THE SNAKE STORY

That Went Out From Mt. Vernon Captures Blue Ribbon

[Cincinnati Commercial Tribune]

Not even when it comes to tales of the Ohio baby and the ophidian can the glory of Ohio be approached, much less dimmed. When Mrs. Shamman, of the classic city of Mt. Vernon—name dear to the American heart as the home of one who couldn't tell a lie—approached the cradle in which her latest cherub was—or should have been—sleeping, she was horrified to an extent that caused her to avoid rocking the world through the rocking of the cradle. Around the neck of sweet little three-year-old Eve was coiled a snake, and in the mouth of Eve was the other end of the ophidian, with Eve calmly chewing on it, having devoured—as the voracious chronicler of the incident says—not less than four good, long inches, with the little jaws working on full time and the snake wriggling in agony.

When it comes to real, good, live and voracious snake stories, Ohio captures the blue ribbon, as she does in everything else. If some captious, carping non-Ohio man doubts thereof, let him remember that snakes started out in life with a dispute with Eve, and that the scene of the action is laid at Mt. Vernon, and who in a city of that name could tell a lie—at least who would tell one even if he could?

SHERIFF SHELLENBARGER SHOT BY FRANK COILE

WHOM HE WAS ATTEMPTING TO ARREST AND WHO DEFIED THE SHERIFF TO TAKE HIM TO THE JAIL

ARMED WITH TWO REVOLVERS THE DESPERADO AWAITED THE ARRIVAL OF THE OFFICERS

After Challenging Them To Arrest Him Rained Bullets At Them

ONE TAKING EFFECT IN THE SHERIFF'S BODY

Producing A Wound That Is Regarded By The Surgeons As Very Serious

The Desperado, Who Is Heavily Armed, Made His Escape Into A Woods

And Is Pursued By A Large Posse And A Brace Of Bloodhounds From Dayton

SHERIFF'S CONDITION

At three o'clock this afternoon the condition of Sheriff Shellenbarger was unchanged, and he was resting quietly.

James C. Shellenbarger, sheriff of Knox county, was shot down and perhaps fatally wounded, while in the performance of official duties, by Frank Hildreth, whose true name is Frank Coile, Wednesday evening about the hour of half past five.

The shooting occurred near the home of Mrs. Albert Hildreth, the foster mother of Frank Hildreth, and where the would-be murderer makes his home. The Hildreth farm is located in Miller township on what is known as Sugar street, a road running from the Knox county infirmary to the Brandon road. The Hildreth home is about midway between the two roads mentioned above and it about a mile and a half southeast of Bangs.

The facts leading up to the shooting are as follows: On Wednesday morning Mrs. May Hildreth, wife of Charles Hildreth, was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Albert Hildreth and Frank Hildreth was at home at the time. While members of the household were in another portion of the house Hildreth made an indecent proposal to Mrs. Hildreth and started towards her. She screamed and then Hildreth knocked her down, at the same time pulling a revolver from his pocket.

David Graham of Mt. Vernon was papering in a nearby room and when he heard the woman's screams he rushed into the room and there found Hildreth standing over the woman with a revolver in hand. Graham succeeded in throwing Hildreth out a door into the yard and then called other members of the household. Hildreth did not venture back into the house after this had occurred.

Wednesday afternoon Charles Hildreth, husband of Mrs. May Hildreth on whom Frank Hildreth attempted to make an assault, came to Mt. Vernon and before Mayor S. R. Gotshall swore out a warrant against Frank Hildreth, charging him with assault with intent to kill. The warrant was placed in the hands of Sheriff James C. Shellenbarger who with his deputy, John Graham started to the Hildreth farm to serve the warrant on Frank Hildreth.

