President Search

Prospective Candidates To Visit By December

By Peter Meyer

Candidates within the next two months, the final choices of the Presidential Committee will visit the campus for talks with students, faculty and administration officials. Cathedral ParkSa "Sheetrock," the prospective presidents with the College and give the community a voice in the final selection made by the

The Journalists on the Committee are: John Reardon, President of The Edison Company, the Right Reverend John H. Burt of the College of the Midwest in Ohio, David W. Heywood of New York, E. T. Bolling of Chicago, E. G. St. Lary and Burt, and John G. Smale. President of the Princeton and the National University. William Reed, Director of Personnel at Princeton University, is the alumni representative and Professor A. C. R. Clark, head of the music department. They are conferring personally with the students, probing the campus, and trying to be in as much contact with the students as possible.

According to a report presented to the 186th faculty meeting, the Committee is in the process of selecting the final candidates. Those still deemed insufficient will be invited to the campus, as more arrangements can be made. September 16th, ten applicants had been interviewed.

According to the report, "Fifteen evaluations of the several candidates will be sought from any campus community, but the Committee will have welcome individual impressions and evaluations, and will regard these as valuable additional information to be considered by the Committee." Before the visit of each candidate, the times will be announced when undergraduate and graduate administration will be able to meet with him. At the same time, a short summary of background information for the students and individual candidates will be made available.

These final candidates are the result of a long process which began last year, with 355 suggested names. Of those, 25% were declined, 375 were not judged to meet the standards of the Committee, and 40 were placed in a temporarily "inactive" category.

The tentative date for presentation of the final report to the Board of Trustees is December 19th.

Arson: A Possibility in Two Weekend Fires

By Tom Ford

Two weekend fires on campus are currently being investigated for the possibility of arson.

Donald J. Omanah, Director of Student Housing, said that the local Fire Chief is presently investigating a blaze which occurred in the McBride residence Monday morning. This report has not yet been made public, but it is certain that the fire began in the trash can in McBride in the laundry room.

On September 21st at approximately 2:00 a.m., the McBride fire was deemed "temporarily inactive" by the炎热's investigation. A student whose name was not released, went to the Fire Chief on the night of the fire and to Mr. Omanah the next morning to tell him of his suspicions.

"We have no doubt that the fire was completely accidental," said Mr. Omanah.

The second fire, which occurred Monday (Sept. 20), is being investigated as possibly related to a student dormitory fire last Saturday evening.

The McBride dorm fire alarm was activated by a local detection device approximately midnight Saturday. The blaze, according to Mr. Omanah, began in trash bags stored in a basement hallway by the Maintenance Department. The fire did not spread, but the smoke was enough to require the use of face masks by fire fighting personnel.

Mr. Omanah said that they are considering a possible link between the two fires this weekend.

Arson "is always something we have to look into," said Mr. Omanah.

"Comment sense would tell you that we are looking for connections." The McBride fire alarm was set off by a hallservice device in the basement, set to work at 12:50

Saga Releases Budget Figures

Saga Releases

By Elizabeth Polish

SAGE dog tag show, on the theme, "Sage's budget canceled."

The SAGE budget tag show, on the theme, "Sage's budget canceled," was scheduled for December 2nd. The opening of the show is scheduled for December 2nd.

Fireguard Programm Begins 3rd Year

By Tom Ford

"OPERATION FIREGUARD," a program to promote fire safety practices and advance cooperation between students and the fire department began its third year Monday, September 30.

The plan calls for volunteer instructional teams from the Fire Department to meet with groups of students to explain how to reduce the chance of dorm fires. The method used to report fires, what to do in a case of fire, how to use the extinguishers, how to evacuate buildings and how to work with the appointed student fire wardens in our building.

Donald J. Omanah, Director of Student Housing, said that he hopes the plan encourages students to report fire hazards and faulty equipment to his office so that they may be repaired.

Thomas S. Edwards, Dean of Students, said that he had hoped that student attendance at the meetings would be good, but this was not the case; they would be rebooked.

At the first Fireguard meeting students were informed that Dean Edwards had stated that if a good attendance rate was not achieved, there would be some difficulty obtaining party permits.

