SHADYSIDE SWEEPS FIRST NATIONAL PREPARATORY SCHOOL TOURNAMENT

Arensberg Downs Davis in Singles Final

Shadyside Academy of Pittsburgh dominated the first annual National Preparatory School Tournament at Kenyon College on Saturday, May 4, with Montgomery Bell Academy of Nashville, Tennessee, running a close second. James M. Arensberg of Shadyside won the singles title by defeating Joe Davis, fifteen-year old Mid-South prep school champ, 2-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3. Davis, the gallery's favorite, played a beautiful cross court game in the first set but he tired and fell before the steady play and more powerful service of the short but sturdy Arensberg. Davis's weariness showed itself graphically in the increasing number of errors which he committed. Arensberg, whose brother is captain of Harvard's tennis team, pulled himself together after the first set and staved off several attempted rallies by the sandy-haired Davis.

In the doubles Arensberg paired with Miller of Shadyside to beat Davis and Burch Tucker of Montgomery Bell, 6-4, 6-0, 9-7. Tucker's strong but erratic service, the fine net play of Arensberg, the smoothness of Miller, and some remarkable passing shots by Davis featured the match. After losing the first set, the Southerners hung on doggedly in the third, until Arensberg served an ace to win the match. When the Montgomery Bell boys were on their game they were superior but the Pittsburgh pair proved far more consistent.

Trophies were awarded to both winners and runners-up in the singles and doubles and Shadyside Academy was awarded the team trophy for scoring the most points. This trophy will become the permanent possession of the school winning it three times.

The tournament was originally scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

MAY DANCE A SOCIAL SUCCESS

Al Kavalin Plays Friday And Saturday Nights

The May Dance, which all loyal Kenyonites consider one of the finest week-ends in this or any other country, met with its usual success the week-end of the 10th and 11th. The dance officially was launched at eleven o'clock on Friday evening, although unofficially, there were signs of celebration beforehand. The Friday night dance continued through the night and terminated with the dawn (and a very nice dawn, at that). The tea dance, generally considered the most congenial of the week-end, was no less enjoyable than previously, with an excellent and spirited orchestra playing from the hours, four until six. The proceedings halted temporarily until the arrival of the informal dance in the Commons, with Al Kavalin and his orchestra taking up again where they left off in the morning. The loss of the Psi U House for the usual post-mortem dance was not felt so keenly as had been expected, for there were numerous parties about the Hill which proved highly entertaining and enjoyable.

The Senior Council and the student body as a whole deserves the highest amount of praise for the gentlemanly fashion in which the entire dance was conducted.

Al Kavalin, however, did not meet with general approval of the student body. But, as it turned out, the music served the purpose quite well. The band which played for the tea dance, although perhaps less talented, thoroughly met with the approval of the student body and just to show that their hearts were in the right places, consented to play an additional half hour without extra charge.

Taking the dance as a whole, it can be truly said that it was one of the finest dances in the past few years.

BETAS WIN INTRAMURAL TRACK MEET

The intra-mural track meet was held at Benson field on Wednesday, May 1. The points won were as follows: South Leonard 49; Middle Kenyon 28; Middle Leonard 22; North Leonard 19; East Wing 18; Middle Hanna 16; South Hanna 7; West Wing 5; North Hanna 0.

Two intra-mural records were broken when Sebach in the high jump cleared the bar at 5 feet 10 1/4 inches. Clark took the other record by pole vaulting to a height of 10 feet 10 1/4 inches. Boren in the 880 yard dash tied the former record. His time was 2 minutes, 15 seconds.

A PLAN FOR HONORS WORK

It is proposed that Kenyon College provide an opportunity for men of exceptional ability and intellectual interests to undertake honors work in those departments in which conditions permit honors work to be given. The following plan assumes that honors work will be undertaken in the student's major department, and in one or two other related departments.

