Archon Wins Scholarship Award For Ninth Consecutive Semester

The annual scholarship awards and elections to Phi Beta Kappa were announced Tuesday, March 10, during the Honors Day Convocation. The outstanding award of Phi Beta Kappa, for scholarship and service, was conferred upon Harley Henry and Daniel Golwyn, who were initiated on February 26, 1959. Other recent members include Fred Mench, initiated in December of 1958; and Ronald McLaren and Joseph Yourno, initiated in June of 1958.

In the college scholarship awards, South Hanna received the trophy for June of 1958 and January of 1959. The freshman award, for the year 1958-1959 went to Norton Hall.

Archon Leads

The fraternities were ranked for the last semester against a fraternity average of 2.59, and an all men's average of the same. In first place was Archon, with an average of 2.89; second was Sigma Pi, 2.74; third was Middle Kenyon Association, ranked for the first time this year, with an average of 2.64; fourth place was Delta Tau Delta, 2.61; fifth place was Alpha Lambda Omega, 2.58; sixth place, Beta Theta Pi, 2.518; seventh place, Alpha Delta Phi, 2.514; eighth place, Phi Kappa Sigma, 2.50; ninth place, Delta Kappa Epsilon, 2.49; and in tenth place, Delta Phi, 2.45. In the freshmen class, Norton Hall again leads with a 2.49 against Lewis with a 2.44.

The Bexley awards consisted of The Canon Watson Alumni Prize for excellence in reading the service, given to Robert MacGill, and The Dean Byrer Alumni Prize for preaching to Bruce Whitehead.

Scholarship Prizes

The scholarship prize awards were awarded to six outstanding students. The Robert Frost Poetry Prize, an autographed volume of Frost's work, was awarded to John F. Clarke. The Chemical

TRUSTEES ANNOUNCE POLICY INNOVATION

At the regular midwinter meeting of the Board of Trustees, on February 28, the Committee on the Future Size of the College authorized an increase in the college enrollment to 600 undergraduates after the construction of the new library and chemistry annex. This proposal would also raise the need for another dormitory.

Science Annex

The Board announced the appointment of Carl Bacon Rowley and Associates, Inc. of Cleveland to construct the new science facilities to be located at the rear of Mather Hall. This firm is responsible for Norton and Lewis Halls and the Speech Building. It is estimated that the science additions will cost $350,000.

The new library and chemistry annex are to be planned for a maximum enrollment to 750 students.

Bexley Tuition Increases

An increase in Bexley Hall tuition and room rent has been announced effective in September 1959. Tuition will go up from $300 to $400 annually; room rent for seminarians in Watson Hall will be increased from $30 to $60 per semester.

The Administration has also announced leaves for the following

Students And Faculty Discuss New Calendar

Members of the Student Council met with Dean Bailey, Dr. Graham, and Dean Edwards on March 2 to discuss questions concerning the calendar changes which will be made next year.

Dean Bailey explained that the College will still be on a semester system but that the year will be divided into three "working periods." These periods will be approximately as follows: mid-September until mid-December, January through early March, and mid-March through early June. There will be no change in the number of class days.

There will be some semester courses in introductory subjects and many semester courses among the advanced courses. Final examinations will be given in these courses at the end of each semester. The final examinations for the year courses and the second semester courses will be preceded by a reading period of about ten days.

Dr. Graham, a member of the Curriculum Committee of the Faculty, stated that one of the main reasons behind these changes was a desire to do away with certain so-called "lame duck" sessions, particularly the period between Christmas vacation and first semester finals. It is believed that the new calendar will improve the morale and efficiency of the students during these periods.

Dean Bailey and Dr. Graham stressed the fact that many problems remain to be ironed out and that many of the present plans are only tentative.

Under the new system there may be as many as four deficiency reports during the academic year. These reports would be issued in mid-November, mid-December, at the end of January, and early in April. The January reports may list tentative grades in all subjects rather than only those grades which are below a C.

