C. COLES PHILLIPS

To Illustrate 1913 Reveille--Juniors
Secure Services of Alumnus of High Rank in Art Circles

Year Book to be Dedicated to Creator of "Fade Away" Girls in Recognition of Loyalty to Kenyon

It is a matter of supreme interest to all readers of the Collegian that the members of the class of 1914 have been fortunate enough to secure "Psi" (Coles) Phillips, '05, as a contributor to the art department of this year's Reveille. Incidentally, the book will be dedicated to him in recognition of his accomplishments in the world of art, accomplishments which have placed him on a separate and distinct plane, removed from all contemporaneous illustrators.

"Psi" has always been an enthusiastic and loyal upholder of Kenyon and has, since his residence in the East, occupied a prominent position in the activities of the New York Alumni Association. He is a regular visitor on the Hill during Commencement week and has many friends and admirers among the present student body.

It is worthy of note that Mr. Phillips has had tempting offers to contribute pictures to twelve college year books and the Cornell Widow. He was forced to refuse all of these applications on account of lack of time and a desire to illustrate the annual of his own college--Kenyon.

Although it is not yet known how many of his drawings will be submitted to the board, yet the mere fact that there will be some is enough to insure the success of the book as an artistic product, if nothing else.

But there will be something else and that something will be of an exceptionally high quality. The literary department will be brought up to its old time standard this year and this will be done without the sacrifice of those many little details which have characterized the Reveilles of the last four or five years. A true picture of student life will be presented through the medium of snapshots and an exceptionally good college calendar, the latter being compiled

The season of 1912 marks what all hope is a turning point in Kenyon football history. The solution to the puzzling problem that has faced Kenyon for the past few years seems to have been reached in the person of our new coach, Mr. R. L. Mathews. His discipline and training have taken hold of a bunch of recruits even greener than usual and in spite of early defeats and disap-but Adrian College cancelled the game scheduled for the next Saturday and an inopportune day of idleness resulted.

Then followed the disastrous nineteenth of October and crushing defeat at the hands of Reserve. Lacking in experience and fighting spirit, the team went to pieces at the first onslaught and Kenyon sympathizers were forced to console themselves with the pointments, molded out a consistent football machine, which, before the end of the season, was able to win an unusual share of well-earned victories. Another potent factor in the improvement was the permission generously granted by the Ohio Conference to play Freshmen. This increased the material available, though it did not lighten the task of whipping it into shape.

After a little more than a week of practice, the first game was played against Millersburg High School. The object was to try some of the men in action and get a line on their abilities, but the game was too easy to serve either purpose and Kenyon swamped her light opponents by a 100-0 score, without gaining much in the line of experience.

The second game was with Ohio University at Athens and resulted in a 7-7 tie, which was an improvement over the crushing defeat of the previous season, but did not fulfill the expectations of the Coach. In this game the men learned something of real football wonderful individual playing of Gayer and Thompson.

A week later the team went to Springfield and the hoodoo went with it. Wittenberg, a team seemingly inferior to Kenyon at her best, nosed out a victory on the strength of one touchdown.

In the second home game of the season, Muskingum was unable to put up a good resistance, though her men showed a disconcerting ability to break through the Kenyon line. This game was marked by many sensational plays for Kenyon, Captain Bowlus, Prosser, Wickham, Kinder and Tasman being the chief performers.

The Case game which followed was another serious defeat, but there seemed to be a large element of luck and those on the inside began to take heart. Gayer again distinguished himself and much favorable comment appeared in the Cleveland papers.

On November 16 came the great surprise of the year. To many the situation now seemed hopeless

INFORMAL LECTURES

And Personal Interviews Methods of Ted Mercer in Presenting Message to Kenyon Men

"College Men I Have Met in the Slums"
Topic of Remarkable Story of Personal Experiences

An event that was looked forward to for some weeks with a great deal of interest was the visit of Edward C. Mercer, well and favorably known to thousands of college men as "Ted" Mercer. He came on the afternoon of Sunday, November 10, and remained until the following Thursday, delivering three open lectures and holding numerous private consultations with the various organizations on the Hill.

