Letter to Philander Chase

Thomas Holme

The Philander Chase letters were written in the 18th and 19th century and therefore may contain language that we understand today as harmful or offensive. You may encounter paternalist descriptions of Native Americans, racial slurs, or sexism. For more information, see our policy page.

Right Reverend and dear Sir

I have long been expecting to hear from you respecting your protégé James George, and to receive ^{further} bills for his education. It is desirable that I should receive them regularly, that as my funds get low I may have a motive for exertion and an argument to influence the well disposed to assist me in the good work. Your first call I presume was duly answered as my Banker through whom I paid the money have debited me with the amount - I have heard once from Mrs George since you kindly took her son to Subilee in which she speaks in grateful terms of all that you have done for her, and I trust that the widow's prayer will bring down upon your labours of love ^{may blessing} from Him who is emphatically the Father of the Fatherless and the God of the Widow - I wrote to you several months ago to request you to send me an acct of J. George's second year's expenses, but as I have received no answer I fear my letter has not reached its destination - I trust that this will be more fortunate and that in due time I shall hear from you -

How gloomy at present is the prospect of peace between our two kindred nations. may the God of Peace still the troubled waters that love and harmony may be restored - With every sentiment of respect and esteem I am Right Rev. & Dear Sir Yours faithfully
J. Holmes