HOW SHOOTING OCCURRED

It was near the hour of five o'clock when Sheriff Shellenbarger and Deputy Sheriff Graham arrived at the Hildreth home. They saw Frank Hildreth, the man they were after, standing near the barn, which is on the south side of the road. Hildreth was calmly awaiting the sheriff and his deputy. He jerked off his coat and stood facing the officers. Upon reaching the barn the sheriff and his deputy got out of the buggy and started towards the man. Hildreth raised his hand and told the officers to come no further, but to read the warrant. This Sheriff Shellenbarger did and at the same time told Hildreth to come along without any trouble.

Hildreth said that he would not go with the officers and at the same time reached in the hip pocket of his trousers for his revolver. Deputy Sheriff Graham was following closely behind Sheriff Shellenbarger and had his hand on his revolver all the time. When Hildreth reached for his revolver Graham reached for his and leveled the weapon upon Hildreth and at the same time pulling the trigger. At the same instant Hildreth fired at Sheriff Shellenbarger and the bullet, from a 44-calibre revolver, took effect in the sheriff's right side about six inches below the shoulder blade. Hildreth and Graham fired almost at the same instant, but the deputy sheriff is of the opinion that he fired the first shot.

When the first shot was fired Sheriff Shellenbarger sank to the ground, but turned his weapon upon Hildreth, firing four shots, none taking effect. Deputy Sheriff Graham fired six shots at Hildreth, but the bullets all went wild. The men were standing within eight or ten feet of each other at the time.

After Hildreth fired the first shot which took effect in Sheriff Shellenbarger's side he turned the weapon upon Deputy Sheriff Graham and fired and again turned the gun on the sheriff. Alternating in this manner Hildreth fired four shots at each of the officers, but none took effect excepting the first bullet which the sheriff received. One shot from Hildreth's gun grazed Deputy Sheriff Graham's right ear.

After firing eight shots at the officers Hildreth started and ran towards the house. In so doing he fell over a fence and as he fell on the ground he commenced to reload his revolver. Deputy Sheriff Graham had no more cartridges, but leaped over the fence and attempted to prevent Hildreth from reloading his gun. He partially succeeded for Hildreth was only able to place two cartridges in the weapon.

In the meantime Sheriff Shellenbarger, who was unable to move from where he had fallen, cried out for assistance and exclaimed to the deputy: "I am all in." The deputy sheriff went back to the wounded sheriff and succeeded in placing him in the buggy. As he was doing this Hildreth fired two shots at the men, but the bullets went wild.

Turning the rig around Deputy Sheriff Graham made a hurried drive to the home of Mr. A. G. Shutt, near the Knox county infirmary. Here the sheriff was placed on a cot and everything done that was possible to relieve his sufferings. He was conscious all the time and complained of a severe pain in his breast.

Supt. McKinley of the infirmary was notified of the shooting and sent a telephone message to Dr. C. K. Conard. The doctor was hurried to the Shutt home in an automobile driven by Ralph Vail, arriving there about a half hour after the shooting. Another message was sent to Dr. James F. Lee and he arrived at the home in a buggy about an hour and a half after the shooting.

The physicians dressed the wound but made no attempt to probe for the bullet. Will Shellenbarger and Miss Florence Shellenbarger, a brother and sister of the sheriff, soon arrived at the bed-side of the wounded man and assisted in caring for him.

It was thought best to remove the sheriff to his home in Mt. Vernon and accordingly the wounded officer was brought here in the McCormick ambulance, arriving at the county jail at just eleven o'clock.

HILDRETH ESCAPES

After the shooting Hildreth calmly walked back to his home and going directly to his room changed his clothing, putting on a brown checkered suit and a drab slouch hat. He also stopped to burn a number of letters in the kitchen stove and to empty three boxes of cartridges in his pocket. He also secured a grip, which is supposed to contain cartridges, and with a revolver in each hand, one a 44 calibre and the other a 38 calibre, he made his escape from the house into the woods.

When Hildreth was crossing the road to reach the woods he was discovered by young Fred Hildreth, a lad about sixteen years, and a son of the woman whom Hildreth attempted to assault. Young Fred had a shot gun and as Hildreth attempted to climb the fence he pulled the trigger and it is believed that a portion of the load took effect in Hildreth's leg as he seemed to stagger after getting over the fence. He was soon on his feet, however, and started through the woods.

