third move in three years—hope to rest for awhile.

Capt. William F. Paraska married the former Susan E. Swanson on May 10, 1975 in the SAC Memorial Chapel at Offutt AFB, Nebraska.

5th Reunion — (row 1) Murray Horwitz, Barry Schwartz, Jeff Goldberg; (row 2) Dave Balfour, Randy Giarraputo, Ron Smith.

James A. Park is currently a senior associate with Analytics, Inc., a management consultant firm in McLean, Va., and pursuing a MSA degree in Business Management at George Washington University. He was married in March 1974 to the former Donna Goodwin of Asheville, N.C. In June 1974 he was discharged from the Navy, having served 4 years as a political intelligence officer.

Arthur K. Vedder has recently completed 1½ years of Pediatric Residency in Phoenix, Arizona, and will be entering Family Practice Residency at the University of California at Irvine, this July.

Robert G. Zatroch has completed a General Practice Residency at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Youngstown, Ohio, after graduating from Case-Western Reserve Dental School. He is now associated with Dr. Paul C. Mayer in Lyndhurst, Ohio in the practice of General Dentistry.

'71 Norman E. Schmidt
2643 Colchester
Cleveland Heights, Ohio 44106

Richard Alper graduated from the Georgetown Law School in May of 1974 and passed the District of Columbia Bar in July, 1974. He is currently a law clerk to Associate Judge David Mason, Maryland Court of Special Appeals. He is living on a farm ten miles north of Annapolis, Md.

Thomas L. Draper III is an agent with the General American Life Insurance Company of Birmingham, Michigan, having left teaching last June.

N. Berry Hall is presently employed as a foreman for Codell Construction Company, building a highway in Harlan County, Ky.

Paul and Janie Kaufman are expecting their first child in November, 1975.

Scott D. Miller says, "Four years removed from Gambier has produced an M.B.A. from Cornell, a C.P.A. from Ohio State and the treasurer's job at The Jumbo Mfg. Co. For the degrees I can thank some long, desperate studying and for the job I want to thank Dad."

Thomas J. Murray married the former Susan Taylor of Altavista, Va., on March 16, 1975. He is working on his doctorate in environmental research at Clemson University in Clemson, S.C.

'72 Merritt Green
6701 River Rd.
Waverly, Ohio 43566

Paula Siegel Barone is teaching art, language arts, and social studies at St. Vincent DePaul School in Mt. Vernon, Ohio. She and Sam, Kenyon News Director, will be involved in the Mt. Vernon Players summer production of "Fiddler on the Roof."

In a gala reunion in Warren, Ohio, Richard Bentson 1974, John Jastatt 1974, and Peter Smagorinsky '74, joined hands to toast their alma mater.

David L. Bergman is working on his doctoral dissertation at the Johns Hopkins University and teaching part-time at Towson State College in Towson, Maryland.

Charles T. Capute and Virginia F. Buermann became engaged in March, 1975. Charles is currently a student at Capital University Law School in Columbus, Ohio, and Virginia has received her master's degree from Indiana University.

Lance Coon is still tutoring the younger generation at Columbus Academy in Columbus, O.

Ira H. Dorfman recently was appointed Confidential Aide to a Commissioner of the New Jersey Public Utilities Commission. He is also participating in the Mid-Career Program of the Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton University.

Denzil Hollingsworth was married March 3, 1975 to the former Alexius Shimerhorn. They honeymooned in upper New York State on Lake Champlain.

Tom Luten is alive and well in Ithaca, N.Y., working at Cornell University. He was married in 1972, graduated from OSU in 1972, received his masters degree from OSU in 1974 and will begin Ph.D. work in Ed. Admin. at Cornell in January 1976.

Brian Mark is pleased to announce his marriage to the former Jen Su Lin of Taipei, Republic of China, on May 24, 1975 in Anaheim, Calif. Greg Andorfer '73 and Michael Mara '74 ushered, and Howard Gantman '73 served as cameraman.

