EDITORIAL.

It is always with a keen sense of pleasure, after strenuously battling with examinations, that we for a few days relax and indulge in the unbounded festivities of Prom. week. In all its pleasure, beauty and happiness, the Promenade of this year was no exception to those of the past. In fact if we were to venture a comparison, we might justly say that in many ways it surpassed those of former years—all praise to the junior class!

The week formally opened on Friday evening with an informal dance in Rosse Hall. This date for the informal was in itself an innovation which we owe to the remarkable creative genius of the Junior Class. In previous years the activities commenced on Saturday evening instead. The change is certainly a good one—Seniors take notice how well these Juniors in their freshman year were instructed in such matters of creative genius. It always gives to fond teachers great pleasure to see their pupils following the precepts of their wise example. Still, credit must be given to this illustrious class of 1910, that they were able to winnow the chaff from the wheat and to follow only those precepts of 1909 which were conducive to high moral and intellectual achievements.

The informal dance was well attended both by Harecourt and students of Kenyon as well as by many visitors from other towns. The music was excellent, considering the source from whence it came.

Next on the program came that play "A Night Off." This we shall pass over with slight comment, for indeed it seemed to be an off night for the players. The audience, however, were very well pleased and all appreciated the entertainment extremely.

Behold the Promenade given in honor of ten dignified Seniors! Is this all that remains of fifty-six? Yes, 'tis even so, the survival of the fittest. Passing on to the dance itself, strains of that glorious "Court House in the Sky" still strangely linger about the college dormitories. The seventeen encores were far from being sufficient. The fact that Mr. Johnston himself was present with his orchestra gave added spirit and zest to the music. The dance as a whole was a glorious success.

The entertainment furnished by the Glee and Mandolin Clubs on Tuesday evening was extremely fine. Credit should be given to Messrs. Tunks and Fullerton for presenting so fine a concert.

It is hard after such a week of prolonged pleasure and enjoyment to pick up again the drudgery of daily routine. Yet on the pages of memory we all can live over again those pleasant days and with one accord exclaim "The Prom was a grand success."

The Collegian is fortunate in the acquisition of two new men to the editorial board, Fred W. Carr and William A. Thomas. Henceforth we may expect the literary tone of the Collegian to be appreciably elevated.

JUNIOR INFORMAL.

The first event of Prom. week was the Junior Informal given at Rosse Hall, Friday evening, February fifth. It marked the end of a hard week for the undergraduates, and with the last "exam" over and forgotten they were ready to throw themselves into the mid-Huskie activities with a will. The hall was not decorated, since that transformation, according to custom, is saved as a pleasant surprise on the evening of the formal, but a large orchestra had been secured and the dance was an unusually happy affair for an informal. There were a large number of girls visiting on the Hill, and these with the young ladies from Harcourt, combined to add the touch which makes this annual Junior Promenade an event which is looked forward to by all undergraduates from September until it actually is ushered in by the informal dance at the close of examination week. Although not so elaborate, the informal dance was one of the best events of the week and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number who attended. The dancing lasted until well after midnight and it was with regret that the guests reluctantly wended their various homeward ways at 2 a.m. Saturday.

THE JUNIOR PLAY.

The farce entitled the "Night Off," played some years back by the famous Augustin Daly Stock Co., was given by the Junior Class at Rosse Hall, on the evening of Feb. 6th.

The play is a trifle overdrawn with a great deal of forced comedy, and is an exceedingly hard task for amateurs; but on the other hand, it possesses a few clever characters which help to redeem the faults and make it fairly entertaining. When such stars as John Drew, Ada Rehan and May Irwin could not give a successful rendition of the various parts, it is needless to say that the Junior Class deserves much credit for their ambitious attempt.

Although the action of the play was at times slow and boresome, the young men were always in the spirit of the situation and brought up each climax to a height that did not come far from the mark. The dialogue were not always in working order, but the constant applause showed that the audience overlooked this and were pleased from beginning to end.

Mr. Tunks, in the part of Marcus Brutus Snap, the Fly-by-Night actor, gave a clever interpretation of his part and his well-read speeches and easy movements helped out more than one dragging moment.

The part of the old Professor fell to Mr. Bland who, despite his suffering from a cold at the time, sustained his reputation of former years.

The female parts, assumed by men, are always hard, but Messrs. Fultz, Emerine, Hardy and Martin made them stand out prominently in the piece. The remaining parts in the cast were portrayed by Messrs. Wiseman, Siegrist and Rood, and to say anything of their acting would only be a repetition of former criticisms.

