My very Dear Lord;

Thanks to your Lorship for your short though good letter of yesterday -

I had called on your good son this morning but found him absent at his lecture. Mr Bull has been very civil to me in his kind invitations but unfortunately I have been previously engaged. -

The Lord Bp of Oxford called on me this day and I am to meet him at the Vice Chanc^{ry} at 1/2 past 5. Dr Mac Leide went with me to the Masters of Queens & Magdalen the latter told me he ^{this day} had promised a vote from his college of 100 £ 60. to New York & Con. & 100 £ to Ohio

Mr. Greswell told me that there was the accession of several names to this at the bankers.

Dr. Copleston, on whom I called this morning is very much my friend Dr. Maubridge called with me on Mr. Short but I found him out at home. The fellows of New College are warm in their attachment to the this cause. I dined with them yesterday. On the whole, considering the means which have been used to repress the predilection ⁱⁿ favour of the cause I have in hand I think there is abundant reason for gratitude for the prospects of success still left us.

Your Lordship must know how anxious I am to return to my dear Church and family. Travelling after the Month of Sept^r from the east to the west with a young family is next to impossible. If I am to take my family from N. York to Ohio this winter I must be in N. Y. by the middle of Augt. — So much is to be done in so little time that the particular Providence of God seems necessary to enable me to accomplish it.

When you Lordship writes again to the Lords pray make kind mention of a very sincere friend, the writer of this.
Pray is Edward along with his Father at Gredonston? —

I think I shall leave this for London on Saturday next; but am not sure but wherever I am I can never be otherwise than the most affectionate & grateful friend of your Lordship's papers.
Wm^r Chase