Inasmuch as Mr. Mercer is a man of national reputation because of his efforts in raising the moral standards of college men, it was natural that there should be great and varied speculation as to his personality and the character of his work. A great many of the men on the Hill expected to see a man of the evangelistic type, using startling tactics and playing strongly upon the emotions of his hearers. Those who were most sincerely desirous of his being successful at Kenyon hoped that he might not be such a person, knowing that that type of man does not appeal to Kenyon men. Their hopes in this respect were fully gratified. Mr. Mercer is altogether human. He is a college graduate, knows thoroughly the conditions under which college men live, and makes his strongest appeal by presenting cold facts backed up by hundreds of examples he has at his command.

On Monday evening Mr. Mercer spoke in Philo Hall to the faculties and students of Bexley and the college. The subject of his address was "Clean Men in Athletics." He stated most emphatically that the majority of athletes are clean men in the strictest sense of the word. Indeed, quite a number of them are doing a great amount of good in settlement and slum work. During the evening he showed numerous photographs of prominent

BASKETBALL SQUAD

Develops in Short Time -- Prospects for Coming Season Appear to be Unusually Bright

The athletic prophet is in a trying position. He never can tell whether his prophecies are going to come true, and he can't expect anyone to believe them anyway. Therefore we shall not make a prophecy, but simply set down our own opinion of the basketball situation.

There are about three times as many men as usual trying out for the team this year. Between 20 and 25 men have practiced every night since Wednesday, Dec. 4, the day practice began. Most of them are fighting hard to make the team. One afternoon practice was to have begun at two-thirty; at half past one, more than fifteen men were on the gym floor throwing baskets and practicing in one way or another. There are some experienced and skilled players out for the team. S. Clark is very good at dodging and passing. Rockwell makes baskets with pleasing frequency. Gayer is a hard player and an efficient guard. Steinfeld follows the ball well, and (we may have left some deserving player out)—others.

So much for the material. It is not over-supplied with ability, but it is hard working and has the right spirit. The most important factor, however, in developing the team is Coach Mathews. He brought about improbable results with the football team, and we think he will do the same with the basketball team. He is teaching the tricks of basketball to every man out for the team; he is developing effective team plays; and his system of training cannot fail to put the men in condition.

We are not making a prophecy, understand, but we think that the basketball season will be very successful. The schedule follows:

LETTERS PRESENTED

To Sixteen Football Men at December Assembly--Proposed Freshman Rules Lead to Discussion

The regular December meeting of the Assembly was held in Philo Hall, on Monday evening, December 2, with the largest attendance of the year on hand. The important discussion of the evening centered around the motion to repeal the anti-hazing resolution of last June. After much argument the Assembly not only defeated the motion but voted to reaffirm its action of last spring.

Dr. Allen, chairman of the executive committee presented "K's" to the following men:

Manager's "K" to Mr. Wheaton.

Captain's "K" to Mr. Bowlus, and "K's" to Messrs. Wonders, Callin, Sprague, Laney, Tasman, Carr, Thompson, Gayer, Kinder, Prosser, Graham, Queisser, Wickham, Crawford and I. J. Koehnline. The following men were given permission to wear their class numerals as reward for efficient service on the scrub team: Messrs. Rockwell, Jenkins, Langmade, W. F. Koehnline, Brucks, Roach, Rettig, McCaughey, Gaines and McIntosh.

Among other business disposed of was the appointment of a committee to organize and arrange for a schedule of inter-class basketball games, this schedule to include the faculty team. A vote of thanks was also extended to Coach Mathews for his splendid work on the Hill this year. A committee was appointed to publish the constitution of the Assembly in pamphlet form.

The meeting was the best attended of the year and everyone entered into the discussions with interest.

