Editorial.

We note this year, with great pleasure, that every sign points to a greater prosperity than the College has enjoyed for some time past. The Freshman class is larger than that of last year, and with the exception of the class of '96, the largest entered for many years.

Rosse Hall is literally rising from her ashes, and promises to be, when completed, one of the finest gymnasiums in Ohio, so that its destruction by fire will prove not an altogether unmixed evil. Such a building as Rosse promises to be will be an exceedingly valuable addition to Kenyon's equipment, and will, no doubt, prove a strong inducement in bringing students to Kenyon.

The Chair of Greek has been filled, and also the Chair of English, both by men of the highest attainments, whose presence in the College can not promise other than good for the College.

We noticed at the first game played here an unusual number of "dead heads"—men who, instead of going through the gate and paying their way in, had chosen the much cheaper and easier method of climbing over the fence. The penniless small boy can scarcely be kept out, and, perhaps, it is just as well that he can not, but when boys of a very much larger growth come to the College grounds with the confessed intention of seeing the game for nothing, it is high time to draw the line. At the last game we noticed a considerable number of bicycles stacked together just outside the wire fence, and their owners among the spectators, and not content to be quiet, but indulging in noisy horse-play. We think if such individuals as these were summarily and forcibly ejected from the grounds they would not think the College such an "easy mark."

The football coach occupies a very trying position in a College, for if the men he has been training fail to win, he is apt to sustain more than his share of the blame. Whatever may be said of our failure to win, the present coach has worked hard and faithfully, and has avoided favoritism. This much certainly is due him, and he deserves the support and encouragement of the College in his work, and the unquestioned recognition of his authority.

An innovation in the College customs made its appearance this year in the shape of a cane rush in place of the old hand-to-hand contest. The new form of rush seems of much more interest to the spectators, and is, on the whole, perhaps, less dangerous than the older form. The change, we believe, was due to President Peirce, who presented the cane, which is made from an oak joist of Old Rosse. The victorious class is to be the possessor for the year following, and the cane is to be kept in Rosse gymnasium. The last rush proved to give the advantage to the Sophomores, who knew the ground, whereas many Freshmen lost their bearings and pushed in the wrong direction. This will, no doubt, be remedied in the future, as the Freshmen can make a point of drilling themselves thoroughly before darkness hides the campus.

While the greater undertakings of the College are being pushed on, the Collegian would like to suggest one small convenience for the students which would, we are certain, be thoroughly appreciated, and which the merchants in the village have already provided. We allude to bicycle stands. There are a large number of wheels in College, and most of these are used in going to and from recitations. A few bicycle stands at the entrances of Old Kenyon, Ascension and Hubbard would be exceedingly useful, for the rough stone of the buildings is very hard on nickel and enamel, to say nothing of the saving in trouble.

Rosse Hall.

THE most conspicuous and interesting sight in Gambier, at present, is Rosse Hall in process of reconstruction. From the time of its destruction by fire, on May 9 of this year, until the beginning of the Christmas term, the ruins have been a sad, though picturesque object. At that time sufficient money had been raised by the untiring efforts of President Peirce to warrant the beginning of the work of reconstruction. Quite a large force of workmen are engaged in the work, and the walls are rising rapidly. There is enough of the old stone that was unharmed by the fire to rebuild the entire south wall; this includes stone removed in cutting the new windows in the north wall, and stone from the back wall of the porch, behind the pillars. This part of the east wall will be of new stone, as are also all the sills and lintels. Unfortunately, it will be necessary to take down the pillars, as the lower stones in both are so badly burned as to render them un-safe as supports. Also the north wall is leaning so much that it, too, will have to be taken down as far as the window sills. This double work of tearing down and rebuilding will greatly add to the cost of the new hall. It was intended to have the masonry all laid this autumn, but only if the weather will continue favorable can the entire work be completed as planned.
The walls will be lined with brick so spaced that the wall will be double, making the new structure both warmer and drier, as well as stronger. The basement has been excavated completely and also lowered two feet. Since the main floor will be two feet higher, there will be a twelve foot basement.

The necessary excavation brings the new foundations, in some places, five feet below the old ones, the only place where the two foundations coincide is at the old entrance into the basement.

