Tillich Speaks To Nearly 600

At 8:00 Friday evening, Kenyon College and an audience of about 600, composed of some of the Kenyon family and some guests, were treated to a historical event. In a lecture entitled "Dimensions, Levels and the Unity of Life," Professor Paul Tillich for the first time presented, explicitly, his philosophy of Essentialism. Professor Tillich is a leader of the Neo-Orthodox school of theological thought. He was brought to the United States some years ago by his friend Reinhold Niebuhr. Here in America, he joined the faculty of the Union Theological Seminary and recently has become affiliated with the Harvard Divinity School.

Tillich's Essentialism (which is not a new philosophical theory but can be found in the works of Aristotle and Hegel) attempts to go beyond Existentialism by concerning itself not primarily with man's estrangement, but from what man is estranged. He hoped by defining this essence of man — spirit with a small s — to finally discover the nature of the Divine Spirit — Spirit with a capital S.

Various Dimensions

Tillich says that this ultimate nature realizes it-self in various dimensions. (He preferred the metaphor of dimensions to that of levels because levels connotes a hierarchical arrangement while dimensions reveal their interaction.) This fundamental reality which he refers to as the "Power to Be" is the underlying unity beneath the various dimensions. Within each dimension (i.e. physical, spiritual, etc.) there are opposing forces (i.e. the forces of creation vs destruction, manifestation vs concealment, etc.), which result in the tensions and paradoxes of human life.

Throughout the lecture Prof. Tillich was conscious that he was presenting the philosophy of the spirit (with a small s) which made the nature of his lecture more philosophical than religious. In response to a question on the nature of The Spirit he turned to a religious mood by commenting reverently on the mysterious nature of the Divine Spirit.

For those interested in obtaining a copy of Prof. Tillich's lecture, it will be available next.

Frat Condemns Scholarship Policy: Committee Explains Its Policy

The Archon Fraternity recently published a resolution passed in their meeting protesting the "new" policy of the Scholarship Committee. This is reprinted below along with a statement, which the Scholarship Committee prepared for the Collegian. This statement attempts to explain the policy of that committee.

This policy has been the cause of controversy at Kenyon this past fall. It is for this reason that The Collegian prints the following two items. Further comment on the policy of the scholarship committee is to be found in the editorial column of this issue of the Collegian.

The Archon Resolution

October 28, 1958

Resolved:

The Archon Fraternity protests the unethical policy assumed by the college scholarship committee of cutting the scholarships of the classes of 1959, '60, '61 and '62, without academic or financial

Original Manuscript Received By Kenyon

The original manuscript of "The Voyage Home," a novel by Storm Jameson, has been presented to the College by Mrs. J. B. Roessing of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Roessing last visited Kenyon in 1948 for the conference on The Heritage of the English Speaking Peoples and their Responsibility. At that time she presented the College with an Indian vase.

The manuscript, in book form, came in answer to an invitation sent to Mrs. Roessing to attend the inauguration of President Lund, and she is sending a message to the College to accompany the book.

2nd Advent Concert Is Set For Sunday

The Second Advent Concert, featuring choral music, will be presented at 4:30 P. M. Sunday in the Church of the Holy Spirit. The theme of the program will be "Christmas Music from Five Great Centuries of Musical Composition." Two Christmas carols of each century from the 16th to the 20th will be sung by the Men's Choir of the College and by the Mixed Choir and Children's Choir of Harcourt Parish.

All choirs are under the direction of Bexleyan F. Allen Walker who will also provide organ accompaniment.

KENYON TO HOST MOUNT VERNON AT APPRECIATION DINNER THURSDAY

Kenyon College will sponsor a dinner for the people of Mount Vernon Thursday, December 18, at Peirce Hall as a gesture of appreciation for the many services they have performed for Kenyon throughout the years.

Some 250 are to attend representing the Chamber of Commerce and the local Kiwanis, Exchange, Lions and Rotary Service clubs. It is expected that President Lund will give an informal address.

Thomas Gives Reason

Mr. William Thomas, Vice President for Development and responsible for the dinner arrangements, states, "this is strictly an opportunity for the college to acknowledge the many things the people of Mount Vernon have done for the college in the past."

Fire Assistance

He cites particularly the assistance rendered at the time of Old Kenyon's destruction by fire in 1949, and the establishment of a grant and aid fund last summer for boys from Knox County going to Kenyon.

It is pointed out, however, by Mr. Henry Curtis, President of the Kenyon Alumni Association and head of the fund, that no students are as yet receiving its benefits.

According to Mr. Thomas, the dinner will be the first such affair given by Kenyon for the citizens of Mount Vernon.

Academic Policy Revolution Begins

Revised College Calendar Under Consideration By Faculty

Under consideration at present among faculty members and the administrators of Kenyon, a revised college calendar awaits its unveiling, pending the vote of confidence which will put into effect the first of several essential steps leading eventually, it is hoped, to a successful academic-policy revolution.

Figurine of Hannah More Presented To College

A Bisque figurine of Hannah More, one of the original British donors to the founding of Kenyon College, has been presented to Kenyon by Calvin S. Hathaway of New York City.

Mr. Hathaway is the Director of the Museum for the Arts of Decoration, of the Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art. The gift was made in honor of Mr. Hathaway's father, Harry St. Clair Hathaway, Kenyon '96, Bexley '99.

The figurine was modeled by George Cocker, about 1825, in England at the Darby works. The work was done from a painting of Hannah More, by Henry William Pickersgill, a copy of which is presently hanging in Pierce Hall.

'Julius Caesar' To Be Presented

On the 6th and 7th of February, the Kenyon Dramatic Club will present William Shakespeare's Tragedy, Julius Caesar, directed by James Michael and produced by Hugh Gage. This will be the second production for the Dramatic Club in the 1958-1959 season.

In the major roles are:

Brutus	John Stanley
Cassius	David Johnson
Marc Antony	William McCabe
Julius Caesar	Lawrence Folse
Calpurnia	Calvin Furlong
Portia	Mrs. Rodger Sullivan
Eleanor Bartels

The play is to be done in modern dress.

Problems Studied

The administration has studied certain basic problems which seem to stem from the present college calendar. For example; it is generally acknowledged that the present senior students approach the senior comprehensive examinations but poorly prepared to express the sum-total of the knowledge which they have assimilated during three or four years of study in their major field. This fault, the faculty feels, is due in some measure to the fact that most students have never been offered the opportunity to correlate the material which they have learned during one phase of study with material taught in another.

The members of the Kenyon faculty are at present faced with the problem of institutionalization. Much of their time is spent carrying out duties involving excessive paper work and in advising, which time could be spent to more advantage in the classroom and in individual attention to students.

Finally, the fragmentation of the existing college year is obviously undesirable in several respects.