(1) Supervision of Honors Work

For the supervision of honors work the departments of the College shall be classified into three divisions:

I. Division of Mathematics and Natural Sciences.

II. Division of History and Social Sciences (including Psychology and Philosophy).

III. Division of Literature and Language.

The Dean and the members of a division shall constitute a committee to supervise the program and procedure of honors work within the departments in the division. In case a student takes part of his work in a department outside of the division a representative of that department shall be invited to sit with the divisional committee.

(2) Selection of Candidates for Honors

A candidate for honors work must file his application with the Dean by the first of May of his sophomore year and indicate the combination of related subjects on which he wishes to be examined for his degree. A major subject and one or two minor subjects must be designated.

The candidate's application must be approved by both the divisional committee and the department of the candidate's major before honors work may be undertaken.

In general, no student shall be considered for honors work unless his average for the first three semesters in college is 2 or above in those subjects proposed for honors work.

(3) Incentives for Honors Men

Successful candidates will be graduated with first, second or third honors. In all College publications the class of honors awarded shall be printed as a part of the degree. Graduates with honors who wish to enter professional schools will be given the full endorsement of the College.

Candidates for honors will be granted special privileges in respects to course requirements. These privileges shall be determined within each division of the divisional committee on honors.

(4) The Program of Honors Work

For each approved candidate the major department will arrange, in consultation with the student, a definite program of courses which will lead to the honors examination.

The candidate's major department is responsible for supervising his choice of courses and for keeping

110 HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS VISIT HILL

Betas Win Singing

On the week-end of Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28, the annual visit of the high school seniors to Kenyon took place.

Many boys from all parts of Ohio, and the surrounding places were in Gambier, and although inclement weather attempted to stop some of the scheduled affairs from taking place, the programme was followed out as planned.

The programme was opened by luncheon in the college Commons, at which President Peirce made an address of welcome to the visitors and stated that they should feel that the keys to the college had been turned over to them for the week-end. After the address there was some singing by the general group of the college songs.

The programme for the rest of the afternoon consisted of displays of equipment and inspection of the laboratories in Mather Hall until three o'clock, followed by the intercollegiate tennis match between Capital and Kenyon, in which Kenyon proved that she may be expected to show up well on the courts in the ensuing season. The tennis matches were followed immediately by a military riding exhibition, and a Polo game played on the Polo field. Both of these events proved interesting to the college students as well as to the visitors. After the polo game those who were interested in aeronautics had the pleasure of seeing motion pictures on aviation, which were shown in the Physics lecture room. Those who were not in attendance at the aeronautics lecture had the privilege of interviewing representatives of the college in the Dean's office, or of entering into one of the many games of baseball in progress on the lawn.

The events for the afternoon ended with dinner in the Commons at six o'clock, at which the Kenyon Singers led the group in singing the songs.

At seven o'clock in the evening the visitors were invited to attend a reception given by the President in the Lounge of Peirce Hall, in order that they might have the opportunity to become acquainted with the members of the Faculty of the College.

Following the reception everyone assembled on the college lawn to hear the Fraternity singing contest which takes place at this time every year. The results of this year's contest gave the first place to Beta Theta Pi, the second place to Delta Tau Delta, and the third place to Alpha Delta Phi.

After the singing smokers were held in the parlors of the divisions.

On Sunday the programme was opened by breakfast in the Commons at eight thirty, after which the visitors were free to do whatever they wished until ten thirty Undoubtedly the men in college have noticed the announcement of a boxing exhibition to be held in Rosse Hall. This exhibition was the first of a series which Rudy Kutler hopes to present. The card was made up of five bouts and the price was one which all could afford. This plan which Rudy is working out is the answer to the criticism that the college offered no inducement to the men to remain on the Hill, particularly on Saturday nights. This idea has been suggested and sponsored by one of the members of the Board of Trustees.

