EDITORIALS.

In the Illustrated American of the 31st ultimo appears an interesting article entitled "Kenyon College," by Col. J. E. Jacobs, of Baltimore, Md. This is another evidence that all Kenyon's sons are determined that her light shall not continue to be "hid under a bushel." The article referred to constitutes one very interesting page of this attractive paper, and is a credit to its distinguished author. We hope that this may be followed by others equally worthy of mention.

The Harcourt column came to hand too late to be inserted in this number, but a full and interesting column will appear in December.

Continuing in the same line of thought, another matter suggests itself, and one which it is our duty to see to at once. A news bureau or correspondent's staff should be instituted here, and the utmost care exercised in its selection. This bureau should regularly send information concerning Kenyon to the large newspapers of the country who are always thankful to get such items, and gladly publish the same. Let this be attended to at once, and then there will be one more particular in which we shall prove ourselves as wise as our sister colleges.

The excellent record made by our football team thus far is a matter of congratulation on the part of Kenyon men old and young. The students now in college are doing their utmost in every way to help on the boom which is now stirring all to renewed effort, and awakening a new and unwonted interest in our old college.

The first week of the present month will become memorable in the history of Kenyon on account of the meeting of the Board of Trustees, and also on account of the Trustee-Alumni Conference. Reference to both has been made elsewhere in the columns of this paper, and we know it will prove joyful news to every Kenyon man under whose eye this may fall. Those present were strong men in the full sense of the word. And the wisdom of the measures they have adopted cannot fail to be recognized by every one in a position to judge. New hope and a determination to see Kenyon on a firm basis characterized every one present, and all departed feeling that a bright and glorious future is assured for the old college.

It is just that those whom we are endeavoring to interest in Kenyon should have some assurance given them that we possess something deserving of the boom which is being inaugurated in such a thorough manner. President Sterling’s administration thus far has been marked by wisdom, firmness, and executive ability. Here are a few “pointers” which may serve to indicate the character of his work:

All athletic, musical, and literary organizations are required through their secretaries to send in a list of officers after every election of the same.

Students are prohibited from smoking nearer the Chapel than the Bishop’s Walk.

The President has personal oversight of the care taken of the college buildings, and visits the same to inspect their condition.

Special permission must be obtained from the President before any hall can be used for entertainments.

And finally, we are made to realize the truth that an institution like Kenyon needs the hearty co-operation of faculty and students, and that her welfare depends upon and will be commensurate with it.

We take this opportunity to thank the Kenyon Alumni Association of New York City for their kind invitation to the Board of Editors to attend the meeting held in that city on the 19th inst. While we regret that all cannot be present, we shall send our representative, who will do his best to give a faithful report of the meeting. Our best wishes go with you, gentle- men, and may your deliberations and efforts be blessed with that measure of success which they so richly deserve.

University extension is in the air. On all sides can be heard sounds which announce that a great struggle for popular education is now upon us. What is Kenyon to do toward the success of this movement? At least this much: She now offers a free scholarship to one male pupil each year from one high school in every County in the State of Ohio. This pupil must come well recommended as to character, habits, and preparation for the college course, by the Principal of said high school. If pupils be recommended from more than one high school in a county, then by a competitive examination the best pupil shall be selected. For want of space full details cannot be given here, but can be obtained from President Sterling upon application. Let the pupils of our high schools throughout the State begin at once. The offer is a bona fide one, and is worthy of your best efforts.

Nomination for the Presidency.

In a recent number of the Collegian you invited nominations for the Presidency of Kenyon College. There are, doubtless, a number of men who would fill the position acceptably. The only difficulty is to find them. The duties call for a man of stable and Godly character, a man distinguished for good judgment and energy. A man of tact and business capacity, and one who appreciates the importance of educational work and has a love for it, and is willing to spend himself freely that Kenyon College may be so solidly built up in all its departments that each will be without a flaw so far as human direction can make them so; a man who values the ministry of the Church, and one who can see and be enthusiastic over, the great present opportunity of Bexley Hall; a man who recognizes a sound collegiate training as one of the greatest blessings to be conferred on any man, and that a country college, situated as Kenyon is, has a special opportunity for the best work, if not at present, as broad in its curriculum as some others; and one who recognizes that in the preparatory department the work is, in respect to its influence and permanent results, just as important and valuable as any educational work can be. If such a man can come to Kenyon with the prestige of success in his former undertakings, with full health and an abounding purpose to win for Kenyon, in all its departments, the public confidence, without which no institution can be successful, he will undoubtedly be able to inaugurate an era of prosperity here that will redound to the great glory of the Church in whose name the college, in all its branches, is maintained.