Proposed Changes

The proposed calendar would offer a solution to these problems by splitting the academic year into three major sessions, and ending it with a single examination in the majority of courses for the year. Specifically proposed is a school year of the same number of class and vacation days as are now utilized.

However, the Christmas vacation which is now two and one-half weeks long, would be lengthened to approximately twenty four days and spring vacation would begin earlier, lasting from between two to three weeks. Thanksgiving vacation would be curtailed to one or two days, since Christmas vacation would start earlier than it does at present.

Perhaps the major change this proposed plan would bring about, is the elimination of first semester examinations in favor of yearly exams in the spring. This would mean one grading period during the year except in those cases where certain courses are limited by the nature of the subject material, to one half year.

Reading Period

Before the yearly examination period, the college would undergo a reading period of one week

Juniors Say, "Go Boho"

The junior class has announced plans for the annual Junior Dance. Scheduled for January 10, the dance will be held in Peirce Hall from 9:00 P. M. to 1:00 A. M. The Campus Owls from Miami University will provide the music.

Theme Set

The theme that has been selected is quite literally interpreted as "Bohemian." According to reliable sources, the Boho theme has been used with considerable success on many campuses throughout the country. A highlight of the dance will be the selection of Kenyon's first (and undoubtedly last) "Miss Bohemia" who will be selected from candidates nominated by participating

New Food Committee

Elsewhere in this issue appears the first report of the newly created food committee. The committee was appointed by the Dean of Students, acting upon, we understand, a suggestion made by Mr. Allendorf of the Slater Food Service last September. The purpose of the new food committee, as stated in their first report, is to "provide students with a method for suggesting improvements in the serving of food at Peirce Hall, improving the food served there, and improving the conduct of the students."

This is very commendable. Such an organ is long overdue. In their report the committee lists eight topics on which they have taken action.

The first topic listed is that hot chocolate has been made available at breakfast. This is good, but is something that has been done for years past. Secondly the weekly menu is posted on the bulletin board. This, we think, is a good idea, even though we never can remember what it said after we have read it.

The third point was that the doors to the dining hall are now opened five minutes early to alleviate crowding at the noon and evening meals. This has helped some.

Magazines are to be placed in the lounge of Peirce Hall in plastic covers. This is something else that has been done in past years, though without benefit of plastic covers.

Buffet Dinner

The fifth point in the report is the announcement of buffet supper on Saturday or Sunday. This was tried out for the first time last Saturday. It is the cause of great controversy. Peirce Hall went all out to do their best even to white table cloths and candles. However the total effect was something less than happy. The crowd that descended on the serving tables was too much, and hence there was a long line. The food got cold before it could be served.

Whether the buffet will work in the future remains to be seen. However the idea behind it is good. That idea is to provide variety to the fare in the Commons. Mr. Allendorf told the Collegian that he wanted to change the monotony of eating in the Commons. This, he points out, is quite a problem for there is not much you can do to twenty-one meals a week to keep one from seeming just like another.

The buffet is a great deal of extra trouble, but if it achieves its purpose, Mr. Allendorf feels that it will be worth it. He added that he was not happy with the way things went last Saturday.

No Cafeteria

The purpose of the buffet is not, as some of us are loudly proclaiming, part of a premeditated plot to install the cafeteria system at Kenyon. In fact, there is an agreement between the Slater Service and the College that the cafeteria system never be installed.

The next topic that the food committee reports action has been taken on, is the lack of courtesy of waiters when guests are present in the commons and the complaint that waiters rush their tables too much. We have yet to see any change for the better on this score.

The idea of a food committee is a sound one. It can be very effective if it does its job and if we make our complaints to it rather than forcing them on our roommates and fraternity brothers.

Scholarships. Reductions?

Printed in this issue is a resolution by the Archon Fraternity protesting the "unethical policy" recently adopted by the Scholarship Committee. This has revived the semi-dormant complaints of the rest of the student body. The Collegian asked the Scholarship Committee to prepare a statement for publication. This is printed with the Archon resolution.

We interpret the Archon resolution as a protest against the cutting of scholarships of the members of the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman (We do not see how they can include the latter) classes. We interpret the statement of the Scholarship Committee, as partially avoiding the issue, giving us some very interesting information, and telling us that they don't care what anyone says, they are going to do as they wish. ("The Administration, and ultimately the Board of Trustees, is free to allocate its monies as in its judgement they best serve the interests of the college." This, we are told, is not supposed to be interpreted as we have done, but how else can you interpret it?)

It was very helpful of the Scholarship Committee to quote the current catalogue. We suspect that you can count on the fingers of one hand the upperclassmen who have seen the current catalogue, let alone read it. They are very hard to come by if you are not a prospective freshman. The most recent issue of the catalogue we could come up with was a 1957 one. In this the sentence, "Students in the sophomore, junior, and senior years are expected to depend less heavily on scholarship funds by accepting college loans and work opportunities," does not appear. This, by the way, is the catalogue that the current sophomore class received.

We find the policy of the Scholarship Committee of granting scholarship in part outright grants and part loans a very sound one. However we do believe that there is legitimate objection that the new policy should not effect those already in Kenyon. Is it really fair to the individual to tell him when he enters that he will receive so much per year for four years and then, when he is in his junior year for example, to tell him that he may have only a part of this in an outright grant and that he must take the rest in a loan? The committee is very careful to state that the student has no obligation to make use of this loan. We wonder what would happen if he decided that he would not take out the loan. Would the Scholarship Committee take that "as evidence that his need has been overestimated?" (Another quote from the catalogue.)

The Scholarship Committee justifies this by saying, "Since 1956 the Kenyon Catalogue has stated as a condition governing scholarships that the amounts of all scholarships are subject to annual review." A member of the Scholarship Committee explained this to us as meaning that scholarship stipends are awarded on a year to year basis. We opened our 1957 catalogue and found the statement: "Scholarships are awarded upon the recommendation of the Faculty Committee on Scholarships, normally for a period of four years and subject to annual review." We may need a course in reading, but we construe this to mean that the Scholarship Committee will review the stipend to determine if the need of the scholarship student has changed. We do not read anything suggesting that the student's scholarship grant should be reduced and that he be allowed to make up balance with a loan.

To reiterate, we feel that the new policy of the Scholarship Committee, that a student receive part of his scholarship in a grant and part in a loan is a sound one, but we also feel that there should be this understanding between the student and the committee when the scholarship is first proffered. We do not feel that this was done, "subject to annual review" clause notwithstanding.

We come to the last sentence of the committee's statement and realize again that this whole question is academic. "You can't fight City Hall."

Letters To The Editor

To the Editors:

Re: the article concerning the Kenyon Christian Fellowship, vol. LXXXV, No. 4, November 7, 1958; page 2, column 2.

