Gayer Again Chosen All-Ohio Center by Leading Experts and Elected Head of Next Year's Team

Another football season is over for Kenyon and a calm review of the results is now in order. Calmness, or perhaps saneness, has indeed been the watchword of the entire season. Those who directed Kenyon's fight indulged in no wild prophecies, there was no frantic working up of spirit before each game with the subsequent let-up and discouragement so familiar in the past, there was no demand for impossibilities on the part of the student body. In short, enthusiasm was not of the kind that "runs wild"; it was the

NEW YORK ALUMNI LAUNCH MOVEMENT

For an Edwin M. Stanton Centennial Celebration in 1914 -- Enthusiasm Characterizes Dinner

From distant Gotham comes the news of a concerted movement to honor the centennial of an illustrious son of Kenyon, and all indications point to a Stanton celebration to be held just one year hence, all of which was uncorked at the annual dinner of the Alumni Association of the East.

About thirty men attended the gathering, which was held at the Hotel McAlpin, New York City, December 1. Enthusiasm ran high, especially after President Peirce had reported on the prosperous condition of the college, the increased standards of scholarship and the rising tide of Kenyon's athletic prowess. Prolonged applause greeted the favorable resumé of conditions on the Hill, and

At Regular December Session--Lack of Excitement Robs Meeting of Interest--Fourteen Win K

With the presentation of football letters as a headliner and a petition, an assessment and a report on cash donations to vary the monotony of routine matters, the regular Assembly of December 1 failed to uncover any noteworthy episode or remarkable sensation.

Mr. McCaughey's motion to shift the Christmas vacation two days further along won the unanimous support of the members present, and the secretary was authorized to petition the faculty to alter the dates of the holidays as follows: From noon, Saturday, December 20, until the morning of Monday, January 5, instead of from Thursday evening, December 18, until the morning of Fri-

Local Backfield Irresistible in Long End Runs and Line Bucks--Calvin Squirms Across Twice

The last football game of the year was the hardest of all to lose and though Case won at last, 27 to 13, it was not until every man on the Kenyon team had done his best, played a brilliant game and forced the Cleveland men to use every trick at their command to turn early reverses into final victory. It is no idle boast to say that Kenyon was far superior in what is generally known as "straight football" -- Cleveland papers proclaimed that fact in no uncertain terms; but nothing must be said to detract from the credit due the Case coach and team for producing a brand of that article so popular in the West, the forward pass, which bewildered our own men,

and made their superior line play and the great work in the backfield of no avail.

In an open and thrilling game there were sure to be stars on both sides. For Captain Tasman,
"Bill" Kinder and "Weary" Wonders it was the last game of college football and each of these men rose splendidly to the occasion and can afford to look back with pride on this closing effort.
But the wonder of the day was Ray Callin, who seemed determined to show all his ability at once. Dodging through a broken field, bucking the line, receiving or intercepting forward passes, he was everywhere a terror to Case and the wonder of the spectators.
For Case, Jenkins and Parshall started with their forward passes, and, it is sufficient to say, were responsible for the Case victory.

The first quarter was all Ken-yon's. Callin, Ludden, Clements and Tasman made large and consistent gains through the line and around the ends, and worked the forward pass successfully. After Case had rallied and taken the ball on her own 15-yard line, Parshall punted out of bounds and Kenyon regained the ball on Case's 30-yard line. Tasman and Callin made first down and Callin then carried the ball 16 yards around the end for a touchdown.
Tasman kicked goal and although Kenyon continued to have things all her own way the period came to an end with the score 7 to 0.

In the next period play continued in favor of Kenyon, though

CAPTAIN-ELECT GAYER
Twice chosen All-Ohio center by ac-knowledgeed authorities

the advantage was less marked, until within four minutes of the end a 30-yard run and two long forward passes enabled Case to tie the score.

The third period proved to be a weird affair. Case opened with more of the style of play that had proved so effective and within a few minutes had scored another touchdown on a forward pass started from Kenyon's 30-yard line. The goal was kicked. Immediately Kenyon came back strong and a 40-yard run by Cal-lin with two forward passes brought a touchdown for the Maive. The opportunity at goal was lost and the score stood 14-13. Again Case resorted to forward passing and in short order made seven more points. Kenyon came right back and Callin, Tasman and Prosser put the ball within four yards of the goal.

