though severely injured, was the first man to rush into the wrecked smoking car to take part in the work of rescue, gave the following account of the terrible sight within: "The living, the wounded and the dead were piled in one indiscriminate mass all over the floor of the car; the living entangled with the arms and legs of the dead and many of them pinned down by the dead bodies of the Italians. Some of the dead were so badly smashed that through their mouths protruded hideous masses of intestines. Terrorized by the death of their darkness, the Italians fought with one another and stamped over the living as badly injured by fighting each other as by the wreck."

Poole of the passenger train was killed at his post while trying to reach for the airbrake after seeing the headlight of the freight train. His fireman, Haefner, saved himself by jumping. The high speed of the passenger train threw its locomotive and first three coaches over on the engine of the freight train, telescoping the smoker and the car following. The forward cars of the freight train were splintered to fragments. Of the passengers in the smoker none escaped injury. Yaquis Seek Peace.

City of Mexico, Aug. 14.—It is reported on the best authority that the Yaqui Indians of Sonora, tired of the long, disastrous warfare carried on against the government, are now asking peace, and that negotiations are actually being carried on looking to that end. The war against the Yaquis has done incalculable damage to the state of Sonora and has retarded development of its resources to a greater extent than is generally believed. It is understood that the peace conferference, which has been called to meet at Uras, will result in a settlement. The claims of the Indians are that some years ago they were given lands to own and cultivate, and that after they reclaimed the wild lands and put them into cultivation they were told that a mistake had been made in the survey and that they would have to accept other lands, which they did without protest, only Blackpool, England, Aug. 14.—Two to have the same thing happea to Pipe Line to Gulf.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug 14.-John F. Mundy of the Chanute district said: "The proposition to construct a pipe line from the Kansas oil field to the gulf is not a dead one by any means, and its prospects are more favorable today than at any time since it was first suggested. The story that the Mellons of Pittsburg, Pa., who were to put up the money, had thrown it down, is absolutely without foundation. They simply asked to be given until Sept. 15. A deal of this magnitude can not be turned in a day or two. It means a total outlay of $23,-000,000, and $7,500,000 of that must be available when the time for starting the work arrives."

Mother and Child Perish.

Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 14.-With her three-year-old daughter in her arms Mrs. Norman Spurlock of this city poured coal oil on lighted kindlings in her kitchen stove, and both mother and child are dead. The blaze leaped up to the can and an explosion followed, enwrapping both in a flame. The mother fought valiantly to save her child, forgetting her own agony, but both were so thoroughly soaked with the burning oil that they were burned to death before the husband and father could reach them from the Baker et, and probably will not reach a determination of it until he shall have returned to Washington the latter part of September. The chances of an extraordinary session appear, however, to be fading. Strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the president to induce him not to call an extraordinary session of the congress. Many senators and representatives have urged against an extra session. They point out that practically nothing will be gained by an extra session that will begin not more than three weeks before the opening of the regular long session, and that it will l cause some inconvenience to many members in both branches. Taking these things into consideration, the president has reserved a definite decision of the matter, the chances, as noted, being that the session will not be called. Exports of Manufactures. Washington, Aug. 14. - Statistics compiled by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor show that the exports of manufactures in the official year just ended amounted to $543,620,297, as against $452,415,921 in the preceding year, $433,851,756 in 1900 and $183,595,743 in 1895. Of manufactures the exports for the past fiscal year were "not only the largest on record, but are in excess of the combined exports of all articles in the centennial year 1876, and near $140,000,000 more than the total imports and exports of the country at the close of the civil war." The growth in the exportation of manufactures is shown to have largely exceeded the growth in population. Out of falling off for the year as compared with 1904. Iron and steel manufactures supply about one-fourth of the total exports; having been $134,727,921, as against $111,948,586 in the preceding year.

Did Too Much Rubbering. Chicago, Aug. 14.-James E. Daley, bartender, shot and killed his wife in a saloon because she upbraided him for his attentions to other women. His 18-months-old daughter was the only witness to the killing, and it was several hours after the tragedy occurred before the police discovered the woman's body. Daley was arrested in a saloon near where he lived, and the police hurried him away to the station o prevent a crowd of infuriated neighbors from lynching him. When asked why he killed his wife, Daley replied: "Because she did too much subbering." Ball Entered Girl's Head.

