BOWEN WAS AN ENEMY OF LATE JOHN HAY

Loomis Enjoyed Confidence Of The Late Secretary

President Roosevelt Discloses In A Letter The Real State Of Feelings Of Secretary Hay Towards One Of His Assistants

Washington, Oct. 2.—As an incident to his retiring from the office of assistant secretary of state, Francis B. Loomis made public correspondence relative to the controversy he had with Herbert Bowen, former minister to Venezuela. In a letter to the president Sept. 25 Mr. Loomis says: "Not long ago a responsible New York paper, to which I am reliably informed upon the best of authority, Mr. Bowen has been freely offering material for use, printed in the following paragraphs: 'Practically the last official act of Mr. Hay's life was to visit Bowen and to dismiss Loomis, but learning the president's mind was made up, he went away with his message unspoken. Mr. Hay thoroughly disliked and distrusted him myself, and told the president so, but was unable to produce any effect on the president's mind.' Similar suggestions, more or less circumstantial in form, have so frequently appeared in the public prints that I am constrained to inquire whether, in so far as you are aware, they are supported by any basis of truth?"

"I do not know what private conversation may have taken place between yourself and Mr. Hay concerning me and my course of conduct while connected with the public service, but I do know from Mr. Hay's own lips something of his opinion concerning Mr. Bowen, and I know full well both the unfailing courtesy with which Mr. Hay received my many suggestions concerning departmental matters, and the personal cordiality which he always manifested toward me. In December I went to Mr. Hay's house and told him I expected to resign from the department within the course of the next eight or nine months. He was good enough to say: 'I am extremely sorry to hear this; I have always hoped you would remain in your present position as long as I remained in the cabinet.' On other occasions, both before and since that time, Mr. Hay accorded me seemingly convincing proofs of his confidence. It may interest you to know that at Mr. Hay's request I spent at his home what proved to be practically the last hour of his life in Washington. Having upon that occasion indicated to me upon what occasion indicated to me, fully and lucidly, as was his wont, what he wished my two colleagues and myself to do in the lines of departmental action and policy to be carried out during his absence, he referred to the recent Bowen episode with much feeling. Among other things he said that he was disgusted with Bowen beyond expression; that vanity appeared to be a disease with him, and that he was both disloyal and untruthful, and treacherous not only to him (Hay) but to the country."

In reply to Mr. Loomis, dated Sept. 27, the president said: "You were appointed assistant secretary of state upon Mr. Hay's suggestion and request. He never spoke to me about you save with respect and cordial appreciation of the services you were rendering, and he expressed to me very great regret that you were going to leave the service, and stated that he had hoped you would stay as long as he did, and that he would find it difficult to get any one in your place whom he would like so much. Mr. Hay expressed himself very freely on the occasion of his last visit to Washington, including the last occasion I saw him alive, as regards the action taken on the report of Mr. Taft on charges Mr. Bowen made against you. Not only did he then express himself about Mr. Bowen to me in the language you quote him as having used at about the same time to you in speaking of Mr. Bowen, but he also condemned Mr. Bowen in much stronger terms than those which you quote him as having used, and dwelt particularly upon the fact of what he called the treachery and disloyalty of Mr. Bowen to the government and to him (Mr. Hay), repeating again and again that most of the charges Mr. Bowen made were really not charges against you at all, but against himself (Mr. Hay), and that Bowen of course knew this. Moreover, Mr. Hay used about Mr. Bowen stronger language of condemnation than I have ever heard him use about any other man who had served under him. But this was not all. Mr. Hay then did what he very rarely indeed did. He expressed his strong dissent from the action I had taken in endorsing Mr. Taft's report as regards even mild censure of you which it contained, stating that he disagreed with both Mr. Taft and myself on this point and felt you were in no way whatever censurable, and that the only action that had been called for was the dismissal of Mr. Bowen and announcement of your entire vindication."

