Bacon Baby Finally Gets Banner Box p3

Is there Really a BIO 69? p5

Peirce Hall Etiquette p7

The Kenyon VOYEUR

Volume HMM, Number 1/4
Established 1949

May 1993

Why do you care?

Tuition Increase Discovered Up President Jordan's Nose

By Snow White

In a news-breaking discovery, The Voyeur's crack investigative reporting staff has learned that the recently announced tuition increase will go to support President Phil Jordan's out-of-control drug habit. The Observer thought that it had blown Jordan's cover when the charging women, who was being used to pay for increases in faculty and administration salaries, but The Voyeur, noting the obvious connection, said, "It's the whole thing of cover. I mean, they've been parroting the site ever since.

It was discovered that on his walks the president would go off Aam, his loyal companion, to Dean of Housing Stewart FitzGibbon III behind the football field complex where they'd stay. P.I. then projected eastern half of the field house. Slipping inside after the president, our faithful reporter discovered that the building has been returned to its original purpose, now housing Jordan's private Lear Jet.

Seemingly brushing the fabric, the reporter detected the president conversing in rapid New York with a contact in the John Gotti drug ring, planning a rendezvous at his estate in Bolivia. Although assistant to the president Mary Endy had him scheduled for fundraising appearances in Washington D.C., where he is to meet with former Marion Barry. Also scheduled were visits to the University of Virginia, where the president was to give an address on Greek life, and New York City, where he was to interview John DeLorean for a possible honorary degree in Chemistry.

His wife, Sheila, says, that, "this explains Phil's frequent violent mood swings!" Adding, 'he really had me worried. He was always the rock of the family.'

As a result, the ARA budget will be returned to its former elegance, providing candy, fresh herh, and tea for all the students on a regular basis. Dean Stewart FitzGibbon will be transferred into the Witness Protection Program at the end of the academic year. The Voyeur's exclusive contacts in the Federal Bureau of Investigation say that he will be relocated to Wooster College. Jordan himself has released his resignation from the College in a statement read by a spokesman today in Sucre, Bolivia. According to the release, Jordan will not be returning to Kenyon. However, he will face extortion, smuggling and murder charges in relation to the activities of the ring operating out of Cromwell Cottage.

Chaplain Accidentally Runs Over Rabbi

In a bizarre twist of fate, Chaplain Foster Ran Lenny Gordon over with his scooter last Tuesday at approximately 5:06pm.

Gordon, director of IPHS, was discovered in front of Timberlake House clutching a copy of Jane Eyre. "Did you get the plates of that scooter?" Security had a mystery here, and one they determined to solve swiftly. Their only clue were the large fish indentations Gordon now had on his forehead, and the fact that eyewitnesses saw the red scooter put away.

with Chaplain Foster on it. Security, using their extraordinary mental resources could not piece together the puzzle left behind by the mystery man.

Gordon was rushed to the hospital by Security, where he was treated for mild bruises, and the fish tattoo on his forehead was surgically removed.

The mystery man, who the reckless driver of that red scooter of death could have been Security quickly returned to the scene of the crime. After a week of clues the crack team turned up a old can of Colt.45 beer, a grumpy mouthguard, a Bible with Chaplain Foster's name in it, and a chewed pencil. Security, believing they had found a piece of evidence overlooked by campus security, started analysis on the pencil immediately.

Chemical tests proved the fact that Ellen Markoff, also of IPHS staff, was the owner of that pencil and was quickly put under arrest. Just as Ellen was being slipped into the puddy wagon screaming, "I would never run Lenny over with a scooter, perhaps a Mac truck, but never a scooter" Chaplain Foster turned himself in.

Chaplain Foster during interrogation later that day did admit, "I was going at excessive speed, almost pulling 15 miles per hour." Upon further questioning it was revealed that, "I was riding around campus see CRAZED CHAPLAIN page two

Unclaimed Herman

In what at first seemed an archaesthetic phenomenon of benevolence and god will, Stewart Fitzgibbon, in a plea for aid request from President Jordan and the College, has demanded that the unclaimed Herman House be given to the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Stu requested that this housing change be in put in effect for the 1992-1993 school year and that it remain in effect indefinitely. President Jordan's first reaction to the proposal was, "Why don't we just draw up a contract, sell it to them, and then just kick them out at a later date, if we feel like it? That plan seems to always have worked in the past."

Stu however felt the need to do something special for the group he came to know as "any boys."

Fitzgibbon was quoted as saying "I always felt so damn bad for those boys. They should be allowed to "reclaim their space."" Of course just doing his job as a good public servant who has been violated. Do you know that those poor boys can't even destroy their house and plaster their hallways with the Greek symbols giving to them.

Ex-circulation manager of The Voyeur Hillary Davis has often complained of being oppressed by independents in his artistic endeavor to re-spiritualize the DKE lounge furniture.

"I don't see how those independents can feel they have been disrespectfully treated. It's a pretty stressful guy, and this kind of activity is a therapeutic release that helps to keep me relaxed."

She feels it's about time the College starts giving back to an organization that is consistently giving to them.

"After all, my boys provide hours of public entertainment for the inhabitants of Big Mall and Manning. Where else can you see television, fish tanks, (Name some more thing)plunge four stories and culminate in an explosion of shattering....

Also, without my shinned-footed look from the West Wing, freshmen girls wouldn't have much of a social life. Dave Sieversten is a valuable asset to the Administration stuff; he is, alone is responsible for entertaining for 30 plus freshmen girls. Who knows, without Dave they might have transferred."