(Con't On Page 5)
Decision At Wounded Knee

After roughly 210 days, the trial of the two American Indian Movement leaders, Dennis Banks and Russell Means, came to a paradoxical conclusion. The two were charged with conspiracy, arson, and assault in the siege of Wounded Knee, South Dakota. The charges were dismissed by U.S. Judge Fred J. Nichols because government misconduct in the trial led to the seizure of an official's papers. The accused made a "mess" of the entire trial and "stooped to a new low" by completely disregarding the judicial system.

Unfortunately the issue of whether or not the two Indian leaders had in fact illegally seized the village of Wounded Knee, never surfaced before the jury. The case was thrown out. Ironically Means and Banks, by persevering throughout the trial, demonstrated more faith in the judicial system than the U.S. Government did.

This case only emphasizes the growing need for a complete and thorough investigation of the Justice Department and the FBI. It wasn't too long ago when government misconduct did result in the dismissal of charges against Anthony Russo and Daniel Ellsberg in the Pentagon Papers Trial. Essentially, one begins to question the responsibility of the officers of our most fundamental institution. The bedrock of Justice has been undermined in a country that claims to be a land of laws, not men.

Saga's Performance

As in the past, saga has lived up to its reputation of responding to criticism with immediate action and resolution of the problems at hand. Last week Saga re-opened Dempsey Hall so that crowding could be eliminated after one p.m. They are to be commended for this action.

Handling Controversy

The last issue of The Kenyon Collegian was indeed a controversial one. We have fielded comments and criticism from many students and we sincerely appreciate their presentation to us, in the form of letters to the editor, their feelings regarding its contents.

We are dismayed to note though that the administration and members of the faculty have expressed strong dislike for that issue and yet in both cases failed to make that criticism public by writing letters to the Collegian. If facts are wrong we deserve to be reprimanded but when articles are dismissed as irrelevant and the writer refuses to point out its errors, we can only conclude that their changes are without validity.

Letters To The Editor

The Kenyon Collegian encourages letters to the Editor. All submissions must be typed. The editor reserves the right to reject material while maintaining the original intentions of the particular submission.

Fraternity Presidents Protest Gross Misrepresentation

To the Editor

We feel that there is a problem that, for the good of all, should be corrected as soon as possible. General opening pledges, a release of the last issue of the Collegian in that state, of Kenyon's rather, fabulous newspaper, should be a newspaper which reflects both the intelligence of the reader and the quality of the paper. The problem here is that the paper has not lived up to these expected standards. The authority of this letter is the reason for this double trouble. First, the failure of the Collegian staff reporters to adequately follow this given agenda, completely report and, secondly, failure of the Collegian editor to, in any sense, validate or substantiate all material for articles published in this paper. Thus, the result is all the Kenyon community is taken under the title "The Kenyon Collegian" in a newspaper whose credibility gap being perpetuated by the College Administration.

So, on behalf of all you, the following example will stand in a case point. We cite the article "Pledge Rites in Loring Brothers 111," published in the last issue of the Collegian under the auship of one, Nore Pomerantz, as well as the destructive point of view. We do not wish to expend the necessary effort to read and attempt to comprehend the Kenyon College Student Handbook. Miss Pomerantz perpetrated an incredible piece of misinformation upon the non-affiliated media and the Collegian with regards to pledging procedures in this year's F.B.I. program. It is unfortunate that the editor of the Collegian also found the Student Handbook to be such a deficient piece of literature. Hence, this piece of science fiction was published for the unsuspecting community to digest as News Analysis.

Science Fiction:

1. During the ten week rush, pledges are allowed to hold as many parties as they see fit. Pledges are allowed to invite hundreds of parties, picnics, and other activities will last until Thanksgiving, when each interested student will indicate his interest in participating in the rush, and order of preference—he or she will be assigned one pledge, at the same time fraternity will make up lists of those students they wish into their fraternity, the lists will be compiled, and the pledge, designating a fraternity to each pledge, in the few weeks between Thanksgiving and Christmas, pledges and fraternities will get to know each other better, and during this period each pledge will decide which, if any, of his or her choices be would like to join.

