THE news that the College has secured full title to the Harcourt Place Seminary will be received by all Kenyon men with deep gratification. Those who have gone before must retain pleasant remembrances of the institution and will welcome the announcement that it is to be continued. The experience that the men in college have had so far this year, has demonstrated by cold fact the benefits accruing to the surroundings in Gambier by the presence of the Seminary. By being deprived of its influence for a few months we are brought to realize just how fine it really was to have such an institution near us. As noted elsewhere in this issue, the committee has secured the title from E. H. Rollins and Sons of Boston. It is proposed to lease the Seminary and it will be opened next Fall. The Alumnae of Harcourt are making efforts to secure a large attendance and purpose to have a reunion in Gambier next June. The earnest efforts of those interested in the return of Harcourt have at last been successful and we express to them the deep gratification with which Kenyon views the re-establishment of a sister institution. Harcourt has had a most useful past and its history is a bright one. It has given to Gambier in the past an air of refinement and culture. The temporary suspension of this institution deprives us this year of many of the most pleasant features of Gambier life. The re-establishment will bring back all this; and the real detriment present this year will be overcome next year.

MUCH interest was attached to the football season of 1906. As a result of an agitation which was both wide-spread and potent, certain reforms in the great American collegiate game were made this season. In this respect the West took the lead and the most sweeping changes, aside from the abolition of the game at Columbia, were made in the Western Universities, especially those of the Big Nine. The Ohio Conference also made rules which by prohibiting the playing of Freshmen kept in line with the spirit of reform. Here at Kenyon even more was done by the advent of the athletic instructor and by the abolition of a Thanksgiving contest. So the season was closely watched to see just how far the new system changed the game.

As might be expected in so large a field of action many diverse opinions are the result of this experiment. Some old-time gridiron heroes denounce the change and one in particular declares the game rougher than before.

From a Kenyon standpoint the season has been a satisfactory one. While the Freshman rule lessens still more the number of men from which to pick a varsity team, we have demonstrated that the fighting spirit of the men who have battled for Kenyon is still present. The main object of this rule is, we take it, to prevent men from entering college for the sole purpose of playing football. In plain words to prevent the playing of ringers. As Kenyon athletics have been free from this fault we experience no change from the rule.

The coming of an Athletic Director to Kenyon has brought good results, especially as the first of these instructors is Dr. Dunlap. Dr. Dunlap, by his character and his actions has already won a large place among the men of Kenyon. His speeches in the mass meetings have engendered spirit and have roused the men in college to feel confident in him. We trust that Dr. Dunlap feels that he has the support of the entire student body.

The season opened with the game at Oberlin on the 13th of October. For several years now we have had a battle royal with Oberlin, during which time a tie score has been the most frequent result. The game with Case was a hard one for Kenyon to lose. Outweighed but not outplayed, the Kenyon team played in the face of the hardest kind of football luck and were beaten by the largest score of the season. The one blot on the year's record is the defeat by Heidelberg. This is the first time that Kenyon engaged in a contest with the institution mentioned and it is to be deplored that a better record did not result. The team played winning football against Ohio Wesleyan and it was unfortunate that a lower score for our opponents did not result. The State game, was, however, the game of the season. For some inherent reason this game attracts more than usual interest and the entire student body went to Columbus to see the game. State had played the incomparable Michigan Varsity to a standstill and her team was known to be one of the best ever representing the University. Kenyon went into the game determined to fight to the last ditch. Nearly every man on the team was outweighed by at least fifteen pounds. Against the odds of weight and beef and the confidence of a winning team, Kenyon placed her team in the field equipped with something more result-producing, a college spirit which had been developed by years of tradition. In the encounter that ensued the team of Old Kenyon reaped the glory. Defeated by the same score of six to nothing, satisfied with having played a heavier opponent to a standstill, the Ohio State game of 1906 will ever be remembered with glorification. Otterbein was easily defeated and Denison succeeded in defeating us upon a field rather foreign in nature to Kenyon teams.

Taken as a whole the season was pre-eminently successful. It demonstrated that while Kenyon might not be able to defeat her rivals, she was still able, although outnumbered by hundreds, to give them a good battle. The season brought into evidence the renowned Kenyon spirit. We are convinced that that spirit did not suffer during the football season of 1906.

PHILO NOTES.

At the last meeting of the Society, Wednesday, November 27, a spirited debate took place on this question: "Resolved, that compulsory chapel at Kenyon should be abolished." On the affirmative were Messrs. Sykes and Judd; on the negative, Messrs. Chase and Morrison.