Considering the small stage and lack of scenery and stage paraphernalia, the setting was as complete as could have been expected. The waiters were short, the curtain worked successfully, and the lights did not expire, which in an amateur production scenes unavoidable. The one man to whom the success of the entertainment was due is Mr. John Haight, of Bexley, who very kindly assisted the students by stage and directing the play.

JUNIOR PROMENADE.

The 1910 Junior Promenade, held as usual in Rosse Hall on the evening of February 8th, was a great success from the minute the Seniors, in cap and gown, marched down the receiving line to the last strains of "Sing Me to Sleep" at 6:30, Tuesday morning.

Rosse Hall never looked more attractive than it did in its well planned decorations of the 1910 colors—blue and old gold. In the center of the top was hung a great octagon wrapped in blue and old gold which was connected by solid bunting to a smaller frame of the same shape some feet above giving the general effect of a dome. Down through this hung a chandelier studded with numerous electric lights. Both sides of the Hall were hung solid with bunting from which a canopy hung over the rows of bunting-wrapped benches, to the ground. This canopy was connected with the dome by long drooping streamers, which gave a very pleasing and artistic effect to the whole scheme. Rows of palms and ferns along the front of the stage almost hid Johnston's Orchestra from the sight of the dancers and in the balcony where supper was served the decorations were complete with bunting hung walls and small tables for four. The catering was unusually good and from forty to fifty were being served throughout the evening.

Johnston's Orchestra has never played better than it did on this occasion. The particularly good numbers were numerous and evenly divided between two-step and waltz. "Celeste Aida," "Court House in the Sky," "Mouse and the Clock," "The Palms," selections from "A Stubborn Camellia," and "My Rosary" were some of the more popular ones.

The patronesses were: Mesdames Pierce, Sterling, Jones, West, Davies, Newhall, Smythe, Walton, Devol, Nichols, Hall, Harrison, Wieda, Hitchcock, Trimble, Benson, Lee, and Miss Harriette Merwin.

The members of the Junior Prom Committee, to whom we owe many thanks for a delightful evening are: Messrs. William J. Bland, Lyle F. Emerine, Royal A. Fultz, Arthur T. Sackett, Charles D. Siegchrist and A. Blakeslee White.

"THE VIOLIN MAKER OF CREMONA."

"The Violin Maker of Cremona," a comediette in one act, by Francisco Coppée, was presented for the second time in Gambier on the evening of February 15th, 1909. It was produced for the first time some ten years ago. The cast which presented the play on Thursday night, may be spoken of as an "all-star" one, since its members had all won recognition in Gambier as talented performers. Mr. Marsh, who played the part of "Tadeo Ferrari," the violin maker so excellently has played successfully in many difficult roles since he first came to the "Hill."

The same may be said of Mr. Riley. His interpretation of the part of "Filippo," the disappointed lover, but victor in the contest, was very true and he had the sympathies of the audience from beginning to end. Mr. Tunks adapted himself well to a part which ill suited his peculiar gift of characterization. He took the part of "Sandro," the successful lover whose skill as a violin maker was surpassed by his rival "Filippo." The part was quite unlike that which Mr. Tunks played in "The Private Secretary," and played so perfectly, and too much credit cannot be given him for his work on Monday night.

Last, but not least in importance, comes Miss Wilcox, who played "Giannina," the violin maker's daughter. All who were on the "Hill" last year when Mr. Long's play, "The New Commandment," was given, can testify to Miss Wilcox's ability and charm as an amateur actress and the least that can be said in praise of her work on Thursday night, is that she has lost none of that charming ability.

On account of the short time given for rehearsal, some of the lines were confused, but on the whole the stage work went off very smoothly. The work of "making up" the players and managing behind the scenes during the performance fell to Mr. Haight, to whom great credit is due.

The "Comediette" was preceded by several "acts" of various kinds which made a very delightful "first half" of the evening's entertainment. The part taken by the children of the Sunday School was very prominent, and the cleverness which they displayed in going through their dances, bore testimony to conscientious work on the part of Miss White who, with Miss Welker and Miss Condit, had the matter in charge.

The entertainment was given for the benefit of the Parish House fund and over thirty dollars were cleared. This sum was good considering the inclement weather and the moderate prices charged for seats.

The program for the first half of the entertainment follows:

GLEE AND MANDOLIN CLUB CONCERT.