'73 Ulysses B. Hammond
9601 Greenfield, #319
Detroit, Michigan 48227

P. William Bechtel received his M.A. in Philosophy from the University of Chicago in June, 1974, and is currently pursuing research for a dissertation in epistemology. He reports, "I am residing in a large mansion on Chicago's south side next door to Muhammed Ali and would welcome any Kenyon visitors. While still anticipating returning to a smaller college community, I certainly enjoy the cultural opportunities of Chicago."

Bob Claster has just had his first four songs published by Bicycle Music Company, "the firm which handles Neil Diamond, George Harrison, Ringo Starr, and Robbie Robertson." While waiting for the royalty checks to pour in, he is Director of Distribution and Postal Procedures for Shelter Records, Inc.

Gregory J. Costa is working on his masters degree in Hospital Administration at St. Louis University.

Thomas A. Daniel will be completing work on his M.A. degree in English Literature at Kings College in London, England, this July.

Michael Duffy, juvenile probation officer of Mt. Vernon, O., will resign his position this summer to enter law school at Loyola University in Chicago.

Lauren Elliott is living in San Francisco and is attempting to learn about the stock market.

Jayne Holmes will be getting married to Bob Arnold, Adrian College, Class of '73, on August 16 in Christ Episcopal Church in Warren, Ohio. All friends are hereby invited.

Peggi Livingston Howard is beginning her second year as a social worker in New Jersey. She will begin work on a M.S.W. this fall. Bill and Peggi have added a new member to their family, a dalmation named "Beau."

Melanie M. Jackson married J. Allen Otten, Jr. on April 19, 1975. Allen is a 1968 graduate of the School of Industrial Engineering at North Carolina State University. He is a district sales manager for Kellogg Sales Company in New Jersey. Melanie will be pursuing a career in real estate in New Jersey. Bonnie Klomp Stevens was an attendant and Kathleen Quinn sang. Other Kenyon guests included Dennis Stevens.

Marilyn L. Jones will be working toward her Ph.D. in Clinical Community Psychology at the University of Houston beginning in August. She will have a $3000 assistantship there.

Julie Miller, Caroline Nesbitt and Rebecca Lord recently met with Nina Mooney in Massachusetts to lay strategy for the Revolution and share bountiful amounts of Nectar of the Goddesses. Many conclusions were drawn and this sisterhood was thereby renewed, embellished and strengthened. They are all now living in various parts of the North Country, struggling in pursuit of truth, beauty and justice.

Jeff Parker is now doing graduate work in math at the University of Wisconsin.

Jonathan R. Roth is working for the law firm of Beer & Boltz in Bloomfield Hills, Mich. He is also a junior member of the Wayne State University Law School Moot Court Board and will represent Wayne at the 6th Circuit Bar Association's Moot Court competition.

Jeffrey W. Shachmut is currently working on his thesis, completing requirements for the Degree Master of Music in Composition at Florida State University. He has had the opportunity to take courses with composers-in-residence Malcolm Williamson and Krzysztof Penderecki. Also, he was just invited to join Pi Kappa Lambda, the National Honorary Music Society.

Susan Stokes graduated from Columbia University in May with a masters in psychology.

Vinnie Wright is working for the Washington State Department of Employment Security in Olympia. "It has been a long rainy winter here, but summer in the Pacific Northwest is worth waiting for. I would like to hear from old friends."

'74 Phil Porter
Box 131
Cooperstown, N.Y. 13326

Stuart H. Anness is working hard but having no problems with his first year of medical school at the University of Cincinnati. He works Tuesday afternoons at the Good Samaritan Hospital assisting obstetricians in the delivery room.

Mary S. Ashton is currently doing public relations work for the National Student Lobby in Washington, D.C.

Jamie Barth is working as a Commercial Property Underwriter for Aetna Life and Casualty Insurance in Cleveland, Ohio. She just completed a training program in Hartford, Conn. and hopes to be transferred east to the NYC vicinity.

Catherine Beachy, after a five week course in design and salesmanship, is working at Crestwood Flowers in Kansas City, Mo., as a floral designer. She is also taking ballet again and teaching Sunday School. An August wedding is planned to Peter Carroll, and then home to the University of Illinois in Champaign.

