Editorial.

THE football season which is just past has, like all previous seasons, reflected great credit to our team. Against teams which outweighed it ten pounds to the man, it has played the plucky game which has so often stood for victory, and has always stood for Kenyon.

Great credit is due to the second team which has come out so faithfully with no personal laurels in view, but with the cause at heart which is so near to us all.

Credit is due, in fact, to all those of the students, alumni, faculty and friends of Kenyon who have supported the team in countless ways, and by their interest and consideration have, in a large degree, made it possible for Kenyon to have one of the best teams in the State.

And last, but not least, great credit is due to Mr. Wentworth, who has inspired our men to make a record which for the spirit and dash of its victories, the pluck with which its few defeats have been sustained, is worthy as an exponent of our traditional spirit, to be inscribed among the glories of Kenyon.

A PROPOS of the subject of Kenyon triumphs, it is a pleasure to note the return of our sympathetic old friend, the College Bell. It has been sent to the Meneely Bell Company to be recast, and came up the path just as the football men were gathered on the Rosse Hall steps for the photographer. Surely it must have felt a thrill of joy at the hearty Kenyon welcome it received. We hardly recognized our old friend in its bright new coat, but when once it was in its place, and we heard the tongue that has sung so cheerily to us, in years gone by, we knew it for the same old comrade that has called the changes through the long years of Kenyon's past.

DURING the rest of the year it will be necessary for all the departments of the Assembly to use the most rigid economy possible. Owing to the fact that the past baseball and football seasons both lost more money than usual, and the fact that the coach fund has been paid out of the running expenses of the football team, the Assembly is in debt. For the past three years very few subscriptions for the benefit of athletics have been asked from the student body, because the need of subscriptions has not been very great. Now, when the Assembly does need money, it is to be hoped that everyone will respond liberally to such subscriptions as may be asked, and will support all athletics and entertainments given to raise money for the Assembly. It is encouraging to note that the Glee club has already turned a neat sum into the treasury, and both the Dramatic and Glee clubs expect to give several entertainments in the course of the year. If these entertainments are supported as they deserve nearly half of the debt of the Assembly can be made up by the end of the year.

THE four-year question has been agitating several Ohio colleges ever since the football season began. O. S. U. has gone so far as to adopt a four-year rule, with some modifications, for her own teams, and the time seems ripe for a general movement of this nature in Ohio. Ohio athletics have always been singularly loose in this respect, and any movement which may tend to purify them, will not only greatly increase Kenyon's standing, but will be ardently approved by all lovers of pure sport in the State. The four-year rule is practically in force here now, and Kenyon would only be too glad to agree to a four-year rule among the leading Ohio colleges, similar to those in operation in the East and the West. We hope that before another year has gone by some concerted action will be taken by the principal colleges in the State to enforce a four-year rule, and strict amateur qualifications for their athletic teams.

Reminiscences of Dr. Sparrow.

EDITORS OF THE COLLEGIAN: WINCHESTER, MASS., NOV. 20, 1901.

I sympathize with you, young editors, in your struggle for success under difficulties. It requires a man of very ready talent to keep up his studies, and, at the same, produce a really interesting and valuable paper. I know how gladly even passable copy is received under such circumstances. So, here are some slight reminiscences of a man with whom, as a student at Kenyon more than sixty years ago, I was connected and for whom I always had a sincere admiration. I refer to Rev. Dr. William Sparrow.

Dr. Sparrow was a man of rare talent and high character. His influence over the students was very great. His voluntary Bible class was large and very popular, even among those students who were not particularly religious. He was clear, learned, methodical and very earnest in his explanations. His sermons were always powerful, and the bad boys always feared the lashing of his tongue, which, on occasion, could be very sharp—as when he held up to ridicule, in the chapel, a company of boys who had been caught, late one night, roasting a turkey in one of their rooms, representing them as in a profuse sweat, all dripping with grease, their appetites sharpened by the savory fumes which filled the room.

The doctor was an extremely modest and even bashful man. I had the honor and pleasure of accompanying him on his preaching expeditions into the country, especially to what was called old Mr.