The home concert by the Kenyon College Glee and Mandolin Clubs on Tuesday evening of Prom Week, was probably the most successful affair of its kind ever held at Rosse Hall. Both the Glee and Mandolin Clubs did excellent work. The Kenyon College Glee Club of last year under the leadership of Mr. Cahall was considered nearly perfect. It is of great credit to the present leader, Mr. Tunks, that the singing on Tuesday evening was considered by many to be fully equal to that of last year's Glee Club. When the number of new men on the club and the noticeable absence in college of good voices, are taken into consideration, Mr. Tunks may well be congratulated upon the successful entertainment. The principal features of the concert were the solos by Mr. Macowatt and the whistling by Mr. Rood. Part second of the program was well executed, the students sitting informally about the stage. The quartette and mandolin trio were very good. Mr. Fullerston as leader of the Mandolin Club, deserves equal credit with Mr. Tunks for out of apparent chaos he produced a mandolin club that in execution may be said to have surpassed that of last year.

After the concert a farewell informal was held. The music by Jackson's Orchestra was excellent. The dance was for the benefit of the athletic department and was well attended by nearly all of the weary and happy revelers of the previous evening.

The program was as follows:

BASKET-BALL.

KENYON, 22. BUCHTEL, 33.

On January 23d the basketball team journeyed to Akron where they were defeated by Buchtel. Score 33 to 22.

Handicapped at the start by the strange field and by the injury to Crippen, nevertheless, the team played desperately and kept the score in doubt until the very end. Our boys played much better in the second half but Buchtel's lead was too large to overcome.

Livingston was apparently evident in the Kenyon team and this same fault has been evident in every game played so far. The men risk long shots when a little team work would probably result in a basket. Captain Cordillo played in his usual form and kept Kenyon in the game at all times.

KENYON, 22. BUCHTEL, 33.

On Saturday afternoon, January 30th, Denison defeated Kenyon in one of the most important games on our schedule. The week before Denison had given Oberlin a bad scare at Oberlin and in this way had brought their standing up.

The game throughout was sensational and time after time the spectators were brought to their feet by some long shot. Henry and Bentley made some wonderful shots in the first half and due to their efforts the half ended with the score a tie. Score 17 to 17.

The second half started off with a rush; first one team making a basket and then the other, tying the game up again. Captain Cordillo was better guarded in this game than in the previous ones and due to this he could not make his usual large number of baskets. Towards the latter part of the game Kenyon tired and the Denison team drew ahead. The game ended with the score 38 to 27 in Denison's favor.

Henry put up his best game of the year and made Livingstone, who is considered one of the best centers in the state, go some to keep up. Bentley also put up a rattle good game and it was his work that kept the game so interesting in the second half. Rockwood was the star for Denison. He made five baskets from a guard position and also guarded his man well. Livingston and Pine also played well.

DENISON, 38.

KENYON, 22. BUCHTEL, 33.

The Kenyon basketball team took their annual trip to Otterbein on Saturday, February 13th, and were defeated by the score of 39 to 33. The game was rough but very interesting. A peculiar thing happened when, after Bentley was removed from the game, it was found that Kenyon had no more subs. It was necessary to allow him to remain in the game. For the second time this year Captain Cordillo was removed from the game because of the fouls called on him. Kenyon easily outplayed the Westerville boys and made two more field baskets but the consistent foul throwing of Libecap proved our ruin. Throughout the game he tossed in eleven fouls. At the end of the first half the score stood 28 to 17 in Otterbein's favor. Henry was easily the Kenyon star, making six baskets to his opponent's two. Sanders and Libecap played the best game for Otterbein. The lack of coaching was again very much in evidence in the Kenyon playing and this brought about our downfall.

THE 1909 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE.

Manager White in giving out his football schedule states that he has a game with every team in the big Nine except Oberlin and the reason for not playing Oberlin is that they could not agree on dates.

The schedule is as follows:

Sept. 6—Columbus East High at Gambier.
Oct., 2—Otterbein at Gambier.
Oct. 9—O. W. U. at Delaware.
Oct. 16—Wittenberg at Springfield.
Oct. 23—Reserve at Cleveland.
Oct. 30—Case at Cleveland.
Nov. 9—Heidelberg at Gambier.
Nov. 13—Denison at Granville.
Nov. 20—Wooster at Gambier.
Thanksgiving—O. S. U. at Columbus.

Manager White had opened negotiations for games with Carnegie Tech at Pittsburg and West Virginia at Morgantown, but the games could not be arranged on account of conflicting dates.

THE CHESS CLUB.