I suggest, as such a man, the Rev. Edward Abbott, D. D., of Cambridge, Mass. In the prime of life, in perfect health, a scholarly, Godly man, a gifted speaker and writer, unusually attractive in appearance and manner, full of energy, distinguished for his common sense, excellent judgment, and tact, he is one of nature’s noblemen and possessed of all the requisites in personality that the position requires. His whole life has been a success, and the character and the characteristics that have enabled him to succeed in his editorship of the Literary World and in his remarkable rectorate of St. James’s Church, Cambridge, would enable him to succeed here. Selected by the House of Bishops for the Bishopric of Japan, recognition was given to his wisdom and his strength. Wise and just, he would balance well the opportunities and the rights of the various departments, and would command not only in Ohio, and throughout our American Church immediate respect for his work at Kenyon, but he would command it from all other Christian bodies. Let us have Dr. Abbot.

CLEVELAND LETTER.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 9, 1891.

Dear Collegian: The organization of the Northern Ohio Alumni Association is near completion; as anticipated, the membership is between seventy-five and a hundred, embracing Kenyon men in all the flourishing towns of Northern Ohio—Cleveland, Akron, Norwalk, Toledo, Sandusky, Canton, and so ad infinitum. We shall have our annual banquet during the Christmas holidays, and expect a full attendance and some resulting good for Kenyon, an awakening of interest in old Alma Mater, if nothing more.

We have noticed with pleasure that Kenyon plays Adelbert at football here on Thanksgiving day. What a game it will be! The manoeuvres will float from the button-hole of every Kenyon man living within a radius of fifty miles, while the vile squeaking of the wry-necked horn will cheer our athletes on to victory, whose magic touch will lend a prouder tone to the uniterated Hika than when we shouted it within the sacred precincts of Gambier.

To return to the Alumni Association: If any alumnus or matriculate of Kenyon College, living in Northern Ohio, who has not signed the roll, will send his name and address to the Secretary, Clifford A. Neff, No. 8 Wilshire Building, Cleveland, Ohio, that officious gentleman—or gentlemanly official, as you please—will insure him from the barbarians and outer darkness, and place him among the select and the blessed in the lists of the Kenyon College Alumni Association of Northern Ohio. What a wealth of joy is that only the favored few can tell; had Thomas Jefferson had so clear a scheme of human happiness before him, he never would have delayed to write the Declaration of Independence, but instead, proclaimed, “Join the Kenyon College Alumni Association.”

Why is our foot-ball captain more like a married woman than any of the other students? He is Kenyon’s better half (back).
NEW YORK LETTER.

Dear Collegian:

It seems to me that something must be done at once to put Kenyon on a firm basis. Will you allow me an Alumnus, to make a few suggestions?

First, as Kenyon is a Church College, it seems very proper that the first resort should be made to the great and loving Head of the Church. Why should not a special prayer, composed by the Bishop of Ohio, or Southern Ohio, be offered daily at morning and evening prayers? Such is the custom at the General Theological Seminary, why not at Bexley and at Kenyon? Then why not have some Sunday set apart by the two Bishops in Ohio for a special service to be held in all the churches in Ohio, imploring God's blessing upon Kenyon College? What more appropriate season than All Saints Day, or the Sunday succeeding that festival?

My second proposition is work in the shape of liberal advertising. We know all successful business houses advertise. That is what we need. Advertise in three or four church papers, and even in such religious papers as the N. Y. Observer, the Evangelist, and the Independent.

I would not advise simply a small square in a paper, which nobody notices, but a quarter or half page, with a good cut of Kenyon or Ascension.

Another remark and I have done. We ought to have a handsome exhibit at the Columbian Fair, at Chicago, 1893. A handsomely framed picture containing photographs of old Kenyon, Bexley Hall, Ascension, the Church of the Holy Spirit. Then likenesses of Bishops Chase, McIlvaine, and Leonard, also whoever was then the President of the College. But this must not be "done in a corner." Our Chicago Alumni should see to it that we have a prominent position at that great Exposition.

