Right Reverend & Dear Sir

Too many days have passed without my acknowledging the receipt of your most welcome letter for hearing that you were again in England in circumstances this in a degree mixed yet altogether satisfactory to yourself and promising to promote the Church of our Lord and Master was dear and welcome to me, and the hope of seeing you once again came with it which I will not altogether express - how cordially & affectionately would I welcome you to my own house if it should be possible for you to visit our Northern district and I can promise you that Mr. Hoie would readily converse with me in giving you that welcome - but of this I shall say less at present as I know how much you must have to occupy your immediate attention yet it may be a matter of after consideration as not unprofitable to your great object. I cannot refuse your most respectful request to write to dear Lady Rose altho I have not heard from her for a long time and not intended to make any application to her again - her interest & charity being as it is no wonder absorbed in her own suffering Ireland. Please my love open, & think that you should yourself write, which if you agree with me, may be better than sending my letter - but this I leave to your own decision - I had by yesterdays post a letter from dear Mr. Maistrick with yours & her from Portsmouth. Not being sure that you had written to me. I do not like to press upon your attention knowing that it will be occupied by writing a long letter. but I hope that you will let me hear from you again are long & let me know whatever you are of your applications success plans or prospects. I have been thinking how or whom I could interest. Had the same interest & desire to promote your present most desirable cause as this - he cannot expect the like success. but I hope the spirit is alive as then, altho as you will know & hear, ours

then comparatively happy Country is sadly disturbed, and it is no doubt a time of trial, and how you will miss the dear friends who have left us. I must not say to mourn, for of their happiness we cannot doubt - but the loss of the Society of those who cheer & strengthen us in our earthly pilgrimage is one great trial. Humbly pray to be enabled to follow their examples to partake of the same heavenly joy - I shall wish to hear of your dear wife and family. where you left them &c.

 May remember me most kindly to your good kind friends Mrs Wiggins & their family. I am so happy that you are with them. Wygie begs to send her