Mary Block will be working through July as the Teacher-Director of a Headstart program in Chicago. In September she will begin graduate studies at Columbia University School of the Arts, Film Division.

Janet A. Bloss is happy to report that she is on the dean's list at Ohio State University Medical School and is particularly interested in neurology.

Jim Carson is still at the University of Chicago where he expects to receive the M.A.T. in English in August. He recently served as pianist, arranger, and co-music director for a student production of Cole Porter's "Anything Goes." He has also accepted a fellowship offer to begin work toward the M.M. and Ph.D. musicology at the University of Illinois, possibly specializing in relationships between music and language.

After serving a 7-month postgraduate assignment in Shakey's Pizza Parlor in Burlingame, Calif., Richard Clarke obtained a job with the Social Security Administration as a clerk-typist. And since October, Little Richard has brought his musical madness to an unsuspecting Roman Catholic Church in a San Francisco suburb where he serves as organist and choirmaster. For all his interested fans (?) the accordion has not been destroyed yet—and Little Richard and his Magic Keyboards has had several engagements since his return to the west coast. However, "California is a little dull" by comparison after four years at Kenyon being entertained by Gregg DeSilvio.

After spending six months at Rollman's Psychiatric Institute in Cincinnati, Geraldine Coleman has graduated to Action Line reporter with the Akron Beacon Journal in Akron, Ohio. The jobs have changed but the clientele is essentially the same.

Craig Hakkio is currently enrolled in the Graduate School of Economics at the University of Chicago. From his luxurious suite at the Broadview Hotel, Craig extends an open invitation to any fellow alumni to join him in a tour of Chicago's finer night spots.

Mimi Henley and John Harper were married on March 29, 1975 in Cincinnati, Ohio. They are currently working on masters degrees, microbiology and philosophy respectively, at the University of Arizona in Tucson.

Patricia Hills is presently in Tunis, Tunisia, teaching English and working for a Tunisian newspaper. "You don't have to join the Peace Corps; do it all freelance."

Ron Hopping is enjoying his first year at Southern California College of Optometry. He has recently been elected national secretary of the American Optometric Student Association and will work in the American Optometric Association legal office in Washington, D.C. this summer.

Richard I. James has enrolled at Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Virginia, and will start his course of study in Sept., 1975.

Jeffrey Kory has had a very worthwhile year so far collecting and learning ancient chant and folk songs in Tunisia and Morocco. Before continuing studies next year he hopes to make short visits to Israel, Iran and Turkey.

James W. McCarter has enrolled at the American Graduate School of International Management in Glendale, Arizona.

Susan Miller is attending graduate school in public administration at Tulane University, Louisiana.

Dennis Pannullo is now a medical student in Guadalajara, Mexico, just waiting to bump into someone from Kenyon and learning that you can eat your beans and have them too in sunny Mexico. He has given up his search for the perfect wave, developing a more realistic concern for mere pure water. (In response to his anguished plea for Kenyon contacts, we will stretch a point and publish his address: Apdo 1-631, Guadalajara, Jalisco, Mexico.)

Penny Perel received her M.Ed. from Tufts University in June, 1975. She is planning a summer camping trip in the west with Jane Silverman '75, David Lopatto '75, and Vince Costango '74. She will live with Jane Silverman next year in Philadelphia. "Doing what? Who knows!"

Robert Plance, Jr., is in the Peace Corps in Taza, Morocco. He is teaching high school sophomores and juniors English as a foreign language.

Frank J. Rahel is presently working as an apprentice baker in Cleveland. "Although it is not exactly the type of career I had envisioned while a student at Kenyon, I am making good money, something not to be sneered at during the present economic condition. I will, however, be doing graduate work in limnology this fall at the University of Wisconsin."

Tom Neely reports that Fritz "Lucky Freddy" Reinhardt won the New York State lottery jackpot for the month of February 1975. The total prize is $720,000! (that's right!) He has elected to receive a monthly check over a ten year period. How about that!

Betsy Robinson is working with the First National Bank of Cincinnati and she has just started the business program in the evening at the University of Cincinnati. "Thus far all is going well."