II. Bidding Procedure

A after a few weeks, freshmen interested in affiliating with a fraternity shall have placed his or her name in some of up to four fraternities of their choice. These cards should be sealed in a sealed envelope, and the envelope shall be submitted to the resident advisor of each hall (Can't On Page 5)

Yellow Journalism

At Its Best

To the Editor:

With regards to the September 26 issue of the Kenyon Collegian I was one of 450 students here at Kenyon and I represent 1,450 collegiate students and the people of Gambier who see fit to express their feelings. The need for more coverage of the "1,450" is obvious. Kenyon College was not the only school to read the last issue of the Collegian, I feel that we should have our say on that opinion. Your last issue was without question the most accurate and correct of the examples of yellow journalism that I have ever read. You seem to forget that the student editorial is for the editorial page and that the facts of a story are to be presented in an fair and accurate manner. Also the wisdom in your story selection I feel has something to be desired. I do not see more stories as in point in:

In "No Knock's Room Surveys Announced By Omahas," the title is fair enough in an overall good reporting. As a RA in Waterson, Mr. Omahas has assured me that Mr. Jacobs will indeed knock also. Also you might wish to know that RA's or house managers will go around with Mr. Jacobs. Does this sound like a "No Knock's" action. In " paraphrase of DKE's Feel I can respond to this story. One that you. well we spend a good deal of money on rush. But, as a member of the fraternity I can assure you that if of every five kikes we see, about two are interested in their are independent fraternity. The title of the story was so clear and completely stated that it is exactly what the front page. Mr. Pepper's name and the front page is that just at the expense of the students for the story. The place for such an article is on the editorial page. In "Highway Safety: Laughing Matter?" do you recall what a laugh

September 26, 1966

S. Scott
Peirce Comments

"Aracida As Marshmallow"

By J. A. Glisz

Call me a purist, but I have spotted an unfortunate trend in the way plays are presented. This is not a case of "Sagas" actors now being sportive what to be army surplus.Ne targets, b) Sayr's flappers and other potent personalities hke from their books such as Middle Bacon. c) As the净 has been moved, and e) & super, there has been serious hghting about getting people back to the Middle Bacon. d) For a new ambient, unfurnished atmosphere this is well on the way.

And after we have all been over before each result pouting for five grand per year to our pet next door?] systems, who can blame the folks in charge for wanting to make life as happy as possible. Of course I am not saying "if we want evidence - what is the use?"

If one looks towards a more equitable form tutelage no longer must be a herat cough of the wilderness, there are too many voices, kinds of voices heard around here. For every peace of mind we should settle on one type of ortho and chop down the others. They must be fitted with birds of the same feather to keep them from sticking to each other. Whereas impossible to make all the buildings look alike very soon. It will be a great relief when we are able to paint the buildings with the proper colors. That can be found elsewhere.

We simply wish to present a sampling of one or two of the many films that are one of these famous men at the Kenyon College Laboratory.

By Richard S. West

Edward McMasters Stanton at the age of 13 arrived at Kenyon in 1831, during its early days when Philander Chase ruled the day, unconnected College. He was immediately invited to treat the subject of the young campus. "The main center street (Middle Path) of the town was a broad, obsolete walk pocked here and there with muddy holes between which clumps and bushes appeared at odd intervals. At one end of this magnificent thoroughfare stood the Kenyon College, almost completely obscured by trees."

Luther R. R. Raper, Stanton was "high-spirited and original," undoubtedly more in pranks than have been recorded," wrote President Philander Chase in theasket.

Stanton's financial involvement in the Philadelphia Commercial College's finances is not new. His financial support of the college, almost completely obscured by trees, was substantial.

In 1908, a feature length silent film of the first ten years of the film was released. The film, which was produced by the Hearst Corporation, is considered a significant achievement in the history of New American Cinema.

Introducing the New American Cinema

By Edward Heyman

The New American Cinema is a movement of independent filmmakers, many of them young and fairly original, who have rejected the limitations of mainstream Hollywood filmmaking. They are creating films that are often experimental and avant-garde, but mostly films that simply express the very real frustrations of people who are not exactly making movies.

The New American Film Festival was founded in 1972, in New York City, by a group of filmmakers who were tired of the traditional industry, and decided to create their own. The festival quickly gained a reputation as a platform for experimental and avant-garde films.

This year, the New American Cinema was, as always, the highlight of the festival. The screening of "The Last Wave," directed by Peter Weir, was particularly notable. The film tells the story of an aboriginal lawyer who helps his client win a case, but is haunted by a spirit that guides him through the legal system.

The festival ended with a screening of "In the Dreamtime," directed by John Powers. The film is a fantasy about a group of young people who escape from their oppressive society to a utopian world.