Stu also pointed out to President Jordan that there are some practical aspects to his proposal as well.

First-off Herman House seems the perfect housing solution for those over-social, all-inclusive Ex-Lambada boys. Because if as projected, their current rate of 2-3 pledges per year continues, by the year 94 the eight man Herman House will be the perfect site.

The DKE's are pleased about Stu's proposal. One member responded to the proposal by saying "Trudy is a perfect Jordan in a panic if he doesn't go for it."

The DKE's give many reasons for their support: First, they feel our our home away from home. I guess now the only difference is we just won't have that long walk back in the morning. Several DKE's nodded their heads in agreement.

Logistically as well the Herman House is perfect for the DKE's. One DKE thought it was a great idea because it would keep him in close contact with the majority of his friends who live in Watson. "I always felt alienated living way down South, when all my really close friends live up here in Watson. Sure I had the status of living in "the wing" but honestly what's that worth these days?"

Padded Resume Leads to Penality

Last month President of BHI, Bryan Alexander Olson was taken into police custody for resume fraud. Olson was caught by the U.S. Senate who found his false resume along with an employment application and other documents from the defendant Lincoln Savings and Loan organization.

Among the fake documents found on the resume were President of the Committee to Celebrate the Bicentennial of the Bill of Rights, and Editor-in-Chief of the non-existent Kentucky Journal.

Olson's claims to have sponsored lectures, debates and essay contests in honor of the Bicentennial at Kenyon College, however nobody seems to remember participating in any of these events.

Olson failed to bring forth any evidence of the above mentioned events.

Ex-girlfriend Joyce Ticozzi was asked to testify on Olson's behalf; however she declined saying, "It's not my job to protect his reputation."

In fact, only one witness could be produced to corroborate any of Olson's "Bicentennial activities."

Eric Lawrence Alexander, secretary of BHI, and fellow member of the supposed "Bicentennial Committee," attempted to testify on Olson's behalf. However, Alexander's testimony was stricken from the record after he was held in contempt of court for responding to the judge's request to use his few words in his sentences by repeating: "Just because you liberal bastards are all simpatico, you don't expect me to degenerate to your inferior plateau of dialectic competency, thus compromising my innately preeminent intellect."

Olson, realizing that his case was futile, changed his plea to guilty. And in a moving address, issued a plea for mercy to the jury and confessed that not only were the activities falsified with an intent to mislead future employers, but they were a desperate attempt on Olson's behalf to "reduce" more of those status hungry Theta's.
Don't Trample on Tradition

To some, the Kenyon seal deep-set in the floor of Petrie's foyer is barely noticed. To many it is a revered part of tradition, one so important, in fact, that a sole picker has taken up residence on College Park Boulevard. This croader has become a spokesman in a campaign that he calls "Don't Trample on Tradition," in which he asserts the golden-leaf seal should be completely avoided by his gay peers."I'm not saying I'm against it," he says. "But I'm saying you shouldn't trample on it."

This frac boy deserves the support of the entire community. It is abominable that he is still alone as the protector of one of the last bastions of queer-edness. It is a symbol of the integrity and strength from which so many of our Lords and ladies draw inspiration in their long, hard, but prosperous struggle for the American Dream.

Yet others are completely disapproving of this, our college seal. "The way that these insensitive ingrates walk through Petrie with their heads in the clouds and scoff its sentimental shine is what drove this masked man to his lone 24-hour vigil," (It's another sad commentary on the state of affairs here that the man must rumble himself because he is afraid of further persecution.)

The seal is more than just another piece of stone, the architect's crowning glory. It embodies what Kenyon means to all of us, and in more meaningful way of the length of time it has lasted. Hundreds and hundreds of hardy Kenyon men, and some ladies, too, have veered around the seal out of reverence. The mojolos at the Vyeber before all the ostracic roommates who have sought respect for something so steeped in tradition are just one more complaint to add to the list of problems that make this school decay with age, instead of ripen, like a good bottle of wine.

Cheers to the anonymous Greek who walked up alone, the first foot anchored in the past, trying to link us back to the glory days of Kenyon when Kenyon was what it should always be: a rich tradition, exemplified most by the sight so common now as in years past. A young man, books in hand, bundled his coat around in Petrie Quad and heaved a sigh as he faced the snow. As he trudged across campus against a backdrop of gothic architecture. The bell rings out behind him never-again chiming of K jetzting Parwell.