Very Sincerely Your Friend,

Allan Napier, Class '62.

THE COLLEGIAN.

THE TRUSTEE-ALUMNI CONFERENCE.

On Wednesday, the 4th inst., Messrs. Desault B. Kirk, of Mt. Vernon, O., and W. P. Elliott, of Chicago, representing the Committee on Endowment appointed by the Alumni at their meeting last June, met the Trustees for the purpose of outlining to them the plans and steps taken toward procuring an endowment, the interest of which should sufficiently increase the salary of our President.

At the request of the Board, the Secretary of the Committee, Mr. W. P. Elliott, read a lucid and comprehensive letter from Col. J. E. Jacobs, of Baltimore, Chairman of the Alumni Committee, setting forth the opinion of the Committee as to the additions in educational equipment advisable to place Kenyon abreast of the times and their plans for securing funds to carry out such improvements.

The most unique and striking of the plans set forth is the provision for securing a temporary fund for paying the additional salary of the President until the permanent fund shall be secured. This consists in securing from the alumni and all old friends of Kenyon a contribution of $50.00 a year for three years, evidenced by three promissory notes, payable in one, two, and three years. This plan and the success already met in carrying it out—the Secretary being able to say that thus far he had not received a single refusal from any one whom he had approached on the subject of signing the notes—secured the hearty approval of all members of the Board. It seemed to them not only a highly acceptable but promptly successful means of attaining the desired end.

A full and enthusiastic discussion of the plan was followed by the adoption of a resolution expressing the acceptance and approval of this useful scheme for procuring funds.

The meeting of the Board of Trustees, of which this Conference was an important part, proved the most interesting held in many years. It was characterized throughout by unity of purpose and by wisdom of the most practical business sort.

All feel that nothing remains to be done but to concentrate all Alumni and friendly forces upon the immediate execution of the Committee's project so well under way, and at once supplement this with Dr. Sterling's prescriptions of new professorships to meet the needs of our progressive age!

It is thought the New York Alumni Association banquet on the 10th inst. can be relied upon to substantially complete the Alumni Committee project, and to organize a well defined co-operation with the Board for carrying out Dr. Sterling's timely suggestions.

AN AUTUMN ELEGY.

I

As on the sides of chisel-wrought,
Antique sarcophagi appear;
In riot rich of warm life brought
Into design divine and clear,
Calm forms of beauty such as then
Were ripened in that sultrier glow,
When gods came down to walk with men,
In golden summers long ago;
The white arms flash; the flying fold
Reveals the grace of eager feet;
And clear brows lift their curls of gold,
And lips in flowery meadows meet;
And mortals eat their poppy-pods;
And drink their sweet Lethean wine;
And at the altars of the gods
The oxen wait the slaughter-sign;
But at the edge of mead or mart,
Orneath the very temple porch,
A silent figure leans, apart,
Upon a sad, inverted torch.

So, in this autumn's solemn state,
The Panathenae of the year,
All life combines to round earth's great
Design into its meaning clear;
And nature's pausing force expands
Into a more than summer's glow,
As stately o'er the autumn lands
Proceeds the splendid pageant-show;
Strong reapers homeward bear their sheaves,
And shepherds lead the bleating fold;
Gay maidens, crowned with maple leaves,
Walk royally in red and gold;
And children laden come with spoil
Torn from some woodland treasure-place;
And eager youth, from sport or toil,
Return to join their classic race;
But oh! among the laughers brought
In greeting by this joyous year,
I reach a hand which is not caught,
And ask for one who is not here.

II

I light tonight my autumn fire,
And, sitting in its genial glow,
I feel the nightfall's wild desire
Through all my being ebb and flow,
As tides through winding caverns run,
And into far rock-chambers creep,
Bearing mysterious echoes on
Of noises on the outer deep,
I know not if this cry be cast
From past or future in my soul,
Or surf sound is of seas where past
And future in one vastness roll.
But, while the autumn winds without
Rush on in turbulence amain—
As one pursues with threat and shout,
And one entreats in fright and pain—
I gaze into the burning coals,
And see within their throb and glow,
As if my thoughts had fiery souls,
Enchanted pictures come and go.