It seems to us that this plan offers a good solution to the problem of what to do on a Saturday night. The fighters who have been signed up represent some of the best talent in the State. The College is offering us something new in the way of entertainment and it is our support which can make the idea a success. Naturally such a plan entails some expense, but if the student body takes an active interest in the bouts it is certain that they will become a regular Saturday night occurrence.

The student body owes a vote of thanks to Rudy for the time and trouble which he has taken in order to arrange the first of these exhibitions, and to the Trustees for their efforts to offer something which will be a source of pleasure and instruction to all.

K

This year the Collegian has attempted thru its editorials and articles to bring to the attention of the College and the Trustees the great need for improvements on and about the Campus. The first one concerning Rosse Hall seems to have borne fruit, indirectly at least, for the stage is to be torn out this summer. Of the rest we have no knowledge but hope they did some good. But still it seems there are many things which might be done, not by the college but by the Student Body. Someone said "Clothes make the man." This may or may not be true, but it is a good philosophy to abide by. Apply the idea to the College itself. What is more impressive than a good-looking campus and buildings? Kenyon delights to show her men off so why shouldn't we reciprocate and show Kenyon off. There is nothing that will boom a product like good advertising so why shouldn't we plug Kenyon, for in so doing we in the end are benefiting ourselves. Let us then make Kenyon the college that we will be proud to talk about and send our sons and friends to. Keep Kenyon well clothed, and paint your college to the skies.

DANCE SUCCESSFUL HENDERSON GETS HAIRCUT

As the evening shadows lengthened on Friday, the 10th, the inhabitants of Kenyon College again settled down to a week-end of conservative diversion. An unnatural silence preceded the celebration, as everywhere could be seen evidences of preparation. Bright-eyed lads, faces shining with anticipation, eagerly awaited the arrival of that feminine touch.

Early in the evening, a special runner from Mount Gilead arrived bearing news of Al Kavelin, that genial young maestro who believes that no brass is better than some brass. Page, Thomas, and Gruber fervent admirers of the handsome director, lost no time in arranging a welcoming party.

At 11 p. m. there was heard a sickening crash, and it was immediately known that the inimitable rhythms of Al and his boys were emanating from the Great Dining Hall. Along about midnight, starry-eyed youths and glassy-eyed girls entered the Hall and from then until the dawn, a gay dancing party held sway. There was little to mar this scene of frivolity, for the senior Council had been unceasingly on the look-out for intoxicants throughout the night. They did discover a few organized parties, but after a few words from the councillors, the organizers realized their error and retired with hanging heads. Robert Reid, president of that august body, was called home Friday afternoon, and it is needless to say that the other members of the Council sorely missed him in their efforts to keep the College under control. At 3:45 a. m. the dance committee, whose members had been listening with open admiration to the plaintive melodies of Kavelin, rushed to the stand and acclaimed Al the greatest maestro since "Duchin" Boda. The student body wishes to take this opportunity to thank the dance committee for their untiring efforts towards securing the band which they obtained for the tea dance.

Came the dawn.

After a shower, shave, shampoo, and shine the boys shove off for the tea dance. There were found the usual chummy groups of young folk drinking tea and chatting over crumpets. From the rooms below there could occasionally be heard groups of students and young ladies harmoniously singing Negro spirituals and a few patriotic songs. The informal dance in the Great Dining Hall Saturday night was highly successful, and because of the change in management of the Club Psi U, the revelers were forced to retire to the various divisions, where quiet parties ensued until 1:30, when everyone went home.

Earlier in the evening, Kavelin, following his triumph, was borne on the shoulders of a large crowd of admirers to the West Wing Bull's Eye, where he entertained the folks with humorous anecdotes, and later in the evening with several imitations of a ground-squirrel and a bull-frog.

Through the kindness of one of our prominent alumni, the survivors were treated to an exhibition of high-speed driving over a treacherous course with many hazards for the young motorists.

By Monday morning the situation was fairly well in hand and undoubtedly by Thursday, the College will again be in fine working order.