How to Really Fk With Your Roommate

- Twitch a lot.
- Seal a fishma. Fill it with beer and dump it into the roommates' faces.
- Speak in tongues.
- Walk and talk backwards.
- Spend all your money on Transformers. Play with them at night. If your roommate says anything, sell him/her with a straight face, "They're more worth the eye."
- Get a computer. Leave it on when you're not using it. Turn it off when you are.
- Buy as many back issues of Field and Stream as you can. Pretend to masturbate while reading them.
- Smile. All the time.
- Burn all your waste paper while eying your roommate suspiciously.
- Hide a bunch of your shirt and Hoo in the bottom of a trash can. When you get hungry, root around in the trash. Find the food, and eat it. If your roommate emergency the truth before you get hungry, demand that she reimburse you.
- Pray to Azaor or Szorazar: Sacrifice something nasty.
- Whenever your roommate wakes up, wait one minute and then stand up. Announce that you are going to take a shower. Do so. Keep this up for three weeks.
- Array thirteen toothbrushes of different colons on your dresser. Refuse to discuss them.
- Shave one eyebrow.
- Put your magnets underneath your bed. Sleep down under there and pile your dirty clothes on the empty bedtime. If your roommate comments, mutter "Gotta save space," twenty times while twitching violently.
- Put all your books with the spines facing the wall. Complain loudly that you can never find the book that you want.
- Give him/her an allowance.
- Listen to radio static.
- Open your window shades before you go to sleep each night. Close them as soon as you wake.
- Put "Healer Skelter" by the Beatles on infinite repeat on your CD player.
- Whenever your roommate starts to talk to you, say, "Wait a minute! You're being a jerk!" Then, take out a tape recorder. Record all of your conversations with them. Play your favorite passages back often, while offering commentary on their performance.
- Chuck on the carpet.
- Open the window. Stick your head out. Look around. Close the window. Repeat every two minutes for one hour. Deny that anything unusual is going on.
- Leave a mint on his/her pillow every morning after they make their bed. Pretend to have Turrts syndrome.
- Dealphabehize things.
- Use a tape measure to discover your roommate's head size.
- Buy Play-Doh. Perform vodka rituals with it.
- "Show I'm not the drugs, I haven't taken any.
- Play with Jello. Use a feather duster and/or Cuisinart as needed.
- Dip coffee.
- Aerobize. At 4:00 AM.
- Walk on the ceiling.
- Pretend to be a Snagglethorpe. Make machine gun sounds. Drop bombs. Mince wings. Tell your roommate, "You can't see me;"
- Constantly adjust the thermostat.
- Turn all furniture in the room upside down. When your roommate asks what happened, say, "It fell!"
- Change your name. Refuse to respond to the old one. Make him/her guess what the new one is.
- Hold seances. Exhibit paranormal powers. Display a bust of Nietzsche.
- Have a cocktail. Indoors.
- Keep telling them the same joke. Never reach the punchline.
- Put a desk on your roommate's desk. Put a desk on your roommate's floor. Repeat each sentence as many times as there are words in the sentence. Accent a different word each time around.
- Explode.

Women's Rugby: Same Record as Field Hockey, But No Sticks, No Articles!!!!!!!

ATTACKS ON THE EDITOR

With a Wave of the Magic Wand, SC Comes Through

To the Editor:

In exchange for all of the sucking up they have done this year (great job, by the way; Katie was really impressed), it is our pleasure to inform you that you have now made almost all of the money you asked for in your budget for next year.

We had to make a few alterations, however, because we felt that you just weren't completely faithful to the sacred process of budget making, especially in this, our year of recession. We know that you'll understand.

First of all, we really let you exceed the Observer's food/drug budget of $15,000. After all, we have to rely on someone for a small amount of coherence every week.

Secondly, although we do know how much you depend on your hi-tech computer equipment (even if we don't understand how it works), you absolutely may not have 10 new "fancy" Macs for next year. We've allotted you VAX terminals instead (SS was very happy to comply), and you'll just have to make do. It shouldn't be that hard, right?

We did, however, add $50 so that you could print our minutes every week. Next year's secretary has promised to do a better job of even mentioning bringing in a tape recorder so she doesn't miss anything important. Maybe you could print it instead next year? (Since we probably agree on most staff anyway...)

One more thing—would you please take your poster-sized picture of Dieter down from your office wall? It kind of makes us nauseous. Thanks.

Love, All your friends in government, Student Council

Editor's Note: Hey thanks, folks. And while we're thanking people, our managing editors really want to thank you for the work you did on the housing lottery this year. They said to let you know to feel free to drop by their humbled abodes anytime next year, just down the hill from Petrie...

Bob Calco Explains His New Glow to All of Us

To the Editor:

You know, I just wanted to let you know about the change I've recently made in my life. It means a lot to me, even though it doesn't really seem like much to all of you. I feel like a new person, and I want to share it with everyone.

Just the other day, I went to the library because I couldn't think of anything else to do. I went down to the A-M department and rented a few video. I didn't know which ones to get, but the nice girl behind the counter just smiled at me and handed me over a few. I got two lectures that for some reason I didn't hear about. I guess I was too busy writing you naughty all those letters! Ha.

Anyway, the first one I saw was a really long tape of this bearded guy reading poetry. He did some singing too, and there were these two huge dances on the stage with him. I'm not sure that I really understood what he meant,. (and during a couple of the songs, I)

The Kenyon Vourer

Editor-in-Chief: Leona

The Kenyon Vourer is published every Thursday while the College is in session, except when we really don't feel like putting out. The contents of this magazine do not reflect the views of Kenyon College. Yearly subscriptions are $200; checks should be made payable to Student Council. If you really want to disagree with us we'll accept letters to the Editor, which may be submitted through the VAX, or sent to the Kenyon Vourer, Good Commons, Gambier, OH 43022.
Crazed Chaplain

continued from page one

as usual when out of nowhere Lenny walks right into the road with his nose in a book.

There was a cat on the other side of the road, and I had to choose between running Lenny over or the cat. I think you know what my decision was. When asked whether this was premeditated Chaplain Foster replied,

"No, no..., if there wasn’t an animal on the other side of the road I would have swerved and aimed for something else, maybe a Freshman."

Chaplain Foster had his hands lightly slapped for reckless scooting, and was issued a warning by Sheriff Bob, who had been at the Dole eating a donut at this all was taking place.
FEATURES

Overheard

"We have enough guys in this school who are story tellers. I don't think we need to bring anymore in." —Amy Kover.

