

In the News

An agreement Sunday between the United Mine Workers union and an independent coal producing company may be the catalyst toward ending the stalemate between the UMW and the coal operators. The pact also lessens pressure on President Carter to intervene directly in the dispute. Coal analysts feel the coal operators will be induced to follow the lead of previous agreements. Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall is contemplating a temporary contract covering agreed-upon issues and return to work order for the miners, while the most difficult issues are ironed out later during further negotiations.

The Senate Tuesday closed its doors to the public during the Panama Canal Treaties discussion. The talk centered on charges that Panamanian leader Omar Torrijos has been smuggling drugs. Protection of national security was the reason for secrecy.

STUDENTS ARE REMINDED that they may take at the Mt. Vernon Nazarene College, at no charge for tuition or registration, certain courses which are not available at Kenyon. Some of these may, with prior approval from our Registrar, be counted toward the Kenyon degree; some may not. Courses in ceramics or speech might qualify, for example, as liberal arts courses in our Dept. of Art or Drama respectively. But courses in accounting, Business Law, Computer Science, some economics, or Education could not be counted. These may, nevertheless, be elected as 5th courses and entered as such without Kenyon credit on the permanent record card. The Registrar has a current catalogue for Mt. Vernon and can advise students.