Recent statistics show that 99.9% of all Kenyon students take part in some form of athletics. They are summed up as follows:

Ten per cent of all Kenyon men play golf; ten per cent, tennis; ten per cent, baseball; and sixty-nine and nine-tenths per cent write chain letters. The only man who doesn't participate in any of these activities is an aviator and, at that, it is rumored that he soon will organize a "fishing club," in order to see who can tell the biggest fish story.

Lee Allen—problem? At nine miles an hour how long does it take to go 27 miles?

Clarence turns chauffeur and Arbuckle and Brown, with Rex, the wonder dog, ride in the tonneau.

Northern "debs" arrive and carry away Reid and "seram."

H. Brown tangles with pony. Piny wins.

Wilson says, "I won't dance."

Meeks passes May Dance. Training for June Dance.

Tuthill requests "Solitude" and gets it.

Price falls from wagon Saturday afternoon after valiant battle against overwhelming odds.

East Wing and North Leonard dark as boys keep pledge.

This is the last issue of the Collegian that the present staff will edit. The next and final issue for the year will be put out by the incoming editor, with the present editor acting only in advisory capacity. No announcement can be made officially yet as to who will be the next editors as the Executive Committee has not yet voted. Plans however are already under way for a change in the Collegian's policy and it seems that next year the paper will be under a partial supervision of the English department.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Is Kenyon in such a condition that she can not give adequate aid to her professors in order that they may present the courses offered which we request? This last year much equipment has lain idle simply because the professors did not have time to handle the courses offered.

We all know that Kenyon has one of the best equipped science laboratories for a private college. Can we sit back without taking into consideration the fact that we have right here at Kenyon in beautiful Mather Hall, which is to stand for years to come, the most unique and profound methods for scientific study?

I know that if Kenyon was to stop and think a moment, she would realize that she is being hoisted in her standards by a chain with a broken link. Students of science, until this broken link is repaired, I can assure you that Kenyon will lose many prospective science students in years to follow.

My only hope is that Kenyon pays respect to her science department next year by providing more help in the department of Physics and Chemistry.

"SPRING TIME FOR HENRY" REHEARSAL

The Kenyon College Dramatic Club has once more gone into Rehearsals. The vehicle they are working on is a three act play entitled "Spring Time for Henry." The members of the cast are John Alberts, Robert May, Howard Poland and Frank Jones. Dr. Ashford and Coffin are co-directing the play. The date while not definitely set will probably be Friday, June fourteenth. As the play will be listed as part of the graduation program it is sincerely hoped that as many parents and friends of the Senior class, and Alumni returning to the Hill for that week-end will be present.

BOXING MATCH SUCCESSFUL

McMURTRY WINS MAIN GO- OTHER BOUTS

Slugging at will but boxing carefully Jess McMurtry, of Cincinnati, easily outpointed Jimmy Shearer, of Canton, in an eight-round bout that featured Gambier's initial boxing card, held at Rosse Hall on May 18.

McMurtry, long an established favorite with Queen City boxing bugs, showed superb footwork throughout the match, and weaving and bobbing, he had little difficulty in avoiding the well-meant blows of younger Jimmy Shearer. When McMurtry himself connected, it was usually at close quarters, and he landed a steady volley of blows at Shearer's mid-section. The latter, with quite a reputation as a slugger, was out for blood, and a few of his blows were dangerously low, much to the delight of a crowd of 350, who hooted, hissed and groaned in the approved fashion.

McMurtry floored Shearer for a nine count in an early round, and had little trouble. The gallery was behind him, and watched every move with interest, hoping that Jess would send his maddened rival to the canvas for a kayo. As it was, Jess merely toyed with him in the latter rounds and breezed in with a wide, Irish grin on his rather handsome-ugly mug.

The semi-windup brought together F. Lockwood of Mt. Vernon and C. Wilson of Canton. After six heated rounds, a draw verdict was reached, to the dissatisfaction of the rooters who felt that Wilson had a clear edge.