The masonry work is in the charge of Mr. William Fish, of Gambier, an able contractor, and a staunch friend of the College. He had the contract for the building of Ascension Hall, the Quarry Chapel, and the Church of the Holy Spirit, here, as well as among others that for the building of Trinity Church, Columbus. Mr. Fish is well advanced in years, and his service and exertions in exercising his personal and valuable oversight is much appreciated by all connected with the College. This work is particularly generous as its remuneration is left to the generosity of the College.

The exterior of Rosse Hall will be about the same as formerly, pure Ionic architecture; the only changes being the placing of new windows in the north side, corresponding to those on the opposite side; and the addition of another entrance to the basement through the south wall of the alcove at the rear. The changes in the interior will be advantageous and extensive. The lower floor will be devoted to the pitching cage, bowling alleys, lockers and shower baths. There will also be a furnace room and a room from which refreshments can be served up stairs at dances and receptions. The pitching cage will be on the south and lightest side of the basement. In the middle will be the bowling alleys, and next the lockers, baths, etc. The appearance of the main floor will be considerably changed. The floor will be a dancing floor, better, if possible, than the old one, and considerably larger, extending from the entrance door to the extreme west wall. A moveable platform will fill and extend slightly beyond the rear alcove, which will not again be partitioned off from the rest of the room. The roof of the new hall will be of steel, trussed and open. As the wall will be plastered on the brick lining, instead of on lathe and studding, the new building will be perfectly fire proof. There will also be a running gallery suspended from the ceiling,
The building will, of course, be thoroughly equipped with gymnasium apparatus of the most improved kinds and varied description.

Altogether, thus far, about twenty-five hundred dollars have been placed in the hands of President Peirce for the rebuilding. This, however, is only about two-thirds of the estimated cost of masonry alone. Of the money received already, one thousand dollars was given by Mrs. Julia Bedell; one thousand by Mr. J. P. Stevens, and about one hundred and seventy-five dollars by the students.

In spite of the discouraging circumstances that compelled President Peirce to lay aside his other plans for improvement, in order to rebuild an excellent hall, he has worked steadily and devotedly, and as a result the new Rosse Hall will be much superior to the old one. Not only has Dr. Peirce collected the above-mentioned sum, but hopes that he will soon have on hand sufficient funds to pay for all the work projected for this fall. Considering these sincere and earnest efforts on the part of the President, it is hoped and expected that every alumnus will contribute toward the new hall, and by so doing show his approval of the work so far completed.

Dr. Barker Newhall.

BARKER NEWHALL, Ph. D., who was at a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees, elected to fill the Chair of Greek, was born at Lynn, Mass., in 1867. He received his early education at the Friends' School, of Providence, R. I., of which he has been recently elected one of the trustees. He was graduated from Haverford College in 1887, receiving his degree of A. B. He was one of the honor men of his class being Salutatorian. From Haverford College he went to Johns Hopkins University, where he took post graduate work for three and a half years, devoting his time chiefly to the study of Greek, Latin and French. In 1896 he received the degree of A. M. from Haverford. He received his Ph. D. in February, 1891, from Johns Hopkins, and was also admitted into Phi Beta Kappa. He submitted, as his doctor's thesis, "The Dramatic Features of Plato's Gorgias."

From Johns Hopkins he went to Europe, where he studied Archeology at the University of Berlin, under Curtius and Kekule, and under Brunn, at Munich. He spent some time at the American School at Athens. While in Greece he assisted in the excavation of the Heraion of Argos and uncovered the Temple of Hera, where Agamemnon and the other chieftains took the oath before starting for Troy, and found a head of the goddess Hera, carved about the fourth or fifth century, B.C. This head is considered one of the most beautiful in Greece.

Dr. Newhall returned to America in 1892, and from that time until 1895 was instructor in Greek at Brown University. In '95 he returned to Johns Hopkins to continue his work in Sanscrit. From '96 to '97 he was classical master at Munson Academy, Mass., from which place he comes to Kenyon College. In the literary field connected with his department, Dr. Newhall has been very active.

He read a paper before the American Philological Association in December, 1894, on "Women's Speech in Classical Literature." The translation of "Tsountas Mycenaean Age" was shared by him. This book was published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1897. He has in preparation an edition of Plato's Lysis, Laches, and Charmides, which is to be published shortly by Harper & Brother.