This article included the following words: "The Fellowship decided to provide a cash prize to be awarded to a 'practising Christian' of the student body..."

I am shocked and distressed by this innocent indication of the so called "Christian" Fellowship's inverted Christian thinking. I would remind the members of this presumptuous company of a few words from the textbook of their professed religion. In Matthew VI: 16, Jesus says: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt and where thieves do not break through and steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."

Should the quotation of this verse fail to convey adequately my sentiments, I would press further. Whom, may I ask, are to be the judges of the proposed "cash award's" recipient? Does the Kenyon Christian Fellowship carry God in its collective pocket?

I exhort the Fellowship to a re-examination of its religion and the basic principles thereof.

In conclusion I would remind the Christian Fellowship of the greatest Christian sin — Spiritual Pride. — DAVID STRIDESBERG

To the Editors:

ANGLO-AMERICAN PEN CLUB

May I introduce myself?

I am a Scot, (hometown—Edinburgh) now a Civil Servant in London. During the war I was a radio operator in the British Merchant Navy and I visited America many times. I was always impressed by the kindness and hospitality shown to the Britons like myself who were thrown up on the shores by the war.

I now have a lot of spare time and so as a hobby, I have started the above Club to enable young people in America and Britain to get to know each other better, exchange ideas, magazines, etc.

I already have a long list of young Britons who are eager to make pen friends in America but my difficulty is putting them in touch with young Americans of similar interests. I am, therefore, taking the liberty of writing to you in the hope that you will bring the Club to the attention of your readers.

I am sure you will agree that only good can come from such a flow of correspondence across the Atlantic and if any of your readers are interested would you please advise them to write to:—

MR. H. HENRY,
38, Crawford Street,
LONDON, W. 1.

Trusting to hear from you shortly,

Yours sincerely,
H. Henry

To the Editors:

The students of Kenyon were once again subjected to the administration's policy. Here it is — now like it. This refers to the food service. Neither the student assembly nor the student council were consulted as to the type of food that they desired of their meals. Since Kenyon tries to be a progressive school it should be realized by the administration that at many colleges the student body almost virtually controls the college meals.

Some of the students have now joined together, with the administration's consent, and have contacted other food services. They have discovered that it is possible to have three well-balanced and well-prepared meals in one day, instead of three times per week.

If the Slater food service continues at its present level the students of Kenyon will only be forced to suffer until June, and next September better meals will be served.

Mr. Allendorf, you have these suggestions, but if further explanation is needed, think this way — one hamburger is not sufficient for a Kenyon Man.

Hesterdays

"O, Call back yesterday, let time return!" — Richard II

Student life at Kenyon has greatly changed externally, but inwardly, where life itself makes the smallest changes, the same concerns, especially with study and women, have always maintained their vigor, particularly on cold winter nights.

The recurrent preoccupation with the far away, and often idealized female, was as strong in Bishop Chase's puritanical days as it is now. Edwin Stanton, Secretary of War under Lincoln, was best remembered by his Kenyon classmates for a remarkable amorous exploit. One day, he absconded with the Bishop's favorite horse, Cincinnatus, and rode off to visit some sweet young thing. And he so frankly confessed his theft upon returning that the Bishop forgave him.

The isolated but recurrent romantic temper of the campus is also represented in the following humorous letter in an 1886 publication. The letter, as nearly as one can tell, is aimed at some particularly naive student. It goes:

Dear Sir:

I am sorry to inform you we have sold the last edition of the book called "How to make love." We express regrets at not being able to furnish the book and send you the song "Wait Till the Clouds Roll By," hoping it may console you.

Yours, etc.

Jones and Smith
Book Company.

Externally, life was as hard for the Kenyon student as for the nearby farmers during those early years. A student in 1846 describes the life: "Each student carried water from the well far down the hill, cut his own wood, made his bed, and did his own scrubbing and mending... The creek gave good fishing, the woods fine gunning and many the grand fox run that woke up the boys. Still, the stubborn debater, and the intellectual toiler, with his dirty lard lamp, was an important factor..."

And in the spring, on Maple Sugar Day, all the students and community residents worked and picnicked in the local sugar maple groves, boiling sap and making sugar and syrup. Another traditional day was "Bedbug Day," the first fine spring day when the students could air and clean their mattresses and blankets.

The intellectual life at early Kenyon consisted of much time by the light of the lard lamps and culminated in regular tests of a rather peculiar kind. A committee of venerable clergy, appointed at the annual Episcopal diocese convention, would arrive on the appointed day; the teachers would sit in a semicircle and the nervous young student would appear, alone, before this ponderous group. He would be asked to read some text in either Latin or Greek and then had to answer questions put by the professors. One student wrote of such a day that it was "so much like clock-work and the surrounding atmosphere, so restrained and oppressive that the scene reminded us of certain historical painting of the Inquisition."

Between diocese committees and student pranks, life for the professors was none too pleasant. One new professor arrived in his classroom to find himself faced by a lonely horse that had been enticed up two flights of Ascention stairs by some students. Another time, an aged and dignified

First Draft Of Proposed Student Constitution

Below is the first draft of the proposed Student Government Constitution. It was not written or intended for publication but rather to serve as an "outline" of ideas for forthcoming discussions of the Student Council.

Because it is only a first draft there are many errors in it, some of them typographical. These errors will be corrected in Student Council discussion.

The Collegian is printing this first draft because it feels that it is important for every student to be able to study this constitution from its beginnings. The Collegian believes that the students should be made aware of the proposed constitution, regardless of its current polish, as it will eventually determine student government at Kenyon.

Every student should follow the development of the constitution. Each will have questions and perhaps suggestions. These he should present to his Student Council representative.

Eventually the Student Council, when they feel that they have sufficiently discussed it, will present the constitution to the fraternities and other independent groups for further discussion. When this time comes, students should have some knowledge of the constitution.

The first draft was written by Joe Murray and Mike Spartz. They have spent a great deal of time in research for it and in study of the current constitution. This has included the study of the constitutions of a great many other schools.

The Collegian suggests that every student read this first draft, that he read the minutes of the student Council as the constitution is discussed, and that when questions arise in his mind, as they undoubtedly will, he ask his Student Council representative about them.

Article I Name

The name of this government shall be the Student Government of Kenyon College.

Article II Campus Citizenship

Section 1 Every registered student of Kenyon College is a citizen of the Kenyon College Campus, and owes his full support to its government and its best traditions.

Section 2 Every citizen of Kenyon College shall enjoy equal rights of suffrage under this government.

Article III Power of Government

Section 1 All groups organized for the benefit of student groups shall be responsible to the Student Government.

Section 2 The Student Government shall have the authority to supervise the distribution of all student activity funds.