Wilson is a cagy veteran who is said to have once entered the ring with Phil O'Dowd. Recently he had suffered from an attack of malaria, and this was one of his first fights in an attempted come-back tour. When the news of his ill-luck spread through the crowd, he became a favorite, but a draw decision seems to be the fair verdict. Lockwood landed a lot of punches, and, although battered at the finish, was able to leave the ring under his own power.

The original curtain-raiser was called off when Red Speaks of Cincinnati was unable to reach Gambier. His stable-mate, Crider, did make connections, though, and earned a four-round decision over Auskings of Mt. Vernon.

The second match on the card was by far the poorest. P. Bishop of Mt. Vernon quickly disposed of Buddy Siegel of Newark, in a fashion that made even the most gullible skeptical. However, the fans were wrong for there was no 'dive' taken. The truth of the matter is that Siegel, who hadn't trained so religiously, suffered a stomach attack both from nature and Bishop. The combination was too much for him, and he was satisfied to kiss the resin in the second round.

The remaining bout brought together Gene Tinlin, of Canton, and Rockwell, of Mt. Vernon, with the latter gaining the nod after four heated rounds. Tinlin appeared to be a clean-cut kid and was liked by the crowd, but he showed a little punching ability and Rockwell well-deserved his win.

All in all, the card was satisfactory and proved that such affairs will bring out a good crowd. The main-go, at 145 pounds, was the heaviest match and the most interesting, with the semi-windup a close second in thrills.

Kenyon met Ohio Wesleyan in a tennis meet at Gambier on May 9. The score stood 2-1 in favor of Kenyon when the playing was stopped because of rain. It is hoped the remaining matches may be played off in the future. As far as played the individual scores were: Turner (K) defeated Mac Phail (W) 6-2, 5-7, 7-5. Brooks (K) defeated Davis (W) 6-3, 9-7, 6-4. Stamm (K) lost to Russert (W) 6-3, 6-2.

Parnell was medalist at this meet with a score of 78. On May 6, Kenyon met Ohio Wesleyan at Mt. Vernon and defeated the Wesleyan boys 11-7. A return engagement with Denison University was held here on May 8. Kenyon scored against their opponents 12½-5½, and Parnell was medalist with a score of 82. May 16 Kenyon met Oberlin and while it rained defeated the invaders 8-9. In this meet Lord was medalist with a score of 82.

The remaining golf meets are scheduled as follows:
May 18, Wittenberg, Here.
May 20, Dayton U., There.
May 23, Oberlin, There.

Owing to very uncertain weather, intra-mural baseball has been progressing rather slowly. So far four games have been played. Middle Hanna defeated Middle Leonard 12-10. North Leonard defeated South Hanna 20-6. South Leonard won over East Wing 29-8. South Leonard also beat South Hanna 22-5. Other games are scheduled throughout the remainder of the month of May, and will be played at 6.45 p. m.

PREP SCHOOL TOURNEY WELL LIKED

RUDY KUTLER THANKS COL- LEGE FOR THEIR CO- OPERATION

Letters of thanks have been streaming into Kenyon from all parts of the country, all praising the work done here in an effort to establish a national prep school tennis tournament, and it doesn't appear to fantastic to predict that within a very few years, Kenyon will be the tennis center not only for Ohio but of the middle West.

Rudy Kutler is to be lauded for his splendid work in making this a reality. In spite of the meanest sort of weather, the recent tournament was run off smoothly, and although the entry list was small, all schools participating were more than satisfied with the results, and next year's tourney promises to be bigger and better in every respect.

Coach Kutler wishes to thank Dr. Coffin for presenting the trophies, David Jasper for his designing and publicity work, and the entire student body for their cooperation and support. Such support is absolutely necessary, if such a tournament is to be a regular feature.

We are printing here a few of the many letters of thanks from the schools represented.

From:
Montgomery Bell Academy—
Nashville, Tenn.