Dr. Charles H. A. Wager.

Dr. CHARLES H. A. WAGER, the head of the English Department, was born in 1869, in Cohoes, N. Y. He received his preparatory education at the Colgate Academy, of Hamilton, N. Y. In 1888 he entered Colgate University and was graduated in 1892, receiving his B. A. degree. He was also elected a member of Phi Beta Kappa. From 1893 to 1895 Dr. Wager pursued his post graduate work at Yale, where he received a degree of Ph. D. He was for one year instructor in Latin at Colgate, '92-'93. From Yale he went to Centre College, Kentucky, where he had charge of the English work from '95-'97. From Centre College he comes to Kenyon.

Dr. Wager spent some time in Europe with Prof. Albert S. Cook, of Yale, supplementing his studies in Old English Paleography and English Classics. The result of some of his researches is soon to be published by MacMillan, being an edited text of the Middle English
Cane Rush.

On Friday, September 17, occurred the annual cane rush between the Sophomore and Freshman classes. The newcomers outnumbered the Sophomores nearly two to one, and everything looked as though the new class would be victorious.

Hostilities were not openly showed during the afternoon, but both parties went about in a body seeking for any lone person who had strayed from his class. Only one person was captured, and that was an unwary Sophomore who had left his class, trusting too much in his powers of intimidating the Freshmen. He was promptly seized and tied and conducted to the woods about three miles from college, where he was bound to a tree and left to meditate upon his folly. It is fair to say that the same Sophomore arrived at old Kenyon before the capturers had returned from the woods. One laughable instance occurred—the class of '00 had ordered supper at the hotel, but the Freshmen swarmed in before them and shut them out, so that the Sophomores were compelled to eat wherever they could find anything.

Immediately after supper the Freshmen assembled at Bexley Hall, where they spend the time in keeping up their spirits by singing until nine o'clock, when the rush proper began. The manner of rushing was changed. Instead of a wrestling match as heretofore, a cane made from one of the timbers of old Rosse Hall was used.

A little before nine o'clock, President Peirce appeared with the cane and delivered it to the President of the Freshman class, expressing his hope that they would be successful in their first struggle in Kenyon.

At the appointed hour the Freshmen marched down the path in a compact body, bearing the cane in the center, the object being to advance it to old Kenyon. The new men were met between Hubbard and Ascension Halls. After a volley of flour the Sophomores rushed into the crowd in a wedge and succeeded in demolishing the square.
For thirteen minutes the crowd swayed backwards and forwards, the Freshmen slowly giving away until the class of '00 finally succeeded in pushing the cane over the fence, and then time was called. The victory was a surprise to all since the advantage of numbers was on the side of the new men. Other things must be taken into consideration. The night being dark, many of the Freshmen lost their bearings and pushed in the wrong direction, thus helping their opponents. Then again the crowd was so anxious to see the rush that they entirely surrounded the contestants, so that even if it were possible for any Freshman to escape with the cane he could not have broken through. It is a matter of congratulation that no one of the spectators was injured, because the women especially, in their anxiety to see all, mingled with the crowd and obstructed both parties so that several times it was feared that they would be borne down by the rush.

The Freshmen took their defeat gracefully and built a bonfire to celebrate the Sophomore victory. Had the rush taken place in the day time and proper measures taken to keep back the spectators the Freshmen would have won. Another advantage would be that any attempt at foul play could be detected and the person removed from the crowd.

KENYON 14—DENISON 4.

KENYON won the first football game of the season against Denison by a score of 14 to 4, and it is to be hoped she may be as successful in her coming games.

Kenyon was strong in the line and played a steady game. Denison showed lack of practice, though she worked the old criss-cross play to some advantage. Doolittle's bucking, Conger's punting and Jones' running were the features of the game. Williams' work at quarter-back was also very commendable.

Kenyon kicked off. The ball was returned well past the middle of the field, but by good running and bucking, the ball was carried back to Denison's five-yard line. Cunningham was then given the ball, but he fumbled, the ball being caught up by Jones, who ran the length of the field for a touch down. Davis failed at goal. Score, 0 to 4.
Kenyon, by punting, again advanced the ball to Denison’s 4-yard line, when Robinson, by a splendid buck, scored. Doolittle failed to kick goal. Score, 4 to 4, which remained to the end of the half, although Kenyon had the ball in Denison’s territory.