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 2.—H. C. Lowden, of Brown county, and Edward Richie of Cincinnati were elected directors of an incorporation of $1,500,000 at a meeting of the White Burley Tobacco Growers' association in convention at Lexington, Ky. The purpose of the organization is to control the white burley tobacco crop of the United States. About $250,000 of the stock was taken by the growers in the burley tobacco belt, embracing several counties in Ohio. The assignment of stock to which the Ohio growers were required to subscribe is as follows: Adams county, $75,000; Brown county, $100,000; Clermont county, $50,000; Hamilton county, $75,000. Ten per cent of the subscriptions were paid in cash. The members of the committee in their respective districts will at once sign up the crops of this year.

Says Murder Was Inexcusable.
Springfield, O., Oct. 2.—In his verdict in the case of Henry Limes who was killed by Mrs. Mary Henderson, the coroner of Green county rendered a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Henderson "unjustifiably and inexcusably committed the crime." The woman shot Limes while he was paying her a visit one evening about a week ago. He was a married man, she a widow, and they lived on adjoining farms. She shot him in the heart, killing him instantly.

Powerful Powder.
Rockford, O., Oct. 2.—A new and powerful gunpowder was perfected by Dr. Hughes of Rockford. It required a long series of experiments to obtain the exact proportion, and this, it is claimed, was finally attained. The powder is white, and it is asserted, about two and one half times the strength of ordinary powder. The explosion causes very little odor and smoke.

Columbus, O., Oct. 2.—"Guess I tried to make a fool of myself," remarked William O'Leary, a Seneca county convict at the penitentiary, as guards picked him up off the floor of the new hall just after he made a desperate effort to commit suicide by hurling himself from the third range. ## A JAPANESE FIREBUG STARTS A BIG BLAZE

Tokyo, Oct. 2.—A fire that broke out in an army store house at Hiroshima destroyed 30 temporary buildings together with their contents, consisting principally of provisions and clothing. The cause of the fire is being investigated. A large portion of clothing was removed from a new storehouse before the fire started. There was no loss of life. The loss is estimated at $2,000,000 to $5,000,000.

In addition to the 20 buildings containing clothes and provisions, seven others filled with fodder were destroyed.

Although the buildings were constructed of light material, they contained an enormous amount of stored goods, and the structures being of inflammable nature, the flames were difficult to extinguish, despite the desperate efforts of the troops. The fire spread with great rapidity. It was probably of incendiary origin.

The loss is variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000. No lives were lost. With large attendance a meeting of the chambers of commerce of the empire was formally opened here in the local chamber of commerce building. The meeting was called to consider the post bellum development of commerce and industry. The session adjourned after sitting a few hours. The cabinet ministers will be invited to address the meeting. There are 49 chambers of commerce represented.

Here the engineer of the Soo train sighted the Great Western cattle train going for the south St. Paul stock yards, and heading for a split switch which connects the outside and inside tracks. The engineer of the Great Western train whistled for brakes, showing that his air brakes were not working, and as a warning to the Soo train, but evidently was not heard as the Soo train failed to slacken.

Will be the Rallying Place for the Hungarian Coalitionists.
Budapest, Hungary, Oct. 2.—The prefect issued an order prohibiting torchlight processions which coalition parties and socialist announced would take place October 3.

Both parties postponed their proposed demonstrations to Oct. 10, the anniversary of the execution of Count Louis Batthyanyi, who was premier of Hungary in 1848, and who was arrested and executed by the Austrians the following year. The coalition parties intend to make a demonstration at the grave of Batthyanyi.

POLICE OF PANAMA COMPELLED TO USE CLUBS

Fear Of Fever Caused Panic Among Laborers

Claimed Conditions On Isthmus Were Misrepresented And Refuse To Leave The Ship That Carried Them From Martinique

Colon, Oct. 2.—The French steamer Versailles brought here 600 contract laborers from Martinique to work on the canal. When they arrived there was panic among them, and they refused to go ashore on account of their fear of yellow fever. They claimed conditions here were misrepresented to them. Finally 500 were induced to go ashore.

About 150 remained on board and declined to leave the ship under any consideration. They were forcibly ejected from the vessel by Panama and canal zone policemen, but not until nearly every one of them was clubbed, and several were bleeding from nasty wounds.

