The shape of this object is approximately: triangular - square - rectangular - oval - tear-drop - other (describe):

~~15%~~ 10cm 15% curvature

The margin/edge was chipped to form the item: y-

The margin/edge was deliberately ground to smooth it: y-

The margin/edge is smoothed from use: yes

There is other use wear visible: y-

Trace the item on the reverse, both frontal view and profile, and show where there is use.

Describe the use:

x, y, z display similar use markings under each point on the interior (x is slightly more so as w/ a side T). Use does not extend to exterior and edges are nicely rounded.

The type-variety from which this was made is:

PN

Comments:

T = Rock temper pres.

Exterior has NO USE MARKS!

x, also displays some smoothing into the margin slightly further than the 1/2 way that y, z show.