Scholarships will probably be granted on a yearly basis but in some cases may be reviewed in February. Eligibility for sports may also be determined on a yearly basis or for freshmen on the basis of the deficiency reports. Should the January reports include tentative grades in all courses, these grades might be used to determine sports eligibility. They might also be used to determine eligibility for fraternity activation although the regulations concerning this are rules of the Pan-Hellenic Council and not of the College. The members of the Curriculum Committee stated that the new calendar should not interfere with athletic schedules.

In reply to the question of whether or not a student could drop a course at the end of the first semester, it was stated that it would be possible for a student to petition for permission to do so and that if permission were granted, the student would be given a final grade for the semester completed. A student dropping a course at mid-year without receiving such permission would receive an F. This grade might count only for one-half unit's work, however.

It was explained that the manner in which bills are handled will not be changed. Dr. Graham

Seven Awarded Woodrow Wilsons

Seven Kenyon students have been named the recipients of 1959-60 Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships. They are Fred Mench, Bruce Freed, Gunther Weil, Michael Glueck, Frank Coleman, John Winesdorfer and John Clarke. Harley Henry also received a fellowship but dropped out of the competition on winning a Rhodes scholarship.

Mench, a Classics major, will go to Yale. Both Freed and Weil will continue their studies in philosophy while Glueck and Clarke concentrate on English. Coleman enters Duke University for graduate work in Political Science and Winesdorfer, a Biology major, resumes his studies at Johns Hopkins University.

The Wilson grants, supporting only the first year of graduate work, are awarded annually to outstanding students interested in a college teaching career. Included in the grant is a $1,500 stipend plus dependency allowances for wife and children; the foundation also pays to the grad-

The informal dance, on Saturday evening from 10 to 2, will feature the Phi Kappa Tau's, a small group from Ohio State. They also appeared at the Informal Dance of Fall Weekend. Final arrangements have not as yet been completed for the Combo Party, which will take place Sunday morning from 2:30 to 4:30.

Flanagan, who said recently "I think the time is ripe for the American public to return to the habit of going out to dance," has long been known as having one of the leading bands in America, and his name has become synonymous with dancing. His band has been voted number one in many music popularity polls, including Billboard, Motion Picture Daily, and Cashbox.

Born in Lorain, Ohio, Flanagan has been interested in music since the age of 17. At 21 he was Sammy Kaye's pianist, and after the War he became staff arranger for Perry Como. He opened with his present band in 1951. D.W.

Steps In the Right Direction . .

To the surprise of many Kenyon undergraduates, it now appears that Kenyon's administration has no intention after all of setting up a Dean's Office to serve as a "paternalistic watchdog." Recent events have shown clearly that Dean Edwards and this College's administration are more than willing to place in student hands many matters which pertain to student discipline.

The proposed Student Government Constitution has now incorporated a judicial system whereby undergraduates will in some cases handle disciplinary matters. This, we believe, is the first step back along the road leading to fuller student participation in cases involving student discipline.

It is also now apparent that there is afoot within our fraternities and Panhellenic Council a plan which would enable fraternities to take action in cases where fraternity men have violated College regulations and in doing so implicated their particular fraternity. This idea of fraternity discipline can already be seen in several fraternities. This, we believe, is also a step in the right direction. If Kenyon's fraternities cannot in some measure show themselves responsible in such matters, perhaps, there is little reason for their existence.

Both these ideas are in their infancy, it is true. Only time will tell whether they will be put into effect. However, the fact remains that one year ago this campus saw its Student Government gasping for its final breath. Today, because of renewed student leadership and an interested administration, Kenyon, perhaps, looks forward to a Student Government and fraternity policy of which it may one day be proud.

Letters To The Editor

February 28, 1959

To the Editor:

In regard to your lead article and editorial in the February 27, 1959 issue concerning the National Defense Education Act, I would like to ask: What is the purpose of this Act?