In the second half, Kenyon, without much trouble, scored another touch down. Conger failed at goal. Score, 8 to 4.

Kenyon made large gains round the left end by running and kicking, and Kenyon soon scored again. Conger succeeded at goal. Score, 14 to 4. Time called.

KENYON 0—OTTERBEIN 20.

Saturday, October 9, Kenyon and Otterbein lined up on the Westerville field. The game was onside throughout, both in regards to the score and the possession of the ball. But nevertheless Otterbein had to fight hard for every yard gained. Kenyon’s ends were weak and they could not succeed in effectually breaking up Otterbein’s interference on the end runs. Both lines were strong, and Kenyon’s was not bucked for more than a total of 15 yards. Otterbein made her large gains in nearly every instance around Kenyon’s ends. The tackles on both sides were strong and played very aggressive ball.

Captain Lloyd won the toss and chose the ball, Kenyon taking the north goal. Lloyd kicked off to 20-yard line, where Rice caught the ball and was downed. Doolittle tried the center for no gain.
Rice cross-bucked for 5 yards. The next play was a fumble and Dempsey fell on the ball and it was Otterbein's ball on Kenyon's 23-yard line. Teter took ball and circled the end for 18 yards behind good interference. Gantz bucked for 2 yards and cross-bucked for 1. He again took the ball and by a buck through center gained the remaining 2 yards for a touchdown in exactly 24 minutes from kick-off. Teter missed goal. Score: Otterbein, 4; Kenyon, 0.

Doolittle kicked off to 10-yard line and Lloyd returned by a punt of 25 yards. Doolittle gained 1 yard and Cunningham took the ball for no gain. Kenyon punted on third down and Lloyd attempted to return by punt, but was blocked. Kenyon fell on the ball and it was first down on Otterbein's 15-yard line. Cunningham fumbled and Black fell on the ball, giving Otterbein the ball. Teter ran the end for 14 yards. Coover gained 1 1/2 yards, and by a mass play, Lloyd carrying the ball, Otterbein made 3 1/2 yards. Teter straight-bucked for 6 and Gantz cross-bucked for 2 1/2 yards. Kimble, by a tackle buck, made 7 and Coover tried with no gain. Gantz then circled the end for 25 yards. Coover made 5 yards. Otterbein succeeded in forming well her mass play and made 15 yards. Teter then went outside of end for 5 yards and Kimble gained another 5. Gantz was given the ball and cross-bucked to a touchdown. Lloyd kicked a pretty goal. Score: Otterbein, 10; Kenyon, 0; 44 minutes yet to play.

Doolittle again kicked off to 15-yard line, Coover catching the ball and running it 20 yards before he was downed. Harbaugh failed to get the ball to Gantz. Teter lost 3 yards. Lloyd then punted to center of field. Rice tried the end with no gain. Doolittle made 5 yards. On the third down Kenyon punted for 20 yards. Lloyd caught the ball and by a run of 75 yards scored. Teeter kicked goal. Score: Otterbein, 16; Kenyon, 0; 1 minute to play.

Kenyon kicked off to 30-yard line and Cochrell caught, but failed to advance before being downed. Coover made 3 yards. Lloyd straight-bucked for 6, when time was called, with the ball on Otterbein's 30-yard line and in her possession. Score: Otterbein, 16; Kenyon, 0.

With the second half the teams exchanged goals. Doolittle kicked off to 15-yard line and Lloyd returned 20 yards before being downed. Several long tackle-bucks and end runs followed, and Teter scored. Teeter missed an excusable goal. Score: Otterbein, 20; Kenyon, 0.

Kenyon kicked off to 15-yard line. Teter catching the ball and returning 20 yards when he was forced out of bounds. Lloyd circled the end for 25 yards. Teter cross-backed for 4½ and in falling had his leg badly wrenched, which necessitated his quitting the game. Mathews took his place. Mathews tried end with no gain, but in next play made the distance to first down. Gantz lost a yard and Mathews failed to gain, but in next play covered 2 yards. Otterbein failed to make the required 5 yards and it was Kenyon's ball on their 45-yard line. Cunningham made 5 yards through center and Rice repeated for 5 yards, when time was called with the ball in the center of field in Kenyon's possession. Final score: Otterbein, 20; Kenyon, 0.