About a half hour after this Hildreth was discovered in the Miller woods and John Williams, aged 72 years, saw the man and shot at him with a shot gun, but it is believed that his aim was poor and the shot went wild. The last seen of Hildreth was in the Miller woods and he was going in the direction of Utica.

NEWS SPREAD RAPIDLY

The news of the shooting soon reached Mt. Vernon and a large crowd of people hastened to the scene. The newspaper men were hurried to the scene in an automobile. In the meantime Chief of Police Dermody and Officer Lewis went to the Hildreth home in W. E. Sanderson's automobile. A small posse was soon formed by the officers from Mt. Vernon and a search of the woods was made, but Hildreth could not be located.

The officers also went to Hildreth's room and made a thorough search, but nothing of value was found. They did find, however, a large number of empty shells in Hildreth's room.

POSSE STARTS IN SEARCH

Through the efforts of Mayor S. R. Gotshall a special train was sent out over the C. A. & C. to Bangs carrying the posse of about 100 persons.

Shortly after the news of the shooting reaching this city, Mayor Gotshall called up L. S. Kinnaird, master mechanic at the C. A. & C. shops, and he sent word to the C. A. & C. offices in Akron, asking for advice in regard to sending the train.

At half past seven Mr. Kinnaird received word from Akron stating that an engine and a caboose could be used by the officers and that it was at their services as long as they needed it.

Mayor Gotshall received word from the master mechanic, at the Banner office, and made an announcement to the large crowd that had gathered on the square stating that the services of the special train had been secured and that all who were heavily armed, who wanted to go to Bangs, could do so by going to the site of the old C. A. & C. station where the train would be awaiting them.

There was a general rush for the train and when the mayor reached the depot he was compelled to place a guard at the doors of the caboose and then admitted those whom he selected. The special train left this city near the hour of 8 o'clock and made a fast run over to Bangs.

Upon reaching Bangs, Officer Hough was informed that Hildreth was seen in the Miller woods, south west of Bangs, and was making tracks toward Mt. Liberty. A dispatch of the same was sent to Mt. Vernon and the officer left a number of the posse at Bangs to guard the Hildreth home and took the rest to Mt. Liberty.

Upon arriving at Mt. Liberty, George M. Shaffer informed the officers that word was received by him from Mt. Vernon advising him to station a few men at Mt. Liberty and to go on to Centerburg to guard both railroad stations and to station men along the tracks. The special train reached Centerburg about 11 o'clock and the guards were placed, but nothing developed up to the hour of two o'clock, when the train was run back to this city. A number of the posse was left in Centerburg and a number were sent out on the country roads.

RESIDENTS ARMED

After the shooting had occurred most of the farmers in that section of the country armed themselves with a weapon of some kind and started out to run down the would-be murderer. After being out all night they returned home Thursday morning, having given up the search.

MRS. HILDRETH ILL

Mrs. May Hildreth on whom Frank Hildreth attempted to make an assault Wednesday morning is in a serious condition. She is a delicate woman and when seen by the Banner representative Wednesday evening was unable to talk of the terrible happenings of the day.

An attempt was made to see Mrs. Albert Hildreth, the foster mother of Frank Hildreth, but she too was almost prostrated and was unable to be seen. She spent the night at the home of Mr. Will Ward.

WHO HILDRETH IS

Frank Hildreth, or whose true name is Frank Coile, is the foster son of Mrs. Albert Hildreth, Mr. Hildreth having died some years ago. Frank is about 35 years of age and has been living with the Hildreth's since he was an infant. He was brought to the Hildreth home from a children's home in New York City and it is supposed that he was born there. He has one brother and one sister living in the city of Columbus.

Mrs. Albert Hildreth, with whom Frank lived and Mrs. Charles Hildreth, the woman he attempted to assault, are cousins. Mrs. Charles Hildreth is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Glaze of Mt. Vernon.