Dr. Walton Honored

At a recent meeting of the Ohio Academy of Science held in Columbus, Dr. L. B. Walton, of the department of Biology, was elected President for the ensuing year. The academy is the outgrowth of the local biological society at Ohio State and at present has four sections: botany, zoology, geology and physics. The next series of meetings will be held at Oberlin.

Flunkers at the University of Colorado are required to wear small blue caps with green buttons.

Promise to be of Unusual Quality--
Unique Features to Distinguish the Prom, February Third

The preliminary plans for the festivities of Junior week have been completed, and members of the committee in charge are promising a promenade of heretofore unequalled dimensions. While some of the details are undecided, the general program of the season has been announced. The opening number will be a basketball game, Saturday, February 1, and in the evening the Glee and Mandolin Clubs will make their first appearance.

The prom will be held Monday night, February 3, and on the following evening the Puff and Powder Club will appear in a three act comedy.

The Juniors selected to carry on the management of the week are E. M. Anderson, D. W. Bowman, L. B. Dobie, D. H. Harper, W. L. Kinder, N. R. H. Moor and C. B. Rettig. Mr. Anderson is chairman of the committee.

The work of decorating Rosse Hall is in charge of Messrs. Bowman, Kinder and Moor, and is to be given unusual attention. From every possible source novelty features are being collected to make the dance new and unique. Many innovations will be introduced in order to stamp the affair as out of the ordinary run of Kenyon dances.

Johnston's orchestra of Cleveland will perform. Nothing more need be said in behalf of the music. Twelve pieces have been secured for the occasion, and the "Courthouse in the Sky" and "Dream of Heaven" will be as well rendered as ever before. Mr. Dobie has charge of the selections and is including only the best and latest music.

The programs will be novel, in keeping with the promenade. The first number is to be a grand march, immediately following the reception. Dinner will be served in the balcony between the twelfth and eighteenth dances.

The Puff and Powder Club's annual production is to be "A Rival by Request," a three act comedy of modern social circles. The scene is laid in New York and the cast numbers eleven. Strong character parts, many humorous and complicated situations and a lively plot mark the play. The newly organized college orchestra will probably play for the production,

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Anticipated by Musical Clubs--Plans
Made for Ten Day Trip Through
Ohio and Pennsylvania

A number of unfavorable circumstances have made it impossible to carry out the schedule as formerly announced with regard to the Glee Club trip. Usually the trip is taken during the first few weeks of the second semester, but the fact that only one day separates Prom Week from Lent, makes this a very inopportune time for the trip. Fortunately, for the first time in many years, Easter Sunday falls on March the twenty-third this year and the week following has been determined on as the best for this event.

Accordingly the club will leave Gambier on Wednesday, March the 26th and the first stop will be made at Akron, Massillon, Youngstown and Pittsburgh will finish up the week while Sewickley, Wheeling and Zanesville will be visited on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, bringing the Club home on Thursday. East Liverpool and Steubenville may later be added to the list or substituted for some of the above named.

An attempt will be made to get a private Pullman from the railroad company, which would do much toward giving comfort and enjoyment to the men.

Already practice has begun and as mentioned in the last issue the prospects for this year are exceptionally good. Twenty-five men will be carried on the trip. Further information concerning the trip will be published from time to time.

as well as for the informal which will follow.

While the final arrangements are as yet incomplete, indications point to a brilliant Junior Prom with excellent side attendant functions. The Junior assessment is ten dollars, and the price per ticket five dollars. So spend Christmas vacation in persuading "her" to come to Gambier.

The next meeting of the Ohio College Press Association is to be held early in January. The place of meeting is not settled as yet but Oberlin is a strong contender for the honor. The Association is composed of the editors of all of the college papers in the state and was formed to effect a closer relationship among the student journals of Ohio.

At last Kenyon has escaped from the "moral victory." All credit is due to Coach Mathews, for patient and persevering work, to Captian Bowlus, for energy and spirit that set an example to his team-mates, and to every man on the squad for faithful training and self-sacrificing devotion to practice. And more substantial playing results soon brought out increased support. The last game on Benson Field was a record-breaker for Gambier and for once the gate receipts were really a factor in the finances of the day.

