NUMBER 3

PATH

Tree Doctors Operate On Our Maples—Save Beauty of Path.

For several years it has been noted with a great deal of regret that a number of the beautiful maples along the Middle Path are in anything but a healthy condition. Limbs have been dying in great numbers and in some cases the bark has become rotten and fallen away. In order to experiment upon the possibility of doing anything to check or to overcome this condition, Mr. W. S. Fulkman, of the Garman and Fulkman Company of Columbus, was called to Gambier.

According to Mr. Fulkman's statement there are numerous causes that have brought on this threatened destruction of our trees, the chief of which are canker worms and the careless use of the lawn mower. Since the life of a tree lies between the bark and the wood, it will be readily seen how disastrous is the effect of these canker worms, which make their way beneath the bark and destroy the vital part of the tree. The lawn mower is the right hand helper of the canker worm, for every time the bark is broken at the foot of a tree, the worms have new territory to work upon, to say nothing of the resulting ravages of frost and moisture. To put an end to this, every affected part of the bark must be removed and the bare surface of the tree painted with asphaltum or some other paint that is weather-proof and does not injure the tree. Dead limbs are also injurious to the trees, in that their affection rapidly extends to other parts and causes them to die. To avoid this the dead branches should be removed at least every two years. Some of the trees were so far gone that the "surgeon" found it necessary to chisel out the very heart of the wood and fill the cavity with cement. By doing this he is able to strengthen the tree and prevent further infection.

Some of the trees are already dead and consequently are past help; but it is hoped that the others may be preserved and that the chief beauty of the Path will not be lost.

RESERVE WINS AGAIN

The Cleveland Eleven Proves Too Strong for the Plucky Kenyon Team—Allegheny Game a Surprise.

Saturday, October 7th, was a day marked by the fulfillment of traditions. The fulfillment started on Friday when all classes were "cut" and an enthusiastic rally and snake-dance held, which infused the old-time spirit into both students and players. That night about a dozen of the "loyal though broke" went to Mt. Vernon and engaged passage on the "cannonball," thus fulfilling another tradition. And on Saturday the whole student body once more journeyed to Cleveland and appeared on Case Field, where the final touch was added by the fulfillment of one more tradition, and one that none of us would have regretted to see broken.

Perhaps someone is getting tired of that expression, "glorious defeat." It does seem as though Kenyon was drawing more than her share of these "rain-checks to glory," but really no other term applies to the 1911 Reserve game. It was the old story of Kenyon, with her single team, picked from fifteen or sixteen men, stacking up against a total of twenty stars in one game. And she gave them a big scare and put up a plucky fight that won admiration from spectators and recognition from the football experts of the Cleveland papers.

The game started with a kick-off to Kenyon and by a series of sensational gains the ball was advanced deep into Reserve's territory, where it was only by a determined stand and an immediate recourse to punting that the Cleveland players removed the menace to their goal line. Throughout the remainder of this quarter, Kenyon was on the offensive and displayed a variety of attack and consistency in her team work that seemed liable to carry her to victory if sustained in the later periods.

At the resumption of play, Reserve sent in Charley Cook, the star full-back, whom the coach had intended to save for Ohio State. This move practically decided the game. It was soon evident that Cook was about the only man who could gain consistently through Kenyon's defense and he was worked continually. Still it took ten minutes of hard struggling to put the ball across the line for the first and only touchdown of the game. Under the shadow of her own goal-posts, Kenyon made a wonderful resistance, but again Cook was called upon and finally made a score. He failed to kick goal and the score when the half ended shortly afterward was 5-0.

In the first period of the second half Cook was once more the "big noise." But he was unable to again penetrate Kenyon's line when her goal was threatened and had to fall back on his wonderful ability to kick. Two goals from placement were made and one missed in this period. Penalties for Kenyon aided considerably in bringing the ball into a position for these scores, but no less credit is due to the big full-back, whose kicks were both powerful and well-placed.