A comprehensive review of the Russo-Japanese was given by Mr. Brooke. A paper on American and British Humors was read by Mr. Knapp. An extemporaneous speech on the "Recent Troubles in Cuba," was given by Mr. Lybarger. Mr. Underwood spoke briefly upon the new football rules.

As all of the new men are showing very marked ability and as the old men are taking a real interest in the affairs of Philo this year we are reasonably sure of an unusually successful year.

NU PI KAPPA.

The Nu Pi Kappa literary society has been very active during the past three weeks and regular meetings have been held. Many new men have been elected to membership, among whom are Dr. Allen and Dr. Dunlap. The society has taken new life and every member shows an active interest in the meetings.

The prospects of Nu Pi Kappa are indeed encouraging and she promises to make an excellent showing during the year.
AN ALUMNI LETTER.

Our readers may recall the reference in a recent article on "The Kenyon Home Guard" to an accident befalling Napier of the Class of '62. To be historically correct, Mr. Napier was consulted, and the following interesting reply is submitted:

"Your kind letter has remained unanswered some days. You ask me to write some particulars concerning the Kenyon Home Guard. I did not belong to this company. Soon after the breaking out of the War of the Rebellion, President Andrews offered his services to the Governor of Ohio. I think he was the first man in the state to do so. He afterwards raised a company in and about Mt. Vernon. He went to the front as Colonel of the Fourth Ohio Volunteers. His noble patriotism inspired the Kenyon boys with a military zeal. So in April, 1861, was formed the Kenyon Light Guards with Professor George T. Chapman as Captain and William M. Postlewaite as First Lieutenant and Instructor in military tactics. "Posie," as he was called, was in reality the Captain.

A mark was established on one of the posts in the basement of Ross Chapel at the required height, and every "boy" had to measure up to that mark. As some of them were like Zacchues of short stature, they put newspapers, etc., in their boots to raise them up to the required height. All smiled audibly when "your obedient servant" stood up to be measured.

One night we camped out near the college. Guards were posted, camp-fires lit, and, you may imagine, college songs were sung to a late hour.

It was on a Saturday evening, we had a "dress parade," and the ladies of the Hill presented each warrior with a rosette. Then Posie, to show off the company, gave orders, "Double-quick, March!" I being a high private in the front rank was soon on the picket fence that separates the campus from the barbarian world. Next I knew, I was on the ground and my left arm was an "immovable fast." The next Wednesday evening, Dr. Bourne reduced the dislocation.

That year we had no muskets, so could not learn the manual of arms. Afterwards we had wooden guns. So much for the Kenyon Light Guards. I think there was a company formed of Kenyon students, in the Fall of 1862, who were stationed in and around Cincinnati. The Rev. Henry L. Badger, '62, Pomona, California, can give you full information concerning this company.

Before leaving this subject, I would inquire whether a monument has ever been erected on the grave of President Lorin Andrews? If not, it is the duty of the Alumni to do so.

There are some customs of Kenyon that have either been changed or discontinued. Some of these changes are for the better, some for the worse. When I entered college (1858) every student belonged to either the "Nu Pi" or "Philo." The Nu Pi Kappa met in a hall in the basement of the East Division, the Philomathesian in the West Division. Both were secret societies, no outsider knew who were the officers or what literary duties were performed. An iron clad oath of secrecy was administered to each member when initiated. I was initiated in the Nu Pi together with Yung Kiung Yen, who afterwards returned to China, and was at his death (1898), the oldest Presbyter of our Mission in China. There were two literary societies at Milnor Hall, the Phi Delta and the Athenian. The Athenian was open to visitors, but the Phi Delta sat behind closed doors. All four of these societies are now sleeping with their fathers "and their sepulchres are with us to this day." In my Sophomore year (1860), Philo and Nu Pi moved into their spacious halls in Ascension Hall.

But I've gassed to you long enough about old days at Kenyon. Yet give me a cigar, and I will talk to you all night about "Old Kenyon, Mother Dear."

You may use these notes as you see fit. Either publish them in the Collegian or conserve them to the East River.

I enclose my subscription. Hoping to hear from you soon, I am,

Yours fraternally,

ALLAN NAPIER.