Bonnett's log school-house a couple of miles south of the college; cabin as well as family, no doubt, gone long ago. After he had finished the service he craved the indulgence of his audience for sitting while commencing his sermon; then, as he warmed to his subject, he would rise and pour forth a stream of simple, earnest, and often impassioned eloquence. As we were riding along on one occasion, when going to preach, the conversation turned to the subject of modesty and bashfulness in the pulpit, when he remarked, with considerable feeling: "Mr. Richards, I have learned, as the result of my experience in the world, that gold is precious and silver is precious, but there is nothing like brass."

The doctor was fond of a joke and he had the faculty of seeing the ludicrous side of things. At one time he was in the habit of visiting Granville, my native place, where my father was making an effort to start an Episcopal church. The Presbyterians were good enough to allow us to occupy their church, a distinguishing feature of which was a pulpit mounted upon pillars some ten or fifteen feet high. On one occasion, having preached from this height, he afterwards facetiously remarked that he felt "like a sparrow on a housetop." I always felt that the loss of Dr. Sparrow to Kenyon was very great, but the misfortune seemed to be that the Hill was not large enough for two such magnates as himself and Bishop McIlvaine.

I noticed with melancholy interest the announcement, in your last issue, of the death of my old classmate, Andrew E. Douglas, '38. All gone at last, and I alone left to mourn their departure to

"The undiscovered country from whose bourne
No traveller returns."

Some time ago a friend jokingly remarked to me that I must be running a race with Bismarck, Gladstone and the Pope. Well, the Iron Chancellor and the indomitable Statesman are distanced and out of the race for good; now it lies between the Holy Father and myself. Who can tell which will win? It is earnestly to be hoped that we may both win at least in that Christian race whose reward is a crown of eternal glory in the world to come.

HENRY L. RICHARDS, '38.

The Bedell Lectures.

The Bedell Lectures for 1901, delivered by the Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, Bishop of New York, were very well attended and greatly enjoyed. As Bishop Potter was unable to come to Gambier on the first of November the lectures were postponed to the twelfth and thirteenth. The subjects of the three lectures were: "Man, the Individual;" "Men, the Corporation;" and "Christ, the Master," and the treatment of the general subject was to show the teachings of Jesus Christ as applied to sociology.

In the first lecture Bishop Potter traced the history of the individual from the beginning of society to the present day. In the earliest times the individual existed for the state. The tendency of later times has been towards the opposite view—the state existing for the individual. Both the Renaissance and the Reformation had a profound and beneficial effect upon society, but corrected but a fractional part of its imperfections. One of the greatest of these imperfections has always been the industrial system and its concomitant labor troubles—oppression, injustice and violence between capital and labor, between employer and employee. This friction, for which both parties are in some degree responsible, is a great hindrance to the progress of humanity. The remedy for these evils is not in legislation, as some people think. The lowest classes of our citizens, such as can be found in the slums of our great cities, have "a soul of chivalry, if we can but touch it." Social settlements have accomplished a vast amount of good in this direction. The true remedy for the evils of our present industrial system is to be found in the life and teachings of Jesus Christ.

The second lecture dealt with the history and analysis of the collegium and corporation, and showed the good which was done by the guilds of the Middle Ages in antagonizing the spirit of exclusiveness and bringing master and servant together. The guild naturally improved workmanship and its successor, the modern trades-union, ought to do the same. That the attitude of the union is too war-like to produce the best results is evident from its cool reception of the profit-sharing system where such systems have been tried. Both capital and labor, even if joined, are dependent upon good management. The statement of Adam Smith, that labor is the source of all capital, is the cause of the modern war-like attitude of labor toward capital. Good management is necessary to make either capital or labor productive. Such a management must have the minor equities, humanity, breadth, honesty and justice. However harmful the attitude of organized labor may be, the corporation is even more culpable. Corporation or trust methods are frequently wrong. The corporation has been able at times to corrupt both the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government; so that we must find a better way than this to correct our industrial evils. Individual rights should be subordinated to collective rights and duties. The real solution of the problem, the oppression of labor by capital and the injury of capital by labor, lies in the eternal equities, the laws of Christianity.

In the third lecture Bishop Potter demonstrated the Divine origin and authority of human government through the statements of Christ, and showed that the individual, the corporation and the government have each a divine sanction. He spoke of the advantages and disadvantages of government control of industry and commerce. Many reforms have been wrought by this system and the end of these reforms has not yet been reached. However, an improvement in human nature must take place before any great extension of government ownership takes place, since corrupt politics must be eliminated before such a movement can be successful. A good law in the hands of bad men is worse than a bad law in the hands of good men. A combination of good law and good men is needed. Good men should give their services to the government and crowd out immoral or inefficient office holders. In general, the only real remedy for our many social evils lies in the study of the life of Christ and the application of the laws of Christianity to society.