"my brother and his woman... oops" —Kelley R. Ragland

"This game [IBM SimCity] is better than sex." —Matthew Schwab '93

"All we pay is insertion!!" —Dave Allan

"Have you seen Mike Donovan?" —Scott Leder, washed, to Mike Donovan at a KAE party.

These two events, and a couple of technical ones, led to an increase in innovation. And some new ideas, some innovations were bad ideas and others forced banks to change, when ever something is forcing something else to change, there is usually pain involved, this was no different.

Bobbo, on very little sleep, during fall finals...

"He's crazed — what a fucking loser!" —Dave Whiting '93 on David Horowitz, former 6th radical, brought to Kenyon by the Observer

"He was way out in left, uh... right field." —Matt Schwab, also talking about David Horowitz.

"Who's Dave?" —Jan Bartlett

"Dave, are you going to keep dying your hair blonde? What, didn't you blush at it?" —Amy Kover on the occasion of Diamond Dave's Haircut 10/7/91.

"I love carrots. You can do so many fun things with them." —Hilary Vonckx

"If he's got a penis there must be something wrong with him." —Kenzie Young.

"David Duke did not turn me on at all." —April Garrett

"I'm male and 21. Even the pirate's ass looks good to me now." —Chris Comas at the Cove.

"These two idiots standing out on the lawn." —Dave Allan in reference to the Renaissance Man and Woman.

"I thought so..." —Jan Bartlett in response to the alarming news that turtles do actually have fur on the inside of their shells.

"I've been in love with you for four years... (Insert name of female member of the Class '92)—Scott Leder, drunk at the Cove, drunk at Weaver, drunk at..." —Isn't he dead yet? —Merdish Cronan, about Mr. Rogers.

"I used to want to be Modusa..." —Paige Shalter

"Leave me alone. I'm networking" —Ted Holder

"But it's not always horizontal..." —Dave Allan

"Bart Simpson is cool. Floral is not." —Kate Weiser on tanga fashions.

FILMS

The Delta Phi Fraternity and Women's Network are co-sponsoring a pornographic film festival to be held in the D-Phi lounge located in the basement of Hannah. Refreshments will be provided by Women's Network, and a discussion group, mediated by Harry Clor and Harry Brod will be held in Crozier Center directly following the festival. Below, Professors Clor and Brod, preview the festival entries.

They Came at Midnight

In watching this film, I suddenly became aware of the stifling role of the middle-class worker in modern rural America. This movie en- disguises you in its subtle yet witty plot based around two perky twins, "Roc" and "Vixen." The interplay of these two in combination with stunning cinematography plunges the viewer into the psyche of a teen-ager on edge. Roc's character is aggressive, forceful, and wanton. Vixen's character is an obvious metaphor for a distraught America trying to stand tall in a bleak global economy.

This film succeeds in captivating the entire audience. After previewing the film several times, senior Vonnie Lymsum up takes the film's engaging effect, "I thought it was fascinating, it made me laugh, it made me cry, it made me all hot and bothered. Did you know I'm an extreme feminist?"

White Men Can't Ukrainian

This extended-length feature film, a favorite of Supreme Court justice Clarence Thomas and his protege Derrillez Janey, explores the cultural stereotypes surrounding the state of male genitalia.

Dave Morgan's wide angle lens beautifully captures this throbbing drama, which traces the nocturnal missions of two young men. Peter "Pinkie" Small and Neil "Kness" Johnson, explore the implications of living in a society where male identities are inextricably linked with the performance and formation of their penes.

This epic piece is a sure fire hit at the box office. Its piercing cultural commentary will probe the dark spaces of the thinking man's consciousness and its deep and moving plot will engage even the most passive of audiences.

TOP 10 ACTIVITIES THAT WOULD LOOSEN KENYON UP

10. Change Psychology comp to Rosehart Ink Blot tests.
9. Every Tuesday in the KC: Tom Jegla Live!
8. New bookstore theft policy - not only do you have to check your book bag at the door, but your clothes as well.
7. Two words: London Broil (Oh-sorry, that's open Kenyon up)
6. ARA workers line up the spanking machine for everyone's 21st birthday
5. Switch Phi-Kap, DKE letters — then take your book picture.
4. Secret committee finds out that Harry Brod is not only the Hair Club President — he's also a client!
3. Kicks open Spring concert with melody of Englebert Humperdink.
2. The Cow blows up — and is replaced with a real bar.
1. Poly Sci Defense strategies requirement replaced with best 2 of 3 in Electronic Battleship

TOP TEN REASONS TO DRINK AT THE COVE

10. Large 2 and 4 person tables create a special friendship atmosphere.
9. Diverse music selection
8. Corinigan brothers wit and charm keeps it packed.
7. Two words: Friendly service.
6. Crowds at the V.I. just too overhearing
5. Drinks
4. Where else can you find the whole freshman class drunk?
3. DKE
2. Chance to chat with the two pillars of the athletic department — Dave Diggs and Coach P.
1. It's not just the best bar in town it's the only bar in town.