This is all very gratifying and most welcome different from the records of past years. But the ground gained is to be held fast and by the strenuous efforts of every element of the Kenyon Athletic situation. There is no question of a let-up on the part of the Coach, a Captain has been elected for next year whose past record justifies the highest expectations, —and it remains for the rest of us to make good.

The team's record may well prove a lesson for years to come. Composed largely of raw material, no more than usually successful at first, it has finally accomplished much solely through the application of football principles: rigid training, faithful practice, strict discipline and team work on the field. Except under extraordinary circumstances, these methods will produce a like success for any season and in any branch of athletics. They form the code of our new Coach and speak volumes for the jealous retention of both Coach and system.

MERCER

A serious appeal is too often disregarded by the college man. Youth and self-confidence are apt to cause him to treat lightly the more substantial things in life. Of all strong appeals, however, that of Ted Mercer certainly stands among the highest. Every man on the Hill is acquainted with Mercer's pleasing personality. Every man knows, too, that he speaks not from theory but from experience, the memory of which is painful to him. No Kenyon man ought to let Mercer's words go by with a smile and a thoughtless comment. We believe that he has made an impression at Kenyon, that there are men here who are better because of his visit. Most assuredly no one can say that he knows not whereof he speaks.

Our Cincinnati Alumni

No one who saw the Cincinnati game could help but feel that the Cincinnati Alumni Association is about as live a bunch as is to be found anywhere. Not only did they turn out en masse for the game but they yelled themselves hoarse while they were there. No better rooting has been heard this year than was given at Cincinnati. Moreover, the down-state boys did not stop there. They also had a banquet for the team after the game and it was "some" banquet too. We all take off our hats in respect to the loyal of locals, the Cincinnati Alumni.

Be Not Hasty

The action taken by the Assembly at its last meeting in re-affirming the resolution of last June pertaining to hazing is to be commended. Even though there are some on the Hill who believe that freshmen discipline is not what it should be still, to repeal the non-hazing resolution which has been so widely proclaimed and the results of which are not yet definitely known, would be nothing less than taking a big step backward.

Ohio State's Shame

One can not look back over the football season of 1912 without recalling the action of Ohio State in the State-Penn. State game. The action of the team in leaving the field was bad enough but when the State rooters, led by certain irresponsible individuals, tore the Penn. State colors from the goal posts and burned them it was adding insult upon insult.

Even though Ohio State has apologized for the disgraceful affair the action taken has probably done much to "queer" Ohio football among Eastern colleges, who only see the quitting end of it.

Why Not Try This?

According to the laws of the student body at Ohio Wesleyan, any hat worn by a Freshman other than the regular freshman hat is contraband of war. It is regarded as the solemn duty of the Sophomore class to confiscate all such. A number of the tabooed styles have already been donated by members of the Freshman class at the urgent invitation of the Sophomore vigilance committee.

Some rule like this on the Hill might serve to remind the first year men of their duty.

When you look back over the football season don't forget the men who came out every night and worked hard against the varsity. The scrubs deserve as much credit as the men who earned their "K's."

It has been suggested by some people who possess a sense for appreciating color harmony that the freshmen class could not possibly have selected more "eye sore" colors with which to paint the town.

If the new chairs at the Commons had arrived two weeks later we might have thought that the managers were giving us a Christmas present.

Are you out for the Glee Club or the basket-ball team? These are the two important questions before us now.

Winter is here. The literary societies have held their first meetings.

athletes, which gave additional force to his words.

Tuesday evening's address was on "Purity." It was a frank and straightforward statement of facts which ought to be known by everybody, but which are too often shunned.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Mercer delivered his last open address to the men in college. It was in substance a review of some of his experiences with college men who have sunk to the lowest depths. He asserted that in practically every case the man's fall had been caused by that alarming characteristic of young Americans, thoughtlessness. "Young men of America, think!" is the message of many a criminal whom he has interviewed.

