Organization Is Headed By George Gould, Joseph Ramsey And Others And Controls Coal Lands And Railway Interests

Cincinnati, Sept. 27. In the United States circuit court here, there has been filed an application for the appointment of a receiver for the community of interests known as the Little Kanawha syndicate, an organization controlling coal lands and railway interests in West Virginia. At the head of the syndicate is George J. Gould, Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash, and William F. Guy of

The plaintiff is John S. Jones, the holder of $100,000 worth of stock in the syndicate. He lives in Chicago. Judge Richards set Oct. 9 as the time for the hearing, and a restraining order was issued temporarily restraining the three defendants from "selling, contracting to sell, transferring or parting with" any properties of the Little Kanawha syndicate. The grounds set forth in the bill of complaint are numerous. It is alleged that the "antagonistic attitude" of Gould and Ramsey is detrime tal to the welfare of the syndicate; that an effort is being made by the defendants that might result in profit at the expense of the lesser holders; that Ramsey and Guy have voted that any two of the three heads of the syndicate may transact its business, thus eliminating Gould; that the lands are being sold at about one-half of the true value. The plaintiff takes no side between Ramsey and Gould, but the action is brought to protect the plaintiff and those holders who may be similarly situated.

In Jones' petition it is charged that $8,000,000 has been subscribed, of which Gould put in $3,000,000, Ramsey $300,000, Guy $300,000, James T. Blair $100,000, Edward Fulton $100,-000, and others like and smaller amounts. It is alleged that the heavy iders have not paid in cent of their subscriptions; that an inquiry should be made as to how the money was spent; that the managers put $700,000 in the construction of a railway from Zanesville to the Ohio river and then abandoned it when it was found that the new line would not be for the advantage of other enterprises in which the managers were engaged; that information as to the progress of affairs has been refused this petitioner.

Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash railway, announced on Sept. 16 that the sale of the Little Kanawha properties had been completed. The purchasers were interests representing the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad, and it was said the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio railroads were Baron Komura and Party Leave New York For Home.

New York, Sept. 27.—Baron Komura, Japanese peace plenipotentiary, and party, left this city over the New York Central railroad this morning for Montreal, where they will proceed to Vancouver over the Canadian Pacific The party will sail for Japan Oct. 2. Baron Komura said: "In leaving this country for home I feel it my duty to express to the people of the United States an assurance of my sincere and genuine appreciation of the respect, courtesy and friendliness shown me during my stay in this country. As the result of the war Japan will undoubtedly secure a well recognized position in the far east. In her pursuit of commercial and industrial expansion Japan wil lcount upon the co-operation of the United States, whose interests in the far east are completely identical with her own and whose traditional friendship for Japan has found fresh confirmation in the appreciative and sympathetic attitude maintained by the American people' throughout the tremendous struggle in which Japan has been engaged."

Hitchcock on Campaign Money, Washington, Sept. 27.—Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock, in speaking of campaign contributions, said: "I have all along been opposed to secret contributions, and I am in favor of passing a law compelling full publicity of campaign expenses. The secrecy given to the campaign contributions is apt to lead to undesirable results and cause suspicion. I really believe that Mr. McCall thought he was doing what was right when he gave of the funds of the company to maintain the party which believes in sound money. Roosevelt

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 27.-W. J. Bryan has written another letter to President Roosevelt. He says in part: "Permit a parting word. You have the contest of your life before you, and I desire to render you all the assistance in my power. You have asked congress to enact a law so enlarging the powers of the interstate commerce commission as to permit it to fix and enforce a reasonable freight rate, and the railroad lobby was strong enough to stop in the senate the bill passed by the house. The railroad magnates expect to block the passage of the bill again. Stand by your guns! You have developed a reform element in the Republican party; you must lead it or suffer the humiliation of seeing the leadership pass to some one else."