Every Saturday night in the Sterling room, some five or six members from both the faculty and student body spend together a very pleasant evening over the most ancient of games. At the last meeting it was decided that the Chess Club should be re-incorporated as "The Kenyon College Chess and Checker Club." Accordingly, a cordial invitation is extended to all men who care to indulge in either of these games to drop around on Saturday evenings.

The ability of the various members of the club will soon be put to a severe test. Mr. Capablanca, who is probably one of the most brilliant chess players in the United States, has consented to spend an evening on the Hill, and to play six boards simultaneously with the six best players of the club.

Capablanca is a Cuban by birth and during the last few months has made a brilliant record in the chess world. A few weeks ago he defeated E. P. Elliott the western chess champion. Mr. Elliott was one of a team of twenty-two players who opposed Capablanca in his simultaneous performance at the Minneapolis Chess Club. Out of the last two hundred games which the young Cuban expert has played, since he started out on his western trip, he has not lost a single game. If any member of the chess club should happen to win from this invincible conqueror, it would be a great feather for Kenyon College.

MEETINGS.

Assembly.

Meeting held January 29, 1909. President Brigman in the Chair.
Following the roll call and minutes, Mr. Bland resigned as Secretary of the Assembly, on account of the pressure of other duties. His resignation was accepted.

Mr. Cunningham, as Secretary of the Executive Committee, made his report. This report was accepted as read.

The election of a man to fill the position of Secretary to the Assembly was then called for. Mr. Emerine and Mr. Lybarger were nominated. Mr. Lybarger withdrew, leaving the field to Mr. Emerine who was accordingly unanimously elected.

The report of Mr. Cassil, Chairman of the Honor Committee was then made and accepted by the Assembly.

It was moved and recorded to place the Rules of the Honor Committee in the By-laws of the Constitution. Mr. Coolidge proposed an amendment to the effect that the Rules should be read and signed at the first regular Assembly meeting of each year. The motion, as amended, was carried.

It was moved, seconded and carried that resolutions be drawn up by authority of the Assembly to boycott the merchants of Mr. Vernon because of their selfish stand in regard to Kenyon literary publications. Messrs. Wise, Lybarger and Tunks were appointed to draw up the resolutions.

Announcement was then made that Col. J. J. McCoik, one of Kenyon's most famous alumni, would open the Students' Lecture Course on the eve of January 30th. The Committee is to be congratulated upon the beginning it has made.

It was moved, seconded, and carried, that a committee be appointed by the chair to formulate an indoor Baseball League. Messrs. Carr, Fullerton, Coolidge, Kite, Mason and Southworth, (E.) were appointed to serve.

Capt. Cordillo made an encouraging report on the progress of the Basket-Ball team to date.

The meeting was then adjourned.

Meeting held on evening of February 17th, 1909. This meeting was called primarily to pass on the changes made in the Constitution by the Revision Committee. Several other matters of more or less importance came up, however, which caused the meeting to extend over a period of an hour and three-quarters.

After the roll call and reading of the minutes, Mr. Carr was elected to succeed Mr. Cott on the Dormitory Committee, whose departure from college caused a vacancy.

Messrs. Bland, Wiseman and Theobald, spoke on various subjects of interest to the Assembly.

Mr. Theobald moved the Assembly to adopt a resolution petitioning the Faculty of Kenyon College to grant men who "make" the Debating Teams, credit in required English. Credits in such work are given at the majority of colleges and there is no reason why they should not be given at Kenyon. It is hard, nerve-racking work and the men who are successful in it deserve more than the bare honor of making the team. Dr. Reeves is behind the movement and will second the petition when it is presented to the Faculty.

Capt. Coolidge offered some strong inducements to men who will come out for track and then Mr. Bland took up the main subject of the evening, the Report of the Revision Committee. The Assembly considered each section of the Constitution individually and carefully weighed every point before it was allowed to pass. The work of the Committee had been done extremely well and there was little that could be improved upon. The Constitution, as reformed, is published in the Collegian.

Nu Pi Kappa.

At the regular meeting of Nu Pi Kappa held on January 27th, 1909, Mr. Gorsuch was elected into the society and Mr. Dickinson was initiated.

The question to be debated upon in the Kenyon-Denison debate was then taken up and debated on: "Resolved. That the building of two battleships a year in accordance with the present policy of the United States is an insufficient rate of increase to our naval forces."

Mr. Hardy and Mr. Southward upheld the affirmative against Mr. Burris and Mr. Theobald who talked for the negative. The judges, Attridge, Wood and Dun, decided in favor of the negative.