Dear Mr. Kutler:
I wish to thank you again for the many courtesies which you extended to us during the recent tournament. The boys have been singing the praises of Kenyon since their return to Nashville.

I think that you are beginning a great work for the encouragement of preparatory school tennis. If I can be of any service to you in the future in lending support to the tournament, I shall be glad to assist you in any way possible.

I also wish to express my appreciation to Mr. Evans for the many considerations which he showed us.

It is with pleasure that we are looking forward to next year's tournament.

Yours sincerely,
John W. Davidson

From:
University School—Shaker
Heights, Cleveland

Dear Mr. Kutler:
Congratulations on the success of your preparatory school tennis tournament. In spite of the weather I understand everything went off very nicely. I suppose you were disappointed in the small number of schools entered, but I think you did well, considering that this was the first year, and the fact that very few schools have had an opportunity to play tennis due to the weather.

Our boys spoke very highly of the fine treatment while at Kenyon, and all expressed the wish that you would carry on next year.

Wishing you success in your efforts to build up a preparatory school tennis tournament, I remain
Sincerely yours,

Mr. R. J. Kutler, Director of Athletics.

Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio.
Dear Mr. Kutler:

Our visit to Kenyon stands out in our memories as the most pleasant event of the year. The hospitality of Kenyon, its athletic staff, and students, stands unrivaled, we believe.

Please convey our sincere thanks to the many who made our stay so enjoyable.

Hoping that you can visit Todd if you are near Chicago, we are Sincerely,

The tennis team
per A. W. Graham, Coach

Kenyon opened the track season on April 27 with a meet at Otterbein. The purple tracksters lost 69½ to 61½. Kenyon took 5 first places, 7 second and 9 third places.

May 8 Kenyon met Capital University at Columbus. Out of a possible 131 points Kenyon made 26½ while Capital took 104½ in the 14 events. The Gambier men made 5 points for first places, 12 for second, and 9 for coming in third.

CONFERENCE TOURNEY THIS WEEK-END

Kenyon is hoping for good weather on the week-end of May 23, 24, 25, as that date will be the Ohio Conference tennis tournament held at Gambier for the second consecutive year. Morgan Pool and his squad have been working hard to get the courts into good playing condition, and if no more rains occur, college netmen will find perfect courts awaiting them on the battery that stands in the rear of Old Kenyon.

The entry list of last year has been swelled considerably, and this year's tourney promises to exhibit the best tennis seen since Bill and Tommy Clines of Cincinnati monopolized Ohio college tennis circles. Of last year's entries, notably Kenyon, St. Xavier, Baldwin-Wallace, Wooster, Oberlin, Otterbein, and Capital are back in the fold, and Kent State, Denison, and others have announced their intention of entering this year's competition.

The improvement shown this season by Bill Turner, Crawford Brooks, Bob Stamm, and Russ Grub have boosted Kenyon's stock in the tourney, and the doubles combination of Turner and Brooks has improved to such an extent that they will probably enter the tourney as favorites.

Died: May 1, 1934, in Tampa, Florida, after a long illness, Alfred A. Taltavall '83 of Ventnor City, New Jersey.

Married: March 30, 1935 at Port Clinton, Ohio, Miss Helen Matthews to Scott Graves '24.

Appointed: to the position of manager of the Ohio Manufacturers Association, Donald K. Martin '10, editor, attorney, one time publicity director of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce.

To the collection of rare and valuable books now in possession of the college a new and exceptionally valuable addition is to be made. Mr. George Spitzer, of the class of 1885, will present to the library The Argonautica of Caius Valerius Flaccus, written about 70-85 A. D. early in the Christian era. The book that Mr. Spitzer will bring to Gambler at Commencement time is the edition of the poem printed in 1724, edited by the Dutch scholar Peiter Burnamn of Lyden. The first printed text of this epic poem was issued in 1474, and since then many more editions have appeared, among them three excellent editions during the nineteenth century.