Greene, N. Y., Nov. 10, 1906.
(Of course, most of us know of the marble shaft marking the resting place of President Andrews, "neath the ancient oaks near Rosse Hall. This spot should be included in the collection of Kenyon College Views, as it enshrines the memory of a noble, forceful, patriotic soul that did so much, yet promised more, for the highest welfare of Kenyon.

Not often, yet every once in a while, it happens that one has an opportunity to read his own obituary, and so we recommend the perusal of this bit of history to the members of Philo and Nu Pi. There may not be so much secrecy as aforesaid, but some of us may remember the Philo's L. E. R. and M. S. A., and others may recall the mysteries of Nu Pi, and yet, if reports be true, either of these old-time organizations would make quite a lively corpse.—Ed.)

In another communication, Mr. Napier continues his interesting comment. He says:

I will not allow so long a time to elapse this time before answering your letter which was received a few days ago.

I said in my last letter there have been some changes at Kenyon that have been decidedly for the better. One of these is the building of that beautiful Church of the Holy Spirit. Now the students on the Hill have a suitable place in which to worship God. When I was in college the only church was Rosse Chapel. At the time of its consecration, permission was given to use it for holding Commencement exercises. This proved to be the thin edge of the wedge. Soon examinations were held there, 22nd of February exercises, and even Shakespearean readings were held there. The building had ceased to be a sacred place. So it was a joyful occasion when the Church of the Holy Spirit was solemnly set apart for the worship of Almighty God.

Another change for the better was when Hubbard Hall was built for the proper reception of the College library. Formerly one had to go to Bexley to get a book from the library. True, we had the Philo and Nu Pi libraries at the Middle Division. The present generation of students are to be congratulated in having a fine and commodious building for a library.

Another old custom seems to have died a natural death; the Illumination of Old Kenyon and the orations delivered by the orators of the Philo and Nu Pi Societies on the twenty-second of February. That was always a glad day at Kenyon. Has George and his hatchet been forgotten? Where is the Spirit of 1776?

Yours fraternally,

ALLAN NAPIER.

THE ASSEMBLY.

At a special meeting held November 30th, an amendment to Article VIII of the By-Laws was proposed. This amendment provided that "K's" be furnished by the Executive Committee from models in their possession instead of by the co-operative store.

Mr. Foltz addressed the meeting, explaining the plans of a Senior Committee to give a Minstrel Show in the near future and asking for the co-operation of the entire student body.

The regular meeting for December was held Monday evening, December 3d. The proposed amendment concerning the purchasing of "K's" was adopted. The report of the Secretary of the Executive Committee was adopted as read.

DR. E. R. LANG.

Apropos to the short sketch on Professor Lang issued in one of your November numbers, I have received an account of the death of Dr. Ed R. Lang of Walla Walla, Washington, in his 50th year who was born on Gambier Hill in 1848. He was a son of the old Professor and some time a student, just how long I do not know. "I remember Ed Lang very well and have seen him playing around on the college campus along with Frank Andrews, the son of President Andrews. Frank is still alive but Ed has gone."

As a doctor he was efficient in his profession and of excellent medical judgment. The remains were brought to Ottumwa, Iowa, for burial where his mother now resides.

G. B. P. of '62.

Interest in debating seems to be general this year among the Ohio colleges especially. O. S. U. has a debate coach who has aroused the interest of the students to such an extent that an unusually large number have entered for the preliminaries for the debating team.
FOOT-BALL.

Kenyon 4, vs. Denison 10.

In the last game of the season Kenyon was defeated by Denison at Granville. The game was played on a field of black, sticky mud. Here Kenyon was greatly handicapped, because, always depending on speed, in the muddy field the team could make little progress. Denison won the game on her successful forward passing. This was the first team that had ever worked the forward pass for substantial gains against the Kenyon team. It was said that the local team at Granville had been practicing just the forward pass all the preceding week. However, this may be, the visiting team was totally unable to block these passes which the Denison men worked to perfection.

In the first half Kenyon kicked off to Denison. After only a few plays the local team played the pass, and full-back Brigman, after a desperate sprint caught the Denison player only a few yards from the goal. Here Kenyon could not hold and on the third down the ball was bucked over the goal line and Denison scored her first touchdown. For the remainder of the half neither team made any progress. The chief feature was punting, in which Denison had a slight advantage.