The fourth period was marked by many long runs on Reserve's part and by one fruitless attempt at another goal from placement, but all attempts to score were in vain. Coach Scott sent in many new men in this period, while Kenyon had to rely on the nearly exhausted warriors who had borne the brunt of the whole battle. The whistle blew with the score 11-0, and another Reserve game became a matter of history.

Without doubt Cook was the bright star of the game and as far as his team was concerned, he came near being the only one. For Kenyon, "Buck" Carr and Tasman in the offensive work and Capt. Axtell on the defensive deserve particular notice for their splendid service. During the first period, Carr, Rhorabaugh and Tasman made three gains in quick succession totaling about fifty yards. In fact every man on the Kenyon team made a creditable performance, and Cleveland writers acknowledged our team

GAS WELLS

Gambier and Vicinity Dotted With Gas Wells—Makes Difference in Scenery.

If five years ago someone had suggested to anyone living in the vicinity of Gambier that the soil contained large gas deposits he would have been laughed at. But within a year from that time a well was driven on the farm of Mr. Kelly, south of Gambier, from which gas was given forth in large quantities. This event caused much comment in this locality and every man living in the vicinity had hopes that gas might also be discovered on his farm. Not much was done, however, until several years had passed.

Everyone was surprised last year on coming back to the Hill to see the country just east of the campus dotted with gas wells. Six wells had been driven in ten days and gas had been found in every case. Now almost every farm has a gas well on it and one may be found even in the corporation of Gambier.

These wells are under the management of the Ohio Fuel & Gas Co. Almost all are familiar with the methods employed by the drillers. A large derrick is erected from which a drill is swung. This drill with the bit weighs about 4,500 pounds. The drill is repeatedly raised and let fall until it has drilled a hole about nine feet in depth. Then the sand pump is inserted in the hole and all loose dirt is removed. This operation is repeated until the well has reached a depth of about 2,500 feet. At this depth gas is usually encountered, although one well near here is 2,700 feet in depth.

The ground in this locality has a layer of gravel on top about a hundred feet deep. Under this is a bed of rock about 700 feet thick. The other layers are big lime 1,600 feet, slate 20 feet, little lime 80 feet and Berea sand. The gas is found in this sand. The average amount of gas given off is two and a half million feet per day of twenty-four hours. The wells are worked night and day by four men working in pairs for twelve hours each.

If gas is struck on a farm the owner receives a royalty of $100 from the company per year and free gas.

The cost of a drill complete is around $3,000.

Students as Hoboes—To Cleveland by Freight.

A practical example of Kenyon spirit was shown on the night of Friday, October 16, when a party of ten students rode the "Cannonball" to Cleveland to see the Reserve game.

Let it be stated by way of explanation that the "Cannonball" is a fast through freight, which makes a night run from Columbus to Cleveland. It takes coal and water at Mt. Vernon. There the party of tourists boarded.

The rain was pouring in torrents, and the cars were all locked, so that the travellers were exposed to the elements. By the time the Hill was rounded all were soaked to the skin. During a stop at Brink Haven an open window in the end of a box car afforded entrance to shelter from wind, rain and cinders.

The car was almost filled with large bags of rosin. On these the party rested, in company with a fellow traveller bound from St. Louis to Canton. Several were able to enjoy a few winks of the "sleep that knits up the ravelled sleeve of care," but wet clothes are generally too cold for comfort. Dry ones would have been cold enough, by the way.

The entire trip took about eight hours. The train left Mt. Vernon at 9:00 and the passengers hopped off at Newburg about 4:30 Saturday morning, looking like professional hoboes. After securing their suitcases, containing clean clothes, at the Euclid Avenue station, all cleaned up and dressed, emerging from the Del Prado as neat and respectable Kenyon men, ready to cheer and sing on the side lines, and proud of their sacrifice for Kenyon.

Bakery Changes Hands.

Kenyon Alumni will be interested in the change in the management of one of Gambier's most prominent institutions, the Bakery. Mr. Harry C. Stoyke has retired, and his interest has been purchased by Mr. Snow, the firm now being Jacobs and Snow. "Harry" has been in the restaurant business in Gambier for eighteen years, and is well remembered by many Kenyon and Bexley Alumni.

work to be better than Reserve's. The whole story of Reserve's victory lies in her greater abundance of available material.