The French consul at Colon, M. Bonhenry, appealed to the men to listen to reason, explaining that they left Martinique under contract with the canal zone emigration agent guaranteeing them the payment of their passage here, and that while working on the canal they would have in addition to their wages the guarantee of free quarters and free medical attention. The men, however, were not amenable to this reasoning. Notwithstanding the efforts of the consul and of the Panama and United States officials, and despite the information given them by several of their countrymen that health and other conditions on the isthmus were satisfactory, and that the terms of their employment would enable them to save money, they persistently refused to leave the ship, baring their breasts and invoking death in preference to going ashore.

About 50 of the laborers leaped into the sea, but all of them were able to swim. The captain, however, lowered a boat which picked them up. Nearly every man had received blows, and several of them were bleeding from ugly wounds. Seeing that resistance was useless the men yielded, came ashore and began to eat the food placed on the dock in sight of them for several hours. Many of them had not eaten since Saturday. Later all the laborers, who were in a pitiable condition, were placed on board a train which left for Corozal where they will be put to work.

SALVATION ARMY MAN HAS TOO MANY WIVES

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 2.—J. Walter L. Franklin was arrested here while taking part in the services of the Salvation Army. The charge is bigamy, as Franklin is alleged to have three wives. His first marriage, it is alleged, was in Newport, Ky., and his wife's name is Mrs. Cora Franklin. About three years ago he came to this country and married a relative of Deputy Sheriff Reeves, at Tadvine, Ala. A short time ago he brought his second wife and child to Birmingham, but soon sent them home to visit relatives. Soon after their departure he is alleged to have married Miss Peachie Jones, 18, a pretty Salvation Army girl of this city. Perkins, but the league will force that result and compel the officials to restore trust funds diverted to any alleged unlawful purposes.

Suspect Arrested.

Haynes of 33 Chamber street. The arrest is said to have been made on statements made by Samuel A. Wingfield, who told the police he had a friend who cut up a body. Haynes was examined at length by the police, and while he denied the accusation, claimed his friend confused it with his being on a coroner's jury, he was locked up. Haynes is a clerk in a shipping office. Wingfield was held as a witness.

THE INHERITANCE TAX ROBBERY

In again boasting himself toward the congressional goal that has for many years been his burning ambition, Hon. Frank V. Owen, as chairman of the Republican county convention last Saturday, came to the defense of the Herrick state administration in regular lawyer-like style. His speech sounded more like the labored effort of an attorney pleading to a jury with a losing case on his hands than a political orator impressed with the justness and righteousness of the cause he espoused.

Particularly weak was his defense of the direct inheritance tax law. He attempted to minimize its effect by the statement that the tax is not levied on small estates. He did not attempt to justify the law in principle.

It matters not whether the law applies to large or small estates. There may also be a difference of opinion as to what amount draws the line between a large and a small estate. Certain it is, that on direct inheritances above $3,000 a tax of 2 per cent. is levied. And who gets the tax? The county in which the estate is located or the heir lives? No! It goes to the state of Ohio!

Why should the great state of Ohio thrust its hands into the pockets of widows and orphans and help itself? There can be but one answer—to help defray the largely increased expenses of an extravagant state administration!

And right here let it be said that the direct inheritance tax law was enacted by the last legislature. It was introduced as an administration measure, was so enacted, and was signed by Gov. Herrick.

In the efforts of the state administration to increase the revenues of the state to meet the largely increased expenditures without making any apparent increase in the state tax rate, it devised, among other schemes to fool the public into the belief that with all the self-evident extravagance of the administration, that there was no increase in taxation, the direct inheritance tax bill, better known as the system of "graveyard taxation", and enacted it into a law.

The direct inheritance tax law proceeds on the theory that a man who paid taxes while living was not likely to object to being taxed for dying. Although the man paid the taxes on his property while living, and it is still subject to the ordinary taxation after his death, no matter in whose hands it may be, yet when he dies, another and an additional levy is made on the same property, which must be paid into the treasury of Ohio to help out the extravagant state administration. It is not only a system of double taxation, but it is exacted from those around whom the state of Ohio should throw greater protection instead of confiscating a part of their patrimony and support—the widows and orphans.