TOP TEN ARTICLES BOBBY VOTH WANTED TO SUBMIT TO THE VOYEUR

10. Voth's Almost-Olympic Experience
9. Jeffrey Dahmer Recipe Book
8. Ten Best Things about Jen Reyon
7. The Art of Time and Organization
6. How to Deal with a Napoleon Complex or Voth's Guide to Getting Along with Ethan
5. Bobby's Favorite Venerable Disease, Fried, Boiled or Baked.
4. How to Wear Shorts without Hypothermia in January
3. Phil and Sheila's Ten Favorite Positions
2. Uproar in piracy among the Pa-U's
1. Wearth Construction and Maintenance

TOP TEN PLACES TO FUCK AT KENYON

10. Athletic Fields
9. Post Office
8. Fourth Floor Gallery—Mather
7. Library Carrels
6. Peice Tower Roof
5. Voyager Office
4. Great Hall
3. Chapel of the Holy Spirit
2. Bolton stage
1. Play castle in the Bookstore

TOP 10 THINGS YOU MUST DO BEFORE GRADUATION

10. Anything and Everything (during Senior Week)
9. Drink at the VI
8. Walk to Ian's
7. Moon light treble-jumping in the nude
6. ARA food tray lave
5. Grow a little
4. Deliver a pizza to Crowell Cottage
3. Complete a checklist of the "Top Ten places to fuck at Kenyon"
2. Tell "Monopoly Mike" to fuck-off
1. Stay over night in the bookstore
Register Early!: Supplements to 1992-1993 Course Catalogue

ATTICOSY 79: Wealth and Power II

In this sequel to the ever-popular Wealth and Power, the sociology department has granted Professor Macrae's request to have himself as the textbook. Ranging from early childhood to the six-plus planning homes he builds, Macrae's rise from simple logger to ridiculous upper-class will grace with sensitivity, creativity, and sanity. Labs included will be a ride in his Ignis. Rolls, and the 'Vette, various trips to the bank to sort up funds for his child, after an ever popular Macrae pin, where his students get to tour his house, kiss his ass, and get a B.

PH50: Phallic Symbols of the World

This sophomore-level course will raise your knowledge of the erection of world’s largest and most powerful phallic buildings. Erected masses such as Washington’s Monument and the Eiffel Tower will foster the student of growth in the area of these buildings. Running foot up to area buildings include Kenyon’s dormitory and Mount Vernon’s Hall for Moment. Permission of instructor recommended.

DOIL 69: Nature of the Organic

With the obvious fact that the multiple orgasm is a female-dominated event, Dr. Javors plans to crush all male hope thereafter in achieving any Pleasure in the final climax. From leaving men high and by in class to denying them “special” lab use, the orgasm will be denatured from a safe female perspective to: “Sorry, Bill, I do this on my own.”

Prerequisite: Bio 6 and/or genetics.

CEM 16: ARA London Broil - Molecular Breakdown

From dissection to the historical study of this hearty piece of meat, this class plans to investigate and identify the myriad of diseases which comprises one of ARA’s most irregular treats - and speaking of regular, all in class will, once a semester, offer up paid in one of the following: cramps, constipation, intestinal hoisting, goat, or the runs.

Woosley Receives CIA Service Award

Kenyon College’s Office of Security and Safety received the best news of the year the past week: Assistant Head of Security Tommy Woosley had been awarded the highest honor for detective work, the CIA’s Distinguished Service Award.

“Well, uhm, I’m overwhelmed,” said Woosley from his hallway office in the moment of Stephens Hall. “I’m greatly honored, and I’m sure everybody’s really happy for me, too. They know I’ve got a confidence problem, and this’ll really help.”

Woosley’s award stems from his work on a load noise that was heard near the empty Apartments last month.

“You see,” Woosley said, “Tommy Ton Davidson, head of Security and Safety, was busy with that great phone system of his and Sherif Bob was busy buying number of miles. But there was a noise, one that immediately resounded. Taking Butch, Dee, and Darryl, the five officers that actually contribute to the maintenance of Kenyon, off the scene, Woosley flew over to the Belknap Apartments. Then, after sending for backup from the state highway patrol and the state’s national guard, Woosley carefully stifled the air: ‘Gunshot.’

“It had to be, I just know it,” replied Woosley. “I’m blessed with a great nose, and I can smell trouble a mile off. I knew this wasn’t no firecracker or cat backfire, cause the air smelled kinda wet.”

Woosley then thoroughly searched the area, finding sticks, leaves, empty beer cans, flip tops from the seventies, and a few discarded party invites. No bullet shells were found, but Woosley remained steadfast in his calculations.

After filling numerous reports, Woosley went home for the evening, and, dined by the horror of hearing loud noises on a college campus, didn’t really get a good night’s sleep. After days of further research, hours of detective work, Woosley still had found no real evidence.

Yet last week the C.L.A. presented Woosley with their highest award, for the words of C.I.A. assistant director Robert Woods, “He gets a D for detective work, but an A for effort.” Woosley plans to split the award, a $5.00 McDonald’s gift certificate, with his dog, Safrey.

The Village Inn

Complete with new pitcher prices of only $6.50!

New Hours: Common Hour Happy Hour
11:10 a.m. - 11:30 a.m.
(President’s Open Hour—No Appt. Needed)
Wednesday Night
9:00 p.m. - 9:05 p.m.
Lynn’s Back!!