Callin took it across, but the referee decreed a penalty for holding and Kenyon lost the touchdown. On the next play Jenkins intercepted a forward pass and ran 87 yards for a touchdown.
Parshall failed to kick goal and the score stood 27 to 13. This ended the scoring though twice later Kenyon was within five yards of Case's goal, while a touchdown made for the Cleveland team was lost on a penalty.
During the final quarter the Kenyon backs succeeded in breaking up the forward passes of their opponents, but the damage had been completed. Lineup and summary:

Gayer Chosen Captain

Immediately after the final game of the season the election of a new football captain for Kenyon was held in the Case dressing rooms. The result was the mani-fous choice of Harry Louis Gayer, 15, to lead next year's struggle for Conference honors. Comment on this selection is hardly necessary. "Hack's" record and qualifications are the common property and pride of every Kenyon man and under his leadership the student body will look for-gridiron season.

BASKETBALL SEASON

Opens With Defeat of Mt. Vernon Y.
M. C. A., 50 to 29--Clements
Proves a Star at Forward

Kenyon opened the basketball season Saturday, December 6, in an auspicious manner by defeating the fast Mt. Vernon Y. M. C. A. team by a score of 50 to 29. Twelve men were tried out in the various positions, and from the results it seems reasonable to predict that the quintet which will represent Kenyon this year will be a winning one.

Clements lived up to his Hoosier reputation as a fast forward and was easily the star of the game. His passing was good, his shots numerous and accurate. Schafer, the other forward, played a fast game and made several excellent shots. He is a player of the tireless kind and gives promise of being a fit running-mate for Clements. The center position was well filled by Shireman, who played a fine floor game and contributed several difficult baskets. Captain Tasman and Steinfeld, the veterans of last year's team, gave a good exhibition of guarding and proved very adept at passing. Snyder also played well and bids fair to give battle for a position on the team.

Despite the fact that only one week's practice preceded the game the team work was excellent, and we have every reason to look forward to a successful season. Lineup and summary:

Try "Ten Nights in a Cafe"

One of the chief difficulties that the Puff and Powder Club now has to contend with is the difficulty of getting hold of a good manuscript. The manager requests that all suggestions as to a play be given to him as soon as possible, so that more rapid progress may be made.

REDUCTION IN PRICE

Made by Reville Board--Call Issued for Contributions to the Literary Department of the Annual

The finishing touches have been added to the Reville board's plans during the past week, and the contract for the printing was again given to the Champlin Press of Columbus.

The fact that all of the pictures in the Reville will be taken in a studio which is well equipped for photographic work should add greatly to this part of the work. Heretofore some of the group pictures have been unsatisfactory on account of the light in Rosse Hall and in the other buildings in which the photographs were taken.

It was the purpose of the board to sell this year's Reville for a dollar and a half, but it will be impossible to do this and make expenses. The amount of money that comes in through assessments and subscriptions to the Reville does not justify selling the book for less than two dollars.

The business manager wishes to take this opportunity to ask that all men in college who have photographs or snapshots showing some of the characteristic scenes about Gambier submit them to the art editor, High Moor.

The editor requests that all literary work of any kind that would be of interest in the Reville be given to him as soon as possible.

Every man on the Hill should remember that while the Reville is published by the junior class it is the college annual and should have every man in college on its staff of boosters. The board will be glad to receive suggestions from any man in college.

President Peirce's Departure

President and Mrs. Peirce left Gambier, Sunday, November 30, for a trip abroad. All of the students on the Hill over Thanksgiving vacation accompanied the travelers to the train. They sailed on the "Laconia" of the Cunard line, which is making a special cruise to the Mediterranean countries. Their stay abroad will last through the entire winter, so that their return will probably be early in March.

During the absence of President Peirce, Professor West, Dean of the college, will preside over the meetings of the faculty, while the other administrative duties will be divided among the other officers of the faculty.