College News.

At the close of the football season, Tanner, '02, Wright, '02, and Beeman, '05, were awarded the football "K."

Basket ball practice commenced in earnest the week after Thanksgiving under Captain Collins. The team played Otterbein on December 7th, defeating them by a score of 39 to 6. The outlook for the team is very promising, and a large schedule of games has been arranged for the Easter term.

On Tuesday evening, December 10th, an excellent concert was given in K. M. A. gymnasium, by the Kenyon Glee and Mandolin Clubs. The audience was large and the program was very well received. It is proposed to give three more concerts this year.

Obituary.

Dr. C. F. Paine, Kenyon, '62, died at his home in Troy, Pa., on November 14th, of paralysis, after an illness lasting six days. We clip the following from the Troy Gazette of November 21, 1901:

Charles Forrest Paine was born September 12, 1842. He was the son of Seth Woodbridge Paine and Sarah Jane Forrest. After a preparatory course in the Moravian school of Nazareth Hall, at Nazareth, Pa., he entered Kenyon College, where he graduated with a Bachelor's degree in 1862. He joined the Psi

Upsilon Fraternity at Kenyon, and he also won the distinction of a membership in Phi Beta Kappa, an honorary fraternity whose members are chosen on account of their high standing in scholarship. He had studied music previous to entering college, and was the college organist at Kenyon. Next he spent four years in the Medical School of the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated in 1866, standing second in a class of ninety men. His musical abilities also won him distinction in Philadelphia. He was organist in a large Philadelphia church during his term in the University. After a year or so of hospital work Dr. Paine began practice in Towanda and shortly afterward came to Troy, where he has been engaged in general practice ever since. He was made Railroad Surgeon for the Northern Central Railroad and has held this office for nearly thirty years.

Mr. Chas. E. Bemiss, Kenyon, '89, died in Cincinnati on Wednesday, December 4th. After his graduation from Kenyon Mr. Bemiss studied law and was admitted to the Bar. He was college organist for three years and was also a singer of great ability, frequently delighting audiences in Mt. Vernon and Gambier by the exercise of his musical talents.

Football.

KENYON 6—DENNISON 0.

On Benson Field, November 9th, Kenyon defeated Denison by the small score of six to nothing. As the team was not entirely over the effects of the Reserve game, several substitutes were used, and this, coupled with Denison's unusually strong showing, made the game a close one. Kenyon had the best of the game from beginning to end, but her disastrous fumbling and ragged offensive play prevented her from scoring more.

Kenyon kicked off to Jones, who was downed on the thirty-five yard line. Denison fumbled and Oliver fell on the ball. Kenyon tried the line for a few short gains and then Denison got the ball on downs. Kenyon held and Dennison punted fifteen yards, Morris running back ten. Kenyon began to make steady gains through Denison and carried the ball to her five yard line, where Morris fumbled, and Jones, securing the ball, ran the length of the field with it. The ball was given to Kenyon on Denison's forty-yard line because the Denison interference had fouled Jackson. Collins and Morris each made five yards. Morris was injured, Tanner taking his place. Coolidge replaced Jackson. On short backs by Tanner, Oliver and Carlisle, the ball was carried to Denison's twenty-yard line where it was again fumbled. Denison punted to the middle of the field. Kenyon carried the ball ten yards and then fumbled. Denison tried the line for no gains and punted to Kenyon's forty yard line. Kenyon again fumbled and Denison, securing the ball, made ten yards on off-side play. Here Kenyon held for two downs and Denison tried a place-kick for goal from the thirty-five yard line. The kick was blocked and Kenyon carried the ball back to the middle of the field when time was called. Score, Kenyon 0, Denison, 0.

In the second half Denison kicked off to Coolidge and Kenyon carried the ball to the middle of the field on bucks by Tanner, Oliver, Collins and Carlisle. Collins punted forty-five yards, and Kenyon secured the ball on downs on Denison's twenty-five yard line. Kenyon carried the ball to Denison's two yard line. Here Denison held for downs and punted fifteen yards to Collins. Oliver went around the end for a touchdown. Aubrey replaced Quinn and kicked goal. Score, Kenyon 6, Denison, 0.