Section 3 The Student Government shall have the power to make such legislation, resolutions, recommendations, and endorsements as are deemed necessary, and it shall perform such other acts that will promote the welfare of Kenyon College and protect its good name.

Section 4 All actions taken by Student Government are subject to the approval of the Administration.

Article IV Organization of Government

This government shall consist of the following: (1) Student Assembly, (2) Executive Department, and (3) Legislative Department.

Article V The Student Assembly

Section 1 The Student Assembly shall consist of all students of Kenyon College, meeting as a collective unit; a body.

Section 2 Meetings of the Student Assembly shall be convened by the Student Assembly President, by petition to the Student Assembly President of twenty members of the student body, or upon request of the College Administration.

(a) Meetings and agenda shall be announced at least two (2) days in advance.

(b) A quorum shall consist of a majority of the student body and must be present to carry on business. A two-thirds (2/3) vote of a quorum shall be required for all official business.

(c) Meetings shall be conducted in accordance with Roberts' Rules of Order, Revised.

Section 3 Function and Power:

(a) The Student Assembly shall have the power to review actions of the Student Council and the Student Government officers, and may invalidate and/or substitute such action by a two-thirds vote of a quorum.

(b) The Student Assembly shall elect a Student Assembly President and a Student Assembly Secretary-Treasurer. (See Article VI, Section 2a).

Article VI Executive Department

Section 1 The Executive Power of the Student Government shall be vested in the Executive Committee, which shall consist of the President and the Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Assembly, and the President and Secretary of the Student Council.

Section 2 Election of Officers:

(a) The Student Assembly President and Secretary-Treasurer shall be chosen in an all-campus election held prior to the beginning of spring vacation, and shall serve for a term of one year, beginning the first Monday after spring vacation.

1. The Student Assembly President shall appoint a nominating committee whose slate of candidates shall be presented to the Student Assembly at a regular meeting. Nominations from the floor shall also be accepted at this meeting.

2. Balloting in the election will continue until one candidate for each office receives a majority vote of all registered students.

(b) The Student Council President and Secretary shall be chosen from the voting membership of the Student Council at the second meeting of the new Council after spring vacation, and shall serve for one calendar year.

1. The President and Secretary of the preceding council shall preside over the first two meetings of the new Council after spring vacation.

2. A two-thirds (2/3) vote of the Student Council shall be required to elect the two officers.

3. If a division or unaffiliated group's representative is elected President or Secretary of the Council, the division or group concerned shall elect and send another representative to the Council.

Section 3 Duties of the Officers:

(a) It shall be the duty of the Student Assembly President to call and preside at all meetings of the Student Assembly; to act as chief executive officer; to preside over all meetings of the Executive Committee; to appoint, with Executive Committee approval, the members of the Standing Committees of the Student Council; to appoint any other committee, subject to the approval of the Student Council; to act as chairman of the Elections Committee; to see that all elections are announced and carried out as prescribed by this constitution; to administer all legislation enacted by the Student Council requiring executive action; and to serve in every other capacity usually incident to such an office.

(b) It shall be the duty of the Student Assembly Secretary-Treasurer to be responsible for and keep a record of all expenditures of the Student Government; to sign all checks of the Student Government; to act as chairman of the Financial Committee; to submit to the Student Council, on request, a written report of the state of the treasury and all other funds which he allocates; to record the minutes of Assembly meetings and to provide copies of these minutes to the division presidents, the college faculty and administration, and the members of the Student Council; and to perform any other duties usually incident to such an office.

(c) It shall be the duty of the Student Council President to call and preside at all meetings of the Student Council; to prepare, with the Executive Committee, the agenda of all Student Council meetings; to vote in case of a tie in the proceedings of the Council; to succeed the Assembly President in case of temporary vacancy or absence; and to perform any other duty usually incident to such an office.

(d) It shall be the duty of the Student Council Secretary to record, preserve, and have for exhibition to all members of the Student Council, all papers, proceedings, attendance record, and other records of the Student Council; to provide copies of the Student Council minutes to the presidents of each division, the college faculty and administration; to be in charge of all Student Council correspondence; and to perform any other duty usually incident to such an office.

Section 4 Vacancies:

(a) In case of the permanent vacancy in the office of President of the Student Assembly or Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Assembly, elections shall be conducted as soon as possible, as prescribed in Article VI, Section 2a.

(b) In case of the permanent vacancy in the office of President of the Student Council or Secretary of the Student Council, elections shall be conducted as soon as possible as prescribed in Article VI, Section 2b.

Article VII Legislative Department

Section 1 The Legislative Power of the Student Government shall be vested in the Student Council, which shall consist of: one (1) representative from the un-affiliated group (s); one (1) non-voting representative from each freshman dormitory; the four (4) officers of the Student Government; and such other non-voting members as are deemed worthy of membership by a two-thirds (2/3) affirmative vote of the Student Council.

Section 2 All persons elected to the Student Council in any capacity must be citizens of this government as prescribed in Article II, must be at the time of election in good standing, and must maintain good standing during the term for which they are elected.

(a) Elections to the Student Council shall be held at the last meeting of each division and unaffiliated group (s), preceding spring vacation.

(b) The representatives from the two freshman dormitories shall be elected as early as possible at the beginning of the fall semester.

(c) Each division, the unaffiliated group (s), and freshman dormitory shall elect, in addition, one alternate representative.

Section 3 Terms of Office and Vacancies:

(a) New terms of office for the division and unaffiliated group (s) representatives shall begin the first Monday after spring vacation; and the representatives shall serve on the Student Council until the elections of the following year.

(b) The terms of office for the freshman dormitory representatives and those members elected to the Student Council during the year, shall be co-extensive with the school year.

(c) Vacancies in the membership of the Student Council, occurring from the election of any member to a Council office, shall be filled as early as possible by the provisions of Article VI, Section 2b.

(d) A representative to the Student Council may be replaced by the elected alternate, provided that the original representative is absent for an extensive period of time, and that the alternate is approved by a majority vote of the Student Council before each meeting.

Section 4 Election Days, Meetings and Quorums:

(a) The Student Council shall establish dates of all-campus, class, and Student Council elections upon recommendation by the Elections Committee.

(b) The Student Council shall meet regularly every week during the school year and also when the President of the Student Council requests a special meeting.

(c) A quorum shall consist of two-thirds (2/3) of the actual membership (including the four Student Government officers) of the Student Council. All official business shall require a majority vote of a quorum.

(d) The four officers of the Student Government shall not be entitled to vote in the Student Council except for the Student Council President who shall vote in Student Council proceedings in case of a tie.

Section 5 In addition to the duties and powers found elsewhere in this constitution, the Student Council shall have the responsibility to determine its own rules of procedure; to require term reports from all standing committees and all agencies receiving student monies; to provide for the organization of the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes; to elect or approve all student representatives to any all-college, student-faculty, or student-administration committees; to propose any needed constitutional changes to the Student Assembly; to periodically review college rules and regulations.