The direct inheritance tax is indefensible and should be wiped off the statute book. It is a robbery of widows and orphans.

John Cunningham, the Democratic nominee for representative, is in favor of the repeal of this iniquitous law and if elected to the legislature will so vote.

Resolutions Adopted Without Reading

What an exhibition of being boss-ridden was that in reference to the resolutions in the Republican county convention Saturday!

Early in the proceedings a committee was appointed on resolutions. For some unexplained reason the committee never made a report, but after all other work of the convention had been concluded and when the convention was ready to adjourn the chairman of the committee got up and stated that he had the resolutions, but moved that the reading of them be dispensed with, that they be adopted and published in the party organ. The motion was put and was declared carried by the chairman of the convention before anybody could offer an objection, if there had been a disposition to object.

Now, what do you think of that? A convention adopting resolutions that had not been read in the convention to the delegates!

How is that for bossism!

And just think, also, the local Republican organ in glaring headlines, over its report of the convention, announced "Strong Resolutions Were Adopted Amid Applause."

The most reasonable explanation that has been offered in regard to the method employed in reference to the resolutions, was that given by an anti-Herrick Republican Saturday night, when he said that the Mt. Vernon Ring was afraid to trust the reading of resolutions in the convention, as they might encounter considerable opposition on account of the strong endorsement they contained of Gov. Herrick and his administration, and rather than take such a risk it was deemed best to not present them at all, but rush through a motion to adopt without reading them, and then parade them in a public print as representing the sentiment of the party in Knox county! The anti-Herrick Republican also offered the suggestion that the Mt. Vernon Ring probably received word from the Cox-Dick machine to take no chances before the convention, but to have the resolutions "adopted" in such a manner and then blow in the papers about the "enthusiasm" and "applause" they created in the convention.

The anti-Herrick Republican probably had the correct solution of the remarkable procedure.

Mt. Vernon, O., Monday, Oct. 2, 1905

NO ONE who has not himself engaged in the milling business can understand what it means to manufacture and market a high grade family flour. Aside from the difficulty and extra expense of keeping the flour uniformly perfect, there is the even greater difficulty of getting any kind of co-operation from the trade in introducing your product. There is usually about 20 to 30 per cent. more profit to the dealer in selling some "just-as-good" than you can possibly afford to allow him for selling your goods. Of course there are isolated cases where the long headed grocer will handle nothing but articles of the "MOUNT VERNON BLEND" type, however, these cases are so few and far between that the only way we could make sure of success was to come directly to the consumer, as we have done in these flour sermons, and explain to him the reasons why "MT. VERNON BLEND" is better than ordinary flour can be, at the price. It costs the consumer no more than any other first class brand.

ECZEMA ITCHES AND BURNS

The return of warm weather means a return of torture to Eczema sufferers. The blood is charged with burning acids and acid matter which is forced to the surface through the pores and glands, forming pustules which discharge a sticky fluid, and the itching is intense.
The doctors said I had pustular Eczema; it would break out in small white pustules, mostly on my face and hands, discharging a sticky fluid; crusts would form and drop off, leaving the skin red and inflamed. I was tormented with the itching and burning character of the disease for five years, and during the time used various medicated soaps, ointments and washes, but these applications seemed to make me worse. After taking S. S. S. a short time I began to improve; the itching did not worry me so much. I continued the medicine, and soon all the ugly eruptions disappeared and my skin is now as clear as anybody's. I have not been troubled with any breaking out since.
Urbana, O. E. E. KELLY.
Sometimes the disease is in the dry form, and bran-like scales form on the skin, but the cause is the same—humors in the blood. Salves, cooling washes, powders and the like, do nothing more than relieve the itching, because they do not reach the acid-laden blood, the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. cures Eczema and all skin diseases by neutralizing the acids and carrying them off through the proper channels. When S. S. S. has done this the symptoms pass away, the blood is cooled and the disease is cured permanently. Nothing acts so promptly or surely in skin diseases as S. S. S., and it at the same time acts as a tonic to the entire system. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice without charge.