Hildreth or Coile is considered to be a desperate man. He has been in trouble on more than one occasion. Eight or ten years ago he attempted to shoot the late Constable George Walters, but the plucky officer knocked the revolver from Hildreth's hand and probably saved his own life.

Hildreth carried a revolver all the time and it was a frequent thing for him to pull the revolver from his pocket and commence to shoot into the air. It is said by several persons that he was slightly demented on this subject. Since the time he was arrested by Constable Walters he has boasted that he would never allow an officer to arrest him again.

PROSECUTOR BUSY

Prosecuting Attorney L. C. Stillwell was in his office all night and kept constantly calling up the surrounding towns and cities over the telephone, giving the officials a careful description of Frank Hildreth and notifying the officers to take him dead or alive.

BROTHER ARRIVES

Officer G. W. Shellenbarger of Columbus, brother of Sheriff Shellenbarger, reached the city Wednesday evening on the midnight train and is at the bedside of his brother. Mr. G. W. Shellenbarger is suffering from a bullet wound in his left wrist that he received some four weeks ago while trying to make an arrest in Columbus.

COURSE OF THE BULLET

At seven o'clock Thursday morning the fluoroscope was used on Sheriff Shellenbarger by Dr. J. H. Nichols of Mansfield, assisted by Dr. James F. Lee and Dr. C. K. Conard. Radiographs were also made, but these must be developed and will be sent here by Dr. Nichols on Friday.

The examination revealed the fact that the ball entered the right side of the body in the eighth inter-costal space on the post axillary line and on the horizontal nipple line. The ball from that point went forward on a line towards the nipple line to the center of the body, through the liver and is lodged in the upper part of the liver in the diaphragm, four inches back of the nipple.

Late Wednesday night the sheriff suffered from hemorrhages from the wound, but during the early hours of the morning he recovered from the shock. The examination showed that there was no penetration of the lung nor of hemorrhages in the internal cavity.

The condition of the wounded man improved during the late hours of the morning, although the X-Ray examination was long and worrisome to the patient.

Upon consultation of the physicians after the examination it was determined best to let the patient alone and watch the case and probably under the influence of cocaine open up the wound in the patient so as to keep up the drainage through the track of the ball.

The wound is dangerous and the outcome uncertain. There is danger of secondary hemorrhages in the liver, peritonitis, abscess and the formation of blood poisoning. It is to be hoped that nature will wall off the bullet, but in event of abscess by means of surgical intervention the bullet will be recovered.

In the meantime the patient is under the influence of opiates and his symptoms are being watched.

FOUND A GUN

Officer George Lewis while searching Frank Hildreth's room Wednesday evening found a large 38-calibre revolver, which was no doubt Frank's property. The officer took possession of the gun.

BLOODHOUNDS ARRIVE

Detective J. H. Woodward arrived in the city Thursday morning at 8:23 from Dayton over the C. A. & C. railroad, bringing with him two bloodhounds. He was met at the station by Chief Dermody and Officer Lewis and was taken to the sheriff's office in an automobile. The services of Edward Bunn and Ralph Vail were secured and the party consisting of Detective J. H. Woodward, Chief Dermody, Officer Lewis, Edward Hamilton, William M. Koons and Frank McGugin were taken to Bangs in the automobiles. The party left this city about nine o'clock. The dogs brought to this city by Detective Woodward were the same as those used by him in the Bricker murder case.

DOGS TOOK SCENT

It was near the hour of ten o'clock Thursday morning when the bloodhounds in charge of Detective Woodward of Dayton took the scent of Frank Hildreth at the scene of the shooting. The dogs took up the scent and went through the woods, near the Hildreth home, and then into the Miller road where Hildreth was last noticed.

Going through the Miller woods the dogs and posse came across some blood on a stump and the supposition is that Hildreth is no doubt wounded and sat down on the stump to rest or perhaps tie up his injury.