I see a landscape bright with flowers,
And, bent by woods' encircling rank,
A silver city's spires and towers
Upon a silver river's bank.
I see a path which brightening goes,
And one who walks its flowers among.
The light which o'er his forehead glows
Betokening his life is young.
I see desires, as sparks, arise—
They never shall have time to pall!
And hopes, like stars in morning skies—
They never shall have time to fall!

For lo! the silver towers rock,
The silver river flies in spright;
The landscape splits in earthquake shock,
And all the vision slides away!
Alas! must earthly loving keep
But ashes when its forms expire?
I rise to walk the floor and weep;
I rise to quench my autumn fire.

III

I watch beneath the stars to-night,
Through tear-dimmed eyes so far to see!
The frosted grass lies crisp and white,
And frost light gleams in grass and tree.
Oh, far, pale stars! it seems but meet
That when our world grew cold and still,
And fingers of caressing sweet,
Dropped like the leaves, inert and chill—
It seems but meet, that when on these
So cold eyebrows your glances crossed,
Your light ray-lances, too, should freeze,
And crush the earth in bitter frost!
Ah, me! how grief contracts the brave,
Wide life, until its tears allow
No stars but shine upon a grave,
No time but eddies in the Now!
And all the Future shrivels up;
And all the Past's sweet joyance slips
As dregs into the bitter cup
The Present forces on our lips!

But peace! the stars their courses keep—
For years must run their cycle range;
The earth rolls on in eastward sweep—
For days must dawn and seasons change.
So, peace! the time must come, and swift,
When daisies, all too bright for fears,
A light of sunny smiles will lift
From sods we watered with our tears.
And Grief, at sight of them, as she Shall mourn beside the bolted door
Through which she saw her loved one flee,
Will turn away and beat no more
At those inexorable bars,
And we, to whom his love he gave,
Shall think no more of how the stars
Shine down upon his piteous grave,
But, in the wakings of the night,
Shall only think of him who trod
This earth with us, as rapt in light
Of stars and deep, sweet peace of God.

A GOOD BEGINNING.

Buchtel 0—Kenyon 42.

The morning of Thursday, November 5, gave promise of anything but a pleasant day for the opening game of the Ohio Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association; promptly at seven o'clock, however, the Kenyon team was awakened by its manager, and an hour later had breakfasted and were awaiting the north-bound train at the station.

The morning was dark and gloomy, a heavy fog (which at intervals would turn into a drizzling rain) pervaded the atmosphere, and the hearts of “the boys” sank accordingly; altogether, the prospect portended defeat, but once aboard the train and rattling along toward the city of oatmeal and Buchtel Foot-Ball Players, things took a more favorable aspect, and before alighting at the Akron station, the rain had ceased.

Having dined at “The Buchtel” the team was driven to the new “Athletic Field,” which, by the way, had done fairly well as a cow pasture, but as a foot-ball field it is badly in need of a civil engineer and some blasting powder. The match itself was a very pretty one, displaying less roughness than is usually seen in college games, but lacking interest because of the decided superiority of the Kenyon team. McLean practically played half the game for Buchtel, while Walkley Bros. and Carpenter “stared” for Kenyon.

Charles Weeks acted as Captain of the Buchtel team, while W. S. Walkley officiated in that capacity for us.

Referee Watson calling the game at three o’clock, the teams lined up as below. The halves were but 30 minutes long.

Buchtel.

Buttolph winning the toss, chose the better ground, and Kenyon started off with a “V,” the success of which was but indifferent. Kenyon used the “wedge” against the centre twice, W. S. Walkley following with a run and gain of 2 yards around the left end before he was pushed out of bounds. While the Buchtel players were consoling one another, he threw the ball in to his brother, who easily obtained a “touch-down.” Time, 6 minutes. Kenyon, failing to kick a goal, lined up on the 25-yard line and Buchtel put the ball in play by a place kick. Kenyon now having possession of the ball at about the centre of the field, “bucked the center” for 5 yards; G. H. Buttolph went against the left end twice, and the ball was ours at the 25-yard line. W. S. Walkley then flew by the left end and evaded capture till within 5 yards of the goal line, when he was forced out of bounds; here, a “green” player, who attempts to fill the position of right guard on the Buchtel team, tackled him and threw him against a board fence (which was entirely too near the field of play), and while he was recovering, the Kenyon fellows kicked down the fence. Upon his recovery, Walkley claimed his privilege of carrying the ball in 15 yards. The ball having been put in play, a wedge, G. H. Buttolph’s attempt on the left end, and a push through the centre, with Buttolph in front, put the ball just beyond the goal line.