THE FIRST INVOICE

With the matriculation of the new men comes an opportunity to judge the quality of the entering class and thus make a few predictions on its future and that of the college. Although the number of matriculates this year reached over fifty, the actual number from the freshmen class was forty-three. As this represents about eighty percent of the class the percentage of matriculates has lowered considerably during the last two years.

This does not necessarily mean that a large class is a detriment in any way to the college, but it ought to serve to encourage those who have failed to persevere, so that their class may measure up to the standard set by previous classes. Nor does failure to matriculate mean failure in the future, for often a man's failing enables him to see more clearly how to do his work, and he is soon set on his feet and gains ground faster than before. So do not feel disheartened, you who have not matriculated, but rather renew your efforts and show us that you can make good by the end of the semester.

To those who have matriculated a word or two of advice may not be out of place. There is always a tendency for those who have passed to rest on their oars and especially during the interval between Thanksgiving and Christmas. This is always detrimental, because a bad impression is apt to be created and the bulk of the work is thrown over to the few weeks preceding the examinations, when time is at a premium. Don't get the idea that because you have passed the probationary tests your path is clear before you. Remember that the semester examinations are not judged according to the same standards used with the matriculation tests. In order to get credit for work a student must pass his semester test. Such is not the case in the matriculation examinations. Don't lag. Keep pegging away and make the days between now and Prom count for something.

A WASTED OPPORTUNITY

The coach's cup for cross-country running will not be awarded this year. Possibly if everyone had known his purpose in having, or trying to have, the sophomores and freshmen come out for this race, it might have been awarded. At the notices he posted early in the fall there was general indignation among these men because they thought that he was trying to extend the gym work throughout the year. In the November Assembly, however, Mr. Mathews explained why he did it; he wanted to develop for Kenyon a cross-country team to compete with other colleges. This put a new light on the matter.

A committee was appointed to stir up enthusiasm, but did nothing. Then the coach went to Dr. Peirce, who practically made it compulsory to carry the work, and for a couple of weeks about a dozen men were seen on the course. But with so few and so short a time, nothing could be accomplished.

All of this means that Kenyon men are too lazy to work for such a team, which might win glory for Kenyon. The track team has been a joke for some time. The coach, interested in track athletics and doing his best to produce winning teams in all branches for the college, has tried to do something to make this department at least respectable. There has been no co-operation to help him, and so he has failed this year.

The coach cannot do it all unaided; he must have men to work on. Given the men, we feel sure that he could produce the team. On the basis of the results produced in other lines by Mr. Mathews, we must feel that out of a person with any knack whatever for running, he could make a good man, and one who would make a creditable showing for the college. Let the students give him a chance to show his worth next year.

THE STIRES DEBATE

Now that the literary societies have organized for the year, the serious attention of each ought to be turned toward the Stires Prize Debate of February 22. It is not too early to commence preparations. Some time is bound to elapse before a satisfactory question can be chosen for debate, and the remaining period will be all too short for the gathering of evidence and arranging of material.

The importance of the Stires Debate can scarcely be overestimated. From cultural and literary standpoints it is of benefit to every one in college, especially to those who "try out" for it. Then there is the element of financial gain for the winners, which is certainly worthy of consideration.

Finally, the holding of the debate on February 22 marks the revival of the Washington's birthday celebration which was formerly an annual event in Kenyon life and which is a tradition well worth preserving.

The Rev. R. L. Chittenden

The Rev. Richard Lucius Chittenden, rector emeritus of All Saints' Church, Paradise, Pennsylvania, died at the age of eighty-five years, Tuesday, November 11, death resulting from the infirmities of age.

The deceased was born July 11, 1830, at Columbus. He graduated from Kenyon in 1849 and was given the M. A. degree three years later. He spent some time at Bexley Hall and later went to the Virginia Theological Seminary, where he was made a deacon in 1856. In November of the following year he was ordained priest at Chicago. During his active service of over fifty years he held churches at Fremont, Ohio, 1856-7 and 1870-9; Chicago, 1857-8; Freeport, Ill., 1858-60; Elyria, Ohio, 1860-2 and 1865-70; Collamer (now East Cleveland), 1879-86; Leacock, Paradise and Nickel Mines, Pennsylvania, 1886-1906. Since that time he has been rector emeritus in the three last named parishes.