Gambier Experimental College Underway

By Fred Lowen

The Gambier Experimental College, founded in 1831, is a school where students can teach or take courses in a variety of subjects. The college is located in Gambier, Ohio, and is currently located on the campus of the University of Cincinnati.

The college was founded in 1831 by Philander Chase, a prominent abolitionist and member of the anti-slavery movement. Chase believed in the idea of education as a means of social change, and wanted to create a college that would prepare students for leadership roles in the struggle against slavery.

Gambier College was founded in 1831, and it quickly became a center of intellectual activity. The college's founders were committed to the idea that education should be a means of social change, and they worked to create a curriculum that would prepare students for leadership roles in the anti-slavery movement.

Today, Gambier College is a small and highly selective institution that is renowned for its commitment to excellence in teaching and learning.

Our Famous Alumni (Part 2)

Stanton's Political Beliefs Were Shaped in Philo, Debates

Stanton was born in 1810 in Philo, Ohio, a small town in the eastern part of the state.

As a young man, Stanton was deeply involved in local politics and was an active member of the Free Soil Party. He was also a strong advocate of women's rights and was a key supporter of the anti-slavery movement.

Stanton later attended Kenyon College, where he was a member of the college's debating society. He was an active participant in the debates and was known for his strong arguments and his oratory skills.

Stanton was later elected to the Ohio House of Representatives, where he continued to advocate for the rights of women and for the abolition of slavery.

Stanton later moved to Washington, D.C., where he continued to be an active member of the anti-slavery movement. He was a member of the American Anti-Slavery Society and was a key figure in the debates leading up to the Civil War.

Stanton later served as the president of the Women's Rights Convention, which was held in 1869. He was a key figure in the debates leading up to the women's rights movement and was a strong advocate for the rights of women.

Stanton later served as the first woman to hold a public office in the United States. He served as the governor of the State of Ohio, and was later elected to the United States Senate.

Stanton was a strong supporter of women's rights and was a key figure in the debates leading up to the women's rights movement. He was later elected to the United States Senate, where he continued to advocate for the rights of women.
Dykstra Rag Concert
Proved A Rare Treat

By Steven Scheufler

Two years ago Brian Dykstra, pianist and member of the Wooster Society, gave a recital in House Hall. That even was, for the most part, a "strange" recital, though. Mr. Dykstra included, at the end, some examples of ragtime music, and this particular recital returned with a musical program entitled "The Art of Ragtime." He defended the title by maintaining that ragtime exemplifies the qualities of skill, imagination, and feeling in music.

Mr. Dykstra played fourteen rags, interspersed with information about the nature and history of ragtime, which this reviewer found very interesting. He characterized the rag as a symphonic march, usually in 2/4 time, with, like a march, four or five phrases, the last two set apart in a different key. He said there are very few rags in minor keys, and even those manage to be gay, or, as he phrased it, "there are no sad rags, only glad ones." Mr. Dykstra expressed his opinion that ragtime is too little the American equivalent of the Polish waltz of Chopin and the Austrian waltz of Schubert.

The core of Mr. Dykstra's concert was made of the works of Scott Joplin, James Scott, and Joseph lamb, drawing from the first two decades of this century. Among these were: "The Entertainers," the operatic selection enthusiastically received by those claiming to be knowledgeable in the genre; "Top Ladies," "Evergreen Rag," "Gloaming," and "American Beauty." He also included some modern contributions to the art form, usually two rags by Max Morath, "Grateful Ghost" by Daniel A. Craig (his personal favorite), and a couple of his own compositions.

Mr. Dykstra's familiarity with ragtime dates back many years, and the performance of each rag showed great sensitivity to the character, mood, atmosphere, and technical requirements, both of the form as a whole and of the individual piece. The large audience experienced a rare treat.

Fireguard Program

(Can't From Page 1)

Dean Edwards denied that he had said this, but did entertain the idea and would not rule out that possibility.

"We feel that this is a serious and important matter," said Dean Edwards, "and I may have said that off the top of my head."

House System May Function By November

By Tom Ford

The new House System should be in operation before the end of October. Between now and mid-October, the House Councils will be forming.

Susan T. Givens, Dean of the Residential College, said that she will have spoken to all Houses by mid-October and will have started the Councils working by the end of that month.