The dogs continued the scent through the woods and then past the pumping station and onto the Centerburg road. The dogs followed the scent very rapidly a long the Centerburg road, going in a southwesterly direction toward Centerburg.

Dying Of Famine

is, in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture, both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at G. R. Baker & Son, Mt. Vernon, and F. F. Hosaek, Fredericktown drug stores, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

Tired Nervous

When you feel languid, tired, nervous and irritable, your vitality is low—your supply of nerve energy exhausted, and your system running down for lack of power.

The organs of the body are working poorly, or not at all, and you are not getting the nourishment needed. This soon impoverishes the blood and instead of throwing off the impurities, distributes it all through the body. This brings disease and misery.

Feed the nerves with Dr. Miles' Nerve, a nerve food, a nerve medicine, that nourishes and strengthens the nerves, and see how quickly you will get strong and vigorous.

"My wife suffered with nervousness previous to a recent attack of typhoid fever, but after her recovery from the fever, she was much worse, and could hardly control herself being exceedingly nervous when the least excited. She was very restless at night, and never had a good night's rest. She also suffered much from nervous headache. Dr. Miles' Nerve was recommended by a friend. After the first three doses she had a good night's rest, and at the end of the first week's treatment she was wonderfully improved. Continued use of Nerve has completed her entire cure."

OTTO KOLB, 1021 Cherry St., Evansville, Ind. Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

Special Pins For Insect Collectors.
"Much care," said a taxidermist, "has to be taken in selecting the long, fine pins used in fastening the specimens in insect collections. For cheap collections of butterflies and bugs we use the ordinary brass pins mostly, but every one of these must be carefully examined before impaling the insect to see that it is well tinned, for were the tin coating imperfect or the slightest flaw evident it would be in nine cases out of ten liable to oxidize in the body of the insect and thus destroy it. We also use black varnished pins, but they are almost as bad, for the glazed coating soon cracks, leaving the metal exposed, and consequently it is not very long before oxidation sets in. Even the more expensive kind, the nickel plated pins, are not much better. The latest things we have now are solid silver pins and bronze pins, and there is being used as an experiment a nickel and aluminium alloy, which possesses decided advantages over all the other kinds used."

Nose Lore.
The classic Greek nose has been regarded as the ideal shape, though there are Roman, Caucasian, Mongolian and Ethiopian noses, each indicating a peculiar type of mental trait. Generally speaking, thick and flat noses denote material instincts, and turned up noses vanity. Wide nostrils are a sign of strength, while small nostrils indicate weakness. Napoleon's knowledge of human nature made him select generals with large noses, for this betokens intelligence, just as the eagle nose shows a firm, strong will. Possibly no nose speaks louder for itself than the alcoholic nose, and it is as much to be feared as the pointed nose and chin, which in conjunction proclaims general wickedness. Certainly the most interesting nose is the cogitative, for it expands with thought, which comes, according to rhinology, or the science of nose reading, from reflection. Instances of these noses from Homer to Wesley and Shakespeare can be quoted.

How Islands Get Forests.
When traveling among the islands of the Pacific or Atlantic one often wonders how it is that lands so far away from great continents have become covered with forests, but Darwin and other naturalists have solved the difficulty for us.

Thus we learn from Darwin that he took from the foot of a woodcock a cake of dry earth in which was a seed of the toudrush. He planted the seed and it germinated and flowered.

Professor Newton sent him the leg of a partridge which had been wounded and unable to fly. Attached to it was a clod of earth weighing six and one-half ounces. He broke up the clod and placed in under the bell glass. No fewer than eighty-two plants sprang from it. It is the more interesting to know that the clod of earth containing this treasury was kept three years before planting.—Louse Beautiful.

Is or Will Be.
One of those grammarian fiends met a man the other day and asked him which was correct, "Tomorrow is Sunday" or "Tomorrow will be Sunday." The man told him the following story: Years ago the Reading Railroad company issued an order requiring its brakemen, as soon as a train started from any station, to call out the name of the next stopping place.