Sermon Delivered By Rev. Jas. F. Revenaugh

New Pastor Of The Presbyterian Church

Commenced New Duties Sunday Morning

Some Information Concerning The New Pastor Of The First Presbyterian Church Of Mt. Vernon, O.

REV. JAS. F. REVENAUGH

A large congregation greeted Rev. Revenaugh at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, that being his first service in this city as pastor of the church. Prior to his sermon, Rev. Revenaugh thanked the congregation for calling him to the pulpit in this city and spoke of the work he intended to try to accomplish. In the remarks, the new pastor, paid a high tribute to Rev. Frances A. Wilber D. D. formerly pastor of the church.

Mr. Wilnot Sperry read a letter which he had received from Rev. Wilber to be read to the congregation. The letter congratulated the congregation in their choice of their pastor and expressed his hope that the people of the church would treat Rev. Revenaugh such as they treated him, and in so doing, he was glad that both pastor and congregation would be happily united. Rev. Wilber also spoke of the presents received by himself and wife and thanked the congregation for them. The sermon preached by Rev. Revenaugh Sunday morning was one of the best that has been listened to in this city for some time and was greatly appreciated by the congregation. Rev. Revenaugh took for his text, the 12th verse of the 3d chapter of the Epistle of Paul, the Apostle, to the Philippians and in part was as follows:

"Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect; but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Jesus Christ."

"Paul never rises to a greater height, than when he expresses the feeling of his own heart. We know better what a man is, by the feeling that exists in his heart. In his epistle to the Philippians, he is giving the feeling of the heart and is not giving out logic, but seems to be wing open the door of the heart, and says that which he feels within himself."

"One of the necessary things of every person who expects to be a child of God, is the new birth. There are people who think that when we reform, that we have done enough, but Christ did not teach this way, but that we should be born again. One should not rest upon his own merits, for Paul said, 'he was the chief of sinners." Man ought to know, that he is saved through the merits of Christ.

"There are some people who can tell the place and time when they were received into the Kingdom, and again there are many who can not. Paul knew when the Lord visited him, and has spoken of it many times in his teachings. It is not necessary that man should know the time and place, but if he feels it in his heart, the relationship will be so strong, that man will feel that Christ could not be in heaven, and he left behind."

"Paul said, 'That Christ called him for a twofold purpose, to be saved from sin; and saved for service.' I believe that Jesus Christ does not save a soul without providing some place for that soul to work for him. There are millions saved and millions of places. When the Sabbath school is in need of a teacher, then some one has not taken his place. When the church is in need of deacons and missionaries, the choir singers, there are some who have not taken their places."

"There is a service for every one and perhaps it is only the service of the pew. Every one called has a place, and that should be in our hearts. The finding of the place, is perhaps, the hardest thing. Some men ask if they are to be minister, missionaries; no, not at all, but there are many places to be filled. It may not be an easy task to follow, until you find your place, but if the effort is made, surely you will come to it. Thank God for people, who find their places and do their work."

"Let the love of God have sway in your heart and you will serve him. Man serves the man he loves and husband labors for the wife he loves, and so if we love Him, then we will take hold and work for Him."

The Rev. James S. Revenaugh was licensed and ordained for the gospel ministry by the Zanesville Presbytery. He was for eight years pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Liberty, Indiana, during which pastorate a fine brick church was erected.

After this he was pastor at Marysville for seven years and during his pastorate here a beautiful store church was built.

The reverend gentleman is a native of Muskingum county and was educated first in Muskingum college and then spent a year in post-graduate study in Wooster university, studying psychology and philosophy. Rev. Mr. Revenaugh preached for the First Presbyterian church of Wooster for a few months during the winter and for the same period during the spring months for the Congregational Lutheran church. In both instances the services were acceptable and very favorable received.

In speaking to the Banner, Rev. Revenaugh stated that coming back into the Zanesville Presbytery is like coming home.

Harvey Shrimplin, the well known butcher, is suffering from blood poisoning which resulted from two small scratches on the right hand made by a clasp on a hitch strap. Mr. Shrimplin was butchering a calf Friday and in doing so, scratched the right hand. Nothing was thought of the slight injuries at the time, but on Sunday the hand was badly swollen and is causing Mr. Shrimplin much pain. The hand is being cared for by a physician.

