

In the News

A May 4th Coalition rally Saturday on the Kent State University campus protesting the building of a gymnasium near the site of the 1970 shootings ended in violence and arrests. Police using clubs and tear gas broke up the prohibited rally by protestors who want history remembered. University officials want the gym question settled; the controversy has contributed to a decrease of enrollment from 20,000 to about 15,000 students.

David Berkowitz, suspected Son of Sam killer, has been deemed fit to stand trial. He is pleased with the decision and upcoming trial where he can tell his story about the angels-turned-howling demons who urged him to commit the murders. He adds he is ready to die for his crimes.