For awhile the trainmen, instructed doubtless by some grammarian of the road, would do this by saying, "Next station will be Allentown, Reading, etc. An editor took them to task for it, pointing out the absurdity of using the future tense in speaking of that which always is in the same place. After that the brakemen dropped "will be" and cried, "Next station, Allentown, Reading, etc."

BONAPARTE IN CABINET

Gifted Baltimore Attorney the Next Secretary of the Navy.

PRESIDENT'S DECLARATION

Secretary Morton to Retire at the End of the Present Month to Take Charge of Construction of New York Subway System—No Other Changes Imminent.

Washington, June 1. — Charles D. Bonaparte of Baltimore will be appointed secretary of the navy to succeed Paul Morton, who will retire July 1 to go to New York to take charge of the plans for the construction of the subway system for operation in connection with the surface lines. This announcement was made by President Roosevelt. The latter also authorized the statement that no other change in the personnel of the cabinet was likely to take place in the near future. Secretary Shaw already has indicated his intention of retiring from the cabinet, probably next February. Rumors of the retirement of Attorney General Moody have been published, but it is understood to be his intention now to continue in the cabinet for a year and a half, and perhaps longer.

In all the gossip Mr. Bonaparte has not been suggested as Mr. Morton's possible successor. For many years Mr. Bonaparte has been an intimate friend of the president. So great is Mr. Roosevelt's confidence in him that on many matters of national concern he has sought his advice and counsel. To determine accurately the legal phases of the postal frauds, the president designated Mr. Bonaparte and Holmes Conrad to investigate the subject, and on their report he took decisive action without hesitation. Eminent as a lawyer and as a publicist, and a consistent advocate of civil service reform, Mr. Bonaparte has not been supposed to have more than an academic interest in the navy. In the rebuilding of the navy, however, he is known to be in perfect accord with the president, and doubtless will carry into effect the views of Mr. Roosevelt in the strengthening of the naval establishment.

Daring Holdup.

New York, June 1.—Four daring robbers held up Charles Keuhn, a messenger of the Yorkville bank of this city, in a crowded business section at Houston and Hudson streets, choked him and robbed him of an empty bag. Keuhn was on his way to other banks, from which he usually returned with the bag filled with thousands of dollars in gold and notes. Three of the robbers escaped. The fourth, an ex-convict named Hogan, who only a short time ago finished a 12-year sentence for highway robbery, was pursued and captured by a detective after he had attempted to shoot his pursuer.

Too Much Meat.

Physicians insist that after reaching the age of forty the majority of men and women eat much more meat than is good for them. This is hard upon those who are accustomed to eating too much of that staple article of diet and are fond of it, but it is said that a little self denial will prove that the effort is worth a trial. Do not stop it all at once—that would be bad for the general health—but gradually reduce the amount, taking care to substitute in its place a good menu, which will produce the necessary amount of sustenance.

When Tea Was Medicine.

Before tea became cheap enough to be considered a drink it was largely used as a medicine. A familiar advertisement in the London Tatler used to proclaim a "famous chymical quintessence of Bohea tea and cocoanuts together, wherein the volatile salt, oil and spirit of both" formed "the highest restorative that either food or physical affords."

Wouldn't Hurt His Clothes.

An artist gave his latest painting to a porter to carry to an exhibition. "Be careful, be careful," said he; "the picture is scarcely dry." "Oh, never mind," exclaimed the porter; "it's of no consequence—my clothes are old!"

Breach of Discipline.

In February, 1748, Lord Robert Bertie, third son of Robert, first duke of Lancaster, afterward general in the army and colonel of the Second regiment of foot guards, received a reprimand, such reprimand being conveyed to him by the Duke of Cumberland's aide-de-camp. His military offense was that he had blown his nose, as he relieved guard, beneath his grace's window in St. James palace; this, and this only, was all he had done.—Chambers' Journal.