Denison kicked off to Coolidge and Aubrey punted to the middle of the field. Denison carried the ball to Kenyon's thirty-yard line and after several exchanges of punts time was called with the ball in Kenyon's possession near the middle of the field.

KENYON 15—WITTENBERG 0.

On November sixteenth, Kenyon defeated Wittenberg on Benson Field by a score of fifteen to nothing. Wittenberg was slightly heavier and put up an excellent defense, but was slow and no match for Kenyon in strong aggressive offense. Punting was a feature of the game, and in exchange of punts Kenyon always gained from ten to fifteen yards. The home team was guilty of more than the usual amount of fumbling, and twice was held for downs on Wittenberg's five yard line. The end runs of Morris, Aubrey and Carlisle, and the splendid bucking of Stauffer, were the most noticeable features of the game.

The line up was:

Kenyon.	Position.	Wittenberg.
Wallace.....	Center.....	Rayner

Summary: Referee, McFadden. Umpire, Crapp. Touchdowns, Cunningham, Stauffer, and Carlisle. Halves, twenty-five and twenty minutes.

KENYON 53—OTTERBEIN 0.

A rather hard game had been expected for November 23, from the team that had tied O. S. U., but in this respect the lovers of close sport were disappointed, for the Otterbein men proved quite unable to withstand the vigorous onslaughts of Kenyon.

The first half was characterized by the snappy and aggressive offense of our men who played what was perhaps their best game of the season. Long end runs were made by Morris while Cunningham and Stauffer bucked the line for long gains.

Kenyon kicked off to Otterbein, who returned three yards, lost ten yards for offside play and were forced to punt. Morris fell on the ball which was carried down the field by long end runs, Morris making the first touchdown after three minutes of play. Aubrey kicked goal. Score, Kenyon, 6, Otterbein, 0.

Otterbein kicked off twice in succession, the ball going out of bounds both times. Kenyon then kicked to Otterbein's twenty-yard line, Otterbein being unable to advance. Kenyon advanced by bucks, and Cunningham was sent through for the second touchdown five minutes from the kick-off. Aubrey kicked goal. Score, Kenyon, 12, Otterbein, 0.

Otterbein kicked over Kenyon's goal line; Kenyon returned to the middle of the field, and held Otterbein, forcing them to punt to Morris, who advanced ten yards. Morris then went around left end for twenty-five yards, and Aubrey ran forty yards for touchdown. Aubrey kicked goal. Score, Kenyon, 18, Otterbein, 0.

Otterbein again kicked over the Kenyon goal line, and Aubrey returned from the twenty-yard line. Otterbein now made first down for the first time in the game, but Aubrey soon got the ball on a fumble, and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. Aubrey missed goal. Score, Kenyon 23; Otterbein 0.

Otterbein kicked off to Coolidge who advanced five yards. Carlisle then ran twenty yards, Morris twenty-five, Aubrey twenty, Morris ten more, while Stauffer bucked for fifteen, and Morris was sent over for another touchdown. Aubrey kicked goal. Score, Kenyon 29; Otterbein 0.

Otterbein again kicked over the goal line. Cunningham advanced to the fifteen-yard line, Morris ran fifteen yards, Coolidge fifteen, Aubrey fifteen, Tanner twenty-five, Morris ten, Carlisle fourteen, and Cunningham carried the ball over for the sixth touchdown. Aubrey kicked goal. Score, Kenyon 35; Otterbein 0.

Otterbein again kicked back of goal line and Kenyon was tearing her way up the field very rapidly when time was called.

In the second half Otterbein kicked off to Aubrey who ran seventy yards for touchdown after thirty seconds of play. Aubrey kicked goal. Kenyon 41, Otterbein 0. Many substitutes now played for Kenyon but Cunningham was soon sent over for another touchdown. Aubrey kicked goal. Kenyon 47, Otterbein 0. Otterbein kicked off and Kenyon advanced by long runs to the twenty-yard line where a place kick was tried. This was blocked. Otterbein now got the ball and made several first downs. Kenyon got the ball and punted to the Otterbein full-back who was downed in his tracks by Quinn's pretty tackle. Otterbein was forced to punt and Cunningham went over for a touchdown. Aubrey kicked goal.