Allegheny-Kenyon.

Accompanied by a few faithful rooters the Kenyon team made the long journey to Meadville, Pa., on Saturday, the fourteenth, and lost to Allegheny College by a score of 24-0. It cannot be denied that the score came as a distinct disappointment to Kenyon supporters, for the "dope" justified our hopes of something much better. It looks like a repetition of last year's history, when, after a superb fight against Reserve, the reaction seemed to come when the team met a less important opponent the following Saturday.

It is only just in this case however that we should make due allowance for certain mitigating circumstances. The night before the game, the men had to make a 200-mile journey, which seriously interfered with their rest and left them in no fit condition on the following day. And, though the Allegheny management probably was not responsible, the arrangements at Meadville were really not all that could have been desired. After dressing at 2:00 o'clock, the Kenyon players had to wait until 4:30 for the beginning of the play, on account of the non-arrival of some of the officials.

Allegheny has a really fast team and won the game principally through her speed and a quick-forming and almost impenetrable interference. She also used the forward pass to some advantage. Kenyon held the Pennsylvania team to one touchdown during the first half and played them off their feet toward the end of the last period, showing form during these flashes that would have produced a different result if it had been consistent.

Abbot, Lavelly, and Capt. Hawk, who played center on the Allegheny team in the basketball game here last winter, were the stars for their team. Capt. Axtell is given credit for Kenyon's best work. Bowlus also attracted notice when he was sent in during the last period, the fresh player's example seeming to spur his teammates on to their final effort.

Seen and Heard at the Games.

The Kenyon rooters maintained their reputation at Cleveland and under the leadership of Fred Clarke sang songs and gave Hikas in a way that certainly had much to do with the team's good showing. Reserve's supporters, though so many in number, did not put quite the same spirit into their work.

Inspection of this year's scores shows Kenyon's best periods to be the first and fourth. Wesleyan and Reserve were both held to no score during these intervals, and in the Allegheny game these were the two bright spots in Kenyon's work.

One of the pleasant surprises

ALUMNI NOTES

Special Note.

It will be strange if no mistakes are detected in these alumni notes. At any rate the editor has done the best he could to get them straight. Observers of errors will do the readers of the Collegian and Kenyon College itself a big service if they slap down the correction on a post card. Direct it to Alumni Notes Gambier, O. And send in new notes. Your alumni editor has winded himself in this effort, and needs help now in tooting the alumni horn.

Old men back on the Hill at college opening were few and far between. It was the smallest opening which the college has seen in years in the alumni interest shown. Thanksgiving offers a splendid opportunity for Kenyon men to get back and make good what was lacking in June and September. The college now needs outside support greatly. Good numbers of alumni at the front during initiation time will give an impetus to the life on the Hill and will safely carry on the college spirit until Commencement.

Though it is some time since college opened it will doubtless still prove of interest to note what men revisited the Hill in the middle of September. East Wing had only "Matt" Maury, Fred Carr and "Cub" Siddall, a marked falling off from last Commencement. East Division had Walter Morris, '02, C. M. Cable, "Jim" Cable, "Ed" Southworth, Frank Marty, "Bob" Weaver, and C. O. Dunn. North Hanna had John Coolidge, Walter McCowatt, Blakeslee White, "Nat" Belknap, "Bill" Allen, and Charles B. Field. South Hanna welcomed Edgar Moeser, "Russ" Young, Glenn Skyles, and "Sam" Fennell. The West Wing was well represented, George Fullerton, Kiechler, and Tup Kinder. Better next time!

THE GLEE CLUB.

What has become of the Glee and Mandolin Clubs at Kenyon? That was the question put to many Gambier men during the past year by the Alumni and others interested in Kenyon's welfare, and we all know how we stuttered around trying to find a good excuse for an answer. The real answer of course is, that they have been dead, dead as a door nail, for two whole years, at least to the outside world, for not since the year 1908 has Kenyon had a Glee Club trip.