KENYON INDEX

1. Number of bars currently licensed to serve alcohol in Gambier: 1 1/4
2. Number of Collegian Circulation Managers: 22
3. Number of “dedicated” Observer editors-in-chief still attending Kenyon: 0
4. Number of Kenyon Journals published this year: 4
5. Number of students who begged to be ’92 Reveille editor: Ed
6. Number of students who got stoned with Ginsberg: 200
7. Number of Jewish professors leaving College: all
8. Number of people who know about Spring Riot: 4
9. Number of letters Bob Calco wrote to Collegian: 15
10. Number of Bob Calco’s letters that were worth printing: 0
11. Number of Psi Us without hate: 0 1 (sorry, Ryan)
12. Number of times VAX went down this year: 428
13. Average number of e-mail messages received per day: 22
14. Average number of important e-mail messages received per day: 2
15. Number of senior girls who wear cowboy boots: 180
16. Number of Kenyon Students who wear Birkenstocks or Teva: 1300
17. Number of members of class ’92 entering with Financial Aid: 236
18. Number of members of class ’92 still receiving Financial Aid: 6
19. Average height of men’s rugby team: 5’6”
20. Average height of women’s rugby team: 5’6”
21. Average height of men’s rugby team without Bob and Ethan: 6’0”
22. Percentage of copies made at the bookstore that are actually paid for: 4%
23. Number of times voice mail installed: 2
24. Ratio of Freshmen to Seniors at an average fraternization party: 6 to 1
25. Percentage of male students at Kenyon who are jealous of the Coke: 84%

GRAND OPENING CORRIGAN PLAZA

Opening Day Festivities--
Free key chains for first four customers
Free Coke
Can-a-bler’s Second Location (by popular demand)
Bring this ad and high school ID... receive canopy American for just $14!

20 New Stores
Weatherhaven II—latest pirate fashion
Cove’s Collection Records—always in stock
Jimmy Buffet, Blues Brothers, Black Crowes, plus your favorite Cove employees newest hits

All night--girls, girls, girls! Featuring your favorite Dell women!
SPORTS AND LEISURE

NCAA Busts Lords Soccer Program for Recruiting Scam

Associated Press

Yesterday, the National Collegiate Athletic Association levied the harshest penalty in Division III history as it banned Kenyon's Men's soccer program from competing for two years. The so-called "Death Penalty" was issued after a six-month investigation, concentrating on the recruitment of three key players and their actions while on campus and the Lord's recent ascension to prominence.

The allegations, released in a four hundred and thirty-page report yesterday, specifically cite former assistant coach "Merciless" Randy Mercer's recruitment of Senior Kevin Mills, Junior Mike Donovan, and Sophomore Neil Ivey. The reports showed that Mercer provided Donovan with a brand new van. The van, which is known as the "love-mobile," was equipped with three kinds of lighting, one for each of his girlfriends. Ivey, known by many as one of the last men on campus, received personal excuses from Mercer in mist class. Ivey, on Mercer's instructions, told his Political Science instructor Professor Goldberg that he broke his nose for one excuse. Then, after missing the next class, he told Goldberg that he tripped and landed on his nose, thus needing an inspection from Dr. Schener. Mills, who was recruited from England, demanded from Mercer that he receive weekly shipments of his favorite bathing soap and massage oil, called The Lovely Lads. As Lovely Lads soaps and oils can only be ordered via direct phone contact to the factory in England, Mercer was on the phone a lot.

When questioned at the press conference, current head coach Mike Pilger denied all charges.

"Look at me, I drive a piddling little red rocket. Do you think I could afford a van with three light styles? I've only got two, off and dim..." Pilger declared. As to the toilery charges, Pilger responded, "Soaps and oils? Oils and soaps? Maybe that's a hint the law is in Russia, but... I never knew anything about it nothing. That rascally, good for nothing Mercer..."

On the charges against Sophomore Neil Ivey Pilger responded, "Are you kidding me? The kid went to six sociology classes last year and still got a B-. Besides, he's not that important."

Pilger went on to express his feelings for the NCAA's investigation, "I tell you, they (the NCAA) are worse than the IRS, the KGB, and the commission on student life all rolled into one. I mean there's no regulation on them. And they are their own judge and jury. I am a personal friend of Jerry Tarkanian's and I'm gonna fight this all the way. He's got a few tricks he can teach me, and if I don't win now, I can make it last at least until my kids have graduated."

After Pilger's tirade, he left the conference room in a cloud of disgust, as the chief investigator of the case, Dick Hen, took cover.

"First of all, I'd like to say that in all these years of investigating I have never seen a program run in this fashion. Not only were the players given special considerations, but we have reason to believe that several players were also using anabolic steroids under the guise of the coaching staff. Although we can't prove it yet, a second investigation will look into the matter."

Athletic Director Bob Bennett, disturbed when he heard the news, "If we had only kept a low profile and not worn so many games, I think this whole thing was never going to happen."

Widely asked about the mood on campus, Junior Gordo "240" Walker said, "They're just not looking for it. Everybody knew they were getting perks. Are you joking?! (9-0-1) They had remained in mediocrity like the rest of the sport's men. It was just never going to happen. Ppppbbt, Brrr, and Zzzzzz..."

Former assistant coach "Merciless" Randy Mercer was unavailable for comment. He is currently the head lacrosse coach at a small Pennsylvania school that shall remain nameless. However, his secretary reports that coach Mercer had left unexpectedly for South America to visit his ailing second cousin, twice removed.

---

Letitia's Rules of Peirce Hall Dining Etiquette (by Table)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>N.</th>
<th>B&amp;H</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>M.</td>
<td>Basketball</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>L.</td>
<td>AΦ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>K.</td>
<td>Swimming</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>J.</td>
<td>AΔ</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>I.</td>
<td>Del-Rocoru</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A) ΨΨ
1) Males only, unless you're a girlfriend
2) Baseball cap required (no dip cups at the table)

B) AKE
1) Absolutely no women allowed
2) Women may smile coyly from adjacent tables
3) Women allowed no other forms of communication with table occupants

C) Penalty Box (AKE)
1) For those AKEs who dare to speak to members of the opposite sex during meals
2) 2 minutes for speaking to women
3) 5 minutes for physical contact with a woman

D) AΦ
1) Only khakis allowed
2) "Observer staff"
3) Pat Jones, Bert & Dave are exempt from #2

E) B-2
1) B-2 & fellows only
2) Sometimes D.J.