The name clearly implies that the purpose is to increase the Nation's capacity for defense through education. The United States Government, apparently contrary to popular misconception, is not and should not be a giant philanthropic organization. It is not in the business of giving money for scholarships simply for the ideals of higher education. The purpose of the National Defense Education Act is to invest some of the Nation's money in future Strausses's, McCone's and Van Allen's, not in future Quislings.

What is so objectionable about a loyalty oath, may I ask? In Grammar and Secondary School each day began with a loyalty oath. One takes a loyalty oath in the Boy Scouts or any similar organization. When one joins R.O.T.C., applies for any government job, or applies for a passport, he must sign a loyalty oath. During compulsory Chapel, one sees even the objecting Professors, faithfully reciting their loyalty oaths. We live in the Age of the Loyalty Oath. The objections, apparently, do not seem to be against loyalty oaths in general but only against those which perhaps prove personally inconvenient. The transparent shield of the overworked phrase "Academic Freedom and Intellectual Integrity" appears to be applied only when convenient, but otherwise ignored.

To draw an analogy that is applicable to Kenyonites, what would be the reaction of the Student Body if compulsory contributions were demanded by the Administration for the purpose of awarding a Kenyon Scholarship to a person who would not state that he was not dedicated to the idea of closing Kenyon by illegal means? The indignant outrage, even from notoriously apathetic Kenyonites, would be overwhelming. Yet, our distinguished Faculty are asking the American people to do exactly the same thing. They should not be expected to contribute to the undermining of their way of life. Isn't it senseless to spend over seventy percent of the National Budget for defense, and then to spend yet more to educate people whose avowed purpose is to undermine this defense?

If the Faculty and Administration of Kenyon and Bexley feel so strongly about the loyalty oath clause, then, for the modest sum of $22.00 apiece, they can become martyrs to their cause by establishing a Scholarship, of equal amount to the federal offer to Kenyon, to be awarded to a person who refused to sign the loyalty oath for a National Defense Education Scholarship. I am sure that this would please the government, as it would save their money, the Faculty and Administration, as they would have their way, and the subversives, as it would aid their conquest of the government.

Without the loyalty oath, is this Act really a "sound investment in National Security" or just another pork-barrel project?

Name withheld on request

LUND CLARIFIES PERSONAL VIEWS

The following letter was given to the editors of The Collegian by President Lund. We are printing it as a partial answer to the editorial that appeared in this paper two weeks ago. In this editorial the Administration and Board of Trustees were criticized for what appeared to these editors as an unconscious attempt to place principles a poor second in Kenyon's refusal of any funds allocated to the College by the National Defense Education Act. The following letter expresses only the personal feelings of the president.

February 18, 1959

Mr. L. G. Derthick
 U. S. Commissioner of Education
 Department of Health, Education, and Welfare
 Office of Education
 Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Derthick:

In a separate letter, I have just explained that Kenyon College will not participate in the National Defense Student Loan Fund because the amount available for loans simply does not justify the separate administrative machinery. I should now like to express to you my personal (not institutional) objection not against the required oath of allegiance, but against the specific disclaimer of Communist or subversive beliefs. My personal objection is for the following reasons:

1. Freedom of Inquiry — In a community of scholars dedicated to freedom of inquiry, I cannot accept the principle that ideas need to be either protected or forbidden.

2. Discrimination — There would appear here to be a discrimination against intellectuals. I cannot accept the idea that only students requiring financial aid should sign the disclaimer, when international loans, welfare funds, parity loans to farmers are granted without similar restriction.

3. Finally — The stipulation itself is stupid in the sense that no real Communist who recognizes the implication of his non-allegiance would hesitate to sign. This provision, in effect, harasses only those who are troubled about preserving the fundamental principles of human freedom.

I hope that sometime you may have the opportunity to explain why some of us who consider our loyalty to be beyond question sincerely deplore this provision of the National Defense Act.