Valerius Flaccus, died 90 A. D., was active during the reigns of the Emperors Vespasian and Titus. He began work on The Argonautica about the time of the destruction of Jerusalem and probably did not complete the work, because there are available only eight books of the poem. Four more, that were either not finished or have been lost, are needed to complete the story. Valerius Flaccus patterned his epic after an earlier poem concerning the same subject written by Apollinaris Rhodius.

Mr. Spitzer, the donor of this valuable art treasure, is at present connected with the dairy department of Purdue University, where he has spent a great deal of time making intensive studies of the bacteriology of milk and dairy products. His papers and lectures about the results of his studies have attracted a great deal of attention, having been translated into many foreign languages, because of their value to the scientific world of today. Dr. Spitzer is recognized as a pioneer in his field of work, and was one of the first men to carry on investigations concerning the bacterial enzymes which result in the deterioration of milk and other dairy products.

GENE SARAZEN, championship golfer, who has smoked Camels for years

The mild cigarette the athletes smoke is the mild cigarette for YOU!

A cigarette so mild you can smoke all you want—that's what athletes say about Camels. And when a champion talks about "condition"—"wind"—healthy nerves—real tobacco mildness—he's got to know.

Gene Sarazen says: "Playing as much as I do—I have to keep in condition. I smoke Camels steadily. They are so mild they never get my 'wind'—never upset my nerves."

Other athletes back him up. "I smoke all the Camels I want, and keep in top condition," says Mel Ott, slugger of the New York Giants. . . . Georgia Coleman, Olympic diver, says: "Camels don't cut down on my 'wind.' . . . Bill Miller, oarsman; Jim Lancaster, N. Y. U.'s 1934 basketball captain; John Skillman, pro squash racquets champion—hundreds of sports stars smoke Camels regularly and report that Camels never get their "wind" or nerves.

What this mildness means to you! . . . It means you can smoke Camels all you want! Athletes have made this discovery: Camel's costlier tobaccos are so mild, they can smoke all they please, without disturbing their "wind" or nerves.

CONDITION IS IMPORTANT TO YOU TOO—on vacation, in college, at home. You can keep "in condition," yet smoke all you please. Athletes say: "Camels never get your wind."

The closing event on the schedule for Sunday was dinner in the commons, after which most of the visitors left Gambier in order to be back to their respective homes for school on Monday.

The group of visitors this year came as usual mostly from Ohio, but there were also some from places outside of the state. This, however, is no indication that the College will draw only from Ohio, as the week-end is short, and those who live farther away are unable to attend.

ing in touch with his progress from semester to semester.

The candidate's original program of honors work and all subsequent changes must be approved by the divisional committee and reported to the Dean's office.

Not more than half of the work of the last two years shall be taken in the department of the major without the consent of the divisional committee. The remaining work shall be done in one or in two other departments.

(5) Methods of Conducting Honors
Work

Each department shall develop its own methods of conducting honors work, but such methods must be approved by the divisional committee. Tutorial and seminar methods in groups exclusively for honors students will as far as possible be encouraged.

(6) Examinations

A comprehensive examination administered by the departments in which work is being done shall be given to all candidates at the end of the Junior year. Candidates who fail to pass this examination shall return to regular course work.

The candidate at the end of his senior year shall stand a comprehensive examination, both written and oral, in the prescribed subjects of his honors work. The written examination shall be in two parts, each not less than four hours in length, given on separate days. One part shall be set and graded by an outside examiner; the other by the departments in which the candidate return to regular course work.

The oral examination shall be at least an hour in length, and shall be given and graded by an outside examiner.

(7) Determination of Honors

Honors shall be determined jointly by the outside examiners and the departments in which the candidate has done his honors work.

CARNEGIE ART GIFT
AT LIBRARY

The library has recently received a most gratifying gift from the Carnegie Corporation. This is a collection of books on the Fine Arts containing 183 titles and well over 200 volumes. The list of subjects treated covers practically the whole field, from the philosophy of art down to such subjects as textiles, pottery and even wall paper.