F) ΑΑΕ
1) Open seating
2) Sensitivity
3) Extensive Computer Knowledge

G) Sophomore Girls
1) Wanna be Phi-U girlfriends

---

February 30, 1993
What day is it?

Jeanne Dixon Lets Loose on Kenyon Sports Scene

By Susan Russo

Bill Jonas is currently playing on the women's professional tennis circuit. Although throughout his college years he dreamed of someday facing the likes of Serena and Venus Williams, Jonas (a 1978 graduate of Kenyon) has already earned in excess of one million dollars, has won 3 tournaments and is ranked number two in the world. When not traveling the circuit, he enjoys being a regular at the Wimbledon hotel. McEnroe, the man for you who played in each of the last 5 years, is hoping to return to the states as a member of England's squad in the 1994 World Cup.

In the All-American T.42 End Stan McCabe is presently employed as an aerobics instructor in White Plains, NY. working with the New York Mets. On weekends he can be found at the Stony and under water basket weeping. When asked what he misses most about life in Kenyon, McCabe replied, "I miss the camaraderie of a community based on the advancement of intelligence." McCabe promises an exciting B.A basketball career with the Detroit Tigers to take reading and writing classes at Finley Junior College Community. The batting average is going well for Plymouth, so he reported to the Voyeur. "I have learned a lot about how to stress important points in a well written and well researched postcard."

Sophomore Dave Griffin, who once told, "I'm too new for my golf club," has his high school years early to pursue a more actively appealing career in weight-lifting. Calling this his "day off from the ladies Rugby squad" is currently rippin' cattle on the Montana plains. When asked how he got involved with her new profession as an athlete, he replied, "With my knowledge of the Russian culture and ability..."

Sports Staff Bolts From the Tower

Thursday the Voyeur's sports tournament, turned itself autonomous from the rest of the newspaper. It will continue to be published in the same format, but the sports editor will no longer be responsible to the editor-in-chief or the managing editors. The bloodless coup was said to be the result of mounting animosity between the sports department and the rest of the paper. "I'm pretty disappointed with them holding back," said sports editor Amy Lover, "I mean who are we picking to edit the paper?"

Out going editors are Todd Tamar Garle and Amy Lover. They seemed depressed. "I told you it was coming. Even since that Theta Xi/Logan comment, the sports department has been at the bottom," added Tamar Garle.

Sports editor Ryan Helf is the biggest rebel of the revolution. "I couldn't stand it. I'm a volunteer," he said of his resignation (former sports editor Scott Loder) was putting up with. "I mean they had no mercy, always insulting him. He finally quit to work for the DKE (the Dean's Key)." Furthermore, I happen to think that The Voyeur is a fine publication that should be strongly supported. It's bad enough they put out the second and seventh page. I demanded respect and they just wouldn't put up, to secure a boyfriend for long periods of time. I was a natural for the position. Plus, the $.62 an hour personal recommendation Professor Joseph Klesner," Sullivan added that on the side she teaches rugby to the local children.

Bill "Boog" Powell is flourishing in the LILL (the Long Island Lacrosse League) with the Southampton Bolts. Boog is just great at anything he does, and is leading the league in penalty minutes. This season alone, he terminated the careers of three would-be defenders. He's a simple game, the ball is either in or out. Jen Reynen, former women's Soccer Captain is being promoted from a position of CEO of a new insurance company. Reynen is ecstatic because the claim's "finally somebody really recognized something other than weekly ads."

I'm sick of it. Now look, I'm more successful than he is. What the hell is the LILL all about?"

Bob Vob, former Rugby Captain, Wreck builder extraordinary, and heir to a fortune, had fallen asleep during that phone call back in '90 has given up on all of his future plans. The Voyeur reporter Jeff Casenova spoke with a pair in a khaki of short-shoring Reynen's graduation and promotion. "Now that she's such a big shot she'll really ignore me. I'm afraid the weekends ever wanted was to kiss her. I thought he was afraid of Bill before, but now he'll really keep her from throwing anything at me," Reynen explained. "I'll be hanging out on the rest of the Hermian House. I know they'll all look up at me during football season because I told them that I would lay the plumbing in their new homes after graduation. Sorry Jen, you made me want too long."

Erica Wolf, another of the Women's Soccer Captain's has taken up playing the "Killer" profession. She and Rugby player Jen Bartlett will be starring on TV's American Gladiators doomed in purple spandex with matching glow-in-the-dark water pistons. After their guest appearance as Gladiators the two will team up and become professional hit people in Brooklyn. "I want to catch the rest of the Coastal Crimes."

Jay Taylor, a hard hitting defensive player of the Voyeur's legendary career at Kenyon, is currently the starting wide receiver for the Ohio Glory in the World Football League. "You'd be surprised what a burst a little tar can give you in a spring event," remarked Bill.

Along the same lines, Kristina Baker is a newly hired and proud spokesperson for Ponderosa Restaurant. Baker is responsible for vigorously pursuing individuals search for prospective eating establishments to choose Ponderosa. "Don't have a clue there he said. There are way too many restaurants in the area."

Karriecher will spend the summer checking McConnell's restaurant near the Ford Motor Co Plant. near Detroit. Heather Craig, meanwhile, will spend the summer in Gambier learning how to..."