Sincerely yours,
 F. Edward Lund

Altmann Valuable Addition To Kenyon Science Faculty

Too many people think that an adequate study of an animal's habits and behavior consists of observing him in a zoo or other areas where the conditions of the animal and his surroundings are more or less "controlled." Dr. Margaret Altmann, visiting professor of biology teaching animal behavior, considers such a method analogous to studying prison inmates and then saying that the observer has a "true picture" of man's behavioral patterns. Educated at the universities of Berlin and Bonn, Germany, and Cornell University, Dr. Altmann has made it her life's work to study wild animals as much as possible in their natural surroundings, considering such a method the best way to gain the needed and correct information regarding animal behavioral patterns.

Long Hours

Dr. Altmann has turned her major efforts of study toward the observation of the social life of the wild hoofed animals, observing them for long hours at a time in their natural areas where all their actions are unmodified and unconfined. In her observations Dr. Altmann has made careful recordings of such patterns as group size, seasonal changes in group structure, spacing within the group, leadership, means of individual and group communication, reaction to disturbances both natural and man-made, sex and mating habits, and family life.

For the last three years she concentrated her study upon the moose. Prior to and concomitant to this has been her study of elk (or Wapiti)—a major interest of hers for some eight or nine years. She has also made studies of the wild boar and the chamois in their natural habitats.

Headquarters: Jackson Hole

In the past Dr. Altmann has been sponsored in her studies by both the National Science Foundation and the New York Zoological Society. For the next four years, starting this summer, she will be working under the auspices of the National Institute of Health doing observation on the role of the aging and the aged in wild animal society. Her headquarters for her research is the Jackson Hole Biological Station, Jackson Hole, Wyoming, which is operated by the University of Wyoming and the New York Zoological Society. It is from this station that she proceeds into her actual field observations.

Dr. Altmann spends her summers in the field. During the winter she teaches and lectures, basing much of her material upon the data gathered in her investigations. She feels that her primary aim in teaching should be to try to show others how to study the patterns of animal behavior and to explain what they mean to the lover of nature and the scientist alike. Before teaching here at Kenyon, Dr. Altmann held positions at several other institutions including Boulder University, Hampton Institute, Va. and Cornell University.

Administration Approves Student Gov't Constitution; Student Assembly To Vote On Ratification Tuesday

This is the proposed new Student Government Constitution. It has been approved in its present form by your Student Council and the College Administration. Before it can officially go into effect, it will require a two-thirds vote of acceptance by a majority of the student body in an Assembly meeting. Therefore, study the new features herein included, and be sure you understand the Constitution before casting your vote in Assembly. See your Student Council representative if you have any questions.

SIX ADDED TO SENIOR SOCIETY

On Sunday, March 1, the Senior Society initiated six new members into its ranks. This group included Kenneth W. Chapman, Richard A. Duke, Bruce R. Freed, Carl C. Moreland, Arnold Ostrow and junior Sam Hough. Selected on the basis of their contributions to Kenyon College, whether scholastic, athletic or other, these men represent a solid core of achievement in four years of collegiate life in Gambier.

Chapman is familiar to many freshmen and sophomores as a proctor in their dorm, where he has lent a helping hand to many an uncertain "fuzzy." Ken was also president of his sophomore class.

Dick Duke is Secretary of Student Council and has been one of the Council's most influential members. He has gained the respect of many Kenyon professors and officials.

A recently-won Woodrow Wilson Scholarship belongs to Bruce Freed, who has been a consistent academic leader.

Carl Moreland worked with Dr. Cummings during the summer, in a planaria conditioning experiment, in conjunction with his honors work in psychology. Athletically, Moreland has played football, and is the Student Director of intramurals.

Another proctor in the freshmen dorms is Arnie Ostrow. He has obtained good grades steadily, has played football for the Lords.

The junior class member, Sam Hough, was the president of his sophomore class. Although not an athlete, his presence is certainly felt at most athletic contests.

Rehearsals Begin On Future Productions

Every cast part for Trial By Jury has now been filled, with the result that a full schedule of rehearsals is underway. The soloists are receiving individual coaching, as are both the men's and women's choruses. Dr. Schwartz, the Musical Director, is carefully watching and correlating all this activity.