The second half Kenyon received the kick, but being held for downs, punted. Then Denison a second time worked the forward pass and one of the players broke loose with the ball. Again he was downed only a few yards from the goal. This time the Kenyon line held and the ball down on downs, punted out of danger. A few minutes later on the same play as before Denison carried the ball down to three yards from the goal and from there bucked it over for a touchdown. During the rest of the game Kenyon took a decided brace. With successful bucking she advanced the ball within fifteen yards of Denison’s goal. Here Cunningham redeemed himself for the two times he had failed in the earlier part of the game, and kicked a goal from the field, giving Kenyon her only score of four points. During the last few minutes of the game it looked as if Kenyon was going to cross Denison’s goal line, but time was called at this point and the game ended with the score standing, Denison 10 and Kenyon 4.

The Kenyon line-up was as follows: L. E., Southworth; L. T., Platt; L. G., Dun; C. Sanford; R. G., Dooman; R. T., Bacon; R. E., Childs; Q., Clark (C.); L. H., Eddy; R. H., Cunningham; F. B., Brigman. Length of halves—25 minutes. Referee, Boyle, and umpire, Westwater.

INDIVIDUAL FOOTBALL RECORDS.

D. L. Dunlap, M. D., Athletic Instructor, graduated from Lenox College in 1901, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science. He then entered the University of Michigan and received the degree of Doctor of Medicine last June. Dr. Dunlap was on the Michigan football squad for three years, two years with the scrubs and one on the varsity. Injuries prevented him from making his "M." Dr. Dunlap developed a great team here this year and the success of the season is due to him.

George E. Clarke, ’08, half-back and captain of the team, Canton, Ohio, is 22 years old, 5 ft. 9 in. in height and weighs 151 pounds. Captain Clarke was prepared at Canton High and played football there, being captain of the team in 1902. Clarke has played on the varsity ever since entering college and is one of the best half-backs in the state. During the absence of Coolidge, he played quarter-back and his long end runs were the feature of the Otterbein game. Captain Clarke has always trained consistently and deserves much credit for his work.

H. M. Eddy, ’07, East Cleveland, is 21 years old, 6 ft. in height and weighs 150 pounds. This year was Eddy’s first upon the squad and he played a hard, consistent game. In the Ohio State game his long punts prevented State from gaining much ground and enabled Kenyon to keep the ball in State’s territory. Eddy was prepared at K. M. A. but did not play football there. He won his “K” in baseball last season.

A. E. York, ’07, Akron, Ohio, end, is 25 years old, 5 ft. 11 in. in height and weighs 150 pounds. He was prepared at Western Reserve Academy, Hudson and played on the team there. York made his "K" during his first two years, but was prevented from playing last season. This year he dislocated his shoulder in the Oberlin game and was out of the game the remainder of the season.

G. A. Sanford, '07, Fay, Oklahoma, center, is 20 years old, 5 ft. 10 in. in height and weighs 150 pounds. He was prepared at St. John's Military School, Salina, Kan. Sanford has the reputation of missing fewer practices during four football seasons than any man in college. For three years he played center on thescrubs and made the varsity this year. His work has been consistent and sure. His loyal spirit has ever been a fine example. Although out-weighted by nearly every opposing center, Sanford was in most of the plays and was a tower of strength in every game.

G. W. Sapp, '07, Gambier, substitute, was prepared at the Gambier High School. He has played on the squad several years and was used in several games this year at end and tackle. Sapp proved to be a good man and was a hard worker on the field.

G. A. Weiland, '07, Sandusky, O., was prepared at Sandusky High School where he played football. Weiland played a strong game on the scrubs his freshman year and was a good man for the varsity his Sophomore year. During his Junior year he was prevented from playing and his return to the game was welcomed this year.

M. C. Platt, '08, Mansfield, O., tackle, is 20 years old, 5 ft. 7 in. in height and weighs 150 pounds. He was prepared at Mansfield High School, where he played on the team. Platt played on the squad for two seasons and this year made the varsity. Although light, he is a fine tackle and played a hard game. Platt is a conscientious trainer and was always on hand when practice was called.

L. E. Bacon, '09, Findlay, O., tackle, is 19 years old, 5 ft. 10 in. in height and weighs about 150 pounds. He prepared at Findlay High. Bacon played several games on the varsity last year and showed up well. This year he has played a strong game at tackle and has handled his opponents in good style. Pitted against Captain Lincoln at State, Bacon played a sensational game. Bacon played one of the most aggressive games seen on Ohio gridirons this fall and his work caused widespread comment.

L. R. Brigman, '09, Newport, Ky., fullback, is 20 years old, 5 ft. 10 in. in height, and weighs about 160 pounds. He played for years on the backfield of the Newport High team. Last year he was playing a strong game at end but broke his leg. This year Brigman has been one of the best ground gainer on the team and played a good defensive game.

