Trace the item on the reverse, both frontal view and profile, and show where there is use.

Describe the use: this was a pot stand consisting of part of a jar's neck and shoulder. It looks as though this piece was used as a scraper after the pot stand broke. The edges of the neck and shoulder are worn and rounded. The exterior has a few (5) blobs of tan clay on it.

The type-variety from which this was made is:

Comments:

I have flattened the item's curvature in the drawing to show use wear