Taylorsville, Ky., Aug. 14.—Miss Bessie Auberry, 17, who resided near Batland, met death in a singular manner. A pistol had been hidden under the bedding in her room by one of the young girl's brothers. Several small children were playing in the room and one of them found the pistol. My knee and elbow joints were swollen terrilly, and at one time my hands were so swollen and painful that I could not close them when opened. I was getting discouraged, you may be sure, when I began S. S., but as I saw it was helping me I continued it, and today I am a sound, well man and have never had a return of the disease.

The inactivity of the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels causes the refuse matter to remain in the system, which, coming in contact with the different acids of the body, forms uric acid to be absorbed by the blood and distributed to the different joints and muscles, producing the pains, inflammation and other distressing symptoms of Rheumatism. Fate of Mutineers.

Sebastopol, Aug. 14.—As a result of the trial of the 53 mutineers of the training ship Pruth, 15 have been acquitted, four condemned to be shot, three sentenced to penal servitude for life and the remainder to various shorter terms. The court recommended that two of the death sentences be commuted to penal servitude for life and the two others to 10 years' imprisonment.

Chink's Bloody Work.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 14. - Two Chinese merchants are dead and the son of one of them is dying in a hospital as the result of a tragedy in this city. Fung Ging and Fung Sing were partners in a tailoring business in Vancouver's Chinatown. Fung Sing started out on a tour of murder. First he shot and fatally wounded Fung Lee, son of Ging, and then turned his attention to the latter. Having finished the family Sing turned the revolver on himself and sent a bullet through his neck, causing instant death. The two had quarreled because Sing wished to retire from business.

The Blazer.

The name "blazer" was originally applied to the bright red uniform of the Lady Margaret Boat club of St. John's college, Cambridge. The brilliant scarlet which was the invariable characteristic of the Johnian "blazer" doubtless suggested the name, and as an expressive slang epithet it proved a hit. In course of time the application of the term widened and is now extended to any bright or pale colored flannel jacket, striped or plain, whether for cricket, football, tennis, boating or seaside wear.-London Standard.

In the Course of Time Sirius May Rise In Midwinter.

Dog days begin, according to the traditions of boyhood in certain parts of it is supposed to be unsafe to go in swimming. And it is then that, according to the tradition of many adults as well as of boys, dogs most frequent ly go mad. All nations and races of givilization apparently have had a period during the summer known as dog days when many maladies were supposed to be common. But the madness of dogs, hydrophobia, was never associated with dog days by the ancients.

Dog days are a rather indefinite period, according to this green seum rule, but there is a disagreement of authorities as to when dog days really do begin and end. According to the dictionary, "dog days are part of the year about the time of the heliacal rising of the dog star, Sirius"-that is, when the house with Hall, and became involved dog star rises in conjunction with the sun or as nearly in conjunction as may be observed. Various dates from July 3 to Aug. 15 have been assigned for his wife the baby. Then Hall took a the beginning of dog days, and they are given various durations of from thirty to fifty days. It seems to have been from the heliacal rising of Sirius that the ancients most commonly reckoned the dog days. Thus at the present time dog days would begin July 3 and will end Aug. heavens, and it was easy to associate the mutual heat of the brightest star and of the sun with the hottest and most unkindly period of the year. Hippocrates (450 B. C.) declared the dog days to be the most unhealthy part of the summer

Dog days are continually dropping farther back in the calendar. Now they are twelve days behind the schedule to which they held in the period of the pharaohs. In time Sirius may rise in the dead of winter. The Egyptians maintained that the first indication of the rise of the Nile took place on the morning of the longest day, when, as they said, the sun and Sothis (Sirius) rose together. They attributed the rise of the river entirely to the great heat generated by this star in conjunction with the sun.

Sirius is situated in the mouth of the constellation Canis Major (the "great dog"). The Latin name of dog days was "dies canicularis," and from this comes the term "canicular year," which was known among the Egyptians and Ethiopians. It was computed from one heliacal rising of Sirius to the next and consisted ordinarily of 365 days, every fourth year having 366 days .- Chicago News.

Giants of History.