Between 1850 and 1854 Mr. Chittenden was a teacher in the Ohio Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, and from January, 1863, until July, 1865, he served as Chaplain of the Forty-third Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry.

The funeral services were held at All Saints', Paradise, Friday, November 14, and the remains interred at that place.

William N. Kennedy

Word has been received of the death of William N. Kennedy, '92 A. B. Sunday, November 23, after nearly a year's illness. Funeral services were conducted November 26 by his classmate, the Rev. C. T. Walker of East Orange, N. J.

The deceased had practiced law from the time of his graduation, and was for the eight years preceding his death associated with the legal department of the National Biscuit Company at New York City. He was about forty-three years of age and unmarried.

Track Cup Offered

Walter H. Brown, '06, of Cincinnati, has offered to place at the disposal of the Assembly a silver loving cup to be used as a trophy in track athletics. Mr. Brown has the thanks of the entire student body and we take this opportunity to express the gratitude of the men on the Hill.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE

In looking back over any football season one must at once be struck with the faithfulness and loyalty of a group of men who will work and train so consistently for so many weeks with no reward in sight save the satisfaction of having served their college. During the past few months there have been more than a score of men who have cheerfully made every sacrifice to give Kenyon a football team to be proud of, and it is no more than justice to acknowledge our debt to them individually.

First of all we are still rejoicing in the possession of Coach R. L. Mathews. All who are familiar with recent athletic history at Kenyon know what great things have been accomplished since he came among us, and all who have worked with him or under him know how directly most of it is due to his personality and methods. Combining practical knowledge of football and power of leadership with enthusiasm for the college and interest in the men under him, no one could work harder or more effectively for Kenyon. Faculty, alumni and students are solidly all for "Matty."

Eric Tasman, captain and quarterback, heads the list of players. Of course it is a severe strain on "Tasy" to keep training rules for three months, but by practicing at them faithfully during the other nine he succeeds passing well. The fact that he played in every minute of every game this year and starred in each contest speaks volumes for his system. Great things were expected of "Tas" when he was made captain and the whole story is that he "made good." A star player in all departments himself, he directed the team with coolness and precision and, best of all, inspired his men with confidence the minute he started calling signals. His ability is equalled only by his modesty, but they do say everybody's proud of him at Elyria, Ohio.

"Hack" Gayer in the course of the season stacked up against all of the best centers in Ohio and the issue was that for the second time the recognized authorities in the state picked Gayer for the All-State position. His work was of the brilliant order throughout; there was no let-up from start to finish of a strenuous season. Accurate passing, speed, sure tackling and, more than all, aggressiveness, earned for him recognition everywhere and the next captaincy at Kenyon.

Ray Callin was the same elusive wonder as in his first season. From the start he was the team's best ground gainer and a terror to its

the Sixth City on the map for another year. Some of his best work was done on the receiving ends of Tasman's frequent forward passes.

Ed Graham showed the improvement to be expected from the experience gained last year and as the season progressed came

COACH MATHEWS
Whose 1913 product scored on every opponent of the season.

CAPTAIN TASMAN
A quarterback who recalls the days of Rising or Van Coolidge.

opponents on every gridiron, but in the final game he really outdid himself. In a broken field he was easily the best in the state, and was never found wanting when called upon to do the work of a heavier man in bucking the line. He was always on the job, broke up forward passes, recovered fumbles, made difficult tackles—and all with characteristic good nature. The work of Ray Callin deserves to live in Kenyon football history along with that of her greatest.

"Bill" Kinder was a bulwark of strength at right end. The last word in faithfulness, "Bill" was as valuable as he was reliable. Sure, clean tackles, eternal vigilance for an escaped ball, and good football sense distinguished his services in every game on the schedule.

"Weary" Wonders was one of the certainties on the line and for his good work, both offensive and defensive, earned high praise from critics in almost all of the published reviews of the season. "Weary's" work improved steadily as the season progressed, and with Tasman and Kinder, he is one of a trio of 1914 men who will be missed next fall.

"Nig" Prosser did not allow the reputation gained last year to wane at all, and helped to keep to be one of the men always pointed out on foreign fields.