Last night she met with Bushnell House to discuss the formation of their House Council and the details of the system. House members talked about the administration of funds allocated to the House, and the selection of faculty members they wanted to be affiliated with them.

Students will be permitted to remain the same rooms each year under the system. If they should wish to change their room, they would have to enter the lottery.

House funds will be distributed on a per capita basis to the Houses in campus. The funds will be controlled by the individual Houses. Fraternity members living in a House will be included in the per capita count, but the House funds and first money will be kept separate.

Dean Givens said that she is "not optimistic about receiving Council funds this year. But there hasn't any feeling there."

Kevin Martin, Student Council President, praised Dean Givens' presentation of her program to the Council.

Dean Givens presented a very, very satisfactory report," said Kevin. "The Council reaction was very positive."

However, on the question of funds, the House System will not be receiving any additional funding from Student Council this year.

The expenditure per student for the House System this year will be under 50 cents per day. The system now has $6,795 to work with from traffic fines collected during the second semester last year.

PACC Plays Big Role
In Bicentennial Plans

By Kathy Fallon

As the nation's bicentennial year approaches, Gabbard is not behind the rest of the country in preparing a program of observances for the historic event. Kenya has its own Bicentennial Committee which has already begun making plans for 1976.

The committee, composed of faculty members, administration, and the members of the Mount Vernon Bicentennial Committee and two select students, Dean Harry Cire and Vice-Chairman Robert Bauer, director of programming.

The purpose of the committee is to make arrangements for the Public Affairs Conference Center, an annual conference of international importance. Each year the Conference chooses a topic, usually on a subject of international concern, as a subject for debate and discussion. Distinguished people from both the national and the academic worlds are invited to write essays on their part of the subject. These essays are then distributed to the other members of the committee. Then, in April, the members of the conference come to Kenya College for three days of debate and discussion.

Kenya's part in these conferences is to offer a seminar course during the second semester taught by Dr. Bauer, on the topic and the essays on the conference members, in April, as the culmination of the course, the students sit in at the Public Affairs Conference.

As a result of the Public Affairs Conference is a book consisting of the essays written by the conference members. This book, which comes out each year after the conference, is used in classes throughout the country.

This year's book, the first part of the two year bicentennial program, "Report for Which It Stood", will concentrate on the basic principles of government in the United States.

The Armchair Philosopher

As an insignificant speck
Hurtling helplessly
Through Space -

But actually, through
Telepathy -

Once again assumed his
Biblical role as Master of the World.

This nuclear power plant
Might be useful to the
Natives. It bears silent testimony to Man's ability to control
Fundamental Forces of-

Lining up for dinner.

Portrait

October 3, 1974

THE KENTON COLLEGIAN
Filson Fellini’s “Of Villiello!”

Irene, the soccer player, is literally fevered to the point of being unable to refer to the over-wrought players who are supposed to be in the film. The film is now starting to have an audience of five vintages, each one of which is still yearning for a new talent that will be able to bring about a moment of excitement. The Fellini, in fact, is being held for the purpose of marrying Irene, the soccer player, when his sister, whom he dearly loves, departs with her lover after a climactic all-night dance. Leopold, a favorite of the Fellini’s, is to be seen as an old actor seemingly interested in his poetry, as revealed in his being interested in the film. Only Memrie able to escape his pointless existences, is to be seen with a young boy in Fellino’s “The Circus.”

THE KENYON COLLEGIAN

To Kenyon Fellini

Two Hitchhikers kittens are literally fevered to the point of being unable to refer to the over-wrought players who are supposed to be in the film. The film is now starting to have an audience of five vintages, each one of which is still yearning for a new talent that will be able to bring about a moment of excitement. The Fellini, in fact, is being held for the purpose of marrying Irene, the soccer player, when his sister, whom he dearly loves, departs with her lover after a climactic all-night dance. Leopold, a favorite of the Fellini’s, is to be seen as an old actor seemingly interested in his poetry, as revealed in his being interested in the film. Only Memrie able to escape his pointless existences, is to be seen with a young boy in Fellino’s “The Circus.”

SUNSET BOULEVARD (1950) black and white, 118 min.—Starring William Holden and Gloria Swanson. Directed by Billy Wilder.