PRIZE FIGHT STOPPED.
 Sheriff Suddenly Appeared on Scene. Many Took to Woods.

Newport, Ind., Oct. 2.—Sheriff J. Stephen broke up a prize fight by appearing at the ringside in the woods near the Indiana-Illinois state line, where 300 spectators and bringing 20 of the principals to jail. Kid Hubert of Kansas City and Carl Anderson of Hammond, Ind., were scheduled to go 20 rounds. The men were in the ring when the sheriff appeared and announced that everybody was under arrest. The crowd then made a break for the woods. Anderson and his manager, Kid Hennessy, of Danville, Ill., were handcuffed together and brought here. Hubert, who was stripped for the fight, escaped with the crowd. Most of the spectators were from Danville.

Pole Assassinated.
 Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Louis Kubynski, a Pole, employed at the Lackawanna steel company's plant at West Seneca, was shot and mortally wounded. The police are looking for an other Pole known to his fellow workers as Peter Kelly. The facts brought to light indicate that the shooting was a work of some secret society. It was reported that a relative warned Kubynski that he would be shot and advised him to leave town. "It would do no good," he is said to have replied. A Pole was seen at Kubynski's door the night before he was shot through the chest and his leg. Kubynski refuses to give any information to the police.

TOLTEC PYRAMID
 Contained Proof That First Mexicans Came From China.

Mexico City, Oct. 2.—Explorations at an old Toltec pyramid on the Maguayitos hacienda, in the state of Puebla, disclosed the fact that the structure was built of clay bricks, which proves it to be far older than the Aztec monarchy, and possibly older even than the Toltec occupation of the country. Several elaborately carved figures were found representing men in Chinese dress and with marked Chinese features. The figures probably represent warriors. Antiquarians are much puzzled over the matter for the evidence points to Chinese settlement in Mexico in the past ages.

Corn High in Mexico.
 Mexico City, Oct. 2.—The finance department of the government is investigating alleged abuses in the rise of the price of corn which is the basis of diet for the poorer classes. One reason commonly given for the increased price is that corn has risen in sympathy with wheat, which shows a short crop. Another theory is that corn is largely in the hands of large speculators. Should it prove that corn is likely for any cause to remain at the present high price it is quite probable duties may be abated on American corn, allowing heavy shipments into this country.

Blank Verse.
 Blank or unrhymed is that form of heroic verse which is commonly employed in English dramatic and epic poetry. It was introduced by the Earl of Surrey, who died in 1547, in his translation of the second and fourth books of "Aeneid." It was first employed in the drama in Sackville and Norton's tragedy of "Ferrex and Porrex," which was printed in 1559, but it was not till Marlowe adopted it in his play of "Tamburlaine the Great" that it became the form regularly employed in the metrical drama, which it has since, with only occasional intervals, remained. After Milton's use of it in "Paradise Lost" it was widely extended to many other classes of composition.

HERRICK AS A CANDIDATE AND COX AS AN ISSUE

"Herrick Renounces Cox"—so runs the headline. Governor Myron T. Herrick of Ohio denies that in an interview he said he was proud to be associated as a Republican with Geo. B. Cox, boss of Cincinnati. Mr. Herrick also complains that there is an effort to make Cox an issue in the state campaign, whereas the real issue is the character and past record of Herrick himself. This is ingenious, but not convincing. Conceivably Mr. Herrick is not proud to be associated with Cox, but whose character and public record are enough to turn stronger stomachs than that of the governor of Ohio; but renunciation of Cox requires something more than a mere denial. Cox is a great wheel in the Republican machine. Like him or not, in a sense, one of Herrick's creators. Like him or not, Herrick owes him certain obligations which can not be repudiated. The issues can not be restricted to the individual Herrick; the voters are to pass upon the records of the party foremost among these is Cox. What is true in Ohio is true elsewhere. The man who owes his office and authority to Cox in the very nature of the case bound to that elsewhere. The man who owes his office and authority to Cox in the very nature of the case bound to that elsewhere. The man who owes his office and authority to Cox in the very nature of the case bound to that elsewhere.