Bob Queisser played sometimes at guard, sometimes at tackle, and made his presence felt in either position. Bob holds the distinction of being a lineman who always used his head and as such was a strong factor in the team's success.

Cecil Snyder returned to Kenyon and reappeared on the football team, this time at guard instead of at center. His work was even better than it was three years ago and fortunately Kenyon will have him again next year.

Ludden was one of the new men who "made good" from the start. A hard and willing worker, a good man at either half or full-back, "Lud" was at once one of the most valuable and popular men on the team.

Hallwood, another of the "big" freshmen, though handicapped by injuries and sickness, played in the number of contests necessary to bring him a well-earned "K" and showed an ability to smash through any line opposed to him that gives Kenyon great hopes of him for the next three years.

Clements finished the season at half-back, played a steady, consistent game, and earned his letter. His work showed steady improvement and was always good.

Ralph Doll was the sturdy freshman who played guard and did it very efficiently. Doll doesn't like to be caught out in the rain, but that didn't interfere with his putting up a good game on some of the muddiest fields in Ohio.

Erb is big, steady and a willing worker. Just the kind of man we want to keep with us.

"Chuck" Kinder was one of the "finds" of the season and in his gameness and endurance, a real marvel. In the thick of every scrimmage, fighting every minute, he never left any game except as a victim of his own aggressiveness.

England and Eckerle were two new men who were faithful to the end and although unable to play in all of the games, gained much experience that will make them valuable in years to come. They "learned" at Fostoria—watch them!

There are other men on the squad who deserve mention—and very honorable mention—for their perseverance and loyalty in sticking to the squad, even when not making all of the trips. The services of such men count a great deal in the development of a football team and are always appreciated by those who know. On this honor roll are Rettig, Axtell, Endle, Trotman, and Wise.

One more name that must be mentioned is that of "Buck" Carr, who rendered splendid service in the Wittenberg, Reserve and Muskingum games, and only retired from the team when parental objections made it absolutely unavoidable.

There's another ladle of glory reserved for "Bill" Sant, the Collegian's nominee for All-Ohio manager. With a business head which a merchant prince might envy, an inexhaustible supply of energy and a keen sense of administrative economy, he saved the Assembly many a dollar which others would have wasted. As football editor, "Bill" has been without an equal in the state for accuracy, style, descriptive power and knowledge of the game.

For Don Snook, the faithful assistant, one Hika with three "Snooks" on the end. He proved a willing servant in a thankless job and deserves the praise and respect of every man on the Hill.

SCORE SECURED

truer, more effective enthusiasm, that sees and understands difficulties to be met, that acknowledges and appreciates hard work done to overcome handicaps, and that is now able and willing to perceive how great are the results accomplished and to do honor to those who have labored faithfully and well.

This sort of enthusiasm has extended to alumni and friends as well as to students, and some of the results have been of a very substantial order. Every man in Kenyon is still grateful to Mrs. J. C. Morse of Cleveland for a gift that enabled the college to go to Cleveland and express the loyalty that each son of Kenyon felt on the occasion of the Reserve game. Alumni have not been slow to let their approval of the new spirit on the Hill be known nor to come to the rescue financially, more generously than ever. And finally there has been an unprecedented support from undergraduate students, evidenced by faithful attendance at home games and by a very considerable donation towards the purchase of new suits.

A broad-minded review cannot deny an important place to such features as these, which mark the athletic spirit of Kenyon as permeating the entire college community and with a wholesome influence upon all.

Cold figures show the following results of the season of 1913: Kenyon has played a total of seven college games of football, has won three, lost three and played one tie, attaining a percentage of .500. Of these five were Conference games, the percentage of victories in these contests being .250. Upon closer study this record becomes more attractive. No one of the seven colleges represented on Kenyon's schedule has a student body as small as that in Gambier, yet no one of them was an easy victory. Not once was Kenyon held scoreless. Every contest was approached with a determination to fight to the end and the result was a series of games that won respect from opponents and praise from sportsmen throughout the state. The most notable improvements over last year were the Wittenberg and Reserve scores. At Springfield the 1912 defeat was amply revenged by a decisive victory, and the overwhelming score of the previous season in the Reserve game was reduced to two touchdowns and a field goal, while a Kenyon player carried the ball across Reserve's goal line for the first time since 1907. Cincinnati had the best team in her history and a defeat at her hands was no disgrace. The tie at Wooster, while it was disappointment, commands respect for the spirit which the rival school was able to show against odds. The fact that Coach Childs awarded letters to his men for their work in the Kenyon game alone, on the principle adopted by the big colleges of the East, is certainly to be taken as a compliment to Kenyon's reputation in athletics.