Why these trips were not taken last year or the year before need not be mentioned, but the important thing to us as loyal Kenyon men, is whether or not we are going to allow this old and important organization to die a lonely death, simply because we can't get enough members out for a couple of months to rehearse. We have enough fellows with good voices to make an excellent club here at Kenyon and now is the time for each one to do his duty and make up for the two years' silence.

Everyone agrees that the failure on the part of a college like Kenyon to place such an advertisement before the public is a policy which will do more harm than good.

In the first place let us look at the college side of the question. Everyone knows that a Glee Club, if it is any good at all, can do more in inducing men to come to college than any other medium. Why shouldn't it? The fellow who is in preparatory school goes to one of the concerts, gets a glimpse of college life and goes home determined to choose that college for his Alma Mater. Any college man can give cases where this has happened. If a Glee Club trip can do this for its college, isn't it worth the while and effort?

The Alumni also have a side to this question. Letters are always being received inquiring about the Glee Club trips and the dates of the concerts. Even if such trips did not induce men to come to Kenyon, certainly the pleasure it gives to her Alumni, who go to a concert and dream of their old days on the Hill, should be reason enough for us to exert every effort towards such a trip.

How can a college arouse more interest and loyal enthusiasm among her alumni than by a visit of the Glee and Mandolin Clubs to a good Kenyon town?

Are we or are we not going to have such clubs and trips this year? Decidedly yes and if each man will do his best and come out and work loyally with the leader when he asks you there will be no doubt that the manager will do his part and arrange a cracking good trip. This applies to the Freshmen also. When the call for new men goes up, turn out in full force and pull with all your might for Kenyon. Now is the time to talk the thing up and make it each one's personal duty to see to it that the Kenyon Glee Club does not die.

FOOTBALL.

Thus far this season the Kenyon football team has played four games. Our opponents have scored fifty-one points, while our team still has its first score to make.

Those interested in Kenyon will naturally ask, "Is this a satisfactory record for our team?" In answering this question one must keep in mind the fact that our team is playing against great odds both in weight and number of material from which to select, that three out of the four games have been against very strong teams, and that a victory in score is not the only object of football. We certainly have no fault to find with the Wesleyan score. It was a great surprise to outsiders that Kenyon held their opponents as well as she did. The game was a case of a team of experience opposing a team composed of new material. In the game of Oct. 7, the strong Reserve eleven (or rather twenty-two) piled up only eleven points against the Gambier team. Without a doubt Reserve, Wesleyan and Ohio State are the strongest teams in the state conference, and in disposing of two of these with low scores the Kenyon team did remarkably well.

The game with Allegheny, last Saturday, was indeed a surprise in that we did not look for her to make such a large score. Yet now we realized that she was much stronger than represented. Then, too, after an all night ride on a slow train, the Kenyon team was in poor condition to play a hard game.

We wish that it were in our power to promise victory for our team in this game against Case, but we feel safe in prophesying that whichever side scores will do so only by hard consistent playing.

If our team has done its best, under the existing conditions, why should we complain over its record? The desire to win and to put out winning teams is present at Kenyon as well as other colleges. But the fact that when beaten, our men take it in the right spirit, is noteworthy. Instead of dropping out of the Conference or running in outsiders, we are going to fight it out. The enthusiasm and spirit have by no means died out. The players are training earnestly and diligently, and are exerting their best ability and efforts in bringing glory to Kenyon. If it is not the glory of a victory, it is the glory of having played clean and well-fought games, and that is the main reason why Kenyon upholds such a high standard of athletics.

We know that our team has been playing the game in the right spirit. It is true they haven't as yet won the victories which we naturally desire, but the season is only half over. From now on the schedule is easier, our team will be playing on more equal basis and it is certain that the latter half of the season will see the Kenyon team playing closer games. Keep up the spirit and enthusiasm so characteristic during the Wesleyan and Reserve games.