The Mission of the Children.
 Only think, if there was never anything anywhere to be seen but growing up men and women, how we would long for the sight of a little child! Every infant comes into the world like a herald of good things, whose office is to turn the fathers' hearts to the children and to draw the disobedient to the wisdom of the just. A child softens and purifies the heart, warming it and enlivening it by its gentle presence; it awakes the soul by new feelings and within it is a beam of light, a fountain of love, a teacher whose lessons few can resist. Infants recall us from much that renders and encourages selfishness, the freezes the affections, roughens the manners, indurates the heart. They brighten the home, deepen love, invigorate exertion, infuse courage and vivify and sustain the charities of life. It would be a terrible world, I do think, if it were not embellished by little children.—Thomas Binney.

A Full Stop.
 A returned traveler who spent half of his holiday in a tour of Ireland brought back a sample of the happy-go-lucky wit of the Irish "Jarvey" or driver. In a breakneck race down a hill he suddenly realized that the spirited little Irish mare was running away.

"Pull her up!" he shouted excitedly.

"Hold tight, your honor," returned the Jarvey easily.

"Pull her up!" again commanded the traveler, making a grab for the reins.

"For your life don't touch the reins," the Jarvey answered without tightening his grip. "Sure, they're as rotten as pears."

The traveler made ready to jump, but the Jarvey laid a soothing hand on his shoulder.

"Sit easy," he said reassuringly. "I'll turn her into the river at the bridge below here. Sure, that'll stop her."

Clouds of Dragon Flies in Patagonia.
 "A number of years ago," said a California man, "I was traveling in that desolate part of South America known as Patagonia, a region I do not care to visit a second time. Among its curious phenomena I distinctly remember the clouds of dragon flies which are to be seen on the barren plains. These insects fly before the strong winds that blow from the interior and rush through the air as though in terror of the gale which they precede. Nearly all are blue, but now and then one is seen of a brilliant scarlet color. You encounter a storm of these flies without any warning of their approach, the air a few feet above the ground being darkened by them, and men and horses in their path become absolutely covered with them. They are larger somewhat than the ordinary dragon fly, being about three inches in length."—Washington Post.

The Reversion of Niagara Falls.
 Horseshoe fall has receded more than 200 feet within the memory of living men and is now traveling toward Lake Erie at the rate of fully 500 feet a century. At present the crest of this fall, as its name implies, has the general outline of a horseshoe, and its length is about 3,000 feet, but if the present rate of erosion continues the length of the crest may reach 8,000 feet or more within the next half millennium. Now the Canadian end of the Horseshoe fall is a few rods upstream from the spot whence Table rock has fallen into the gorge, but the indications are that this end of the cataract will gradually retire toward the Dufferin islands, leaving a bare cliff as the apex cuts its way upstream.—Alton D. Adams in Scientific American.

Everything that is worth thinking has already been thought before. We must only try to think it again.—Goethe.

ARBOREAL COURTSHIP.

Antics of the Rook—When the Matting Season begins.

"It is always amusing to watch the rooks in the periphery of their courtship," says an English writer. "When the male bird first begins to seek a mate the fact is soon made known to the world at large by a curious hoarsening of his voice. There is no accounting for tastes, according to an old proverb, and to the female rook there is no musical equal to the hoarseness that her lord begins to show about the middle of January. Then begin the violent tournaments of which she is a passive spectator. The two claimants for her favor often begin pecking at one another at the very tops of the trees, and as in the fury of their onslaught they lose foothold they drop and drop and drop till they bump against the ground, often at the very feet of some human onlooker who has been watching their proceedings with interested curiosity. Darwin tells us of similar incidents in the life history of deer and cites as somewhat of the survival of the fittest that while two lordly and robust stags are fighting for the hind it will often happen that a timid and feeble third stag will come in and carry off the prize.

"But no such capriciousness as that is allowed the female rook. Probably before the battle begins he who aspires to be her future lord and master has selected the bome in which they are to live, and should any other rook attempt to share it with her he will fight him to the death. In this case the survival of the fittest is insured.