Jeffrey Rucker is presently working toward his M.S. in biochemistry at Cal State University in Los Angeles. He hopes to enter medical school in the fall of 1976.

John Tillinghast is now working in a program for artistic children in Putnam, Conn., and liking it very much. He occasionally goes to Boston and New York to see Lee Kanofsky, Bob and Sue Pollack, and Patti Paige.

Thomas G. Weltchek seems to be spending more time in Mexico than San Diego. Basically doing up waves and looking for odd jobs to get by. He'll be coaching an AAU team back in New Jersey for the summer after which he'll be back in Mexico with friends till November.

Katherine Dawson Widin is attending the University of Minnesota graduate school. She is studying for a masters degree in plant pathology and is doing research for the U.S. Forest Service.

'75 Stuart S. Wegener
1133 Eastwood Ave., S.E.
East Grand Rapids, Mich. 49506

The engagement of Rick Salomon to the former Olympic and now professional figure skater, Janet Lynn, was announced recently. An October wedding is planned in Rockford, Illinois.

DEATHS

Lillian Chard H'56, retired Kenyon dietitian, on March 24, 1975. She was the College dietitian from 1938 until her retirement in 1956 when she was awarded an honorary Master of Arts degree. She received her certificate in institutional management from Simmons College in 1919 when she became dietitian at Cromwell Hall in Connecticut. In 1922 she became dietitian at Rockford College, serving there until coming to Gambier in 1938 when President Chalmers left the presidency of Rockford for Kenyon. She will be remembered by more generations of students for her food service in the Great Hall, especially during the war years when it took a valiant effort to cope with food shortage. But more recent students will also remember her as an actress in many Hill Theater productions for she remained in Gambier after her retirement and continued to be active in the drama group. She is survived by her sister.

Frederic Eberle, retired professor of modern language, on May 12, 1975 in Winter Park, Fla., at the age of 89. Mr. Eberle was born and educated in Southern Germany. After coming to the U.S. he entered Purdue University and received his degree in 1916 and entered a teaching career which spanned 40 years. He was head of the German and French departments at Lakewood, Ohio, High School from 1920 until 1934 when he came to Kenyon. In 1954, he retired after 20 years as professor of modern languages, instructor of engineering drawing, and polo coach. For almost ten years he remained active as a Senior Consultant and Engineer for the Center for Proctural Politics of Rollins College, where he also assisted in the German Department. He was a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter of Delta Tau Delta National Fraternity, having been faculty advisor to the Kenyon Chapter for 14 years. He was preceded in death by his wife, Louise, and is survived by two sons, two daughters, seven grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

The Very Rev. George S. Southworth '09, retired Episcopal minister, recently in Florida. He had served churches in Nebraska, Massachusetts, and Ohio, was Dean of St. Paul Cathedral in Marquette, Mich., from 1922 to 1924, and was rector of Church of the Advent in Indianapolis from 1928 to 1942 when ill health forced his retirement. Also a writer both before and after his retirement, he edited Essays and Poems in 1929, and authored the novels J. Jones, Christian, 1938; Lubber Line, 1947; and Come Sunday, 1954. He was a member of Delta Tau Delta and Phi Beta Kappa.

Arthur L. Sackett '10, attorney and former vice president of the Van Swerington Co. of Cleveland, on March 29 at his home in Shaker Heights. He was 87. A graduate of Harvard Law School, he served as a prosecuting attorney in Springfield, O., before joining the Van Swerington Co. as a lawyer in 1924. He was credited with fostering the development of eastern Shaker Heights through the real estate arm of the company. He was elected vice president and secretary of the firm in 1939 and handled many of the company's management functions before retiring in 1957. He had served as a captain in the Army field artillery in World War I. He was a member of the Masons, the local, state, and national bar associations, and Alpha Delta Tau fraternity. He is survived by two daughters.

Walter C. Darling '11, retired Beverly Hills, Calif., auto dealer, on Nov. 21, 1973. He was a member of Beta Theta Pi. He is survived by his son, W. Clark Darling, Jr.