Turner, the naturalist, declares that he once saw upon the coast of Brazil a race of gigantic savages whose average height was over ten feet, some individuals exceeding twelve and a half feet. M. Thevet of France in his description of America, which was published in Paris in 1575, says that he was once present when the skeleton of that have been driven ashore on the a South American savage eleven feet long bars on dark and stormy nights and two inches in height was disinterred. The Chinese have a record of several giants between twelve and sixteen feet in height which have lived in the Flowery Kingdom within the last well acquainted with Gabath, the Arabian giant, who was nine Pliny was feet nine inches in height. Coming down to modern times, we find that John Middleton, who lived in the time of James I., was nine feet three inches and had a hand seventeen inches long by eight and a half broad. Murphy, one of the celebrated trio of Irish giants (Charles Byrne and O'Brien being the other two), was eight feet ten inches and O'Brien two inches taller.

A CRUSHÉD GENIUS.

The First Musical Efforts of the

One day-I must have been twelve or thirteen-I brought with me to school a music book on which I had written in large letters: "Variations on a German Melody For the Piano, by Edward Grieg: Opus I." I wanted to show it to a schoolfellow who had taken some interest in me. But what happened? In the middle of the German lesson this same schoolfellow began to murmur some unintelligible words, which made the teacher call out half unwillingly: "What is the matter? What are you saying there?" Again a confused murmur, again a call from the teacher, and then he whispered, "Grieg has got something." "What does that mean, Grieg has got something?" "Grieg has composed something."

The teacher was not very partial to me, so he stood up, came to me, looked at the music book and said in a pecullar, ironical tone: "So the lad is musical; the lad composes. Remarkable!" Then he opened the door into the next classroom, fetched the teacher in from there and said to him: "Here is something to look at. This little urchin is a composer." Both teachers turned over the leaves of the music book with interest. Every one stood up in both classes. I felt sure of a grand success, But that ' what one should never feel too quickly, for the other teacher had no sooner gone away again than my master suddenly changed his tactics, seized me by the hair till my eyes were black and said gruffly, "Another time he will bring the German dictionary with him, as is proper, and leave this stupid stuff at home."

Alas! To be so near the summit of fortune and then all at once to see oneself plunged into the depths! How often has that happened to me later in life!-Edward Grieg in Contemporary Review.

AN OCEAN GRAVEYARD.

Island Is a Most Dangerous Place For Navigators.

Sable island, sometimes and not too extravagantly termed the graveyard of the Atlantic, is set among shoal waters that afford the best of feeding ground for the particular kinds of fish that Gloucester men most desire, halibut, cod, haddock and what not, and so to its shoal waters do the fishermen come to trawl or hand line.

Lying about east and west, a flat quarter moon in shape is Sable island. Two long bars, extending northwesterly and northeasterly, make of it a full, deep crescent. Nowhere is the fishing so good or so dangerous as close in on these bars, and the closer in and the shoaler the water the better the fishing. There are a few men alive in Gloucester who have been in close enough to see the surf break on the bare bar, but that was in soft weather and the bar to windward, and they invariably got out in a hurry.

Two hundred and odd wrecks of one kind or another, steam and sail, have settled in the sands of Sable island. Of this there is clear and indisputable record. Of how many good vessels or in the whirls of snowstorms and swallowed up in the fine sand before mortal eye could make note of their disappearing hulls there is no telling.

A Gloucester fisherman needs no tabulated statement to remind him that General Wright, Major General Cor- who was ten feet two inches, and the bones of hundreds of his kind are and yet of all the men who sail the sea they are the only class that do not give it wide berth in winter.-James B. Connolly in Scribner's.

> Mother Nature's Children. One of the most wonderful things Mother Nature does is to teach her children how to accomplish things with means and appliances that seem entirely inadequate for the purpose. A bird will build an intricate and beautiful nest with no better tool than her beak (birds do not use their claws for this purpose), a caterpillar can shape a symmetrical cocoon and bees the sharp angled cells of their combs. These are familiar instances of this, but by no means as wonderful as those shown in the work of some sea animals that live in shells.-St. Nicholas.

Curiosity Satisfied.