PHILLIPS ACADEMY GIVES TEACHING FELLOWSHIP

The Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. announces its teaching Fellowship Program for 1959-60. This is a two year program, which includes: one year of practical experience under the supervision of senior teachers, and a year of graduate study either in the United States or abroad.

There will be three Teaching Fellowships given for this year (1959 - 1960). Financial aid will not be given to anyone towards the second year if he has already had more than one semester of graduate school.

The first year the unmarried student will receive $1500, if married $2000, room and board are also given. The fellow will usually teach two courses a week. He will also act as a housemaster and assist in extra-curricular activities. The second year fellow is given financial aid toward school, $3000 if married, and $2500 if single.

Deadline for receipt of application is Feb. 1, 1959. For further information contact the registrar's office. A.M.

M. K. A. Gets $1500 To Buy Furnishings

A request by the Middle Kenyon Association that the college purchase more furniture and furnishings for the Middle Kenyon lounge, has resulted in an initial $1,500 appropriation.

The expenditure was authorized by Dr. Lund in keeping with his promise made at an assembly last year to "meet" halfway any group that will assume responsibility for their own self-government.

Dean Edwards endorsed the request testifying to the willingness of the recently organized Middle Kenyon Association to cooperate in maintaining the furniture.

'58-'59 Deficit $94,000

This response comes in light of the college's anticipation of a $94,000 deficit in the 1958-59 operating budget and the subsequent call for less outlays for "non-instructional departments."

Concerning this Dr. Lund explains, "I think the college must recognize its obligation to provide minimum facilities and depending upon the use and abuse of said facilities to cooperate with the students in maintaining these." RAR

Fellowship To Visit Knox County Home

Last Sunday the Kenyon Christian Fellowship met and decided to visit the Knox County home for the aged. All were very much aware of the need to supply some sort of varied relief to that fast-growing part of our population who, because of their age, are dependent on society for aid. The students will have the opportunity to chat with the residents, and see what this county is doing to care for an age group which deserves much care and understanding. H.P.

Needs of Kenyon In The Next Ten Years Discussed

In its October 3 issue of this year the Collegian reported a meeting of the trustees, the Executive Committee of the Alumni Council, and various members of the faculty which was held September 20 and 21 to discuss the needs of Kenyon in the next ten years.

At the time Mr. William Thomas, Jr. 'Kenyon's vice-president' expressed the hope that, "Through this meeting the president and the people of the College will have a clearer and better way of enumerating the needs of the school."

As a part of the program three members of the faculty delivered talks on the needs of Kenyon. The Collegian is reprinting excerpt of these talks, in this and the next two issues, for the benefit of the undergraduate body and others who were not able to attend the meeting. The Collegian has also invited members of the Senior Society to write short pieces for publication describing what they feel the needs of Kenyon are.

Below are excerpts of a talk given by Professor Denham Sutcliffe, Chairman of the English Department. He spoke of the needs of all the humanities of Kenyon.

Future issues of the Collegian will carry excerpts of the speeches given by Professor Bayes Norton for the Sciences of Kenyon and by Professor H. Landon Warner for the social sciences of Kenyon as well as articles by the Senior Society.

The Collegian invites its readers to add any comments or thoughts that they might have concerning Kenyon's needs. Please address letters to the Kenyon Collegian, Box 308, Gambier, O.

T.M.

"It is my duty this morning to speak for eight departments of instruction: Art, Classics, Drama, English, Modern Languages, Music, Philosophy, and Religion. There will not be time, therefore, even if this were the occasion, for me to define or to defend — if they need either — the humane studies. Those studies have always enjoyed an honorable place at Kenyon, as at other truly liberal colleges, and it is the hope of this Division that we cannot only maintain but improve the quality of our instruction and the repute of our subjects. If we are to do that, we shall need more instructors and better physical equipment.

"The principal need of this Division, as indeed of the whole College, is for a new library. . . . The present library was built for a college of 150 men. It is now used by 500. It was designed for about twenty teachers; it now serves fifty. It was built to house 50,000 volumes; it now contains 80,000 and 40,000 more are spread all over campus. . . . The result is crowding, confusion, and discouragement. Books are sometimes hard to find and often irritatingly remote. There is simply no room for study. . . .

"I pass now to our academic needs though as I speak of those

I shall have to refer to the physical needs that accompany them.

"Three of our departments — Classics, Drama, and Music — have a single instructor. Those men, for all their abilities and their efforts (including much overtime teaching) cannot do the job that needs to be done. In the Department of Music, for example, we are twenty-five years behind our competitors. . . . If that department is to be worthy of the College, it must add a full time teacher. . . . But before we appoint a second man, we must give some attention to the equipment of the Department. At the moment it has almost literally no place in which to work and teach. Classes meet in the basement of sometimes vacate at a moment's notice because of a church service over head. On such occasions the class is held in a fraternity parlor. The department needs a place for rehearsals of both instrumental and vocal groups. . . . The department must have equipment. For example, we do not have a concert grand piano that is fit for recital performances. . . . At that moment, I am assured, WE HAVE approximately one hundredth part of what we need. We need books on musicology. We need records — as it is now, we borrow records, even for classroom use, from the undergraduates and the faculties. . . .

"The Department of Drama is in very much the position of the Department of Music. . . . It has been asking one man to do the work of two. . . . the Department of Drama needs equipment. These two needs — of an additional teacher and of more and better equipment — are necessary even if the Department attempts no extension of its services. . . .

"The Department of Art is even worse off in respect to teachers than the other departments. . . . That department has never had. . . a full time teacher. The Department would like to offer courses in the History of Art as a regular part of the curriculum. It would like to offer further instruction in the practice of painting, sculpture, ceramics, and other media. But it can do none of this without a staff and without (what it does not have now) a proper place to work. . . .

"The Department of classical studies is hampered in a similar though not equal fashion. For many years the department has consisted of a single man with an occasional assist from a part-time teacher of elementary sections. He offers major study in the department, which includes both the Latin and Greek languages and literatures, so that it is in a sense two departments. But his duties are so many and so diverse that he cannot give complete enough attention to his major students.

"Kenyon had operated, for several years, on shoestrings. As enrollments increase and competition for good students becomes keener, the shoestrings are wearing out. During the years when we were fighting for survival, the shoestrings were necessary, and we put up with them with a fairly good grace. We hope that we are no longer fighting for survival and that the shoestrings are no longer necessary. We should like to have departments of Art, Drama, Music, and Classics that could feel proud and assured of their place in the faculty and the curriculum.