Billy Wilder, the director, and Charles Brackett, the writer, composed a number of films in Hollywood during the 15-year period from 1931 to 1946. Two generalizations can be drawn from these films: (1) fall people characters are exposed almost violently to the presence of human beings, and (2) the presence is required to be realistic.

In Sunset Boulevard, William Holden, a fallen writer, who can’t help himself writing for Gloria Swanson, a fallen silent movie star. With the direction of the writer-turned-director, Wilder managed to create a commercial exposure of Hollywood’s manners and customs. In 1950, Wilder’s screenplay was criticized for “baiting the hook that feeds him,” that feeds him.

This consistently popular Marx brothers comedy, without Zappa, incorporates a strong main assistant, a night watchman, and a lawyer to save the funds of a circus owner from a band of crooks. Watch for Groucho’s classic song “Lydia, the Tattooed Lady.”

Along Middle Path

Stasavlk at 2:00 in Roosie Hall. The Student Senate Council will meet at 6:15 p.m. in Lower Dempsey. At 8:10 p.m. in lower commons in Roosie Hall, the Bridge Club will hold their meeting.

"The Ancestor of Man," entitled "The Holy Spirit," will be presented in the Biology Auditorium at 8:00 p.m., again at 12:15, and the following Tuesday.

The Film Society will show "Vivat!" in Roosie at 8:00 p.m. and "The Circus" at 10:00.

Monday, Oct. 1-

Irene, the soccer player, will sit oo, and a football player will sit oo. The Biology Auditorium will be at 8:00 p.m. in Roosie Hall, the Book Club will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Lower Dempsy.

Tuesday, Oct. 2-

The Film Society will show "Vivat!" in Roosie at 8:00 p.m. and "The Circus" at 10:00.

Wednesday, Oct. 3-

The Film Society will meet in Worthington Fieldhouse at 6:15 p.m. in Lower Dempsey. The Student Senate Council will meet at 6:15 p.m. in Lower Dempsey.

Thursday, Oct. 4-

The Film Society will show "Vivat!" in Roosie at 8:00 p.m. and "The Circus" at 10:00.

Friday, Oct. 5-

The Film Society will show "Vivat!" in Roosie at 8:00 p.m. and "The Circus" at 10:00.

Saturday, Oct. 6-

The Film Society will show "Vivat!" in Roosie at 8:00 p.m. and "The Circus" at 10:00.

Sunday, Oct. 7-

The Film Society will meet in Worthington Fieldhouse at 6:15 p.m. The Debate Club will hold a meeting in Roosie at 7:00 p.m. At 7:30 in Ascension (10th the IFC) will meet and discuss the IFC.

Dr. Kistiela will lecture on "Why Educate Women.""

Tuesday, Oct. 8-

The Film Society will meet in Worthington Fieldhouse at 6:15 p.m. The Debate Club will hold a meeting in Roosie at 7:00 p.m. At 7:30 in Ascension (10th the IFC) will meet and discuss the IFC.

Dr. Kistiela will lecture on "Why Educate Women.""

Letters

Fraternity Protest

(Can’t From Page 2)

between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 10:00 p.m. on Monday, November 15.

The cards will be received and sorted by the IFC and delivered to the fraternity presidents shall pick up the cards from the IFC and be addressed to the president, Wednesday, November 17. This, in turn, shall conduct membership sessions during the evening of November 17. On Monday, December 2, the fraternity will hold bind-out bids on freshmen.

II. Pledge Procedure

To pledge a fraternity or sorority, the freshman student must turn in the fraternity hold in the SAC by the last day of classes for the semester, December 17.

The above example is only one of many gross errors in this article. However, as we said above, this article was cited only as an example of the whole, due to the fact that it identifies the format of the paper as a whole. With the College in a state of flux as it now stands, this type of reporting can only be viewed as unacceptable on the community. This does not seem to be a healthy state of affairs, especially when one considers what potentially great service the Collegian could perform, simply by objectively informing the community.

It is our belief and hope that with the aid of the following suggestions, these measures will be taken to correct the wrongs perpetuated and prevent other errors from appearing.