While Mr. Mercer was on the Hill, a number of informal receptions were held for him. He was in general very favorably impressed with our life on the Hill and his parting words were, "You can always count on Mercer's saying a good word for old Kenyon."

Matriculation

The annual exercise of Matriculation was held in the college chapel Thursday morning, December 12, at quarter past eleven o'clock. Following the custom of former years the matriculates signed the historic "Matriculation" book which contains the signatures of Kenyon men for years back. All of the men on the Hill are now Kenyon men in every sense of the word.

Senior-Junior Informal

The second of the series of informal dances given by the Senior-Junior class was held in Rosse Hall Saturday evening, December 6. Although supported better than the first dance still the number present was small. However, there was plenty of room in which to do the light fantastic and a very enjoyable evening was spent by those present. Music was furnished by a Mt. Vernon orchestra.

Frank Marty Married

On Wednesday evening, December 4, Frank Marty, ex-'13, was married to Miss Rhea B. Fairbairn of Toronto, Canada, at which city the ceremony took place. The wedding was the culmination of a romance which began three years ago when Frank won the Ohio Tennis Championship at Cleveland.

Mrs. Marty is a tennis player of rare ability.

and the result was awaited with gloomy forebodings in Gambier. But when the news of a clean cut victory over the strong University of Cincinnati was announced, all were ready to believe that the team had at last struck its real stride. The victory was won through consistent hard playing on the part of every man, but Bowlus and Callin earned special mention.

The climax and end of the season was a profoundly satisfactory one and took place in Gambier. The team went into the fray with a new confidence that left little chance for Wooster. One touchdown was secured in short order and by straight football, and though unfortunate fumbles allowed the next to go to Wooster and a successful attempt at goal put them one point in the lead, the final result never seemed in doubt. Before the game was over, two more touchdowns had been made, both goals kicked and three more points added through a beautiful place kick by Quarterback Tasman. The feature of the game was easily the line bucking of Captain Bowlus, who concluded his college football career by playing in All-State form and was carried to the dressing rooms on the shoulders of enthusiastic Kenyon rooters.

Consideration of the net results of the season is encouraging. The team played always against representatives of larger colleges, yet managed to win three games, lose three and tie one. In the Conference it got well away from the doormat position with a percentage of 400, losing only to Case, Reserve and Wittenberg. One man, Harry Gayer, was almost unanimous choice for All-State center and clearly earned the honor. Taking the Milersburg score into consideration, Kenyon scored double the number of points made by her opponents, 204-102, and without that game is still two points ahead, — a margin that stands for much under the circumstances.

YOUR DRAYING

THE TEAM

Honor to whom honor is due. We are hearing and saying a lot just now about the 1912 football team, its splendid perseverance, and the wonderful result, and so much of this praise is spoken in a general way. It becomes too much a matter of course. But take the men separately, consider the work each one did and the part he played in each game and such a retrospect will furnish a reason for our enthusiasm, show us why the team won out in the end.

"Petey" Bowlus was captain. At the first of the season some Columbus scribe got in wrong with a few remarks as to "Petey's" chances for his own team. "Pete" lay awake at nights and thought terrible thoughts. He vowed he'd "show them" and at a guess we would say he made good his threat. "Bo" played throughout the season, improved with every game and as a captain was an unqualified success. In the Wooster game, carrying the ball in about half of the plays, plunging with the force of a battering ram and snorting like a cross between Job Trotter and a donkey engine, Captain Bowlus stirred up Kenyon enthusiasm to the hysterical pitch and incidentally put a finish to his football career that will make a good story for his grandchildren.

"Tassy" played a game that was consistent and consistently good. Captain Tasman sounds mighty good for next year. "Tas" started the season at half-back and later moved to quarter. He ran the team with sure judgment, made every play count and made good with his own fair share of the gains. If Tasman plays this position next year and has as good a team as is expected, the best quarterback in Ohio football will hail from Elyria.

