This is part of a multichamber candelero with one complete chamber and evidence of at least 4 more. The complete chamber is fairly round w/ a vent hole in the exterior wall. All of the chambers have rounded bottoms and rough walls. The whole thing seems a bit roughly erected. Though the curved ext. wall + flat base are fairly well smoothed. All the chambers show burning at the bottom and more like fireclay toward the top. Temper is visible on the surface.