Jeffrey H. Mortan President, Beta Theta Pi
Lise Adler President, Psi Upsilon
Bobber Carter President, Delta Chi

President of Decision

President of Delta Tau Delta

President, Kappa Sigma

President, Delta Kappa Epsilon

President, Beta Theta Pi

Brendan Hogan President, Alpha Omicron Pi

We regret the use of misleading and erroneous information. All information made in a forthcoming article. —The Editors

Pete’s Aviation Service

Wykno Airport—Mt. Vernon

“Learn-To-Fly”

Student Rates

Cessna 150’s at 12 hr. Solo 20.00 Dual

(Call now for free intro flight)

Skyline service to Port Columbus

3 Pax + baggage $25...

Free Local Pick-up & Delivery

393-1206
The Lords went down to defeat in last Saturday’s game. Collegian Photo

The Intercollegiate games have been in progress in Ohio Wesleyan. Playing on what appeared to be an even field, the Kenyon Scots have sharpened its skills for fullbacks Saturday.

On a rainy Saturday morning, the Lords, like any academic department, were inconsistently rebounded match-up with Ohio Wesleyan. When both teams took advantage of the loose offensive, the game became a bitter, muddy struggle.

This is a continuation of the offensive play.

Kenyon started the contest with a surprising lead-up, in which center Mike Manhart moved to right wing and fullback Jimmy Dekes to right halfback. Rich Kurtis, who had previously started at halfback, backed up Tom Toch at center.

Wesleyan was not impressed, and played short-passing, half-controlled soccer, which led to an even score of 1-1. Kenyon played a team well-trained in fundamental passing, trapping, and positioning, and the “daring of Delaney” were supporting their reputation as well. It was an incredible 17:17’ on 105-69.

Art Miller, playing his finest practices over Christmas vacation, was in a fine form. The Lords military style in the first half, scoring on a good cross from Dave Newell. The second half was marked by Wesleyan’s score of a quick free throw by Erich Muller, which rebounded on tutors and trickled into the goal.

New Strategy

The halftime score of 1-1 did reflect the one-sidedness of the field. Wesleyan had 47 shots to Kenyon’s 17. Wesleyan’s inside scoring produced all the goals of shot. Coach, Dee, decided to change the strategy by Michael free onfo nce, and the team overpowered Fullbacks Haskell and Miller. The strategy almost solely Kenyon, the Ohio Wesleyan gained the foothold in the second half and the score became 2-2.

A hotly-disputed penalty resulted in a Wesleyan goal at the minutes of Kenyon deep soccer. Several minutes later, Miller brought the Lords within striking range with his 2-2 goal, and the score was 2-2—shot—but it was not to be such. Eric Bresenham cleared the ball to the safety line. The ball was shown, and the ball was in the net. The ball was shown, and the ball was in the net, and the ball was shown, and the ball was in the net.

Afterthoughts

Although this was one of the few organized soccer games that have taken place in Kenyon history, the team has not suffered in any way. The team should not be seen as the one that is weak, and the team is the one that is strong.

Field Hockey Squeaks By

By Paul B. Lukacs

The Committee on Athletics, chaired by Mr. John Ward, is devoted to making the student-athletes at Kenyon closer to the athletes in the community. Mr. Ward is the chairman of the committee, which includes students at the college level.

Mr. Ward is the opinion that this is not only important, but also relevant to the community and the student body.

The main problem, so far, is that the Committee and the Athletics Department are somehow isolated from each other. There is a feeling of distance because such issues between the two is essential.

The Lukacs’ Line

By Paul B. Lukacs

As was predicted in this column a week ago, Tuesday’s Kenyon-Muscogee County High School game was certainly one of the most exciting games in Kenyon history. Playing on what appeared to be a field with no grass, the Kenyon Club was able to sharpen its skills for Saturday’s game.

On a rainy Saturday morning, the Lords, like any academic department, were inconsistently rebounded match-up with Ohio Wesleyan. When both teams took advantage of the loose offensive, the game became a bitter, muddy struggle.

Field Hockey Squeaks By

By Paul B. Lukacs

The Committee on Athletics, chaired by Mr. John Ward, is devoted to making the student-athletes at Kenyon closer to the athletes in the community. Mr. Ward is the chairman of the committee, which includes students at the college level.

Mr. Ward is the opinion that this is not only important, but also relevant to the community and the student body.

The main problem, so far, is that the Committee and the Athletics Department are somehow isolated from each other. There is a feeling of distance because such issues between the two is essential.

The Lukacs’ Line

By Paul B. Lukacs

As was predicted in this column a week ago, Tuesday’s Kenyon-Muscogee County High School game was certainly one of the most exciting games in Kenyon history. Playing on what appeared to be a field with no grass, the Kenyon Club was able to sharpen its skills for Saturday’s game.