All rehearsals are at present being held at Rosse Hall, and shall continue to be held here until after Spring Vacation. At this point, a piano shall be moved into the Hill Theater, and all activity will center in the Speech Building.

Equipment Utilized

For the staging and sets, Trial By Jury is to make extensive use of the Julius Caesar equipment, which will make up the main part of the set with a few additions.

The Chairs, the second production of this double billing, is still under reading-rehearsal. Director Canfield and the cast want to make sure they are completely familiar with this play before bringing it to the stage. This also gives some time for the actors to become accustomed to their individual parts.

Hope To Perpetuate

Chairs is the first student directed play to appear on the Hill in several years, something the Dramatic Club hopes to perpetuate.

ZUCKER SPEAKS ON LANGUAGE OF FAITH

Two Sundays ago Dr. Zucker, of the Upsala College Philosophy Department, addressed the Kenyon Christian Fellowship on "The Language of Faith." He spoke of Faith and the ultimata there inherent. "I" must be the fundamental start of faith. A person of faith must be able to say that he or she does believe in God, and not play with reservations, and definitions of God.

That faith is God-given Dr. Zucker strongly asserted, and that it is a very solitary experience of mankind. The purpose of the church is not to give one faith, but it can show one what it would be like to have faith. Stressing the outer-dependent nature of the man of faith is the conception of the total inclusiveness of Divine forgiveness and Dr. Zucker's statement, "Jesus had no self-respect, he did not need it."

Any person who has as his main objective security cannot have religious faith. Any person who alienates himself from the ills of mankind for solution in the church does not have the first part of religious faith. Faith precedes all that declared in the Creed, and is that power before which anything in which we have previously trusted becomes questionable.

The lack of egocentricity in a man of faith, is demanded, and all existence is to be spent in living by those laws which have been revealed to us of God, and to search into that which would be an absurd void of desperation, but for one's faith.

The preceding Sunday, Reverend B. Whitman Dennison addressed the Fellowship on the subject of the purpose for the church's creation. He defined church as not referring to any particular denomination, but to "the true church which is in all the churches." With the assumption that the church was created for some purpose, and that it did not evolve, he asserted that the church has not dropped out from its creator's other creatures, but that it stayed with those people who have responded to his gift of life.

The foundation of the church is that "covenant" relationship between its members and its creator, in which the members ask not "What can I get out of the church?", but "What would God have me do?"

The purpose of the church is the large problem, in which the Creeds and Catechism play a large part in the definition of this body of believers.

In conclusion Reverend Dennison said, "The church is primarily a timed historical event which has God and man in action; who are bringing God's timelessness into time, and bringing man's temporality into eternity." Both in and out of time, a power and a demand are future events which carry with them a promise. Our own church is the answer to the demand and promise. H.P.

JOCK JOTTINGS

Bill McCabe

As the winter season comes to a close the records tell us that only one of our varsity teams has been really successful in the Ohio Conference, but that one was extremely successful, winning a decided first place in the conference. I am referring, of course, to the swimming team who last weekend swept the Ohio Conference Swimming and Diving Championships, accumulating a rare 149.5 points, almost 60 more than second place Ohio Wesleyan. The Lords exhibited their vast depth and power by taking every first place except three.

For six years now, Kenyon has dominated the Ohio Conference waterways, and it seems Kenyon is destined to continue to do so for some years to come. The freshmen on the team showed up very well taking a majority of Kenyon's firsts. Indeed the swimming team is something for the student body to be proud of, and I am sure I can speak for almost everybody in congratulating them on a fine year.

Overshadowed by the success of the swimming team, but not to be ignored, is the record of the wrestling squad. They too went to the conference championships last weekend and while they did not take first place, did well. As a whole, the team won a rather mediocre fifth. But the fact that they did as well as they did and the fact that this too is a young group indicates a promising future for the grapplers.