The momentous document is brief, comprising less than 800 words, including eight articles and a preamble. Accompanying the agreement is a covering letter from Lord Lansdowne to burg and Paris, for transmission to the Russian ard French governments respectively, in which the foreign secretary courteously reviews the agreement and carefully points out that the as a menace, but rather as a guarantee

Advent And Development Of The Standard Company A Mighty Lesson According To Andrew Squires Of Cleveland

Cleveland, Sept. 27.—Esteem for delphia. This company is working in John D. Rockefeller was expressed by several hundred Cleveland business and professional men, who gathered at the Standard Oil magnate's home in Forest Hill. Andrew Squires, a prominent attorney, and L. E. Holden of the Plain Dealer, were the spokesmen. Mr. Squires gave expression to words of eulogy and regard for the man whom he said had been a resident of the city for 50 years. Continuing, Mr. Squire referred to the question of railroad rate legislation, saying it was a subject which many others had been discussing, and that the loudest declamations came from those who knew least about the subject. He said that the competition between producer, consumer and transporter did more to regulate rates than all else. He asked if it was not a question whether the men engaged in great commercial enterprises were not more entitled to a monument than to indiscriminate condemnation. Mr. Squire said the law of "survival of the fittest" is a law too firmly established to be overturned or net earnings, long delayed, even by legislative enactments. He said that since the organization of the Standard Oil company there had been no water in its stock. Its advent and history, he said, have taught a mighty lesson in keeping accurate account of costs and in turning to profit all seemingly waste products, and in quietly, harmoniously and continuously developing its great enterprises and supplying its products at reasonable prices. Responding, Mr. Rockefeller stated that there is something more to life than mere money-getting. "Turn your thoughts upon the higher things of life," said Mr. Rockefeller. "Be of serinto channels of usefulness; look forward to a determination that some thing useful shall come out of your success. Let your question be, 'What shall be the fruitage of my career? Shall it be the endowment of church, schools and asylums?' Do everything you can for the betterment of your fellow man and in doing this you will enjoy life the better."

Standard Acquires Traction Lines. Cleveland, O., Sept. 27 .- The Standard Oil group of New York financiers, it is published here, has obtained control of traction securities in Ohio and Indiana with a par value of $83,105,000 at a reported cash outlay of $50,000,-000. The art of land surveying owes its origin to the fact that the Egyptians were unable to keep permanent monuments on land which was overflowed every year by the Nile. Under such circumstances it became necessary to have some means of reidentifying the various pieces of land. The instruments and mathematical methods of were used by the Egyptians for land surveying.

Families Share Carriage

A curious custom exists in Genoa Many of the well to do people as well as those in moderate circumstances do not own either horses or carriages. They own only an interest in them. Four or five or half a dozen great families club together and buy a carriage and horses; then they arrange among themselves the days the different families will use it.

Mr. Mambourg stated to the Banner on Wednesday morning that one of the most serious questions that is confronting them at the present time, is the question of houses for the men who want to come to Mt. Vernon to be employed at the works.

Over one hundred letters have been received by Mr. Mambourg during the past few days, from men who are to come to this city to be employed at this plant, asking for houses. At the present time Mr. Mambourg is compelled to reply to these letters stating that there are no houses for rent in Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Mambourg regards the house situation as being one the serious situation at present time, for Contractor Holden expects to complete the construction of the furnaces before the first of January and both Mr. Chambers and Mr. Mambourg want to open the plant during the first week in January.

A Wart or Pimple

MAY BE CANCEROUS. When a wart, mole or pimple shows any sign of tenderness it is a warning that bad blood is behind it. Often these places are on the face, hands, legs or other part of the body for years, and give no sign to cause uneasiness, and wien with a little rough handling, a slight cut or bruise will develop into a sore that re-fuses to heal, and the sufferer finds him-self afflicted with a cancerous ulcer.

About three years ago a blister came on the right side of my nose. It grew speedily in spite of all efforts to heal it up; the pain was not very severe at first, but increased when the sore began to inflame and discharge matter. At times the place would soab over and appear to be getting well, but the scab would drop off, leaving a red, angry looking ulcer. I had almost despaired of ever curing it, when my attention was called to S. S., and after taking a few bottles the sore began to gradually grow smaller, the discharge stopped and I was cured.

Differences Between China and England May Be Adjusted.