The lineup was:

Wallace	Center	Benner
McCalla	Right Guard	Stauffer
Rodgers, Irvins	Right Tackle	Van Sickle
Beeman, Zollinger	Right End	Altman
Coolidge, Jackson	Quarter	Hughes
Morris, Wright, Oliver	Right Half	Charles
Brown, Aubrey, Tanner	Left Half	Bates
Cunningham	Full Back	Miller

Summary: Score, Kenyon 53, Otterbein 0. Touchdowns, Cunningham, 4; Aubrey, 3; Morris, 2. Goals, Aubrey, 8. Referee, McFadden. Umpire, Hunt. Halves, 25 minutes.

OHIO STATE 11—KENYON 6.

Kenyon and O. S. U. played for second place in Ohio on Thanksgiving Day, at Columbus. The game was hotly contested from beginning to end, and although O. S. U. was victorious, the ball was in her territory three-fourths of the time. Time and again Kenyon seemed sure to make her second touchdown, but this never occurred and Kenyon must be content with the fact that she played her opponent to a stand-still. Aubrey narrowly missed making two goals from the field, and once Kenyon fumbled on O. S. U.'s five-yard line. O. S. U. depended mainly on weight and Kenyon on fast playing.

The first touch-down was scored by Kenyon after fifteen minutes of play. Aubrey kicked off, and the ball, after changing hands frequently, was fumbled by O. S. U. on her forty-yard line. Beeman picked it up and carried it to the two-yard line, where Morris was pushed over for a touchdown. Aubrey kicked goal. Score, Kenyon 6, O. S. U., 0.

A few moments later Aubrey's punt was blocked and Dille fell on it on Kenyon's four-yard line. Kittle went through the center for a touchdown but failed goal. Score, Kenyon 6, O. S. U. 5.

The ball remained in O. S. U.'s territory for the rest of the half, neither side scoring.

In the second half Birdseye kicked off to Rodgers who fumbled, and Tillman fell on the ball on Kenyon's thirty-yard line. O. S. U. commenced to batter down Kenyon's line on steady bucks of about two yards each. Her great weight told here, and though Kenyon made a strong stand on the five-yard line, Kittle was pushed over for a touchdown on the third down. Kittle kicked goal. Score, Kenyon, 6, O. S. U. 11.

For the rest of the half the ball was in O. S. U.'s territory and Kenyon was very close to scoring on end runs by Aubrey and Morris and tackle bucks by Stauffer. It was here that Kenyon lost the ball on off-side play after Stauffer had made a touchdown by a brilliant run. The game ended with the ball on O. S. U.'s forty-yard line.

The lineup was as follows :

Kenyon		O. S. U.
Wallace	Center	Fay
McCalla	Right Guard	Tilton
Rodgers (Capt.)	Right Tackle	Markes
Beemen	Right End	Loyd
Coolidge	Quarter	Jackson
Morris	Right Half	McLaren, Birdseye
Brown, Tanner	Left Half	Dille
Cunningham	Full Back	Kittle (Capt.)

Summary: O. S. U., 11, Kenyon, 6. Referee, Fauver, of Oberlin. Umpire, McFadden, of Amherst. Timekeepers, Collins and Collins. Linesmen, Ford and Huddleson. Halves, 25 minutes. Touchdowns, Kittle, 2; Morris. Goals, Aubrey, Kittle.

The football season of 1901 has been, on the whole, a very successful one. Kenyon ranks as the third team in the state, with Oberlin first, and O. S. U. second. Of five hard games Kenyon won three and was outplayed in only one—the Oberlin game, when Kenyon had had very little practice and was not in condition for a hard game. It is to be hoped that hereafter Oberlin will be played at a later date, when Kenyon will be sure to at least play a close game.

A large number of places on this year's team will be left vacant by graduation, but there is some good material for these vacancies in college at present, and if the incoming class brings any good material Kenyon can be depended upon to have a strong team.

At the close of the season Mr. Kitto S. Carlisle was unanimously elected captain of the football team for 1902. Mr. Carlisle has played left guard on the 'Varsity for the past three years and has made an excellent record as an aggressive and steady player, qualities which eminently fit him for the office. He has our best wishes for success.
