Comments:

This is a tiny, Crystalline hacha made of dark green stone. The entire piece is lightly smoothed.

The most polished part is the blade. There are chunks taken out of the piece small sides & on the butt end.

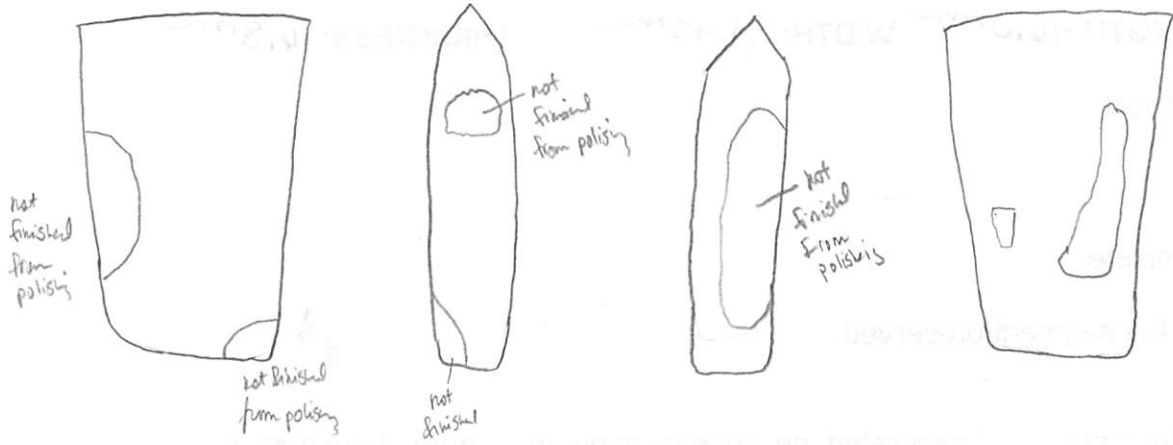

The butt end is rough to the touch. The blade is sharp to the touch & looks like a V. It runs straight & is centered. Nicest edge part was seen - not rounded or crushed.

Some of indentations from knifing have not been smoothed out

Colors in - lines / platy, not streaked.

Faded blade - suggests to Pat that blade edge has been reground.