Reserve Wins Again.

for Kenyon this year has been the development of Eric Tasman into a star of the first magnitude. His cleverness in directing his team, his sure tackling and consistent ground gaining have attracted favorable notice throughout the State and bid fair to place him on the All-Ohio team before he is graduated from college football.

Those who saw the Reserve game were quite ready to concede the honor of All-Ohio full-back to Charley Cook, after his sensational showing in that game. This makes more deplorable the accident at Columbus which may keep him out of the line-up for the rest of the season, and materially injure his team's chance in the conference race.

In Crawford and Cook, Kenyon has a pair of giant guards who should stop almost anything. Both showed up well in the Cleveland game.

Just as Full-back Cook of Reserve was about to kick goal after his touchdown and add another point to the wrong side of the score spectators noticed a violent trembling of the goal-posts and the referee announced that the ball had missed by an inch. Probably the wind did it, but Jim Young thinks he deserves a "K".

In the game with Wesleyan here, the case of Full-back Johnson presented one of the bad points of using a negro player. If the Wesleyan team thinks fit to play Johnson, true sportsmanship would direct that he be allowed to carry the ball over the line as well as down the whole length of the field.

Before she tied Reserve, O. S. U. appeared unusually weak this year and even now is hardly up to her usual standard. Who knows but that November 11th will yet furnish an occasion for the biggest bonfire in years.

An unusual play used by Allegheny against Kenyon consisted in having the center pass the ball directly to the runner and from the side instead of between his legs. The center, who was the fastest man on the team, then got into the interference. This play was originated by Coach Stewart last year and has been approved and authorized by the Rules Committee.

One of the Ohio stars at full-back this year is Altdorfer of Hiram, who is said to rival Cook of Reserve. Altdorfer played at Brown University last year and will return there next season.

News from the Carnegie Tech. camp at Pittsburg, indicates that their team is by far the best they have ever had. They have won all their games so far, beating Waynesburg College 24-0, so Kenyon cannot afford to indulge in any overconfidence about that Thanksgiving game.

In the rally before the game with Kenyon, one of the speakers at Allegheny College urged his hearers to profit by the example of the Kenyon rooters, whose spirit they would see displayed next day. We hope Ritter and Tayler made lots of noise.

An editorial writer in the "Allegheny College Campus" seems to think that a certain proposed change in the manner of election would make for better athletic ability and Christian character in the team managers. We didn't know a manager needed either of these qualities, and he would probably lose all of the latter virtue before the job was very old, anyway.

Brotherhood of St. Andrew Holds Reception for College Men.

In order that the new men and the other undergraduates might become better acquainted with each other, the Brotherhood of St. Andrew held a reception in the Sterling Room on Thursday evening, October 5. The whole affair was quite informal, being in the nature of a smoker. Sandwiches and coffee were served later in the evening. Most of the men in college were present, as well as several members of the faculty, and everyone had an opportunity of enjoying a closer and more personal relation to his neighbor than is the case in many of the gatherings about college. Best of all, perhaps, the new men were made to feel quite at home and that they are welcome members of our little family on the Hill.

The October number of The Atlantic Monthly contains a very interesting article on "The Ministry, An Over-Crowded Profession." The article was written by Geo. P. Atwater, Kenyon, '96, Bexley, '00, and it well deserves the attention and thought of Kenyon men.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

It is proposed to throw open two columns of The Collegian to professional cards. It is thought by the management that this will appeal to alumni engaged in the practice of a profession as a means of legitimate and profitable advertising. The name, class numeral, profession and address of the advertiser will appear. In the case of a firm, the name of such partners as are alumni will appear in addition to the firm name. It is hoped that alumni interested in the plan will communicate at once with the Manager of the Collegian. The rates will be One Dollar a year.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Held Under Supervision of Dr. Walton—Great Success.

This summer, immediately after Commencement the first summer school at Kenyon began its session under the supervision of Dr. Walton who offered a six hour course in aquatic biology. Nine Kenyon students, John Dickinson, H. D. Bowlus, F. E. Hauck, "Sam" Langmade, John Boylan, "Bob" Weaver, "Buck" Carr, Benton Beatty, Ralph Carey and Kinkead and Dougherty of Bexley, took advantage of this opportunity to work off extra hours; and spent the month of July in Gambier. Besides working in the laboratories, which were open from five in the morning until six in the evening, several excursions were made along the Kokosing in search of specimens.