C. C. Childs, '09, Fremont, O., end, is 25 years old, about six feet tall and weighs about 160 pounds. He played four years on the Fremont High School team at end and half. Childs played in the line last year but was shifted to end this year. He played a hard game at end and was good at advancing the ball.

J. L. Cunningham, '09, Gambier, O., halfback is 20 years old, 5 ft. 6 in. in height and weighs about 150 pounds. He was prepared at K. M. A. Cunningham possesses much ability at drop-kicking and made many points for Kenyon this year. He plays a hard, fierce game and is a good ground gainer.

Sam Cureton, '09, Mt. Vernon, substitute, is 21 years old, 5 ft. 11 in. in height and weighs 145 pounds. He was prepared at Mt. Vernon High School where he played football. Cureton played in a game or two and although light, played a strong game.

V. A. Coolidge, '09, Cincinnati, quarter-back, is 18 years old, 5 ft. 8 in. in height and weighs about 140 pounds. He was prepared at Walnut Hills High School, Cincinnati, where he played on the team. He played quarter on the scrubs last year and ran the team so well that great things were predicted for him. Coolidge more than fulfilled these hopes by his playing this year. He ran the team with a snap and used good generalship. His tackling in open field was one of the features of the State game.

P. A. Dooman, '09, New York City, guard, is 20 years old, nearly six feet tall and weighs about 220 pounds. He prepared at St. Matthews Military School, San Mateo, Cal., where he played three years at guard and center. Last year he played guard and was picked by some for position on the all Ohio team. This year he was one of the strongest men in his position in the State. Dooman trains consistently and when in a game plays hard and constantly.

C. H. Dun, '09, Columbus, guard, is 19 years old, 5 ft. 11 in. in height and weighs about 165 pounds. He was prepared at Columbus East
High School. Dun did not play football last year but came out early this fall and soon demonstrated his ability. While not playing a spectacular game, he was a strong man on the line and played a consistent and steady game. He trained earnestly and played with a spirit that accomplishes everything.

G. S. Southworth, '09, Gambier, end, is 18 years old, 5 ft. 10 in. in height and weighs about 175 pounds. He played on the K. M. A. team for several years and made the varsity last year, playing tackle. This year he was placed at end. He played a fine game, being a sure tackler and a hard man to stop. His plunges at the State game gained much ground for Kenyon. Southworth was also a drop-kicker and made several goals from the field, one of which tied the score with O. W. U.

COLLEGE NOTES

Gymnasium for Freshmen and Sophomores began on Tuesday, December 4th.

Nu Pi Kappa Hall has been transformed into a resident hall. The men forced to leave the West and Middle Divisions of Old Kenyon on account of the renovating of that building, have been located there. With the walls lined with cot and beds and the center occupied by work-desks and tables, the room presents a cozy appearance.

A new roof has been put on the Observatory and new drains on Ascension Hall. Consequent to the latter the paths about the building have been replaced by ditches for some days. A spirit of renovation seems to have struck the Hill and instead of being awakened by the old Bell we are now aroused from our slumbers by the sound of the hammers of the thrifty workmen.

A new lectureship in canon law has been created at Bexley Hall. An eminent canonist will be invited to spend one week each year at Gambier and deliver a course of lectures. The faculty has invited the Rev. D. Frederick P. Davenport, Professor of Canon Law in the Western Theological Seminary, Chicago, to be the first lecturer.

The West Wing is nearly completed and will be occupied after Christmas. With the entire mission finish the new West Wing presents many a contrast to the former state of affairs.

Captain Dun issued a call for basket ball immediately after the Thanksgiving recess. A goodly number responded and a good team ought to be secured. Manager Lord is arranging a good schedule and it is up to the student body to support the team. Captain Dun is a hard worker and if he is supported in the right manner he will turn out a good team.

ALUMNI NOTES.

A recent issue of "Collier's Weekly" contained the picture of the Hon. Albert Douglas, '72, who was elected last fall to Congress, succeeding General Grosvenor.

Harry N. Hills, '77, has gone into the bond business in New York City.

J. R. Crawford, M. D., '83, is located at Salina, Kansas.

William W. Peabody, '86, has recently moved to New York City where he is the manager for a large brokerage house.

Charles R. Cary, '96, has removed from Detroit, Michigan, to New York City where he is one of the managers of the John Wanamaker store.

