OIL FIELD BURNING NEAR HOUSTON, TEXAS Affray Occurs Near Waverly Was An Insane Man During Farmhand Dies Suddenly In Result Of Quarrel A Fight

Loss So Far Confined To Tanks Of Texas Company

Twelve Lives Sacrificed And Total Loss Is Placed At Over Six Hundred Thousand Dollars And A Still Larger Loss Is Threatened

life in the Humble oil fire, as near as can be ascertained, is 12, but no names can be ascertained. The fire is still burning fiercely.

So far as can be learned these were ing to prevent the spread of the flames. Forty-three mules are known to have perished. The members of the Texas company state that the tanks contained approximately 2,500,000 barrels of oil, which was valued as about 25 cents per barrel, and that no oil will be saved. In addition they say the big pumping plant at the tanks was entirely destroyed. The total loss is more than $600,000. The efforts of fire fighting have been confined to throwing up earthen embankments between the burning tanks, of which there are 11, and those in which 4,000,000 barrels of oil of other companies are stored. These tanks are 3,000 and 4,000 feet from the fire, but the water which covers the field as a result of the rain of Sunday has floated the burning oil to the first level, and a sudden boil-over may succeed in carrying the burning fluid to the second embankment, which would put the other tanks in great danger. The fire is not spreading toward the producing field and it is not expected that it will. Hundreds of men are engaged in strengthening the levees, building them higher and in throwing up additional ridges.

Among the companies who had oil stored in the Texas tanks are Stelzig & Antil, 44,000 barrels; Brooks & Co., 100,000 barrels; Landslider & Co., 125,-000 barrels.

Scores of people have lost their temporary homes in the field. Many of these have already come to Houston

CHINESE MINISTER MAKES STATEMENT

Concerning China's Note To The Powers Of Europe

Had No Suggestion From Any Other Government In Regard To Its Issuance Or Subject-Matter---Chinese To Allay The Boycott

Amherst, Mass., July 25 .- It is the called off the strike. emph. c statement of Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, who is summering here, that China, in communicating to the powers her unwillingness to recognize any arrangement in regard to Manchuria about which she had not been previously consulted, acted wholly upon her own initiative. "The note just made public by the Washington government," he declared, was addressed by my government first to the belligerents, and later to the neutral powers. Previous to this my government had sounded its governors and viceroys and ministers abroad regarding various phases of the Manchurian question, and the notification to the powers that we would not recognize any arrangement regarding the Chinese province of Manchuria about which we had not been consulted beforehand was not prompted or evem suggested, so far as I am aware, by any other government, but emanated directly from the Peking government, which acted in this matter entirely on its own initiative."

The minister has received brief advices about the boycott declared against American goods by Chinese merchants. On this point he said: "The Chinese government has done what it could to discourage this boycott, which is not in any way a governmental affair, but emanates from the commercial guilds, over which the government has no control." The minister added that his government would continue to do what it could to allay the agitation, and expressed the hope that it would not interfere in any way with the cordial relations existing between the two governments. At the Chinese legation the hope is expressed that when the B. F. Leek, of Concord, Ky., says: willingness of this government to interpret the present immigration law For 20 years I suffered agonies, in a broad spirit and to afford to the

The solicitor stated that this amount was in excess of the one per cent. and that he considered it necessary to submit it to a vote of the people. Quite a discussion followed, several members of council holding that this did not apply to the case in question as the money to pay for this improvement is by assessment and not by direct taxation. Mr. Sefton finally offered a motion that the matter be referred to the finance committee and the city solicitor and that a report on the matter be given at the next meeting. The motion carried.

A RATTLER'S BITE.

Not Kill the Victim. It may seem absurd to claim that there are cases where the bite of a rattlesnake is not fatal, yet such have happened, and to understand these it is necessary only to understand the manner in which this reptile strikes. The spectacle of a rattlesnake at bay s one a beholder never forgets. The great, long body lies coiled in a tense spiral, the very embodiment of wickedness. Poised in air, the white bellied fore body is bent into a horizontal S, rigid as an iron bar. Raised from the middle of the spiral is the tail, quiveremitting a rattle like steam escaping ing black and cold as icy steel, is ready to strike. As the grewsome mouth opens wide and pink, the long, thin polson fangs arise from a horizontal position and stand upright like a pair of slender, curved, needle pointed shad bones, ready for business. Like a flash. far too quick for the eye to follow, the snake strikes, sending home its fangs an inch or two, and in that same fraction of an instant he has squirted a tablespoonful of canary yellow, viscous fluid into the wound and lies coiled ready for a second attack. In this incomprehensibly swift attack lies the answer why sometimes the bite of a rattler is not fatal, for so wonderfully swift is the attack that a bite may be imperfect, leaving only a pair of tiny needle punctures with just enough venom to make a victim seri-

Another reason why a rattlesnake's blte is not always fatal is that temporarily the reptile may be without ven-om. The snake may have exhausted its poison on a previous enemy, in which case it would have to wait several days before the deadly fluid has reaccumulated, or, again, the viper's fangs may have suffered accident. They may have been broken off and require time for new growth. In any case, certain it is that a rattlesnake's poison applied in the proper way will do its work, and then only the most expert and prompt assistance will save a victim.-A. W. THE STATE FAIR AT COLUMBUS IS AN EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION

IT IS THE CULMINATION OF YEARS OF EFFORT The Forthcoming Exhibition To Open In All Its Grandeur and Completeness on Monday Morning, September 4

To Continue Five Full Days.