The last year on the hardwood has been a dark one for Coach Bob Harrison and his boys. But I do not think it would be fair to judge the basketball team on the basis of their season's record. Instead, judgment should be passed on the basis of the season's last game. The Lords lost, it is true, but the basketball they played during the first half and most of the second was something to be admired and for their opponents to fear. They did everything right. But the one fault in their game, the cause for their losing, was that they could not keep it up, they could not play well consistently.

The team is just coming into its own, just learning the game actually. However, they do not as yet have the basketball "habit," but the future still looks bright for the hoopsters. The entire first team will return next year for another crack at the conference, and while I do not believe they will win it, at least somebody is going to know they are in it.

Hoopsters End Season On Definite Upbeat

Coach Bob Harrison's Kenyon basketball team finished the 1958-9 season with two good performances, beating a strong Defiance team by a 67-55 count and losing a close one to Denison by a 67-59 score.

On Feb. 25 at Gambier the Lords defeated heavily favored Defiance of the Mid-Ohio League, in their second victory of the season. The Lords turned on the team in the last 15 minutes to outpoint the visitors 31-17, after Defiance had shaken an early second half Kenyon lead to go on up 38-36.

Slade Leads

Freshman center Jeff Slade led the Lords with 23 points and 15 rebounds, while sophomore Bob Ramsay scored 22 points. Slade, much improved since early season, boosted his season scoring average to 15.1 points per game.

On March 4, in the final game of the season, also at Gambier, the Lords came close to pulling their second upset in their last three games. Coach Harrison's boys were ahead of the Big Red from Denison until late in the second half when freshmen starters Dave DeSelm and Jeff White, each having four personal fouls, were forced to sit out several minutes.

Fouls Cripple

In this time Denison managed to pull ahead by seven points, a lead which the Lords were never able to overcome. Despite Slade's excellent shooting and rebounding, the loss of Ramsay, as well as DeSelm and White, due to fouls in the last two minutes, gravely hurt the team's chances for victory.

Outlook: Bright

With a starting team of three freshmen, one sophomore, and one junior the prospect for next year looks much brighter for Kenyon basketball. With the good teamwork these boys have displayed in addition to experience gained this past season, the team should be able to compile a winning record next year.

Up, over, and out! Kenyon freshman, Gene Ruth, is caught in the middle and toward the end of a difficult pike one and one half. Ruth became the Conference diving champion last Saturday after coming far from behind to beat Wesleyan's Poulson by 3 points.

Mermen Win Conf.; Appear Unbeatable

Last Friday and Saturday Kenyon College again found itself for the sixth consecutive year the Ohio Conference swimming champion. During the meet a total of nine records fell, and one was tied. Kenyon swimmers accounted for six of these performances, in addition to taking all but three of the first place honors. The final results had Kenyon with almost half again as many points as runner up Wesleyan, the final score being, Kenyon 149½, Wesleyan 91. Wittenberg was third and Oberlin fourth.

Ritter Upsets Poulson

The meet was off to a good start as Kenyon scored 11 points in the first event as Jim Carr and Grant Mason won first and third places respectively in the 200 yd. butterfly. In the second race, the 50 yd. freestyle, Lanny Ritter upset record setting Barry Poulson of Wesleyan to win. Ritter swam the distance in 23.5 sec., a new varsity record. Senior Dave Borman came in a close third to these two.

The third event saw Fagley of Wittenberg win the 200 yd. back stroke in a record breaking time of 2:18.3. John Binder and Fred Appleton of Kenyon finished second and third to Fagley.

Mayher Unmatched

Next, the 200 yd. freestyle was won by Phil Mayher, who lived up to pre-meet expectations. This was the first of Mayher's three individual triumphs, unmatched by any other swimmer in the meet. The next event, the 100 yd. breaststroke, was Kenyon's first one-two win combination of the meet. Larry Selman finished first, Carr second. In the preliminaries Selman established a new conference, pool, and varsity record for the event with a time of 1:11.4. Mayher won his second event, as he tied the conference record in the 200 yd. individual medley. His time a 2:23.8.