KENYON 0—WESTERN RESERVE 30.

Kenyon played her third game of the season Saturday, October 16, against Western Reserve University. The game proved a very hard one. W. R. U. playing a fast and snappy game. Kenyon held up very well during the first half, taking an especial brace in the latter part of it. But just before the second half was called, a very strong wind set in, blowing directly against Kenyon. This proved a very great disadvantage, and Western Reserve showed they knew their vantage ground by punting continually, the wind carrying the ball great distances.

For Kenyon, Williams played a fast game throughout, making several very pretty and hard tackles. Pfau did good work in the line. In the last half Robinson did some hard tackling.

For W. R. U., Tingle, Kellogg, Sutter, Jones, Clisby and Carpenter did the best work. Their line held well.

The Kenyon team showed up well when they came on the field, the mauve sweaters setting them off finely. In a few moments the ball was being passed around the circle in very fast style. Contrasted to this was W. R. U.'s big circle of some 25, who were leisurely passing the ball around. The contrast was remarked on by many, but the event was to show that the University could play fast ball when necessary.

Eventually the teams were placed and the whistle blown, and the ball kicked off. It was downed 35 yards inside of Kenyon's territory, and lost to W. R. U. on downs. Jones and Tingle, by hard bucking, carried the ball over for the first touch down. Carpenter failed goal.

Kenyon's kick off was received by Jones, who carried it ten yards. On next half Jones made a good buck, but fumbled. The ball was again given Jones, who bucked through line, but was met and tackled by Fred Williams. After bucks by Tingle and Jones, W. R. U. fumbled, giving ball to Kenyon on their 25-yard line. After two attempted bucks, Kenyon punted to Carpenter, who was forced out of bounds after carrying it 15 yards. Jones again got through everybody except Williams, who again tackled well. Bucks by Tingle, Yeagle and Jones again gained a touch down for W. R. U., Jones carrying it over. Kellogg failed easy goal. Score, 8 to 0.

In second half W. R. U. took advantage of the wind and made continual punts, which the wind made look like very long ones. Carpenter kicked off. Doolittle returned punt, and after ball had been touched, got it and made a gain. Both teams punted two or three times, then Kellogg, Tingle and Jones made gains around ends for another touch down. Carpenter kicked this, the most difficult goal of the game. Score, 14 to 0.
Carpenter fumbled next kick off, but made some gain. On a punt, ball went to Kenyon in center of field. Rice went around left end for 10 yards. After 10 yards for off-side play, Cunningham gained through line. W. R. U.'s line sustained next buck. Ten yards were given Kenyon for off-side play of W. R. U. Carpenter at last made what would have been a good punt without the wind, but as things were, the ball was carried almost to the goal. Kenyon kicked against wind for 20 yards. Yeagle and Tingle, by a buck and end run carried ball to within 1 yard of goal. Carpenter carried it over, but failed the goal. Score, 18 to 0.

Sutter caught kick off, and Jones made 15 yards on a bluff kick. Single and Sutter on a buck and end run carried ball to Kenyon's 35-yard line, where a fumble lost it. Kenyon punted on third down, and Carpenter receiving it, carried ball back to 35-yard line. Jones then made his 35-yard run for a touch down. Carpenter kicked goal. Score, 24 to 0.

Sutter caught kick off, and was downed about the centre. Gains by Tingle, Sutter, Jones and Kellogg placed the ball on the 10-yard line. Carpenter carried ball over on a forward pass. Attempted bucks gave W. R. U. the ball. Off-side play gave W. R. U. 10 yards. After a fumble, Kenyon, on their last down, punted in touch, giving W. R. U. the ball on their 25-yard line.

After gains by Sutter and Jones, time was called.

Again ball was punted back and forth, the advantage of the wind telling greatly in their favor. But in another moment it was over again. Carpenter kicked goal. Score, 30 to 0.

A few more downs and time was called. The line up as follows:

A Pastoral.

W. H. M.

A maiden coy
With a college boy,
On a mossy hillock sate.