"Bill" Thompson was a real sensation. His capacity for work was seemingly unlimited and he had all kinds of football ability in big bunches. Not many have forgotten the Reserve game where his great showing alone did much to redeem a lost day.

"Kid" Callin lived up to his Fostoria reputation and that means something in football. Somebody called him "the man that didn't stop when he was down." His long dodging runs through a broken field were both spectacular and of practical worth. Every team that met Kenyon was posted to watch for Callin, and Ray wasn't very difficult to locate.

The Cleveland papers like to talk about "Buck" Carr and "Buck" was too good natured to disappoint them. In every game his long lopes around end justified the write-ups and "Buck" had the satisfaction of gratifying admirers in both Cleveland and Gambier.

"Bill" Kinder came out, dropped out and returning "blossomed out" into a real star. At end he was dependable and showed forth a few tricks of his own at making forward passes count.

"Nig" Prosser is another of the "Cleveland boys" and not the least of the city prides. His experience was evident and good offensive and defensive playing won him a position on at least one of the newspaper All-State teams.

"Weary" Wonders, as he puts it himself, came out for the good of the team and under the circumstances "Weary's" modest declaration will have to be accepted. The addition of a veteran of his caliber had no small part in the improvement evident in a line that had long proved troublesome.

Thurman Sprague found a use for every one of his two hundred and forty pounds and opposing backs found him a lively obstacle to line plunges. "Fat" hasn't lost a pound on his diet of glory and wishes he were only a Freshman.

Ed Graham, "the golden-haired giant", succeeded in making himself noticeable for something else besides height and threatens to prove of even grater value next year.

Koehnline, I. J., demonstrated the value of perseverance and hasn't a regret for his years of work on the Kenyon squad. There wasn't a "K" awarded that was more honorably earned.

"Bob" Queisser played throughout the season with equal good nature and effectiveness. "Bob's" playful disposition doesn't interfere with his zeal against the opponents of Kenyon.

"Sam" Langmade came out in the middle of the season and brought a year's experience to help him save the day. The day was saved and Sam can have a couple of helpings of the glory.

"Tom" Laney put in his first year's work and got a well-earned "K". Tom is one of the expected sources for next year's strength.

Someone got the impression that John Crawford was an Indian because he talked Latin to himself in the thick of the game, and John did take a heathenish delight in helping to add to Kenyon's scalp collection. But he worked too hard for any Indian.

John Wickham added to his record of consistent service for Kenyon and was a strong man for either line or backfield. "Wick" has the real old-style Kenyon spirit and his example did a lot to instill some of it into the rest of the team.

Last of all came Gayer. We saved him up for a climax. Kenyon must have one All State player and "Hack" saved the tradition. His sensational work in every game, notably in the two at Cleveland, cinched the position. In the Reserve game he was outweighed by a hundred pounds but only showed up the better. His work is of the kind that inspires teammates and wins victories and is promised to Kenyon for two years more.

Case Game

On Nov. 9 the Scientists defeated the Kenyon eleven by the score of 27-0 on Case Field. Case may consider herself lucky to win and by such a score. The score would have been much smaller but for flukes and frequent fumbling by Kenyon.

The game was far from being fast although now and then some one would pull off the spectacular. The punting of Tasman and the playing of Bill Thompson were Kenyon's strong points. Case had the advantage in weight and speed and soon was in the lead. For certain periods in the game Kenyon clearly outplayed Case but unfortunately these periods were neither often or long enough.

Cincinnati Game

Previous to the game with Kenyon, Cincinnati had anticipated an easy victory, hoping for a 50 to 0 victory. The Cincinnati supporters therefore were considerably surprised to find their warriors defeated by the Kenyonites by the tune of 22 to 13. Callin was the star of the game. He played a strong defensive game and on offense circled the ends for long gains. Tackled again and again he refused to stop but kept on going. Besides Callin, Bowlus and Wickham played a good game and gained consistently.