Washington, Sept. 27.-A conference will be held in the near future in which it is hoped that the differences between China and England in regard to the treaty of the latter country with Thibet will be adjusted. At this conference, which will be held at Calcutta, and have as its purpose the arranging of a new treaty between England and China concerning Thibet, the Chinese government will be represented by its minister in London. Chang Teh Yi, while the English vicercy probably will be the British representative. China never recognized the treaty Colonel Younghusband made with the Thibetan authorities, and protested against it as soon as the military expedition returned from Lhassa.

Moroccan Agreement,

Paris. Sept. 27.-A note issued after a lengthy conference at the foreign office between Prince Von Radolin, Premier Rouvier, Dr. Rosen, the new German minister to Morocco, and M. Revoil, former governor of Algiers (who has represented France in the negotiations with Dr. Rosen), states that the negotiators entirely agreed on the French point of view relative to the Moroccan situation. The note says that the principal questions to be sub mitted for the decision of the international conference comprise the creation of a state bank, the organization of a police force for the interior, and the importation of arms. Germany fully recognizes the rights of France relative to the policing of the Algerian-Moroccan frontier. France also retains the privileges formerly granted by Morocco by which she has preference over other nations for financial operations when other conditions are equal, while the loan recently concluded between the sultan and German banks will be divided between France and Germany and another power.

In a Double Collision.

Newport News, Va., Sept. 27.—The steamer Bayport, outward bound from this port for Boston with coal, ran down and sank the three-masted chooner Job P. Jackson, from New York for Norfolk, in Chesapeake bay. Charles Johnatz, a Norwegian of the Jackson's crew, who was at the wheel when the cellision occurred, was washed overboard and drowned, and the mate, J. T. Robbins, had his right arm broken. After the collision the Bayport's crew rescued Captain Williamson, Mate Robbins and four others and brought them here. After rescuing the men the Bayport dropped ancher near Cape Henry, and early in the morning a schooner, supposed to be the Ann J. Trainer, inward bound from New York for Norfolk, ran down the Bayport, badly damaging her.

Rushing the Business. The following story is told of a one time Pennsylvania legislature:

The session was about to expire. In accordance with the usual custom, the chair was occupied by a rapid worker, who was deaf to objections and blind to objectors. His name was Alexander McClure. Under his able management the bills were going through at a lightning express rate when one measure was reached that was particularly obnoxious to a noisy minority. Utter ly oblivious to the demonstration, Mr. McClure declared that the bill bad passed. Over in one corner of the legislative chamber one member was especially vociferous. He would not be quieted, and Mr. McClure was finally compelled to notice him for the sake

"For what purpose does the gentleman rise?" asked the chair. "I want to offer an amendment to the bill," was the reply. "Too late," said Mr. McClure, without a smile. "Offer it to the next bill. The clerk will read."

Candlelight.

In domestic lighting for nearly the first half of the last century candles held undisputed sway. The bell is rung, and Mary brings in candles, a pair of molds in tall brass candlesticks brightly polished, with snuffers on a tray-a sharp beaked snuffers of steel, with jaws that opened and shut with a snap and something sinister in their appearance.

There were plated candlesticks and snuffers, too, for occasions of state, with silver branches that suggested the spoils of Jerusalem, but there was also a lamp, a stately edifice of bronze that towered over the family circle at times and shed a generous and genial light when so inclined. But what a demon it was to smoke and to smell! And it would burn, when it condescended to burn at all, nothing but the very finest sperm oil at a fabulous price per gallon,-London Chronicle.

The Capital. It is not generally known, says the Philadelphia Record, but it is a fact of history nevertheless that Bristol township, lying on the east side of Germantown, had a very narrow escape from being selected as the site of the capital of the United States. It was a very small matter that turned the choice toward Maryland and Virginia. So positive were some members of congress that the capital was going to be located near Germantown that they purchased real estate there, not, of course, as a matter of speculation, but simply to be near at hand when the removal from Philadelphia to Bristol took place. When the vote of the commissions was taken there was a tie, four being for Bristol and four for the District of Columbia. Washington cast the deciding vote, and Bristol township was left out in the cold. ing creek. "Nosey" Cromwell, Oliver Cromwell had a head large in proportion to his body. His features were rugged and unprepossessing. He had three or four warts on his face, one being on the side of his nose. He wore a small mustache and imperial, after the fashion of the times. His complexion was bronzed by exposure to the sun, and he had a flery red nose of generous proportions that gave rise to many nicknames, "The Almighty "Nosey," "The Copper Nosed Nose."  WAS MR. PATTISON SOLDIER? READ THE ANSWER BELOW

People in the various parts of the state, and of this vicinity, have been asking this question:

Was Mr. Pattison, the Democratic candidate for governor, a soldier in the Civil war?"