The first games of the season were the regular one-sided practice affairs with high school teams from Mt. Vernon and Millersburg. Each team had good men on its roster who deserve credit for putting up a plucky fight in the face of certain defeat. The games gave Coach Mathews a chance to try out all his men and give them the needed experience in actual play.

The opening game of the regular season gave assurance of a first class team. Otterbein came to Kenyon hailed throughout the state as the surprise of the season and the best team in the history of the Westerville college. Otterbein had beaten Ohio Wesleyan the week before, but Captain Tasman and his followers went after the visiting team in a most business-like manner and the result was never in doubt. The visitors escaped a shutout by a spectacular field goal and the final score was 15 to 3.

The next Saturday was the day appointed for revenge on Wittenberg and everything was carried out according to program. "Buck" Carr started things by registering a touchdown and after Wittenberg had been allowed to score six points, "just to lead them on," Ludden finished the job by bucking through the line for a second score. Tasman kicked both goals and Kenyon took the long end of a 14-6 score.

The team and the college went to Cleveland October 18, and the college joined its alumni and friends in watching the team show Reserve what a lucky accident their big score of a year ago had been. Callin scored a touchdown and Gayer showed his superiority over a rival for All-State honors.

On October 25, the Muskingum team came to Gambier, showing great improvement over their representatives of the season before. They were beaten 23 to 10, but in the process they managed to demonstrate what effective use could be made of an old fashioned interference for the end run. Callin, Ludden and Tasman were the principal factors in Kenyon's victory.

November 1 was a day of leisure and the next Saturday brought the annual game with Wooster. Under a Kenyon coach there had been a great improvement in the camp of the enemy and with the help of a new shift formation introduced by Coach Childs things were made to start rather badly for Kenyon. But in the second half the visitors rallied and Wooster's plays were no longer puzzling. Ludden made the touchdown and Tasman kicked the goal that made Kenyon's total seven points and the score a tie.

November 15, Kenyon played the University of Cincinnati in a frog pond out in Barnet Woods. The score was 14 to 2 in favor of Cincinnati and the victory was well earned by ability to actually run with the ball over two inches of mud and slime. Kenyon showed a lot of pluck and cleverness in handling a wet ball, but her lack of weight was fatal to her chances. Of course Cincinnati claimed that the score would have been bigger on a good day, and Kenyon players asserted that victory would have been easy on a dry field.

The final game of the year was played in Cleveland against the Case eleven and an account of it appears elsewhere in this number. It was a heartbreaking game for Kenyon, who had to see victory slip from her grasp through inability to meet the basketball tactics of her opponents. But the wonderful showing of real football in the first two periods was worth a good deal to Kenyon watchers and convinced them that

MATRICULATION

At the service of Matriculation, December 2, the largest number of men in the history of Kenyon "signed the book," which made them sons of a new mother. Since its beginning the exercise of Matriculation has been important because it gives a certain definite standing to the students who pass the necessary requirements. This year not only was the importance of this standing felt by all the participants but moreover the seriousness of the exercise was realized more than in former years.

All of the morning classes were dismissed at eleven o'clock and the Library became the rendezvous for the candidates, choir and faculty. The procession, headed by the choir and followed by the candidates and faculty, entered the church by the nave. After a short prayer the candidates were presented to Bishop Reese, representing the president and board of trustees, to give assent to the pledge of loyalty to Kenyon as their Alma Mater. After the administering of the pledge, Bishop Reese spoke a few words of advice to the matriculates and by the use of some striking similes pointed out their new responsibilities and the necessity for each one of the new sons of the college to steer a straight course through life. He emphasized especially the fact that the new duties assumed should be carried out faithfully and carefully and that each man should always consider pre-eminently the welfare of the college. The clear and concise terms which the Bishop used in his address rendered it easily understood and one not readily forgotten.