Reports by Mr. Scott and Mr. Brigman, as critic and censor, respectively followed.

It was decided, before adjournment, to drop from the rolls all members of Nu Pi who have not been present this year or who have taken more than five cuts.

—o—

Philomathesian.

The officers who preside over the workings of Philo this year are:

William Bland, President; James Cassil, Vice President; Bartel Reinheimer, Secretary; Goldsmith, Curator.

At the meeting held on January 26th, 1909, Mr. Bates was elected to membership in the Society and Mr. Hayward's name was proposed.

The program set for the evening included a debate on the subject, "Resolved, That K's shall be awarded to Managers of Athletic Teams." Messrs. Lybarger and Cassil upheld the affirmative and Messrs. Emerine and Kinder spoke on the negative. The judges awarded the debate to the negative.

Mr. Cott then addressed the meeting, his subject being "Why Men Leave Kenyon."

At the next regular meeting of Philo, held on February —, 1909, Mr. Hayward was voted a member of the society. It was decided that Philo should take the negative in the debate on the government policy in regard to battleships. The debate for the evening was on the question which is to be used in the Kenyon-Denison debate. Messrs. Rood and Goldsmith took the affirmative and debated against Messrs. Martin and Lybarger. Mr. Fullerton and Mr. Gaines, acting as judges, gave the decision to the affirmative.

Election of officers took place at a later meeting held in the Sterling Room on Tuesday, Feb. 16th. Dr. Reeves was chosen Supervisor, Mr. Tunks, President and Stage Manager.

EXAMS ARE OVER.

O what a relief to know that exams are over, and that for eighteen whole weeks we can breathe freely again. For eighteen whole weeks we can go to bed when we feel like going and with our minds at ease, knowing that the next day will not bring forth those horrible examinations, to stare us in the face.

What joy to again go to bed and not have any of those examination nightmares. To go to bed and not dream of being called before the Faculty and summarily dismissed from College, because you worked all your calculus problems backwards, standing on your head right before the whole Faculty. Not to dream that the Greek would not stand still on the page, and that after you did pin it down and had written out the translations, composition and grammar questions, that it all faded from your paper and you had to hand in a blank examination book.

O what bliss not to dream that you had to take your Philosophy exam orally and that "Fat" ask the questions in Esperanto and of course the whole class flunked.

O, what bliss not to dream that you crammed until your head began to swell, and swelled and swelled until it got so heavy that it would have broken your neck had you not wakened up to find your head hanging over the side of the bed and that it is time to get up and take an exam in Devil's History.

Many thanks to Father Time for speeding that week, beginning January 30th and ending February 5th, by so quickly. Thanks to him that once more your mind is freed from those heavy burdens caused by that one little word Exams. That one little word that will cause you to shiver to your dying day. And when we all get to Heaven the first thing we will probably ask is "Please, God, don't give us any exams."

KENYON ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION.

The Kenyon Oratorical Association has been revived with new interest this year. Manager Theodore has arranged debates with Denison and Allegheny College, of Meadville, Pa., the latter debate to be held at Meadville. The Denison debate comes March 3, at Gambier and the question is: "Resolved, that the building of two battleships a year in accordance with the present policy of the United States government, is an insufficient rate of increase in our naval forces." Kenyon will debate the negative side. There are to be many competitors in the preliminaries soon to be held and added zest is given the enterprise owing to a plan which is being considered of giving credits in required English to those making the debating team. Several other debates are planned and it is likely that this year will see Kenyon making a strong bid for intellectual honors throughout this and perhaps other states.

OLD GLORY.

Often this year have we had the opportunity to raise our beautiful flag to the top of our new flag staff and there to enjoy the sight of the most beautiful, the most glorious, the most wonderful flag of any nation in the world—"The Star Spangled Banner."

On the 8th of February, Prom Day, Old Glory waved the welcome to every visitor on the hill and the wind did its part well in floating that magnificent flag straight out from the flag pole, nearly the whole of the day.

Then, on February 12th, the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birthday, the flag was again raised to do honor to the man who above all others, kept that collection of bright and beautiful stars together by dint of his wonderful mind and who with his own life blood cemented those stripes into an eternal brotherhood.

What a glorious sight it was on that bright sunny morning, on getting clear of Ascension Hall to see Old Glory floating calmly and serenely above everything. More than one man stopped and gazed, and as he looked at that flag which means so much, what a thrill of patriotism ran through him, and if he did not take off his hat to that flag, it was not the fault of the flag. For if anything should command respect, if anything should call forth reverence, it is that blessed old flag and what it stands for. "And long may the star spangled banner yet wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

LIBRARY NOTES.