Philemon B. Stanbury, '98, has recently been elected a director of the Pomeroy National Bank at Pomeroy, Ohio.

Wallace H. Watts, '99, was married in August of this year to a young society lady of Rochester, N. Y.

Hart Stanbury, '00, is now a director and Vice-President of the Pomeroy National Bank, Pomeroy, Ohio.

Harold E. Langdon, '04, has returned from London, England, where he has been located for the past two years, and has gone into business in Chicago, Ill.

Albert M. Robinson, '01, is now engaged in the real estate business in Seattle, Washington, and has large timber and other real estate interests in that State.

William M. Wyant, '03, who has been in Chicago and Cleveland since he left college, has taken up his residence in New York City where he is connected with the American Bonding Company.
Edgar B. Wertheimer, '01, arrived in Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, on October 19th, where he will take up his residence.

Alfred E. Cass, '04, is in business in West Lebanon, Pa.

Edward A. Gorman, '04, is manager of a real estate agency in Columbus.

Marcus Gamellinger, '01, a graduate of Cincinnati Law School, is practicing law at Youngstown, Ohio.

HARCOURT.

Through its Committee, Mr. J. H. Dempsey and Mr. Samuel Mather, of Cleveland, the College has very recently obtained possession of Harcourt Place. For some time the Board of Trustees had owned a third interest in the place, the other two-thirds being held by E. H. Rollins & Sons, of Boston. By the recent purchase the title is to be turned over to Kenyon College within the next few weeks.

It is the intention of the college authorities to lease Harcourt out for a girls' school. Several lessees are in view, and the school will undoubtedly be opened again in September.

First, however, the property is to be thoroughly renovated special attention being given to fire escapes, both exterior and interior. The property is valuable to the college as much as a girls' school is imperative to the social life here in Gambier. The Harcourt Alumnae have taken a very lively interest in the prospective opening of the school, already having decided to hold a reunion here next June looking toward the securing of new students for the opening in the Fall.

COLLEGE WORLD.

Ohio Wesleyan and Oberlin will debate on the question: "Resolved, that a progressive inheritance tax should be levied by the Federal government, (constitutionality conceded)."

For the first time since its foundation the University of Pennsylvania will open its doors to women on January 1st. The institution is 157 years old, and never has a woman been placed in the same category as men and granted the right to take up the same studies and earn the same degrees. The trustees assert, however, that Pennsylvania will not become co-educational but that a complete and entirely separate college for women will be erected.—Ex.

"The Alaskan Cross-Bearer" comes each month to the Collegian and is full of interesting items regarding the work of the Church in that country. It is edited by a Kenyon man, the Rev. Thomas Jenkins, of Ketchikan, Alaska.

The "O. S. U. Lantern" announces a lecture by Dr. W. F. Peirce before the Phi Beta Kappa Society to be given in the University Auditorium on Friday evening, December 7th, on the subject, "The Mob Spirit in American Life."

The subject for debate between Williams, Amherst and Wesleyan has been chosen as follows: "Resolved, that the policy embodied in the treaty now pending between the United States and San Domingo is a desirable departure in American diplomacy.

Now that the football season is at an end, comments on the new rules are of interest. The "Springfield Republican" says: "It may be said emphatically that football has been made infinitely better both for player and spectator. It has been shorn of unnecessary roughness, and so changed as to put a premium on quick thinking and agility rather than upon thick-witted fat. It has also been changed so as to engender a spirit of better sportsmanship on the part of the players, and what is almost as important, on the part of their often over-zealous supporters. From the spectator's point of view, it has been changed from a protected collision of brute strength, painfully drilled, to a rapid, brilliant, kaleidoscopic struggle of combined brain and strength, in which the unexpected is continually happening. The spectators can now see what is going on. As a result there is less likelihood of irritation on the part of over-enthusiastic supporters, who, in the past, on seeing their teams beaten by indistinguishable mass, have often raised charges of "dirty football" for which there was no actual basis."

Joseph Medill Patterson, the young millionaire socialist, has enrolled as a student in the short course in Agriculture at the University of Wisconsin. He is the second young millionaire to register at the College of Agriculture. Fred Pabst, son of the late Capt. Fred Pabst, of Milwaukee, was a student there last year in the department of horse breeding. He resigned his position in the management of the Pabst breweries and has taken up the raising of blooded horses on a large ranch in North Dakota to which he has imported hundreds of the finest Russian horses.