Two shipments have already arrived, and the third may possibly be here by the time the Collegian appears. A check of the books received up to now shows that of over 100 only ten are duplicates of books already in the library, most of these being books used to such an extent that duplicate copies are eagerly welcomed.

It is impossible in a limited space to do justice to more than a few of the individual books, but a few descriptions may give an idea of the richness of the collection. The Proylen-kunstgeschichte is a series of 16 books by various German specialists treating the history of art by broad divisions from the primitive and prehistoric up to the 19th century. Even one who knows no German can use these books to advantage, for the main part of each book consists of plates reproducing the art of the period treated; the average number of full-page plates to a volume is about 400.

Another book in German which anyone can appreciate is Urformen der Kunst, by Karl Blossfeldt. It contains 120 plates of illustrations of plant forms magnified from 2 to 30 diameters. The artist brings out unexpectedly beautiful or fantastic forms in the commonest plants, and in his preface insists on the close inter-relation between forms in art and nature.

The collection is being put into shape for use as quickly as possible and will probably be on display before the end of the month, altho it will be some time before all the books are ready for circulation.

REVELLE NEARLY READY

TO BE OUT FIRST WEEK IN JUNE

Official announcement has been made by the members of the Revelle staff, Kinder Sherk, editor and William Thomas, business manager, to the effect that the annual will be ready for the Student Body during the first week in June. "This year's Revelle," says Sherk, "will be bigger and better than ever. Several new features have been added, as have several new cuts not heretofore published in the Revelle."

FRATERNITIES

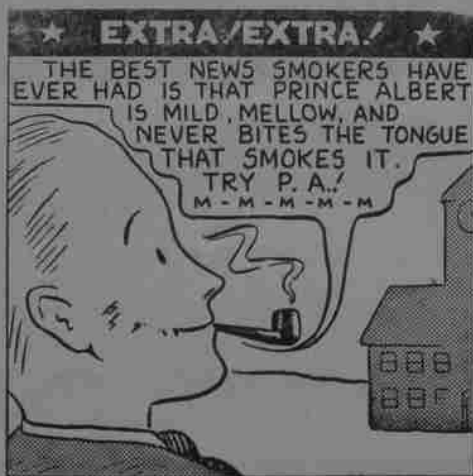

While frankly recognizing the faults of the college fraternity, Albert K. Heckel, dean of men at the University of Missouri, declared it serves a defensible need as the best agency for organized friendliness in speaking before the College Fraternity Secretaries Association dinner November 28 at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City. This was the concluding session of a one-day program.

"Fraternities are founded on idealism," said Deal Heckel, "but if the ideals do not enter lives of youth, they are meaningless and worthless."

"The fraternity system is a human institution; it will have its imperfections. But I resent the 'character assassin' who dramatizes bad taste into low morals and isolates incidents into representative conduct. The denunciations of the critic who believes what he wants to believe become tragic when they shape the opinion of a prejudiced or unknowing public."

"The fraternity system as a whole is good, not bad. It is so good we wish it were better. There is something of fundamental worth in an organized friendliness of college men."

Financial problems arising out of the fact that alumni often lack the moral integrity to pay their honest debts to fraternity chapters, Deal Heckel said, proved that economic responsibility is an essential in shaping the character of the individual and the group economic honesty being a cardinal virtue.

The solution for the problem of poor scholarship in a fraternity chapter is fundamentally the selection of pledges who have intellectual interest, Deal Heckel stated in advocating the forbidding of pledging in the freshman year of any boy who ranked in the lower third of his high school class.

"It is any wonder that the conversation in our university clubs is concerned with business, stock markets, bridge, golf, bootleggers and partisan politics instead of with literature, art, or the deeper economic, national, and international affairs?" asked Dean Heckel in admitting that college administrative officers and faculty members had failed in stimulating scholarship and in charging fraternities with not developing intellectual interests in chapter houses.