In the first alcove to the right, as you enter the library, Mr. Dempsey, of Cleveland, has caused to be put on the wall, a brass tablet with Lincoln's Gettysburg Address upon it. On Friday exercises were held commemorating the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's birthday when the tablet was formally presented to Kenyon, and at eight o'clock that night Mr. Everett Cathell delivered his famous address on "Lincoln." This was given in connection with the Larwell Lecture series.

The smoke problem is one which is interesting to every one living in the city. In the February number of the "Review of Reviews," John Llewellyn Cochrane tells "How the Government Solves the Smoke Problem." His first statement is "The smokeless American City is coming in the very near future," and goes on with a very interesting account of how the government has grappled with the problem and solved it.

Nearly every one of the February magazines contains some account of the life of Abraham Lincoln, whose 100th birthday we celebrated the 12th of this month. The "Century" magazine has an article called "Lincoln, the Leader," by Richard Watson Gilder. Along with the article are quite a few photographs of valuable portraits of Lincoln. These pictures, together with the well written article, make this, perhaps, the most interesting of all the articles published in the February number of the magazines on our library shelves.

Quite a number of new books have come in within the last few days and are as yet uncatalogued. Mrs. James P. Stevens, widow of Mr. Stevens of the Class of '59, has given to the library a set of books known as the "Dictionary of Ecclesiastical Information," by G. Moroni. This set consists of 193 volumes, written in Italian and is the first authority on Papal Rome. There are a number of classical books among this last installment, the most important of which are the following: Dooge's "The Acropolis of Athens," "The Works of Xenophon," by H. G. Dasyus; "A History of Classical Scholarship," 3 vols.; "Mirabeau and the French Revolution," Vol. I., by Fred Morrow Fling, to be completed in three volumes. There are also some historical and economic books of great value and a few English books of reference. Among the collection is a book by Thomas Nelson Page, entitled "Robert Lee," the Southerner. There is a very interesting little book by Mary Winearles Porter on "What Rome was Built With," and one is quite surprised on reading it to find out the different kinds and colors of marble that exists in the world. To any one interested in country life and its influence on progress, the book entitled "Chapters in Rural Progress," by Kenyon L. Butterfield, will be very enjoyable.

BEXLEY NOTES.

On the evening of January 29th, the Rev. Chas. E. Byrre, Rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Columbus, addressed the Missionary Society of Bexley Hall, his subject being "Adventure for God." His coming had been announced generally throughout Gambier and opportunity of preparing for him was given everyone who might be interested. He made Bishop Brent's book, "Adventure for God," the framework of his lecture and copies of this book were scattered throughout Gambier. Considering all this the attendance, especially on the part of the College men, was not complimentary to the speaker nor to the men who were instrumental in bringing him here. Those who did attend can vouch for the strength of the talk and the effect which it had upon the listeners. After the lecture a social hour was passed in Colburn Hall, where light refreshments were served.

A very good portrait, in oil, of Mrs. Livinia C. Colburn, the donor of Colburn Hall, now hangs in the Bexley Library which bears her name.

On February 25th and 26th, the Rev. Dr. John H. Hopkins, representative of the Fifth Missionary District of the Protestant Episcopal Church, addressed the students of Bexley, Kenyon and Harcourt, at various meetings, on his work in the Middle West. His appeal for strong, self-sacrificing workers is a very strong one and should find a response in some earnest man or woman who is interested in social service.

Immediately following Lent, Kennedy's "dramatized sermon," "The Servant in the House," will be presented in Ross Hall by students of Bexley, assisted by Mr. Tunks and two other players who will take the feminine parts. This presentation of so good a work may be anticipated with a great deal of pleasure, without fear of disappointment. The proceeds will go towards helping Mr. Reisneider in his noble work in Japan, and no pains will be spared.
in making the production a success both financially and artistically. All that special scenery and an orchestra can do to heighten the effect will be utilized and the cast has been selected with great care.

Miss Greener, of Columbus, whose work at the State Institution for the Deaf, has attracted very favorable attention, will be in Gambier on March 26th, to address the Bedell Missionary Society of Bexley upon "The Appeal of the Deaf." Her work, which is unique in itself, will no doubt interest many. For instance, there are few who realize that a crowd of devoted deaf mutes "hear" the sermons in Trinity, Columbus, every Sunday morning, from the supple hand of Miss Greener. This is one branch of her valuable work.