The students did not confine their activities to studying. Canoeing was one of the main diversions. Dr. Walton also arranged a handicap tennis tournament, which was won by Benton Beatty; the trophy was a handsome thermos bottle, presented by Dr. Walton. On the Fourth of July, they were entertained at a picnic given by the faculty members on the lawn in front of Harcourt.

The students lived in Hanna Hall, and ate at the Hotel.

The original research work done by Kinkead is especially worthy of notice.

EXCHANGES

In the annual color rush at Washington and Jefferson the Sophomores were easily defeated by the Freshmen.

The 500 Freshmen of the O. S. U. defeated the Sophomores in the cane rush. The Sophomores numbered only 350.

Hereafter O. S. U. will have her Glee Club sing at the games. The object is to collect the best singers in the center and this will aid the rest of the student body in singing their songs.

Cornell Freshmen and Sophomores undergo systematic training for their cane rush.

At Denison, the Sophomores were victors over the Freshmen, winning the tug-of-war and the football game, while the Freshies won only the flag rush. Class supremacy is decided by the winning of two out of three of these events.

Miami University has adopted the honor-system in examinations. The Freshmen are also given advisors from the faculty, whom they are to meet at regular periods.

Ohio Wesleyan's Glee Club may go as far West as the Rockies on her trip this year.

Although the Freshmen at Wesleyan pulled the Sophomores through a river in their tug-of-war, the Sophomores still managed to keep their colors flying in the flag rush.

Princeton spends on an average of $919 per year on each student.

Princeton appears to be the one best bet for the Eastern Championship, having a well-balanced team, capable of good work in every department of the game. Critics declare that Pendleton, their quarter-back, is the best palyer in college today. He was All-American half-back last year and already this season, he has twice run the length of the field for a touchdown. Princeton has scored thirty or more points in every game they have played this year, except the one in which Lehigh held them to a 6-6 tie. In this game Lehigh's score was made on a blocked kick, while Princeton gained three times as much ground as did their opponents.

Junior Informals

Because of the magnitude of last year's Hop, the failure of the bank and sundry other good and sufficient reasons, the Junior class is obliged to give a series of dances this fall in order to get back on a firm financial basis. The first dance will take place on Monday evening, October 23, from eight until twelve. The next dance of the series will be announced later, but the date will probably fall in the early part of November.

In all of these dances one feature which will be a change from the usual order is the elimination of programs. In other words the dances will be conducted strictly informally. It is sincerely hoped that every college man who attends these dances will adhere strictly to the rule regarding programs. There is absolutely no logical reason why a dance can not be carried on thus with just as much enjoyment and pleasure for all concerned as if there were a prearrangement for all the dances of the evening. At any rate it will give the young ladies an opportunity to choose their partners, which in the existing order of things is not granted them.

All these dances will begin promptly at eight o'clock and will end promptly at twelve. Jackson's Saxophone Trio, who are well known to college men, will furnish the music—a fact in itself sufficient to insure an evening of pleasure.

Freshman Caps Arrive

The college campus has burst into brilliant color. We do not refer to the beautiful tints which the foliage has assumed, nor to the purple haze and golden sunshine of autumn. We mean the Freshman hats. There is no doubt about their being red and green.

Freshman hats heretofore have been pronounced in color, but these hats would make a brilliant sunset look pale and watery. They are similar in shape to those worn by 1913 and 1914 in the Freshman years, resembling a dunce cap more than anything else. They are deep, bright red with a bright green strip around them near the bottom and a bright green "F" in front.

The freshmen will appear in this head-gear until cold weather sets in.

Ohio Athletic Conference Meets at Columbus.