Kenyon failing goal and obtaining the ball on the first down, charged the right end and then centre with but little gain, when that invincible half back, W. S. Walkley, took the ball around right end, guarded by the Buttolphs, and dodging the full back, scored the third touch-down. Kenyon again failed in the try-at-goal. Buchtel again attempted to put the ball in play by a place kick, but Mead touched the ball to the ground too soon, and Kenyon’s rush line charging, not only prevented the kick, but obtained the ball. G. H. Buttolph then tried the right end with a loss of three yards. Carpenter (dropping from the rush line) advanced the ball 9 yards around the left, and Buttolph tried the left with no gain.

Kenyon now tried the wedge against the centre, but on account of rough ground, the ball was dropped, and McLean obtaining the ball, started down an open field. C. T. Walkley pursued, and overtaking him at the 10-yard line, brought him to the ground by the prettiest tackle of the day. "Mae" let loose the ball, which Kenyon "downed." G. H. Buttolph's rush against the left end and a wedge against the centre advanced the ball 5 yards, and Buttolph then "skated" around the left with a gain of 15 yards. W. S. Walkley tried the same thing with a slight gain. The wedge was then worked twice, and Carpenter took the ball around the left end with a gain of 10 yards. Here the Kenyon halves worked the "criss-cross," and "Willie" Walkley scored Kenyon's fourth touch-down around the left end. Failing goal, Buchtel started the ball with a kick, which H. W. Buttolph took on the bound and started by the left end, but advanced only a few yards when tackled by Weeks. The "criss-cross" again deceived the Buchtel men, and trotting around the left end, "Willie" Walkley made the last touch-down in that half.

Buchtel 0 — Kenyon 20.

SECOND HALF.

Buchtel led off with a beautiful V, out of which McLean emerged with the ball, going around the right. He was stopped in his impetuous flight by H. W. Buttolph, but not till within 20 yards of Kenyon's goal. Buchtel tried the centre and sent Campbell and McLean, in turn, around the right, but it was of no avail; Kenyon got the ball on four downs. By a kind of quadruple pass and a beautiful run, W. S. Walkley took the ball to Buchtel's 10-yard line, when he was shoved out of bounds. C. T. Walkley then carried the ball around the right over the goal line. The ball was punted out and "Willie" kicked goal. It was now Buchtel's ball, and by a V they advanced it 10 yards. Campbell "worked" the ends for 3 more, and they charged the centre without success. (In this attempt, Clark, the Buchtel full back, was hurt and taken out. Kingsbury was substituted.) Campbell then passed the right end for 12 yards. In their attempt at a "criss-cross," Buchtel lost the ball and 10 yards. G. H. Buttolph failed to pass the right end, but Kenyon again advanced the ball 5 yards through the centre. H. W. Buttolph punted, Kingsbury reciprocated, and Buttolph returned it. Kingsbury caught the ball and advanced 15 yards before he was downed by Motley. Kingsbury again punted and H. W. Buttolph, after a fair catch, advanced about 10 yards. In the next scrimmage, Carpenter, guarded by the 3 backs, "worked" the left for at least 20 yards. (Campbell here ran into G. W. Buttolph and dropped out, Kingsbury played left half, and Hardin took his place at full back). The Kenyon team worked the same trick again and Carpenter made a touch-down. The ball was punted out, and failing a catch, the ball went to Buchtel on their 10-yard line. Kingsbury punted, and, the ball going out of bounds, Frye "downed" it. By a successful "criss-cross," McLean went around the left end and reached the middle of the field before he was tackled by H. W. Buttolph. In failing he lost the ball, which Kenyon reached first. Then by as pretty a run as ever an end-rush made, Doolittle went to within 3 yards of their goal line, when he was tripped up by the rough ground, and the ball rolled out of his hands. It was picked up by Mead and touched down behind his own goal. This was a safety and 2 more points for Kenyon. McLean punted and H. W. Buttolph returned it, the ball going out of bounds.