Leder Snags Distinction Through Sex Scandals

Sports Editor Scott Loder left the Hill in humiliation this morning. Loder was accused of scanning distinction on his History course by sleeping with half the department.

The entire History department is shocked with the news of this scandal. According to department head Peter Rutkoff. "I don't know how he did it. I must say that I am extremely impressed. I mean even Ellen! Wow! Good going Loder!"

The accused Casenova Loder claims that he is humiliated by this incident. However he does not deny the allegations. He says that they were himself in the room. Dishonor would be the only way to explain this situation."
I
KM
CO
2

Undersome, Meeting lately their New no "Into have Under the one so attempted doors 409 doors was are -- -- -- be are -- -- -- The ARA Merrill has the result last 5580 previous to Jordan of Kenyon has asked for help with the Anderson Cup elections. She has been too busy lately with other obligations with the Thetas and as an R.A. Ms. Merrill, Ms. Cooper, Ms. Miller and Mr. Baker each volunteered to run the elections.

- Ms. Cooper has received another bill from the maintenance department citing student damage to the grass on the rugby fields last week. It will be costing Council $142.78 to repair the grass. Students are reminded that this money will have to come out of the student activities fee or 409 account, once money from the 607 account is transferred to the 1721 account which was previously the 5580 account.
- The results of the security and safety poll show that only 35% of Kenyon students lock their doors at night. However, when in the presence of a member of the opposite sex, 98% lock their doors at night. Council motioned for co-ed housing, strictly as a safety precaution.
- Ms. Merrill attended a big MAAC meeting where many different community members discussed ARA issues.
- President Jordan has announced that because of pressure from students, the tuition will not be going up 9% next year.
- President Jordan has also announced that the student activities fee will be slightly more expensive next year at $2,126.00 per student. (Har, har, har. You're a Kenyon student and so are you and you are too. You're all Kenyon students! Har, har, har.)

New Business
- The Mather RAC has been awarded Residential Area Council of the year. Unfortunately, no one was present to accept the award.
- Ms. Merrill finally unveiled her secret agenda concerning Multicultural Affairs.
- Under the plan, M3 envisions a campus where people of both genders and different ethnicities, greek and independent alike, will live in peace and harmony. Council vetoed the plan.
- Freshman Council members informed Council that they have kidnapped Ms. Grube and have sent her far away. When approached, Ms. Grube asked them, "Are you having a bad day?" and attempted to give them hugs.
- The Senate has just announced that from now on they will be meeting yearly.
- The Office of the Chaplain will be sponsoring a sexual awareness program entitled "Into the Sheets".
- ARA has announced that cow rides and a lard toss will all be incorporated into this years M.L.K. week.
- Greeks Council will be throwing a "Shock Your Brother" party in the KC this Saturday. Greeks are asked to dress up as individuals.
- Members of the Kenyon ARA have locked Pierce Hall and refuse to turn in their keys. The administration has decided to turn Herman House into a new dining hall, similar to Gurd in concept, and ask that we stop asking questions because we are not ARA workers and can not understand their oppression.
- "On the go and under stress, without a bike I'm just a mess!" Vehicular theft will be the theme surrounding this Thursday's "Take Back the Bike" march. Students will march down the Kokosing Gap Trail Bike Path, outlining their beloved bikes in chalk as they go.
- Mr. Lustig, a guest, informed Council that Common Sense will be sponsoring the only Presidential candidate to speak at Kenyon this year. Miss Piggy, author, actress and expensive lecturer will speak at Rossie Hall this Wednesday at 8:00p.m. She is best known for her seven year stint on "The Muppet Show." Ms. Pig is the first female puppet to appear on the ballot in all 50 states.
- Ms Miller announced that a discussion group will be held this Tuesday entitled "Six months after the week after the day before Naomi Wolfe."

Vacuum Report
- Mr. Pilgrim informed Council that a garage has been constructed behind Manning to house the Manning Vacuum Cleaner.
- A 24-hour Vacuum hotline has been established for student use. PBX DIRT.
- The vacuum will be rented to students pending identification with a student I.D. and U.S. passport or birth certificate.
- A fee of 25 cents per vacuumed yard has been established to help pay for the upkeep of the vacuum.
- Violators of Manning regulations will be taken into custody.

Topic for Discussion
- Council continued their discussions concerning constitutional revisions. Ms. Cooper presented Council with a ten page proposal from the Business and Finance Committee outlining revisions. Mr. McCarthy disagreed with the proposal, stating that it gave too much power to the Business and Finance Committee. Ms. Cooper responded. Ms. Woodard apologized for referring to another Council member as bitchy. Mr. Parson asked them to quiet down as Mr. McNulty was sleeping. Ms. Dennis suggested that Council consider reorganizing similar to Freshman Council where the Vice President also acts as the President, Secretary, and Treasurer. Ms. Miller suggested we talk about grapesnut. Ms. Keating wanted to talk about Pornography. Ms. MacLane wanted to talk about Mr. Donovan.
- A motion was made and there were many abstentions. Council probably didn't have a quorum, so they revoted. The vote showed that the majority of Council did not know what a quorum was. The motion was seconded and tabled. It finally passed with a majority opposed to the motion which was a come-over-here-type-gesture. After the vote, Ms. King had a few more things to say.

The meeting ended at 6:37. The next meeting will be held Sunday at 6:30p.m. in Hel. The topic for discussion at the next meeting, which was to be Student Apathy, has been postponed indefinitely.

Reluctantly submitted,

Philander
Philander

Finally
- Mr. Thomas, who has not spoken a word all year, had something to say. "Thank God it's over"