MISS KNIGHT'S SUIT AGAINST THE DUKE

Is Not a Merchant of Venice Affair.

She Says She Has a Strong Case and Does Not Hesitate in Going Into Court.

London, June 26.—Miss Portia Knight, the American actress, has engaged Sir Edward Clarke, the former solicitor general, as counsel in the suit for breach of promise which she has brought against the Duke of Manchester.

Miss Knight said: "While 150 cases are docketed ahead of mine, I am assured that mine will be heard within a month, at the outside. I have no hesitation in going into court, for I have as strong a case as it is possible to bring."

When Miss Knight was asked what prospect there was of a settlement out of court, she replied: "I do not think it probable, although I understand the Duke of Manchester is coming to London. Just what that means I am unable to say."

Onlookers in Parliament.

London, June 26.—Mr. Choate and Mr. Henderson listened to the army debate in the gallery of the house of lords. The Duke of Bedford and Lord Dunsley criticised the army reorganization bill. The failure is said to be mainly owing to the bank's close connection with the Cassel Trebor-Trocknung company, which has also failed.

A guard was left, but in a short time the workmen again went to work. BRYAN REPLIES TO SENATOR FORAKER.

Also Booms Hanna For President.

The Nebraskan Says He is Not a Candidate for Office and Has No Choice.

Watertown, N. Y., June 26.—William J. Bryan was met here by a large crowd. He addressed a large audience at the state armory on "Civilization," and in the evening he lectured again on "The Conquering Nation." Admission was charged to both.

In an interview Mr. Bryan said Senator Hanna is the logical candidate of the Republican party for president in 1904, because Hanna represents the dominant force in the party. Vice President Roosevelt, he said, represents "the warlike spirit which was developed by a war of conquest."

In reply to Senator Foraker's speech at Columbus, O., Mr. Bryan said: "When Senator Foraker says that I am the only intelligent man who does not admit that the defeat of 1896 was a blessing to the country, he makes an unjust reflection upon the intelligence of more than 8,000,000 people, for there are that many who do not believe a Democratic victory in 1896 would have brought disaster to the nation, and they are all sufficiently intelligent to deserve the respect of Senator Foraker."

The following over the signature of Mr. Bryan appears in Norman E. Mack's paper, the Buffalo Times: "I am not only not a candidate for any office, but I have no candidate in my mind for any office. My interest centers in principles and men are important only as they aid in carrying out these principles. The Democratic party stands for definite, positive principles, and unless I mistake the sentiments of the masses, the voters will insist upon adhering to these principles in spite of the threats of reorganizers. Those who argue from the standpoint of expediency will not have influence with the voters because no one can say what is expedient. We may deserve to win and yet lose; but it still remains that to deserve to win is the surest road to success."

British Pay the Cost.

London, June 26.—The casualty lists made public by the war office continue to show rather severe fighting in various parts of South Africa that are not reported in the ordinary dispatches. This is noticeably so with regard to the Zeerust position in Cape Colony. It also inspires disquietude, which is added to by the reported looting of Jamestown in spite of the proximity of a strong British force at Allwal North. It appears that, including the Boer prisoners and those in the concentration camps, the cost of supporting about 80,000 Boers is falling upon British taxpayers.

ACTUAL LOSS NOT YET KNOWN IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Bluefield, W. Va., June 26.—The West Virginia flood situation has not many new developments, but it is synthetically stated that the loss of life has been greatly overestimated, although the loss of property can hardly be estimated. The most conservative estimate obtainable places the loss of life at about 50, a greater part of whom are colored miners and their families. A great many more are missing and are supposed to have been debris and it will take many days to find all the bodies.

The Norfolk and Western Railway company will lose, at a conservative estimate, $500,000, not considering the delay to traffic. Its double track is practically washed away a distance of six miles, and at least 3,500 men are at work day and night repairing roadbed and removing drift. It will be four days before traffic can be resumed.

The loss to coal operators will reach about $400,000 outside of the delay at the mines in loading, etc. The property loss by private parties is very heavy and can not be estimated at this time, but it is thought it will reach $1,000,000.

Until traffic is resumed and all communications opened it will be impossible to estimate with any degree of certainty either the loss of life or property.

Admiral Schley on Medals.

New York, June 26.—Admiral Schley, in thanking the Gloucester naval command of Brooklyn for electing him an honorary member of the organization, says in his letter referring to war medals: "Touching the matter of your reference to a medal, I have always believed that nations ought of right to perpetuate the great events of their history, rather than these of the lives of participants, and leave to the judicial calm of historic judgment to perpetuate in bronze those who may have honored themselves by deeds of honor wrought for home, for flag, for country. No, my maxim has been steadfastly, through nearly a half century of service, my country first, last and all the time, after my love of God."

THE GREAT WORK OF B. & O. MANAGERS.

Their Energy and Success Compelled the Pennsylvania System to Buy Up the Road.