By a misunderstood signal, Kenyon failed to get hold of the ball and Buchtel "downed" it. The ball was brought in 15 yards: McLean and Campbell in turn tried the two ends, then "Mae" tried the center, but only lost the ball. Carpenter then failed to break the line, but the left was pushed two yards by Doolittle and C. T. Walkley. G. H. Buttolph was "downed" by Weeks without any gain, and the ball went to Buchtel. They then tried the center but were shoved back. McLean failed to go round the right end and, G. H. Buttolph intercepting Hardin's punt, it was Kenyon's ball. Carpenter carried it over the line, and W. S. Walkley kicked goal. The ball now starting from the center of the field went forward 10 yards, with Buchtel's V, and McLean gained 5 yards through the centre. The Buchtel halves were tired out, and Kenyon got the ball on four downs. Kenyon "worked" the centre twice with heavy gains, and "Willie" Walkley, almost unguarded, passed the left end, and eluding the full back, made the last touch down, but failed goal.

EXCHANGES.

"The Kenyon Collegian, of Gambier, Ohio, is here for the first time. The Collegian is a fair type of what a college paper should be."—Illini.

Thanks.

Mrs. Senator Stanford was so well pleased with the Palo Alto, a college paper published by the students of Leland Stanford, Jr., University, that she ordered fifty yearly subscriptions to send to friends throughout the country.—Ex.

Oh, that somebody were so pleased with the Collegian.

A letter from J. F. Raley, formerly with '93, and now at Amherst, Mass., says: "If possible play Lehigh. You can defeat her with team work and good hard quick blocking."—Wooster Voice.

That is, "you can defeat Lehigh by playing better than your opponents."

The prettiest cover of any paper we have received is that of the Pharetra, a paper published by the young ladies of Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa.

On the 17th ult. North Western University played Lake Forest, neither side scoring, and on the 31st met the team of the University of Wisconsin with the same result.—Ex.

New York Inter-Collegiate Press Association, representing different college papers of New York State, banqueted Friday evening of last week.—Ex.

The Alumni at Wesleyan have voted to change the name of the University.—Ex.

We wonder if the foot-ball team would not also be in favor of this change.

The record of the Yale eleven for October is: 238 points, opponents 0; last year Yale scored 185 points, opponents 6, and the same month in '89, Yale scored 365 points and her opponents 11.—Ex.

"A new idea has struck the Hiram Athletes. Their plan is now, if correctly reported, to purchase about six acres of land of Mr. Ellis and convert it into playgrounds. We expect to see these grounds fenced in by the latest style woven wire fence, and a row of shady maples around the entire lot."—Advance.

Hiram is a little behind the times. The same idea has struck all the primary and grammar schools that we know of, and they have room to play "prisoner's base," and "catcher" during recess hours. Come now! Lay aside these schoolboy thoughts and become a college.
IN LUCK CERTAIN.

After trying to sell books, pictures, and wringers, and nearly every contrivance imaginable, I became discouraged and thought there was no chance for a poor man to earn a living. There was nothing to do on the farm, and I could not get a job in town, when I happened to see how a teacher made money selling platers and thought I would try my luck. I bought a $5 Lightning Plater from H. F. Delno & Co., Columbus, Ohio, and from that day my luck seemed to change. I carried the plater from house to house, and plated knives, forks, and spoons, right before the folks, and it is surprising how many want their things plated. I made $3.70 the first day, and in one week $28. I can plate with nickel, silver, or gold. The work is fine, my customers are pleased, and I am happy. I hope some other fellow, who is down on his luck, will see this and do as I have done and get up in the world.

PIso’s Cure for Consumption

25c

Cures Where All Else Fails.

Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

About seven years ago I had Bronchitis, which finally drifted into Consumption, so the doctors said, and they had about given me up. I was confined to my bed. One day my husband went for the doctor, but he was not in his office. The druggist sent me a bottle of Piso’s Cure for Consumption. I took two doses of it and was greatly relieved before the doctor came. He told me to continue its use as long as it helped me. I did so, and the result is I am now sound and well, entirely cured of consumption.—MRS. P. E. BAKER, Harrisburg, Ill., Feb. 20, 1891.