A woman cycled up to a butcher's shop and went in with a smiling face, "I want you to cut me off twenty-five pounds of beef, please," she said. The bûtcher was incredulous. "Twenty-five pounds?" "Yes, please." It was a big job, and when he had finished he asked her whether she would take it or have it sent home. "Oh, I don't want to buy it," she explained. "You see, my doc tor tells me I have lost twenty-five pounds of fesh through cycling, and I wanted to see what it looked like in a lump. Thank you so much."

Explained.

An old Scotch lady who had no relish for modern church music was expressing her dislike of the singing of an anthem in her own church one day, when a neighbor said: "Why, that is a very old anthem! David sang that anthem to Saul." To this the old lady replied: "Weel, weel! I noo for the first time understan' why Saul threw his javelin at David when the lad sang for him."

Encouraging Her. Stationer-What do you do with all the lead pencils you buy, Mr. Smith?

You average about three a day. Mr. Smith-Oh, that's all right. My wife is taking whittling lessons.-Columbus

Few enterprises of great labor or hazard would be undertaken if we had not the power of magnifying the advantages we expect from them .- JohnDREADFUL DREAMS.

They Shock the Nervous System a May Even Cause Death.

People have actually been killed by dreams. Most persons have suffered from those terrible nightmare visions in which the victim is pursued by an assassin with upraised knife or is trembling on the edge of a fearful precipice or is in some other imminent danger of a sudden and terrible death. These dreams are common enough, and nearly always the sufferer awakes, thankful and happy at his escape. But sometimes he doesn't awake. Sometimes the knife falls or the sleeper in his hallucinations plunges down the precipice. These are the dreams that kill, says the Chicago Tribune.

In cases where dreams kill there is a sort of combined action between the dream and the disease through which death is accomplished. In the first place the dream is usually the product of the disease. A person may have heart disease which never asserts itself or allows the victim in any way to know of its presence until the fact is disclosed in a frightful dream. Moreover, terrifying dreams are often the first evidence of heart disease. Then the frequent recurrence of these dreams, dealing repeated shocks to the nervous system, aggravates the diseas until the heart is so weak that one more shock is sufficient to cause death

If a person has had dreams it does not necessarily follow, however, that he has heart disease. Dreams indicat ing heart disease are usually of a terrifying nature and relate to death. On awakening the sufferer will notice a violent heart palpitation. Chronic pericarditis is always preceded by horrible dreams, such as that of being thrown into a lake of fire or being crushed in a railroad wreck or burned by a volcanic eruption.

The approach of insanity may also be revealed by unpleasant dreams, or insanity may be hastened by such dreams. There are many cases on record where a person has been driven in sane by a dream.

AN INDIAN LEGEND.

How the Autumn Leaves Were Transformed Into Birds.

An Indian story that has been handed down and is still believed by many Indian tribes is one about the transformation of leaves into birds. Long years ago, when the world was young, the Great Spirit went about the earth making it beautiful. Wherever his feet touched the ground lovely trees and flowers sprang up. All summer the trees wore their short green dresses. The leaves were very happy, and they sang their sweet songs to the breeze as it passed them. One day the wind told them the time would soon come when they would have to fall from the trees and die. This made the leaves feel very bad, but they tried to be bright and do the best they could so as not to make the mother trees unhappy. But at last the time came, and they let go of the twigs and branches and fluttered to the ground. They lay perfectly quiet, not able to move except as the wind would lift them. The Great Spirit saw them and thought they were so lovely that he did not want to see them die, but live and be beautiful forever, so he gave to each bright leaf a pair of wings and power to fly. Then he called them his "birds." From the red and brown leaves of the oak came the robins, and yellow birds from the yellow willow leaves, and from bright maple leaves he made the red birds. The brown leaves became wrens, sparrows and other brown birds. This is why the birds love the trees and always go to them to build their nests and look for food and shade. -Kansas City Journal.

Old Thunder Notions.

The "Prognostication Everlasting of one Leonard Digges," published in 1556, tells us that thunder in the morn ing denotes wind, at noon rain and in the evening a great tempest. He goes further still and declares that "Sunday's thunder should bring the death of learned men, judges and others Monday's the death of women. Tuesday's plenty of grain. Wednesday's bloodshed, Thursday's plenty of sheep and corn, Friday's the slaughter of a great man and other horrible murders. Saturday's a great pestilent plague and great dearth."