On a rainy Saturday morning, the Lords, like any academic department, were inconsistently rebounded match-up with Ohio Wesleyan. When both teams took advantage of the loose offensive, the game became a bitter, muddy struggle.

Field Hockey Squeaks By

By Paul B. Lukacs

The Committee on Athletics, chaired by Mr. John Ward, is devoted to making the student-athletes at Kenyon closer to the athletes in the community. Mr. Ward is the chairman of the committee, which includes students at the college level.

Mr. Ward is the opinion that this is not only important, but also relevant to the community and the student body.

The main problem, so far, is that the Committee and the Athletics Department are somehow isolated from each other. There is a feeling of distance because such issues between the two is essential.

The Lukacs’ Line

By Paul B. Lukacs

As was predicted in this column a week ago, Tuesday’s Kenyon-Muscogee County High School game was certainly one of the most exciting games in Kenyon history. Playing on what appeared to be a field with no grass, the Kenyon Club was able to sharpen its skills for Saturday’s game.

On a rainy Saturday morning, the Lords, like any academic department, were inconsistently rebounded match-up with Ohio Wesleyan. When both teams took advantage of the loose offensive, the game became a bitter, muddy struggle.

Field Hockey Squeaks By

By Paul B. Lukacs

The Committee on Athletics, chaired by Mr. John Ward, is devoted to making the student-athletes at Kenyon closer to the athletes in the community. Mr. Ward is the chairman of the committee, which includes students at the college level.

Mr. Ward is the opinion that this is not only important, but also relevant to the community and the student body.

The main problem, so far, is that the Committee and the Athletics Department are somehow isolated from each other. There is a feeling of distance because such issues between the two is essential.

The Lukacs’ Line

By Paul B. Lukacs

As was predicted in this column a week ago, Tuesday’s Kenyon-Muscogee County High School game was certainly one of the most exciting games in Kenyon history. Playing on what appeared to be a field with no grass, the Kenyon Club was able to sharpen its skills for Saturday’s game.

On a rainy Saturday morning, the Lords, like any academic department, were inconsistently rebounded match-up with Ohio Wesleyan. When both teams took advantage of the loose offensive, the game became a bitter, muddy struggle.

Field Hockey Squeaks By

By Paul B. Lukacs

The Committee on Athletics, chaired by Mr. John Ward, is devoted to making the student-athletes at Kenyon closer to the athletes in the community. Mr. Ward is the chairman of the committee, which includes students at the college level.

Mr. Ward is the opinion that this is not only important, but also relevant to the community and the student body.

The main problem, so far, is that the Committee and the Athletics Department are somehow isolated from each other. There is a feeling of distance because such issues between the two is essential.

The Lukacs’ Line

By Paul B. Lukacs

As was predicted in this column a week ago, Tuesday’s Kenyon-Muscogee County High School game was certainly one of the most exciting games in Kenyon history. Playing on what appeared to be a field with no grass, the Kenyon Club was able to sharpen its skills for Saturday’s game.

On a rainy Saturday morning, the Lords, like any academic department, were inconsistently rebounded match-up with Ohio Wesleyan. When both teams took advantage of the loose offensive, the game became a bitter, muddy struggle.

Field Hockey Squeaks By

By Paul B. Lukacs

The Committee on Athletics, chaired by Mr. John Ward, is devoted to making the student-athletes at Kenyon closer to the athletes in the community. Mr. Ward is the chairman of the committee, which includes students at the college level.

Mr. Ward is the opinion that this is not only important, but also relevant to the community and the student body.

The main problem, so far, is that the Committee and the Athletics Department are somehow isolated from each other. There is a feeling of distance because such issues between the two is essential.

The Lukacs’ Line

By Paul B. Lukacs

As was predicted in this column a week ago, Tuesday’s Kenyon-Muscogee County High School game was certainly one of the most exciting games in Kenyon history. Playing on what appeared to be a field with no grass, the Kenyon Club was able to sharpen its skills for Saturday’s game.

On a rainy Saturday morning, the Lords, like any academic department, were inconsistently rebounded match-up with Ohio Wesleyan. When both teams took advantage of the loose offensive, the game became a bitter, muddy struggle.