Following the service, which was impressive and dignified in every detail, the matriculates, numbering fifty-three, signed their names in the book which for many years back contains the names of Kenyon men who have helped to swell the fame of the college which we are proud to call our Alma Mater.

Coach Mathews and every man on the team had done his best and that the result was really a consistent and well-balanced team, working hard all the time and deserving all encouragement and honor.

At the last meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, a resolution was passed to pay the registration fees of two delegates to represent Kenyon in the Student Volunteer Convention to be held at Kansas City December 31-January 4. The delegates selected were Professor Underwood and J. P. DeWolf, both of Kansas City.

NEW REQUIREMENTS

Under the provisions of a recent ruling of the faculty the requirements for the baccalaureate degrees have been so altered as to eliminate the literary course in name and the philosophical course in effect. Undergraduates will do well to note carefully the changes which are here appended.

To obtain the degree of A. B., a student must have four years of classical language credit and at least one year of a modern language. The classical units may be a combination of Greek and Latin or merely four years of either.

The requirements for the Ph. B. degree are: five years of foreign language credits, three of which must be of the same language.

The degree of B. L. has been abolished.

These changes are to take effect with the class of 1918, but students now in college may take advantage of the new system if they so desire.

Change in Schedule

The following changes have been made in the C. A. and C. schedule: The 10:48 a. m. is due at 10:52; the 2:13 p. m. is due at 2:05; the 4:58 p. m. is due at 4:55; all other trains as per previous schedule, except that the Sunday trains are now the same as those which run daily.

Choir Recital Coming

The "Best Male Trained Choir in the Diocese of Ohio," is at present working up a recital which is promised for next month. Work on "All Praise to God in Light Arrayed" from Lohengrin (Wagner), on West's "Comfort the Soul of Thy Servant" and on "Light of Light" by Le Jeune constitutes the present task of the body. These selections will be rendered soon after the Christmas vacation and should be one of the best musical events of the year.

Old Book Comes to Light

A novel and interesting account of the early debates at Yale was recently found while the books in the library were being re-catalogued. The volume, as the writer explained on the first page, is a "particular account of the disputations and questions discussed in Yale College by the Davis Division in 1801." It contains the subjects and brief outlines of over a hundred debates. Many of them are questions of vital interest today though a number are political questions of that era. The record is brown with age and the writing is illegible in many places. It was the gift of W. J. Scott to Philomathesian shortly after the society was founded in 1827.

Turkey Dinner

Sunday, November 23, being the last before Thanksgiving, a turkey dinner was served at the Commons. The students had as their guests on this occasion President and Mrs. Peirce, Dr. and Mrs. Newhall, Dr. and Mrs. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Weida, and Dr. and Mrs. Streibert. In addition to the excellent singing by the student body, short talks were made by the members of the faculty, in which they expressed themselves as being highly gratified by the success of the Commons and predicted a bright future for this new phase of Kenyon life.

Seniors Active

The class of 1914 has started this year in good form, thanks to the enthusiastic return of all but two of the fifteen juniors of last year. The "hoodoo" thirteen, however, has been avoided by the assimilation of Messrs. Carhartt and Hull, who bring the size of the class up to that which obtained last year. The remaining Reveille debt is being rapidly put aside and an assessment of ten dollars has been levied to take care of senior prom expenses. Weekly meetings tend to keep class spirit to the front. There is no reason why the entire fifteen should not graduate, as strenuous efforts are being made to get "Bill" Jenkins up in time for chapel, in order that he may tarry with us until he receives his diploma.

"The Good Old Days"

"Elyria students were invited to come to Kenyon College, Gambier, where they could be educated very economically. Terms: For 40 weeks including board, tuition, light, fuel, washing and room rent in the Grammar School, $60.00. Do. College, $70.00. Students when admitted candidates for ministry are charged $50.00." —Extract from "Elyria Eighty-five Years Ago," Elyria (Ohio) Telegram.

NEW YORK ALUMNI

the evening is counted as one of the most enthusiastic in the annals of the Association.