ALMA MATER.

(Tune "Fair Harvard")

I.
Fair school of the sciences, technical queen
Of the vigorous Western Reserve,
We stand by you gladly with confident mien
For we trust in your spirit and nerve.
We've followed your colors, the white and the brown
In many a scrimmage and game.
You may be deficient in class renown,
But we're proud of you just the same.

II.
No moss-covered battlements, hoary with age,
No quadrangles, gateways and towers,
No wonderful legends to story the page
For this young Alma Mater of ours.
She shows no deep wrinkles, or silvery hair,
This lively, young technical dame,
But she teaches her children to do and to dare,
And we're proud of her just the same.

III.
We cannot gaze down the aisles of the past,
At the ancestral students of yore,
But we can be ancestors, rightly so classed,
Whom posterity can but adore.
And so as the future becomes the today,
And our little ones play at the game,
They may sing to us veterans, wrinkled and gray,
"But we're proud of you just the same."
—From Case Song Book.

STATE ORATORICAL CONTEST OF THE INTERCOLLEGIATE PEACE ASSOCIATION.

In connection with oratory a fine opportunity is offered to those who are interested in such matters. For particulars anyone can apply to Dr. Hall who is one of the members of the Ohio committee.

PRIZES OFFERED—First prize, $35.00; second prize, $15.00.

DATE OF CONTEST—The state contest will probably be held early in April. The exact date will be given later. Particulars concerning the Interstate Contest will also be given a little later.

OHIO COMMITTEE OF THE INTERCOLLEGIATE PEACE ASSOCIATION—Prof. Stephen F. Weston, Chairman, Antioch College; Dean Wm. P. Rogers, Law School, University of Cincinnati; Prof. C. E. Goodell, Denison University; Prof. A. Cleveland Hall, Kenyon College; Prof. C. E. Blanchard, Ohio State University.

Intercollegiate debating is coming more and more to the front each year. This is especially true in Ohio colleges.

The Allegheny "Campus" recently contained an article on the faculty of that institution from 1854 to 1854. The personal side of the instructors at that time was well brought out, and the article was most interesting reading.
Allegheny, Wooster and Dickinson have organized a triangular debating league. Two of these leagues already exist in Ohio. They are the Western Reserve-Oberlin-Ohio Wesleyan, and the Denison-Otterbein-Heidelberg associations. This year Kenyon will meet on the platform, Allegheny, Ohio Wesleyan and Denison, thus competing with one participant from each league.

The Ohio State "Lantern" bemoans the fact that the decreased state revenues this year prevent the erection of expected new buildings.

A movement is under way at Denison University to secure a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. Most of the Ohio colleges at present have this honorary fraternity.

Ohio State University Alumni are raising a fund to reward members of successful debating teams. It is thought the prizes will be fifty dollars each.

Recently an organization of all "D" men was formed at Denison. The object of the organization is co-operation in all branches of athletics.

A late issue of the Case "Tech." contained an article on the duty of an alumnus to his college. The article was most interesting. However, we are glad and proud that we can say that Kenyon's alumni are too loyal to need even such a gentle reminder as that published in our Cleveland contemporary.

PRINCETON.

The track schedule for this spring has been announced at Princeton. The unusual feature of the schedule is the increase in the number of meets during the early half of the season, while the indoor work is in progress. In the schedule there are five indoor meets, the first being with Columbia on February 13th. The first outdoor meet is to come off on April 20.

HARVARD BASEBALL WORK STARTED.

Last Wednesday baseball work was begun in earnest at Harvard, under the direction of Coaches Pieter and Mathewson. All members of last year's team except Leonard and McCull, who may return again, are in college. The pitchers look very well this season, in addition to Hartford who has had great success against Yale and Hicks last year's veteran, there is McKay who as a member of the Freshmen last year demonstrated that he had the goods. With this array of hurlers and Capt. Currier behind the plate the crimson batteries should be of championship caliber. The infield though not quite so intact, with the addition of some excellent new material should round out well. In the gardens the entire last year's field has returned. Taking all in all the prospects for a championship team have never appeared much brighter.

UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI PLANS A NEW BUILDING.

The University of Cincinnati is putting forth every effort to raise money for the erection and maintenance of an engineering college, by means of a municipal bond issue. For the present students in the engineering courses will be required to do their practical work in industrial shops about the city.

THE UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON.