"When once they are mated the rooks seem to stick together and be subject to little further molestation, though occasionally, I think, a gay Lothario will attempt to make love where he ought not. But in that case the whole colony of rooks unite against him and peck and beat him with their wings till he is at the point of death."

Growth of the Hair.
 The influence of diet on the growth of hair has often been discussed. It has been shown that starchy mixtures, milk and many other foods recognized as being highly nutritious are, in fact, sure death to hair growth. Chemical analysis proves that the hair is composed of 5 per cent of sulphur and its ash of 20 per cent of silicon and 10 per cent of iron and manganese. The foods which contain the largest per cent of the above named elements are meat, oatmeal and graham. Henry pointedly says, "Nations which eat most meat have the most hair."

Wanted to Be Useful.
 Woman of the House (with shawl tied around her head)—What are you bothering me now for? Can't you see we're getting ready to move? Ruffon Rats—Yes'm. I thought maybe you had some pies or scraps o' cake that wuz'n't worth movin' an' you might like to git rid of 'em, ma'am.—Chicago Tribune.

Mixed the Mark.
 Mr. McDougall was a Scotsman, and of him a good story is told. He was a large, pompous man, intolerably self conceited and arrogant—in fact, his conduct toward his neighbors was so offensive that the good people successfully requested their minister to preach a sermon directed at their vain neighbor.

The day came. The little kirk was packed, though a few tender hearted ones stayed at home, not wishing to witness their neighbor's humiliation. The sermon began and Mr. McDougall disposed himself to listen. The man's infirmity was sketched with bold, severe strokes. He smiled with lofty superiority. As the denunciation grew more scathing his smile deepened with a touch of complacent pity. At the conclusion of the service he swaggered down the aisle. One of the elders joined him.

"Weel, what did ye think of the sermon?" the latter ventured to ask.

"A great effort, sir," was the answer, "but personal. The minister aimed his shots too directly. Poor MacTavish! I felt sorry for him, but the man's conceit is enormous, sir."

Uses For Hymn Books.
 "I made a few calls the other day," said the pastor of an uptown church to his congregation, "and in one of the houses I saw a strange thing. What do you think? One of the church hymn books, the property of this church, had been carried home and was placed under the leg of the table to lengthen it out. I remonstrated at this mental use of hymn books. Apologies and blushes were profuse. Now, I am not scolding about this, but hymn books cost this church money, and if any of you have tables too short in the legs please put a newspaper under them or a piece of wood. If you do this, we won't have to send out and buy another hundred hymn books, as we did last week."

The pastor had no sooner ended these remarks than a girl sitting almost under his nose calmly opened a hymn book, placed it between her back and the back of the pew and settled comfortably down to listen to the sermon.—New York Press.

Throwing the Dart in Cork Harbor.
 The ancient civic ceremony known as throwing the dart is performed every third year, and it survives only in Cork. Proceeding to the mouth of the harbor, the lord mayor casts a silver dart into the sea and as he does so proclaims his jurisdiction as admiral of the port over the harbor and all its inlets and creeks. The naval authorities look on with unconcern, the ceremony having long ago lost its ancient significance. Throwing the dart is now merely the occasion for a civic outing.—London Mail.

His Only Chance.
 "Is there a man in all this audience," demanded the female lecturer on woman's rights, "that has ever done anything to lighten the burden on his wife's shoulders? What do you know of woman's work? Is there a man here," she continued, folding her arms and looking over the assembly with superb scorn, "that has ever got up in the morning, leaving his tired, worn-out wife to enjoy her slumbers, gone quietly downstairs, made the fire, cooked his own breakfast, sewed the missing buttons on the children's clothes, darned the family stockings, cleaned and filled the pots and kettles, and done all this necessary day after day uncomplainingly? If there be such a man in this audience let him rise up! I should really like to see him."

And in the rear of the hall a mild looking man in spectacles, in obedience to the summons, timidly arose. He was the husband of the eloquent speaker. It was the first time he had ever had a chance to assert himself.