"The Department of English, you must know, has severely suffered by the death or retirement of five of its members within the past two years. . . . Since those losses, four new appointments have been made of men who will, we hope, create a new but allied spirit and reinvigorate the Department. As a result of their

NEW FOOD COMMITTEE PRESENTS 1st REPORT

There has recently been established a food committee. Its purpose is to "provide students with a method for suggesting improvements in the serving of food at Peirce Hall."

The Collegian has good reasons for believing that the first report of this meeting has had small circulation among the student body and for this reason it is printed below. Editorial comment on this committee may be found in the editorial column.

November 18, 1958

Report of the Food Committee:

Members Present: Heasley, Kyle, Taft, Allendorf, Edwards, Banning To the Members of the Student Body:

In order to provide students with a method for suggesting improvements in the serving of food at Peirce Hall, improving the food served there, and improving the conduct of the students (waiters included), the Student Council has created the following Food Committee: D. Taft, J. Kyle, R. Heasley, Mr. Allendorf, as a representative of Slater Food Service, and Mr. Edwards.

The committee will report its progress to the students through the Division Representatives in the Student Council. Any suggestions which a student may have are to be presented in writing to his Student Council representative who will forward the written suggestions to a member of the Food Committee. Suggestions will not be accepted unless presented in this manner.

It is hoped that through this committee, the Food Service will be able to gather student opinion about the food and take student suggestions about improvement. Also, the Slater Service hopes to be able to explain to the students, through the committee, how the Food Service operates.

Topics thus far discussed have been: (1) waiters, (2) student cooperation, (3) variety and quantity of food, and (4) suggested new services.

Action has been taken on the following:

1. Hot chocolate has been made available at breakfast.
2. The weekly menu has been posted on the bulletin board in Pierce Hall.
3. Doors to the dining hall are to be opened five minutes early to alleviate crowding and shoving at the noon and evening meals.
4. Newspapers and magazines are to be placed in the Pierce Hall Lounge with plastic covers (as in the Library) provided for magazines.
5. Starting December 6, supper will be served buffet style. This is on a trial basis, and will be for Saturday or Sunday suppers only.
6. The small dining room in Pierce Hall is to be available for fraternity banquets on Tuesday nights, with no extra charge to the fraternity. The same food will be served as in the upstairs dining room. Any fraternity wishing to reserve the Banquet Room must see Mr. Allendorf at least a week in advance. Reservations will be made on a first-come, first-served basis.
7. The lack of courtesy of waiters (especially individual requests) when guests are present, and the complaint that waiters rush their tables too much.
8. The possibility of changing class hours at noon meals to alleviate unnecessary rush in eating. Action on this matter has yet to be discussed.

It is the hope of the committee that the students will use the suggested method in presenting their ideas on improvements in Pierce Hall service. The job of the committee is to bring a more satisfactory service to the student body; and it can only be done with the aid of the students.

Constitution First Draft Cont'd.

tions pertaining to discipline and academics; and to suggest constructive revision where deemed necessary.

Section 6 Standing Committees:

(a) There shall be seven (7) Standing Committees of the Student Council: Financial, Social, Charter, Rules, Publications, Elections, and Academic.

(b) The Standing Committees of the Student Council shall be the planning and administrative agencies of the Student Council; and they shall be directly responsible to the Student Council through the chief executive officer, the President of the Student Assembly.

Section 7 Vacancies:

Vacancies in representation created by a duly elected member who, for any reason, permanently vacates his seat in the Student Council, shall be filled by the alternate elected in the original election. Another alternate shall be elected to take his place.

Article VIII Appeals Board

Section 1 The Appeals Board shall be composed of three (3) students elected by the Student Council, and three (3) faculty members chosen from a list of ten (10) submitted to the President of the College by the Student Council.

(a) These members shall be elected in May of each year and shall serve until May of the following year. One faculty member should be a holdover from the Board of the preceding year.

(b) A list of three (3) students and three (3) faculty alternates shall also be provided to furnish members, in the case of absences of regular members. The alternates are to be designated first, second, and third alternate.

(c) The officers of the Appeals Board shall be a Chairman and a Secretary selected from the regular membership. Both officers shall have a vote in all proceedings.

Section 2 Power and Duties:

(a) The Appeals Board shall be convened by the Dean of Students, at the request of a student who wishes to appeal a decision of the Dean against him.

(b) The Board will review the decision of the Dean concerning the student; and by a majority vote, with no abstentions, the Board may recommend to the Dean alternate action in the case appealed.

Article IX Amendments

Section 1 Amendments to this constitution may originate by a two-thirds vote of the Student Council. A two-thirds vote of a quorum of the Student Assembly shall be required for such a proposed amendment to go into effect.

Section 2 Amendments may also originate in the Student Assembly by a two-thirds vote of a quorum. Amendments originating in this manner shall then be approved by a two-thirds vote of the Student Council, which shall meet within one week after the proposal by the Student Assembly. In case the Council does not provide this vote within the said week, the amendment shall go back to the Assembly. The Assembly shall meet again, not sooner than one month, nor later than two months from the meeting at which it originated. A two-thirds vote of a quorum at this meeting shall put the amendment into effect.

Section 3 All amendments to this constitution and all by-laws of the Student Government must be approved by the President of the College before they become effective.

coming we are able to revise our offerings. We have expanded the Honors program and hope to encourage more good students to enroll in it. Every year a large proportion of the graduates in English go on to the graduate schools. . . .

"The Department of English is, for once, not shorthanded. The Department of Philosophy, unfortunately, is, and it needs a third full-time teacher. That Department had for some time had the largest per capita load of students in the College. With so many students and only two teachers, it has been unable to extend its curriculum as it thinks it should. . . . This additional man is needed now and not ten years from now.

"Kenyon is perhaps unusual in having a composite Department of Modern Languages rather than separate departments of Spanish, French, German, and so on. For most of the languages there are fewer than two instructors — usually there is a man and a half. Kenyon, like most other colleges of liberal arts, requires the student to complete the second year of a foreign language. Too few of them enter with any competence. A result is that the teachers of language must give a disproportionate amount of time to elementary instruction. . . .

"One change that we all hope for is a slight reduction in the standard teaching duty. We think that duty now as twelve hours a week, though as I have pointed out, some members of this Division have long taught fifteen hours and perhaps more. We believe that nine hours of teaching is enough if the teacher is also active in other ways, particularly as a scholar. We are proud of the number of active scholars in our Division. We would like to increase their effectiveness and their number. We know, what I am sure you will grant, that active scholarship and publication not only adds greatly to the prestige of the College but also to effectiveness of the classroom. . . . The schedule that I propose, of nine teaching hours, would by no means make us unique among superior colleges; it would, rather, bring us into line with them.