Said the dainty miss,
"I've heard that a kiss
Will often intoxicate!"

And the happy youth
Took the hint in sooth;
His courage never flagged.

He took a sip
From ruby lip—
And very soon was jagged!

Alumni Notes.

DIED in Girard, Richland Parish, La., on the 25th of September, 1897, Lewis S. Lobdell, '52.

Mr. Lobdell had not been in good health for some months, but it was thought that the worst was passed, and that he would soon recover his usual health. He retired to rest on the night of September 24 fairly well, but not coming down at his usual time, one of the family went to his room and found him dead in bed. The doctor, on being called, decided that he had passed away in his sleep, heart failure being the cause of his death.

'62-ex. In a recent issue of Harpers Weekly, mention is made of the fact that the first ascent of Mount Rainier was made by P. P. Van Tuemp, of Gelina, Washington.

'78. The Rev. C. M. Roberts, formerly rector at Hartwell, O., has accepted a call to Massillon.

'80. Through the efforts of Mr. Grove D. Curtis and others of the class of '80, the football team was presented with a set of football sweaters. This is a very thoughtful way for a class to memorialize itself, and it is hoped that other classes will not allow this to be the distinction of the class of '80 alone.

Harcourt.

The eleventh year of Harcourt Place Seminary began September 23, the new girls arriving the day before. The attendance is about the same as last year.

Miss Valet, teacher of modern languages, spent the summer in France and Germany. One of the girls of the school, Miss Lora Angell, of Bucyrus, had the good fortune to accompany her. They had a delightful summer.

Miss Rice, teacher of science, crossed the continent during the summer, spending part of the time with relatives in California, and part at her home in New Haven.

Our teacher of music, Miss Young, won golden opinions at Chautauqua. Mr. Derthrick, President of the Federation of Musical Clubs, wrote to Mr. Hills that no one at Chautauqua had delighted the vast audiences more than Miss Young; except Mr. Sherwood, whose place in public favor has long been established.

Miss Ruth Neilson, of Perth Amboy, N. J., one of the new girls, was ill with typhoid fever when she arrived, having had the premonitory chill in Columbus on her way here. Her father was soon summoned, but the best medical care and nursing brought her through safely, and she is now rapidly convalescing. She was removed to the cottage during her illness.

On the 16th of October, in the parlors, Miss Young gave a musical reception, at which Mrs. Robt. L. Harris sang. A novel and interesting entertainment was provided in the way of eighteen pictures each of which represented the name of a musical composer. These had been prepared with much ingenuity by Miss Morgan, teacher of art. The guests had great amusement guessing the names. Miss Collie Duncan, who guessed all correctly, was given the prize.

On the evening of September 23 the vocal pupils sang before the assembled school, showing admirable progress.

The latest arrivals among the pupils are Miss Mary McKenzie of Cleveland, and Miss Elizabeth Weeks of Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Mr. Hills and Miss Ethel Ayre went to Mt. Clemens, Mich., early in October. Mr. Hills for two weeks' rest and Miss Ayre for the benefit of the celebrated mineral baths of that place. They feel like recommending the beautiful Colonial Hotel and its elegant baths to all their friends in need of rest, or who may be suffering from rheumatism or kindred ailments for which the waters are a specific.

Miss Florence Dempsey, class of 1896, is spending several months at Mt. Clemens, Mich., for the cure of sciatic rheumatism.

Mr. Ernest Gamble, the magnificent young basso who is to star with Nordica this winter, sang to a delighted audience at Harcourt October 27. He is thought by many to be superior to Plunket Greene, the great Irish singer.

Mr. Hills gave the girls a delightful picnic at Union Grove, early in October. It was a perfect day. All the girls went, and all enjoyed it hugely.
We note with gratification, that Williams College is turning away students, so that the institution shall not become unduly large. All honor to the trustees and faculty who refuse to allow their institution to be glutted with students! It is a hopeful sign. Scholarship and real usefulness are due in a great measure to the personal contact of the student with his professor, and it is worthy of note that many successful men both in letters and science have greatly acknowledged that it was this close relation with able teachers which contributed the most to their advancement.—St. Steven’s College Messenger.

After receiving its share of the Stanford estate, Stanford University will have an income three times as great as that of Harvard, the richest American University.