The final event of Friday evening saw the Kenyon freestyle relay team of Tom Hoffmann, John Oliver, Borman and Ritter establish a new mark in that race with a time of 3:39.2. Friday had seen four records tied or broken, and Kenyon taking six of the first places. Kenyon was well on its way to victory, as at that time the score stood Kenyon 76, Wesleyan 51.

Brown of Wesleyan

Saturday night saw more records fall as Kenyon compiled 75½ more points to round out its final score. In the first event that evening, freshman Brown of Wesleyan upset pre-meet favorite Gibbs of Oberlin to take first place honors in the 100 yd. butterfly with a record breaking time of 1:02.2; Mason of Kenyon finished fourth.

The next race, the 100 yd. freestyle, was one of the closest of the meet, with Ritter just touched out by Poulson. Earlier in the day, in the preliminaries, Ritter had established a new conference mark of 52.9 sec. for the event. Borman and Hoffman took third and fifth in that same race also.

Carr Sets Record

The following event, the 200 yd. breaststroke, saw Carr and Selman again teaming up for another one-two win. But Carr was the victor, as he established a new conference and varsity record of 2:37.6. Next, John Binder upset Fagley in the 100 yd. backstroke in the finals, although Fagley had established a new conference mark in the event in the preliminaries.

Mayher and Phil Post formed another one-two combination as they took the 440 yd. freestyle in the fifth event of the evening. The next to last event was the diving, and freshman Gene Ruth came from far behind to place a near perfect dive and scrape by Poulson by three points.

Medley Relay Record Set

In the final event, the 400 yd. medley relay, the Kenyon team of Binder, Selman, Mason, and Oliver established a new record by almost five seconds. Wittenberg, surprisingly strong, was unable to catch the lead taken by Selman and Mason, and finished second. Thus Kenyon's Lords were again clearly the best in Ohio Conference swimming. By winning this meet, the swimming team rounded off a successful dual meet season, in which they had defeated all conference opposition.

Ray Memorial

Two awards were presented at the Monday night sports banquet, although the recipients were not known at the time of this writing. The two were for the most promising freshman swimmer, and a new award for the most outstanding swimmer during the year on the entire team. The latter award is being given this year for the first time as a memorial to one of the great Kenyon swimmers, Dan Ray, who died tragically last spring.

It is to be awarded to the swimmer, regardless of class, who has shown the qualities of leadership, sportsmanship, and athletic ability. J.C.

Phil Mayher, John Oliver, and Tom Hoffmann, three outstanding freshmen freestylers, pose at the edge of Shaffer pool. Together they accounted for seven firsts during the Conference Championships, Mayher winning three and Oliver and Hoffmann both participating in Kenyon's winning relay teams. Mayher was named the most promising freshman swimmer at Monday's Sports Dinner.

Seen above is Kenyon freshman, Jim Carr, who Saturday set a new Conference and varsity record in the 200 yard breaststroke. Carr also placed second in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Lord co-captain, Grant Mason, nears the finish line of the grueling 100 yard butterfly race. Mason was part of Kenyon's medley relay team which set a new record by almost five seconds last Saturday.

Honors Day

Chemistry, to David Larkin, Mathematics to Robert Howell, and Physics to Harry Spain, Jr. The Lubrizol Prize in Chemistry for the year 1958-1959 was awarded to Dean Gibson and Stanley Huff. This award consists of $50.00 in cash.

Bookshop Awards

Eleven students were presented with Bookshop Awards, $10.00 in credit at the College Bookshop. The students were Richard Dickey, Daniel Golwyn, William Hartman, Robert MacGill, Robert Mason, Jr., Charles Williams, Carl Moreland, Joseph Murray, Christopher Speeth, Frederic Walkar, and Gunter Weil. These awards are presented for specific papers, outstanding in reference sources and literary content, and for outstanding performances in laboratory construction, the fine arts, and creative writing.

In all, eighty-four students and graduates received scholastic awards and honors, and one hundred-fifty-five students were named to the Merit List for the first semester 1958-1959. F.L.