The Ohio College Athletic Conference met at the Chittenden Hotel in Columbus, Friday evening, Oct. 6th, at which time Dr. Reeves was re-elected chairman. Eleven colleges sent representatives. Besides Dr. Reeves those present were: Wingert, Ohio State; Mateor, Wooster; Miller, Oberlin; Caldwell, Denison; Wilson, Ohio; Cushing, Reserve; Wright, Case; Young, Miami; and Ayers, Cincinnati. Prof. Rose-lot, of Otterbein, was a guest of the conference, and during the session withdrew Otterbein's application for membership, with the understanding that it would be renewed at some future time.

Regarding the situation here at Gambier, Dr. Reeves said, "Kenyon will go right along as a loyal member of the conference, and will stand for a high quality of sportsmanship."

Freshmen were forbidden the right to participate in any more Eastern track meets, and the rule allowing football practice to commence Sept. 20, whether the school had begun or not, was re-affirmed.

The practice of basketball men, especially at Ohio State, breaking away from their own team and playing with outside organizations, was disapproved, and was referred to a committee to be appointed soon by Dr. Reeves.

An Innovation In Bexley.

At a recent date the Bexley men met and formed an organization known as the "Sanhedron." In nature, it is similar to the Kenyon Assembly, in that it was formed for the purpose of generating Bexley spirit and a closer union of fellowship among the men in the seminary. At the first meeting, last week, Mr. H. G. C. Martin was elected president and Mr. B. H. Reinheimer, Secretary and Treasurer. The organization is to possess many social features and it is probable that it will be termed a secret society sometime in the near future.

A New Course.

History 9, a course treating of the political history of America, during the years between 1868 and 1885 is being offered this year by Dr. Peirce. This course is a continuation of History 7 to 8 and is open only to Seniors who have completed those courses. The class is held on Wednesday evening from seven to nine, one and a half hours credit being given.

Men In the Choir

Choir Leader Wonders has admitted the following men to the choir as new members: Messrs. Cuff, Sherman Clark, Pease, Watts, Gilger, Roe, and Russell.

The Yale News, founded by Herbert W. Bowen, Yale, '78, later United States Minister to Venezuela, was the pioneer of college dailies.

The Science Club.

On Tuesday evening, October 10, the Science Club held its second meeting of the year. At the first short business meeting on September 26, a program committee was appointed to arrange a program for the first meeting in October. Since a faculty member of the club could not be secured for the reading of a paper that part of the program had to be postponed until the next time.

A lengthy discussion of the hydro-aeroplane, however, was entered into by the members of the club. During the discussion refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held on October 24.

Mr. Hadden's Visit to Gambier.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew considers itself extremely fortunate in having had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. Alexander Hadden of New York city, who is a member of the General Council of the Brotherhood. Mr. Hadden spent Sunday, October 8th, on the Hill, and in the evening he addressed the members of the Brotherhood very informally. He spoke of the ever-increasing membership in the church and of the great possibilities for doing good which are awaiting the younger generation.

Those who took the time to attend this talk felt amply repaid.

Condition Exams.

The examinations for the removal of conditions incurred during the last semester, were scheduled for Oct. 11 and Oct. 13. Those scheduled for the 13th, were, however, postponed until the 18th, for the reason that the football team, some members of which were desirous of taking the examinations, had to leave on the 13th to play Allegheny College the following day.

The Puff and Powder Club.

The Puff and Powder Club held its first meeting of the year on Monday evening, October 16th. It was discussed at this meeting that there be a play given in Rosse Hall on Tuesday night of Junior week instead of having the Glee Club recital, as had been done in former years. Several other plans were made, during the evening, as regards the advisability of purchasing new scenery.

Exchange.

The president of the freshman class of Denison university, when pursued by sophomores, ran into the rooms of the sewing society. The girls there dressed him in women's clothes, gave him a cane and took him to his room in a wheel chair.

Bank Paying Off.

During the week of October 9, the Gambier Banking Company, under supervision of the State Bank Inspector, made a partial payment on all deposits. Twenty per cent. was given out, and it is unnecessary to state that the same was cheerfully received. The Inspector promises more in the near future, and we all hope he isn't "kidding".
