FIRE STARBOARD PHASERS!! Sadly, and with great remorse, the Film Society is forced to alter its schedule. We have been informed that the film The Man Who Knew Too Much has been disintegrated. So we have replaced it this weekend with one of the only other films available, Of Human Bondage, based on the novel by W. Somerset Maugham (87 minutes), provided it arrives on time. The cast includes Leslie Howard, Bette Davis, and Francis Dee. A 1934 melodrama revolving around Philip Carey, a young medical student in Edwardian London. Carey's infatuation with a Cockney waitress only brings him sorrow and despair. Questions: Call Ed Spodick, PBX 2432 or Jeff Toole, PBX 2487.