Yale annually buys $7,000 worth of books for her library. Harvard spends $16,000 for the same purpose and Columbia $43,000.

In the long course of years that Cambridge and Oxford have met in athletic sports they have never had a dispute of any kind. Enjoying sport for sport’s sake they are never led by desire to win, to employ questionable means for victory.—Ex.

Lehmann, the English oarsman, will coach the Harvard crew again this year.

Harvard’s football team, as now constituted, averages 185 pounds per man. It is the heaviest team in the country.

Casper Whitney makes some pertinent remarks in regard to Notre Dame University’s athletic policy and says it should be placed on the black list along with the Holy Cross.

Casper Whitney’s annual selection of an All-American College Base Ball team was made during the summer, as usual. Casper failed to see any western teams play last year, consequently “All-America” remains in the east. The team chosen is as follows: Pitcher, C. L. Paine, Jr., Harvard; catcher, D. D. Scannell, Harvard; first base, A. S. Rodman, Brown; second base, P. Haughton, Harvard; third base, H. Letton, Yale; short stop, W. D. Phillips, Brown; left field, R. F.

AT COLLEGE.

"F"OR stationery, fifty planks,"
Thus read the little bill.
"O what a lot it takes," said Pa,
"To keep John standing still."—Ex.

THE TRUTH OF IT.

Fair maids afloat,
Fair maids ashore,
Fair maids of summer scenes,—
We know by rote
We've learned before,
That they are "summer" queens.

But on the wave
Or in the wold,
Not all, by any means,
Are fair to see
As we've been told,
For only "some-are" queens.—The Tech.

ALIKE.

Why is this savage like the maid?
This may seem out of place,
But both are much addicted to
The painting of the face.—St. Steven's College Messenger.

NOT FULLY RECOGNIZED.

A college course a race course is
With a difference though 'tis said,
For those who trot the fastest pace
Come rarely in ahead.—Ex.
A CHEMICAL ROMANCE.

Said Atom to Molly Cule:
"Will you unite with me?"
And Molly Cule did quick retort:
"There's no affinity."

Beneath electric light plants shade,
Poor Atom hoped he'd meet her,
But she eloped with a rascal Base;
Her name is now Saltpetre.—Ex.

A LA MODE.

As Demonstrated in "Soldiers of Fortune."

I. TO HER.

Be a man, energetic and quite without fear,
In a beautiful feminine way;
Avoid the glitter of gold, my dear,
And trust in the firmness of Clay.

II. TO HIM.

And you, my lad, must be ten feet tall;
If you e'er you expect to elope,
Pray do not consider the law at all,
But be moved by the spirit of Hope.

III. TO BOTH.

And when, my dears, you have nothing to do,
And wish to enliven the day,
Take a coach, and a queen, and a musked or two,
And Hope to protect her Clay.—The Tech.

RETURNED.

I placed on her sweet mouth a kiss,
As we stood 'neath the sycamore tree;
My heart it ran over with bliss,
As she shyly returned it to me.

I placed on her finger a ring,
As we stood 'neath the same spreading tree;
Now it's autumn, and then it was spring—
And she's also returned that to me.—Ex.
And Eve, no doubt, was glad because
Old Adam could'nt say
Her pies were not as mother made
Back in his youthful day.—Cornell Window.

The serpent, too, was much relieved
When Adam met his ken;
That Patriarch did not exclaim,
"I've got the snakes again."—The Tech.

The apple tree was likewise pleased
When Eve the apple bit,
For when the serpent gave it her
She did not answer "Nectar."—Chronicle.

No doubt what pleased old Adam most
In everything he saw
Was that with all the things he had,
He had no mother-in-law.—Baylor Library.

And Eve was also spared with wrath
That women often reach,
By ne'er being told that she was not
"Th' only pebble on the beach."—Blue and Gold.

The fruit was good and Eve did eat,
But Adam he said nay;
Then Eve caressed him tenderly,
Just like they do to-day.—The Athenaeum.

So Adam filled himself with fruit,
And found it very good;
Then laid the blame upon his wife,
As any husband would.—Volante.

But then, as now, to reach a man,
His stomach you must stay;
And Eve, no doubt, secured the cash
Her modiste's bill to pay.—Collegian Founte.
