The Vancouver public will have an opportunity to view installation works by two prominent Shanghai artists, Shi Yong and Qian Wei Kang. The artists will fly to Vancouver from Shanghai in early May to create the works in collaboration with local Canadian artists, the first example of such Chinese-Canadian artistic co-operation known. This show will be accompanied by a Conference on Contemporary Chinese Art which will be held at the University of British Columbia on May 20th under the auspices of the Asian Studies Department and the Institute for Asian Research. The conference will consist of papers on contemporary Chinese art, talks by the two Chinese artists, and panel discussions by the Canadian and Chinese artists involved in the creation of the works. A separate artists' talk will be held at ACCESS on May 21st. The show, the conference and the artists' talk are all open to the public.