In this game Kenyon's line held much better than during any previous game. There was considerable fumbling, however, and this held Kenyon from running up a higher score. In this game the Kenyon team made the best showing of the season.

Wooster Game

On Nov. 23, Wooster played Kenyon at Gambier and was defeated by the Kenyon men by the score of 23 to 7. Kenyon outplayed Wooster throughout the entire game, Wooster's open style of football was of little avail against Kenyon's line, which held on every play. Kenyon stuck to straight football and occasionally introduced a forward pass, which generally netted a long gain.

For Kenyon the playing Captain Bowlus and Callin was excellent. Bowlus had little trouble penetrating the Wooster line for long gains. The whole backfield gained consistently for Kenyon.

Kenyon was repeatedly penalized, and this, together with frequent fumbles is all that kept Kenyon from running up a much larger score.

Football Captain Elected

Immediately after the last game Eric Tasman, '14, was unanimously elected Captain of the football team for next season. "Tas." has played a consistent and effective game throughout his two years on the team, has shown up in excellent form at quarter, and has the necessary influence with the team to fit him for the job. Under his leadership and the direction of Coach Mathews, football possibilities for Kenyon soon begin to look like certainties.

Director Bartelme represented Michigan at a Western Conference meeting recently, at which Michigan was attempting to get back in the Big Nine. Michigan is willing to give up the freshmen playing on the Varsity but wishes to retain a training table.

Entertain Team and Rooters at University Club Dinner--President Peirce Banquets "K" Men

As a fitting climax to the decisive victory which Kenyon won over the University of Cincinnati on November 16, the Cincinnati branch of Kenyon alumni tendered a banquet to the visiting Kenyon men. The banquet was held in the spacious quarters of the University Club, where for several hours the rooms were filled to overflowing with real Kenyon spirit which manifested itself in speeches, Hikas, and the singing of the "Thrill."

Each and every speaker was enthusiastic in his belief that a new era had dawned in Kenyon athletics and many and dire were the predictions as to what Kenyon would do to the eleven representing the University of Cincinnati in 1913.

To say that the visitors enjoyed themselves and that they appreciate the loyalty and spirit of the Kenyon alumni in Cincinnati would be putting it far too mildly. It is no exaggeration to say that every man in college is looking forward to next year when he can make the trip to Cincinnati either as a member of the team or as a rooter, for at the present time the proposition of making the Kenyon-Cincinnati game an annual event is being considered.

Football Dinner

On the evening of December 7, President and Mrs. Peirce very pleasantly entertained at dinner the letter men of this year's football squad, the Athletic Director, Mr. Mathews, and his wife, the Assembly Treasurer, Dr. Walton, and his wife, the Chairman of the Executive Committee, Dr. Allen and his wife, the Graduate Manager and the Student Manager of football.

The house was very tastefully decorated in the Kenyon colors while on the main table there was arranged a miniature football field with goal-posts erected and the ball placed for the kick-off. Occupying a prominent place were hung the pennants of Muskingum, Cincinnati and Wooster with a Kenyon banner placed above them.

After partaking of an elaborate dinner of which turkey formed the piece de resistance the men of the party drew back their chairs and listened to toasts by everyone present, the gist of which was the success of the past football season and the anticipated success of the team next fall. If the true Kenyon spirit displayed at the President's home is any criterion of the success of next year's team surely the Kenyon eleven will be a very active and formidable contender for the state championship. A more enjoyable evening was never spent upon the Hill.

Football in 1920

The game shall be divided into eight periods and sixteen semicolons. During a period it is permissible to kick your antagonist in the gizzard, but during a semicolon you can only bite him. Before the start of each period the opposing captains shall kiss each other twice, after which the referee shall kiss the umpire, and the line-man shall kiss the college widow.