As there was no formal program of responses the after-dinner hours were spent in discussion of future plans and things of general interest to men from the Hill. At the suggestion of S. B. Axtell, '06, secretary of the Association, a motion was unanimously passed inaugurating the movement for the celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Edwin McMasters Stanton, '32. The date is to be December 29, 1914, and the plan as outlined is to hold a mammoth Kenyon reunion and dinner at New York on that date. Alumni, trustees, faculty, undergraduates and friends of the college, from all parts of the United States, are to be invited to attend. Andrew Carnegie, donor of the Stanton Professorship of Economics, is reported to have signified his intention of participating, as his interest in Lincoln's great War Secretary dates from a personal friendship formed in Mr. Carnegie's youth.

Mr. Axtell, the Rev. J. Townsend Russell, Bexley '93, and Mark H. Wiseman, '10, comprise the committee appointed to start the ball rolling. The sentiment of the evening heartily endorsed the idea, and we may expect a great advertisement for the college when the movement culminates next December.

After the expression of well-wishes and "bon voyage" to President and Mrs. Peirce for their Italian cruise, the meeting adjourned at a late hour with songs and yells.

Those present were: Messrs. John B. Leavitt, '68, president of the Association; S. B. Axtell, '06; the Rev. C. H. Babcock; F. S. Cooper, ex-'09; Grove D. Curtis, '80; L. C. Demney, ex-'10; A. E. Duerr, ex-'93; the Rev. Robt. B. Foote, '96; H. H. Gaines, '12; C. R. Ganter, '99; T. J. Goddard, '03; D. B. Hale, ex-'05; the Rev. W. B. Kinkaid, Bex. '10; M. C. Kinney, ex-'10; M. F. Maury, '04; Dr. J. A. McCorkle; the Rev. E. M. McGuffey, '76; President Peirce; the Rev. J. T. Russell, Bex. '93; A. G. Stiles, '00; B. M. Tanner, '02; A. K. Taylor, '06; J. L. Wells, ex-'64; L. W. Wertheimer, '99; D. C. Wheaton, '13; M. H. Wiseman, '10; H. W. Wood, '11.

day, January 2, as announced in the catalogue. The object is to prevent travelling on New Year's, to gain an extra Sunday and to escape returning early to find slim class attendance.

Mr. Harper moved that an assessment of ten cents per capita be levied upon the undergraduates in order to purchase a half-tone of the football team for the Collegian. He explained that the financial condition of the publication demands stringent economy, but called attention to the fact that the small assessment would make possible the projected football number. The motion was unanimously passed and Messrs. Harper and Bowman appointed as a committee to collect the ten-cent pieces.

Committee, Dr. R. B. Allen presented K's to the following men: Messrs. Tasman, Gayer, Callin, Clements, Doll, Erb, Graham, Hallwood, W. R. Kinder, Ludden, Prosser, Queisser, Snyder, Wonders and Manager Sant. Messrs. England, Eckerle, Axtell, C. E. Kinder, Trotman, Endle and Wise were granted permission to wear class numerals, for services rendered on the scrub team.

Dr. L. B. Walton reported that $255 had been realized from the alumni subscriptions, and read extracts from letters written by the Rev. C. Geo. Currie, Bexley, '57, of Philadelphia, Judge Jno. J. Adams, '79, of Columbus, Saml. Mather of Cleveland, Walter H. Brown, '06, of Cincinnati, and others. The tone of the epistles showed interest on the part of the alumni in conditions on the Hill and gave promise of a considerable cut in what now remains of the Assembly deficit.

Larwill Lecture

The lecture season opened in a formal way last Wednesday and Thursday, December 10 and 11, when Edgar J. Banks, Ph. D., gave two addresses on the Larwill foundation. The subjects chosen by the speaker dealt with Arabia and the ancient cities of Palestine. With the aid of the stereopticon Dr. Banks told many things concerning the manners and customs of the Arabians and also mentioned some of the interesting religious practices of the followers of Mohammed. Having traveled a great deal in western Asia, the lecturer spoke from experience, and all the stories related bore evidence of the fact that the people in the countries mentioned live today in a way very similar to that of a thousand years ago. In speaking of Palestine Dr. Banks dwelt in particular upon scenes familiar to the student of Bible history.