"I have proposed, you see, no startling innovations, nothing designed to revolutionize American education or even Kenyon College. We are not unaware of the experimentation of the post-war years — of general education, of early admission to college, and so on — but none of those systems seem to us to be suited to this particular small college of liberal arts. Our chief concern is to improve the quality of our faculty, or our scholarship and teaching, and therefore of our graduates.

What is this stuff you're trying to hand us, Les? It is the opinion of many that you have misinterpreted the purpose of the intramural program here at Kenyon. What kind of program is it when it is designed only for those who have not enough talent to participate in varsity sports? Should it not be directed to anyone who for some reason or another feel they can not, or should not, go out for the varsity, whether that reason be lack of skill, academics or alcohol. With the new rule which you have promulgated, a boy who has lettered twice on a varsity team is no longer eligible for intramurals. Simply because they can not see their way clear to play on the team, they may still enjoy the sport, but you have deprived them of their right to play even in the intramurals. Ineligibility in intramurals for one year after lettering on a varsity is understandable, since it will prevent 're-recruiting'. However, to entirely disqualify a player from intramurals because he has been successful in a sport and can no longer participate without jeopardizing his grades is unjust. That kind of thing may be very well suited for some schools, but, although this may come as a shock, it is with a certain degree of pride that we can say that Kenyon is not one of those schools. Academics are of primary importance, Les, sports secondary. Last Saturday's game with Fenn proved a couple of things to me. The first is encouraging in that for the first time in a long time, Kenyon had a good crowd at a basketball game, more than ever turned out for a home game last year. The team actually had support and rewarded the fans with an exciting game but some pretty poor basketball. The Fenn five which edged out the Lords in four overtimes is, with the exception of one man, the same team Kenyon beat last year in the opener of the 1957-1958 season. Granted that one new man on their team made quite a difference, scoring over 20 points. But we have a new, big man, too and a fine coach to go with him. What happened? I don't know. But if the Lords continue to play ball like they did Saturday, not only will they lose the crowd and its support but also ninety percent of their remaining games.

Lords Drop Opener To Fenn, 45-42

The Kenyon Lords, under new coach Bob Harrison, made their basketball debut last Saturday night, losing a heartbreaker to Fenn 45 to 42 in the fourth overtime period.

Displaying a new fast-break offense, the Lords were ahead most of the first period by a slim margin until Fenn began using a stall in the second period. Nevertheless, the Lords, helped by some fine shooting by Chuck Bronson, managed to lead 25 to 24 at half time. In the third period the Lords, too, adopted a stall, and consequently the score was tied at 28-28 going into the final period.

Slade Ties It Up

Again in the fourth period both teams used a stall, the lead changing hands several times. Finally Fenn scored with less than a minute to go and pulled ahead 34-32, but the Lords tied it up with less than 15 seconds to go when Jeff Slade made a decisive tip-in. A desperation shot by Fenn failed, and the game went into the first overtime.

Bronson Out

The first overtime period produced no score, and Kenyon went into a second overtime without the services of their star guard, Chuck Bronson, who suffered a slightly sprained ankle. In this period Kenyon went ahead on a clutch basket by Dave Leahy and two foul shots by Slade. However, the heartbreaker of the game came when Mignoli of Fenn tied it up again in the last few seconds of the period, hitting on a long set shot from mid-court.

In the third overtime period, the Lords offset two Fenn scores with foul shots by Reed Craig and Jeff Slade. Finally in the fourth overtime, Kenyon missed a scoring opportunity and fell behind 44-42 when Behrman hit on a jump shot from Fenn. The Lords fought valiantly, but Fenn clinched the game with a foul shot making the final score 45-42.

Jeff Slade was high scorer for Kenyon with 13 points, while Fenn's Fred Davis was the game's high scorer with 21.

All Opponent Team Chosen By Gridders

The Kenyon football team for the first time picked an all opponent squad this year from the teams they met on the field this season. Coach Dick Pflieger, in announcing the team, said that it was chosen according to the individuals' all around defensive and offensive play, not merely their passing or running.

Two schools, Wooster and Mount Union, dominated the choice, placing six men and three men respectively. Both of these teams defeated the Lords, Wooster very badly. Capital, who also triumphed over Kenyon, had two men elected, while Hiram and Otterbein each played one.

The squad is: ends, Lu Wims of Wooster, and Whit Ewing of Mount Union; tackles, Dave Nelander and Ed Howard of Wooster; guards, Jack Abel of Wooster and Jerry Walker of Capital; center, Bob Gilchrist of Mount Union; backs, Bill Davis of Mount Union, Gary Allen of Otterbein, Al White of Capital, Jim Mottice of Hiram, and Tom Dingle and Steve McClelland of Wooster.

Full Wrestling Team Expects Good Season

What should be a good wrestling team for Kenyon this year matched skill with the Ohio State University squad this afternoon at Columbus. The results of course were not available at the time this paper went to press.

Lester Baum, coach of the team, has, for the first time in his career at Kenyon, a full squad, with men wrestling in all the weight classes. This is a definite advantage since a team which does not have a man to wrestle in a given class must forfeit valuable points to its opponent.

The team will hold its first regular match of the season January 10 against Bowling Green here in Gambier. This will not be an Ohio Conference match. The first conference match of the season will be January 14 with Ohio Wesleyan at Gambier.

Probably starters for Kenyon are listed according to their classification by weight.

Chase Society Holds Annual Fete For Knox Children's Home

The Chase Society held its annual dinner and Christmas party for children of the Knox County orphanage Wednesday, December 10.

An annual affair, the festivities consisted of a six-o'clock dinner in the lounge of Peirce Hall, followed by movies at Rosse Hall. After the movies Santa Claus arrived with presents for all the children. Throughout the evening each member of the Society acted as father to one of the youngsters.

The party is to be paid for by donations from Kenyon students. Each Kenyon man was asked to give one dollar to the Chase Society representative in his dormitory.

Explained President John R. Symons, "The Chase Society is an honorary service organization whose primary purpose is to promote good will between the students of Kenyon College and the citizens of Mount Vernon."

Each year at the end of the first semester, the group elects freshmen with outstanding records to become new members. A student retains membership throughout his sophomore year. J.McL.

Scholarship Policy

reasons, and without so informing the students at the time the scholarships were offered and accepted.

John L. Stanley, President Archon Fraternity

Statement of the Scholarship Committee

1. The Scholarship Committee tries in all cases to be fair in meeting the needs of students and tries with a limited amount of money available to help as many eligible students as possible.

The Committee, in its annual review of general scholarship stipends, reconsiders the needs in terms of the financial statements submitted. On many occasions it has granted increases, and this necessarily limits the amount available for other students.