If a man gets disabled by reason of a foot getting wedged in his face or a rah-rah getting stuck in his thorax, time shall be taken out and tea served until the injured man recovers. The ball must not be carried in the hands. It must be held firmly by the teeth and any player shedding pivot teeth on account of the ball shall not be entitled to have time taken out. When the ball is passed by the center the quarterback shall pass it to any other player on the opposite side. This will insure free circulation of the ball and prevent monopoly. When tackling an opponent you must keep one foot on the floor and the timekeeper will bring a bridge if necessary, while mass shots are positively prohibited. It is a foul to tackle an opponent above the head or below the feet. Players appearing in greased jackets shall be inspected by the professor of chemistry. If greased with butter they shall be allowed to proceed, but if greased with oleomargarine they shall be arrested and held for action of the grand jury.—Exchange.

Tipping the Hat at Harvard

(From the Boston Post.)

Everybody tips his hat at Harvard these days. The custom has been growing gradually for several years and it is now in full bloom.

Every student of the university—and there are over 5,000 of them—tips his hat to President Lowell when he meets him on the street or in the yard, and the chief executive of Harvard returns the silent greeting in like manner. The students universally recognize Dean LeBaron Russell Briggs and Dean Byron S. Hurlburt and several other widely-known members of the Harvard faculty by tipping the hat.

Students in the courses at the college are expected to tip their hats to the professors or assistant professors whether they know them personally or not. The line is drawn against the instructors, however.

The new Ohio State Directory shows 3,303 students enrolled, of which 3,077 come from Ohio. 1,034 come from Columbus alone; Cleveland sends 75, Dayton 60, Toledo 59 and Cincinnati 35. Thirty-two states and eighteen foreign countries are represented.

from day to day, in contrast to the custom followed by previous boards of waiting until the last thing and then formulating it without particular regard for time sequence, or strict veracity of incidents.

A leather cover will clothe the 1914 Reveille and an especially attractive design is promised for this, both in point of originality and execution.

These are but a few of the many good features to be found in the book this year, space not permitting a further enumeration. Suffice it to say, then, that the Reveille board is anticipating an unusually large sale and is making plans, accordingly, to meet this demand.

Prof. Downey

A copy of the "Regulation of Urban Utilities in Iowa" written by Prof. E. H. Downey, former head of the Economics Department at Kenyon has been received. The work is the result of a preliminary study, by Prof. Downey, in The History of Urban Utilities in Iowa which has been planned by the State Historical society of Iowa as a part of a more comprehensive history of municipal government and administration in that state.

EXCHANGES

The hardest part of a coach's work is to find words which will adequately describe to a man a certain fault. In the crew room at Columbia large mirrors are rigged so the men may see the errors of their ways.

A course in Scandinavian is included in the curriculum at the University of Minnesota.

Statistics at Yale show the effect of Proms to be as follows: Percentage of girls they later marry they take to the Prom: Sophomores, 8 per cent; juniors, 15 per cent; seniors, 27 per cent.

It appears that last year there were 4,580 students from foreign countries pursuing courses in American colleges, this being the largest number in any year yet. Of these 900 came from Canada, about 300 from Mexico, 700 from the West Indies, 540 from China, 415 from Japan, 125 from the Philippines, 21 from Korea, etc. Even Germany, with all her great universities, sent 145 of her sons to this country to study.

Two students at the University of Illinois were arrested for voting illegally at the local option election. Prof. H. J. Barton was also arrested for making false affidavits for student voters at the election.

James Eads Howe, the millionaire hobo, is considering a plan to establish a college where "hoboes can dabble in the arts and sciences." He got the idea while touring in Europe.

A movement is on foot which will, if it materializes, result in a new conference in colleges and universities in the Middle West. Notre Dame, Marquette and Wabash have been named as charter members, with the possible inclusion of the Michigan Agricultural College and Lawrence University. There will be six or eight institutions in the conference and it will enter upon its official existence with the opening of the 1913 football season.

Professor Migge of Stanford University has discovered a method of killing the microbes which prey upon human hair roots. He can make two hairs grow where none grew before. He has also discovered a poison which will cause rats to die outside their hole and has invented a process for making buttermilk in powder form.