Great Number of Feature Attractions and Select Amusements Are Provided For Each Day and the Program Will Be One Round of Interest From Beginning to End-Columbus, a Geographical Center, Easily Accessible From All Points and Low Rates Will Prevail Over All Railway Lines During the Progress of the Fair.

The coming Ohio State Fair and Industrial Exposition, to be held at Columbus, five full days, Sept. 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, will be the fifty-fifth annual exhibition held under the auspices of the State Board of Agriculture.

The history of the Ohio State Fair is an example of the energy and thrift of the people of the great Buckeye state. Its growth has been marvelous, advancing as it has during the past twenty-five years from a small, migratory exhibition to a stupendous exposition, representing in well classified and systematized divisions and classes Ohio's valuable resources, both in the agricultural and industrial lines. The permanent park grounds consist of one hundred and fifteen acres of rolling land, situated about two and one-half miles north of the State Capitol, on which have been erected seventeen substantial exhibition buildings and numerous other power hall will be found agricultural implements and tools, wagons, trucks, bins, pumps, motors, gasoline engines etc. On the open ground, adjacent to these buildings, on correctly platted plots, will be shown the operative exhibits, such as engines, crushers, threshers, binders, stackers, balers, heavy harvesting devices and road machinery, making in all a machinery exhibit unsurpassed by any state or national exposition.

The poultry and pet stock exhibit is another feature that has outgrown its old quarters, and during the past year the State Board of Agriculture has erected an exposition building for this department that combines all the conveniences for the largest and most modern show. It contains uniform, standard coops, arranged in tiers, along broad, clean aisles, through which visitors may pass in viewing the birds, that will be classified according to varieties. The structure, structures, including a grand stand constructed of stone, brick and glass, with a seating capacity of ten thousand, an administration headquarters, Grange hall, music pavilions, an emergency hospital, fire department and police headquarters, telephone and telegraph offices, express offices, and buildings for concessionaries, all combining to make a model exposition

The park feature of the grounds is not surpassed in beauty or arrangement by any pleasure park in the state, as its broad, rolling lawns, studded with rare shrubbery, fragrant flowers and sweet smelling flowering plants, stately forest trees, inviting retreats, and broad, clean, shaded walks leading to the various exhibition buildings and points of interest, make it an ideal spot for nature lovrs to congregate and view the heauties of nature embellished by man's is of imposing appearance, and covers an area of 14,400 square feet, with accommodations for six thousand birds. None of the other features that combine to make the exposition educational in every department have been neglected, and the visitor will find separate buildings devoted to fruits and farm products, woman's work, fine arts, merchandise and manufacturing interests.

Aside from the great classified exhibits to be viewed, studied and com-pared, and the beauties of the park grounds to be admired by all, there will be many forms of special entertainment and free feature attractions of the highest order. Band concerts will be given daily in the halls and at the music pavilions by the musical organizations of the state, and music recitals will be daily features in the building devoted to the display of musical instruments. The lover of horses will enjoy the harness events, three of which are scheduled for each day of the fair. The superb half-mile course will be put in prime condition for record breaking, and with the liberal purses

LIVE STOCK BUILDING.

In the northern section of the grounds are located the great live stock buildings, one each for horses, cattle, sheep and swine; while in close proximity is the poultry and pet stock department. These are the most modern exhibition buildings ever constructed, and their general arrangement and equipment have called forth high praise from the leading live stock journals and exhibitors of the country. Located in the southern section of the grounds, directly opposite one of the main entrances, will be found the machinery department. The exhibition capacity of this department has been greatly augmented, since the exposition of last year, by the erection of two mammoth machinery halls, each 102 x 402 feet, and the department now has a total exhibition space of 164,016 square feet. The new buildings parallel the old power hall, on either side, and were necessitated by the yearly increased demands for exhibition space in this department. The ceuter building is equipped with shafting and here will be shown shop and farm machinery in actual operation. In the buildings paralleling the outing than a visit to the Ohio State Fair would be hard to select. Here amid the grandeur of the park grounds, the magnificence of the exhibits will afford many lessons of inestimable value, while with the varied attractions and amusements, one may enjoy all the pleasures of a well selected outing.

The management has designated Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 4, as Ladies' Free Day, and Friday, Sept. s, the children of the state will be admitted free to the grounds. Every line of travel will have cheap excursion dates during the entire week, and every citizen who is interested in the progress of our grand state should pay a visit to the Exposition and view her greatness as exemplified in the