John D. Southworth '11, retired Physician, recently in Killington, Vt. He had been a physician in Hartland, Me., for many years, and served as chairman of the medical staff of Scott-Webb Hospital and as a president of the Maine Radiological Society. He was a member of the New England Radiological Society, the Rotary Club, and Delta Tau Delta fraternity, and was a retired Lt. Col. in the National Guard. He was preceded in death by his wife, Louise. They had three sons, John D., Jr., Robert and Kenneth.

Clifton K. Loomis '16, retired educator, on March 30, 1974, in Chester Depot, Vt. He had retired in 1954 after 31 years on the faculty of Kent School in Connecticut where he was chairman of the English Department. On his retirement the schools headmaster said, "Mr. Loomis has not only taught with real distinction but has had a great part in the development of Kent School. He is without question the most beloved master Kent has had." He had also taught at Lake Forest Academy, the University of Maine, and the Lawrenceville School, and had served in the Army in World War I. Following his retirement from Kent, he pursued his hobby, agriculture. In November, 1973, he had written to the Bulletin "Am 81 and going strong. Cut 7 cords of wood for heat insurance this winter." He was a member of Alpha Delta Phi and Phi Beta Kappa. He and his wife, Edith, had one son, Aubrey K.

Wilford Seitz '20, retired chemist of the American Crayon Co., in Sandusky, Ohio, on November 28, 1974. He had attended Kenyon and the University of Chicago, and was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He joined American Crayon in 1921 as chief engineer, a position he held until his retirement in 1965. He was a Mason and a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He and his wife, Dorothy, had two children, Frank C. and Dorothy.

Harry D. Woosley '23, on May 18, 1975, in Wadsworth, Ohio. He was 77.

James L. Wood '24, retired manager of the Ohio State Employment Service, in Norwalk, Ohio, on April 5, 1975. He was 75. He had retired in 1968 after having been manager of the State Employment Service in Norwalk for 27 years. He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church where he had sung in the choir for 66 years and was a lay reader and former vestryman. He was active in the Firelands Historical Society, the Young Men's Library and Reading Room Society, Sons of the American Revolution, social Masonic Lodge and Local Elks Club, and was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Survivors include his wife, Alma; a daughter, Mrs. Carroll (Nancy) Giles, and one granddaughter.

Hunter Kellenberger '25, former chairman of the Modern Language Division at Brown University, on April 12, 1975, in Providence, R.I. at the age of 71. He was a professor of French at Brown from 1938 until his retirement in 1971. He had served as department chairman in French, president of the Brown Chapter of the American Association of University Professors, and as chairman of the Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages. A native of Newark, Ohio, he was graduated summa cum laude from Kenyon and received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Princeton. Prior to joining the Brown faculty he taught at two schools in New York State and at Princeton, and was a Travelling Fellow of the American Council of Learned Societies. He was listed in Who's Who and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He is survived by his wife, Esther; a son, Gordon H.; a daughter, Mrs. John J. (Judi) Stella; and a brother, Richard.

Bruce Parkhill '26, retired Evanston, Ill., attorney, in September, 1974. He was a member of the law firm of Campbell, Miller, Carroll and Paxton prior to his retirement in 1970. He attended Kenyon in 1923, and received B.S. and B.Mus. degrees from Northwestern University, and the J.D. from the University of Chicago. He and his wife, Nancy, had two daughters.

Richard R. Ellsworth '31, on January 30, 1975 at his home in Toledo, Ohio, after a long illness. He is survived by his wife, Helen.

Geoffrey A. Cook '37, of Libertyville, Ill., on September 18, 1974.

John H. Patterson '39, of Birmingham, Mich.

Jack H. Crawford '68, on January 26, 1975, in Lima, Peru. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Crawford, of Englewood, Fla.

KENYON

COLLEGE BULLETIN

Gambier, Ohio 43022

ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED

What is the character of life at Kenyon?

From week to week, we bring you the news as it happens here.....Isn't it about time you started subscribing to THE KENYON COLLEGIAN?

The Kenyon Collegian

Chase Tower, Peirce Hall, P.O. Box 308, Gambier, Ohio 43022

Established 1896

Please send me 26 issues of The Kenyon Collegian for the 1975-1976 academic year at $10.00.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Check enclosed