They have the right to ask this question, and are entitled to an answer.

He was.

He served as a private soldier in Company I, One Hundred and Fifty-third Ohio Volunteer Infantry. He enlisted in his sixteenth year.

He was honorably discharged at the end of his enlist-He is a member of S. R. S. West Post, G. A. R., Milford,

. IN COLONIAL DAYS.

In Virginia. In 1619 the London company, the proprietors of the colony of Virginia,

The First Iron Mines and Flour Mills

sent over a Mr. King and 150 skilled ironworkers to erect furnaces on Falling creek. These men came chiefly from Warwickshire and Staffordshire and when once in Virginia named the village that grew up about their iron works Warwick.

Mr. King soon dropped out of the enterprise, and a Captain Bluett superintended the erection of the works. But his career was a short one, after which John Berkeley, son of Sir John Berkeley, a nobleman of much distinction, succeeded to the superintendency of the establishment and conducted it ably until one day-March 22. 1622-the Indians, under Opitchapan, a brother of Powhatan, surprised the village and murdered Berkeley and 150 men and women.

In 1700 mills were built upon the ruins of the iron furnace. In those mills was ground the first flour exported from America, much of it going to South America. From that time on Warwick grew rapidly until it became an important manufacturing and shipping village, as it was at the head of navigation. Shortly before the outbreak of the Revolutionary war Colonel Archibald Cary acquired possession of the vast estate known as Ampthill, that lay on the James river and inland along Falling creek for a distance. The estate was named after one in England. Colone Cary was chairman of the or the hits and state constitution in erica, that of Virginia. When the war broke out he took an active part in the military operations of his country in the south. Tarleton, the British general, sailed up the James river and burned Warwick and Colonel Cary's mills on Fall-

And he'd be you whispering together, doesn't it give swelling around there, all so grand, you a funny feeling? and the clown, just to take him down a peg or two, would ask him a conundrum. And do you think he could ever guess one? Never. Not a one. And when the clown would tell him what the answer was he'd be so vexed at himself that he'd try to take it out on the poor clown and cut him with his long whip. Yes, sir; there are heads of families today, I'll bet you, that have grown up without ever having heard a clown sing a comic song and ask the audience to join in the chorus. And if you say to such people, "Here we are again, Mr. Merryman," or "Bring on another horse," or "What will the little lady have now? The banners, my lord?" they look at you so funny. They don't know what you mean, and they don't know whether to get huffy or not.

Well, I suppose it had to be that the funny old clown, with all his songs and quips and conundrums and comical remarks, should disappear. Perhaps he didn't pay.-Eugene Wood in Mc-

These seeds and nuts are collected with great care and carefully cleaned and dried before being taken to the carver, who has an invariable standard of size, proportion, weight, hardness, etc. When every detail has been carried out to the satisfaction of the artist a nut or seed is selected by the designer, who roughly traces upon its surface an outline of the future picture. This is handed over to apprentices, who block out the design by cutting through the ligenous tissue along the lines drawn. The crude carving is again passed to the designer, who sketches a second and more intricate series of outlines, when it again goes forward to the subordinates, who cut out the indicated channels. After this the designer gives the object its finishing touches, and the assistants prepare it for market by polishing, oiling and waxing the carvings. These nut and fruit stone carvings are shown in the shape of buttons, watch charms, sleeve links, earrings and brooches. Collections of them strung on silver, copper or gold wire are also used as bracelets, anklets, necklaces, rosaries and official ornaments.

The carvings represented upon these seed and nut ornaments are frequently of a very high order of conception and display much of the carver's cleverness and dexterity. The writer has seen single cherry seeds upon which were plainly and artistically outlined a dragon, two crickets, a cornflower and a bunch of grapes. On the larger seeds and nuts are represented entire trees and their fruits and leaves, vines with leaves, flowers and vegetables attached as well as buildings, bridges, towexterior.