2. Since 1956 the Kenyon Catalogue has stated as a condition governing scholarships that the amounts of all scholarships are subject to annual review. Prior to 1956 it was customary to indicate the total amount of an award on a four-year basis instead of the current practice of setting the stipend of a general scholarship on a year-to-year basis.

With one exception, members of the class of 1959 who have remained continuously eligible for their original general scholarship awards have received in all (due to increases) more than the amounts initially stated. The one exception has received the initial amount.

On page 49 of the current catalogue appears the statement, "In setting the stipend of a scholarship, both when it is first awarded and later when it is reviewed, the Committee gives first consideration to the candidate's needs as it is expressed in his financial statement. Students in the sophomore, junior, and senior years are expected to depend less heavily on scholarship funds by accepting college loans and work opportunities."

3. With the efforts most colleges are making to improve salaries and with the concurrent increases in funds available for loans — notably from the Federal Government — reputable colleges in general (e.g. Oberlin, Brown, Harvard, Yale, M.I.T., etc.) are requiring loans as a part of the scholarship award.

This trend may be expected to

Academic Policy

for seniors as well as freshmen. Students doing poorly in a certain subject would be allowed to drop the course at half-year, getting a half unit credit rather than a full credit of the year courses.

The faculty has taken into consideration those problems which would arise from such a calendar change, and they find that with a few exceptions the new program could be modified to cope with such difficulties as might present themselves.

It is to be noted, that in effect, most present freshman courses are year courses; the second semester's work being based upon a sound knowledge of work covered in the preceding semester.

Matters of Concern

Other matters of concern to both student and faculty member alike are being considered by the administration. Some of these problems include a general dissatisfaction with the present grading system; a program leading toward more independent study of the part of the individual student; and modifications in the present "honors work" system which might open the honors field to more students of just "below superior work."

Having been accepted in principle, the proposed calendar now awaits the final vote, which will serve to kill the proposal or bring it to realization — possibly by the Fall of 1959. J.K.R.

continue. Kenyon has been moving in this direction over a two-year period, and this has been stated as a condition in our catalogue.

4. The total amount of scholarship stipends (loans are not included) budgeted in 1958-1959, exclusive of Baker Scholarships, differs by less than $2000 from last year in a total of almost $70,000.

5. From time to time there has occurred among students the idea that a B average automatically results in a right to a scholarship. It should be obvious that the Committee makes awards from limited funds made available by gifts, endowed scholarships, and appropriations by the Board of Trustees from unrestricted endowment.

A scholarship is a gift, the money for which comes from revenue. The Administration, and ultimately the Board of Trustees, is free to allocate its monies as in its judgment they best serve the interests of the college.

McCREERY COMPLETES GRAD. REQUIREMENTS

Don McCreery of East Division has completed the prescribed course of study in seven semesters of work here at Kenyon, instead of the eight semesters normally required. McCreery, who is reading for honors in Economics, is planning to attend law school upon graduation from Kenyon.

Although he will have completed his necessary work by January 29, the end of this semester, McCreery must return to Gambier in June to receive his certificate of graduation with the rest of his class.

George Funo, Eric May and George Weida successfully passed their comprehensive examinations earlier this fall. J.H. minister was preaching at the daily chapel, 8:15 a. m., when an astonished and cackling white rooster appeared, squawking and flying about until finally captured.

Even the President came in for pranks. Lorin Andrews wrote of the winter Sunday morning when he found a pile of bric-a-brac and old furniture at the entrance to middle path, surmounted by a large farmwagon. This pile had been tossed with water and was frozen into a stony mass.

After the Civil War sports appeared in Kenyon life. Baseball began around '55, in '89 a polo team started, Lacrosse came and went, and hare and hound races were held. Boating and racing on the Kokosing, which must have been deeper then, also was popular. Two famous boating trips were made over the 500 miles of river from Gambier, to Cincinnati, one in '86 and another in '90.

In June, 1872, the first recorded Kenyon dance was held, called a "Promenade Concert." The dance, ending at 12 midnight, listed four quadrilles, eight waltzes, lancers four times, one gallop, one mazurka, one schottische and a Virginia Reel to conclude the wild night. Thus begins the first of the famous dance weekends.

Longaker To Publish Book On Role Of President

Many volumes have been written to analyze and elucidate the roles of the Supreme Court and the Congress in the area of American civil liberties and civil rights. Unfortunately, however, too little has been said about the position of the Executive in this capacity. Richard P. Longaker, member of the Kenyon political science department, intends to assist in the removal of this virtual void with his forthcoming book The President and Individual Liberties. Although the study will include some historical material (e.g., John Adams and the Alien and Sedition Acts), the emphasis will be on the administrations of Truman and Eisenhower.

Downs Decreasing; Improvement Cited

Pleased with the decrease in the amount of down reports given out this semester, Dean Edwards says that this indicates "considerable improvement over last year." This is especially evident in the freshman class: a comparatively low 47% of the freshmen received downs. Last year's figure was a high 62%. Also, there was a corresponding decline in the amount received by upperclassmen this semester. The percentage for the entire school dropped by approximately 3%.

Caliber Rising

There are many probable factors for this improvement. Perhaps the one most evident, especially in the case of the freshman class, is that the caliber of the classes may be rising. This can be attributed to the fact that Kenyon's high academic reputation allows the selection of the best students.

Undoubtedly this year's earlier rushing enabled the freshmen to become better situated in their classes, resulting in better grades. Regardless of the cause, it is a fact that there were far fewer downs given this semester than were given in the fall of 1957.

Tickets may be purchased prior to the dance from junior class divisional representatives. They will also be on sale at the door for $1.50, couple or stag. W.T.

Fewer Restrictions

Prior to World War II, America saw very little censorship of governmental activity and information, no loyalty and security programs, few restrictions on passports, and no wiretapping by Federal agencies. Problems and programs dealing with individual liberties were handled primarily by the courts and legislation; there was little Executive responsibilities for or concern with such areas. With the advent of the "Cold War" and the concomitant struggle with Russia, however, Executive responsibilities in protecting and promoting individual liberties have clearly emerged and become almost dominant.

It will be Longaker's contention that such Executive actions resulting from this shift in responsibility have been largely negative in effect. He will point out the need for new Presidential attention to an important responsibility which has otherwise been imperfectly fulfilled.

Aided By Grants

Working under the auspices of research grants from the Fund for the Republic and the American Philosophical Society, Longaker has done much traveling to gather information for his study. His trips to Washington, D. C. put him in contact with members of the Executive Department and Congress as well as with leaders of civil rights pressure groups.

Trips through the South have taken him to the heart of many of today's major problems in individual liberties. These trips plus many hours in university and government libraries have given Longaker valuable information for his analysis of the new role of the Executive in individual liberties.

The President and Individual Liberties is still in the process of being written and will be published, Longaker hopes, within the next year, or year and a half. J. T. Moore