The real meaning of the closer consolidation of the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio systems is not clearly understood. The facts are that the business of the territory traversed by both lines is so great that they have been unable with all their improvements to handle it. The Pennsylvania has been spending millions for extra tracks and the Baltimore & Ohio has spent $20,000,000 in four years for physical betterment alone, and more than $15,000,000 for equipment. The greater part of the Baltimore & Ohio traffic is derived from exclusive territory. This fact was recognized years ago by the leading men of the Baltimore & Ohio system. When George B. Roberts was president he once called a meeting at which he stated that the Pennsylvania could do nothing better than buy the B. & O. Some of the directors dissented, and one or two suggested that the Pennsylvania could afford to let the B. & O. alone, inasmuch as it was a "rundown" road. At that time the B. & O. was in a wretched condition, its equipment was all worn out and the right of way was represented as being only two streaks of rust. Then came the great change. John W. Cowen and Oscar G. Murray assumed control of the system and appointed bright and enterprising men like D. B. Martin manager of the passenger traffic, William Gibson as general superintendent, and they also appointed a press agent, advertising agent and other men to look after the system in various ways, and then came one of the most astonishing changes in the history of the railroads of the world.

Immediately the attention of the Pennsylvania men was attracted to the important fact that the Baltimore & Ohio would have to be controlled. President Cassatt, when he was appointed to the position, recommended that the B. & O. be taken into the fold at once. This was made necessary by the great improvement made on the line and the rapid growth of its traffic. Messrs. Cowen and Murray accomplished a great thing when they made the B. & O. a part of the Pennsylvania system. The way they did this is interesting. The improvements they made were on a gigantic scale. These improvements were the erection of new and strengthening of old bridges on the line between Baltimore and Philadelphia; the new eight story storage warehouse at Camden station, Baltimore; the new coal pier and new yards at Curtis Bay, Baltimore; the commencement of the reduction of grades and changes of line and other improvements between Relay and Frederick junction, Md., the purpose of this reduction of grade being to make the through grades on the line between Baltimore and Brunswick, Md., 16 feet to the mile, and to lower the helper grade at Mt. Airy, so as to carry over it with one helping engine the train load for the through grade of 16 feet; the construction of the Patterson creek, W. Va., and Potomac, Md., so as to save a distance of 10 miles; the improvements at Fairmont, W. Va., consisting of passenger and freight station and yard terminals; the construction of the Hecker's run branch and the Burnersville

In the matter of equipment the managers have been adding to the number of cars and engines right along. One year's record for new cars and engines was as follows:

Steel cars.....	6 000
Box cars.....	25 000
Flat cars.....	500
Locomotives.....	225
Coaches.....	25
Combination cars.....	2
Express cars.....	10
Baggage cars.....	10
Cafe parlor cars.....	3

Total cars and engines... 37 763

All these cars and engines are in use now and yet the transportation department is handicapped for lack of sufficient motive power and rolling stock to handle the tremendous business offered the road. Under such circumstances the Baltimore & Ohio comes into the Pennsylvania fold with colors flying. It is a first-class line from end to end, and will be a valuable part of the great Pennsylvania system. It will to some extent be operated separately, like the Chesapeake & Ohio, and the present able B. & O. men will be all retained.

uses Walker's Soap because it is free from alkali and saves the company thousands of dollars in a year in preserving paint, varnish, and fabrics washed with it. Before the Pennsylvania Railroad used Walker's Soap, newly varnished cars were found to be shabby and need re-varnishing. The cause was a mystery till the company's chemist investigated and found it was the alkali in common soaps that was destroying property. A standard of soap purity was then set up, and now the cars are washed with

THERE'S COMFORT IN IT

Those swell summer flannels which are just now so stylish have several things to commend them, but the most important is that they are decidedly comfortable. This is made possible by the fact that they are light weight, yet firm of texture, and are made up in skeleton form without any hot paddings or linings.

Their colors are good, and you could not make a mistake in any of the patterns. Of course one pattern might be more agreeable to you than another, and that being the case we have a varied array from which you may make a selection.

The prices on these stylish suits are so low that you can afford to have one of them for special hot weather wear, although they are suitable for all the summer through.

We are making a special display of this line now, and you are welcome to inspect it, whether you buy or not.

BOY'S STRANGE STORY

Says He Tried to Prevent His Father Committing Suicide.

NOW HE IS ACCUSED OF MURDER.

First He Buried His Father's Body, Then He Exhumed It and Put it in a Position to Indicate Suicide.

Mount Clemens, Mich., June 26.—Homer Bliss, who was arrested several days ago on suspicion of killing his father, whose badly decomposed body was found on his farm, confessed to the killing, maintaining, however, that it was accidental.

According to the confession of Bliss he found his father June 3 about to commit suicide. In the struggle over the gun he had it accidentally discharged, Homer says, instantly killing the father. The next day Homer buried the body, leaving it in the ground until June 14, when he exhumed it. Placing it on a wheelbarrow he moved it to the spot where it was found. Here he propped it against a stump and tied the gun to a sapling to make it appear his father had committed suicide.

Chicago College in Ruins.
 Chicago, June 26.—During a heavy thunderstorm lightning struck the college of physicians and surgeons on Harrison street. The fire which followed the lightning in a short time destroyed the college building, which was one of the finest of its kind in the west. The lightning struck the college square between the top of a rising projection in front part of the roof, and such a tremendous crash of thunder accompanied the flash that all the people in the neighborhood thought an explosion had taken place in the college. Almost before the first engines had arrived the flames had spread all through the five stories of the building. Adjoining the college is the smaller building of the West Side hospital, which was filled with patients, about 100 being in the various wards. As soon as it was seen that the college could not be saved and that its walls were liable to fall at any time, the work of removing the patients from the hospital began. All were safely removed. The loss of the college is almost total and is estimated at $200,000.