Unique among colleges of the world, the University of Washington will soon be the possessor of several magnificent new buildings which a college would not ordinarily obtain in a decade. Lack of accommodations for the normal increase of students has resulted in a decrease in enrollment of new students this school year and the natural growth of the school has been seriously retarded. Now a remedy for these evils has been found in an appropriation of one million dollars by the state for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, which will be held next summer on the University campus. Six hundred thousand dollars of this goes to permanent buildings for the University. Three of the largest are the Auditorium, the Machinery Hall and the Fine Arts buildings, which are destined to become the University Auditorium, the Mechanics Hall and the Chemistry building.

These are all of pleasant design and finish, harmonizing well with the present administration building and besides serving in an eminently satisfactory manner the uses to which they are destined will be a distinct adornment to the campus.

Besides these buildings, built by legislative appropriation, there will be other permanent and semi-permanent buildings erected by various states, counties and societies, which will serve to house new departments and provide much needed class-rooms. Although it has not yet been definitely decided to what purpose each building will be dedicated, some have been assigned, as for instance, the unique Forestry building of logs and native woods, appropriately enough, to the Forestry Department, and the California State Building, a beautiful example of Spanish Mission architecture, will be used for recitation rooms in the Department of Liberal Arts.
ALUMNI PAGE.

The editor's plea, in a recent issue of the Collegian, for contributions to the Alumni section of the paper has not met with very satisfactory results. It is a strange thing that Kenyon men, who profess such devotion to the College, often take little or no interest in some of her most vital activities, when with no real sacrifice on their part they might do a lot of good. It certainly cannot be denied that a live college paper, full of interesting topics from both undergraduates and Alumni—a paper containing more than the stereotyped news items that deal with the routine events of college life, the marriages, deaths or new "jobs" of various Alumni, is a splendid thing for any institution to have. What we would like to see in the Collegian is more of the ideas of Kenyon men, their views on this or that matter pertaining to Kenyon, and—a little nonsense.

We boast a lot of our Kenyon spirit and yet how little of it is really applied in the right direction. How many Kenyon men there are who are content to be just what they are: Kenyon men; to attend perhaps an occasional Kenyon gathering, to contribute a few dollars every year to coach or endowment funds, and to return to the hill maybe every Commencement Week for a few days of such dissolve and intemperate alcoholic indulgence as they would not countenance in their normal lives.

We may well be thankful that they are not all that way. Even those who are, have, deep in their hearts, a sincere love and true loyalty for the old college, for when the opportunity to serve the college or to show their spirit is presented to them in active form—at a football game, an Alumni dinner or suchwise, they are among the foremost in enthusiasm and zeal. Unfortunately, however, the opportunity of doing a little something for the Collegian can seldom be so presented. That opportunity comes to the Alumni during his everyday life, and usually when he has other occupations that seem more attractive. Yet, how small a thing it is to do, and how easy, when you once get at it. There are over a thousand living Kenyon Alumni but of this number not more than twenty-five or thirty contribute regularly to the college paper. If each one of a hundred could send in something—anything, but once or twice a year, the paper would be more than it is now. Why cannot this be done? Why should a few do it all? Is an hour, or two, out of a whole year's time, too much for you to give in a cause that is truly helpful to your Alma Mater, when she has given so much for you?

In this connection, the editor cannot refrain from mentioning another matter much along the same lines. For a number of years past there has been expressed a great need for a Kenyon Song Book. Until the present book came out Kenyon had had no song book since the little paper bound volume issued in 1868. Yet there is perhaps no institution today that has such a wealth of beautiful and really musical songs. The editor, therefore, over a year ago, undertook the work of compiling a complete Kenyon Song Book and spared no pains to make it such a work as Kenyon men might be proud of. How well he succeeded in this he cannot say, but the fact remains that he received encouragement from all sides, and did his best. For over a half-year he gave up nearly everything to make the book a success in every way. The publishers, who have issued nearly every college and university song book for a number of years, claim that the Kenyon book is the most complete and artistic of its kind ever issued.

Yet how has the book been received by Kenyon men, for whom it was compiled? Last Commencement Week, when the book first came out, but one hundred copies were sold in Gambier, and of these the college took half for advertising purposes. A little over this number were sold through the mail before the book came out. The result is that the editor is $750.00 in debt. A part of this debt is being carried by five of the Alumni, the rest the editor is bearing with difficulty. There are, of course, many Kenyon men who responded promptly, but there are many more who, though they know well of the book and its character, have not taken even their single copies. It is to these that the editor appeals, in the hope that they will see fit to give him at least the minimum support that they can, by subscribing for one copy each. The book sells for practically what it cost to publish it, $2.00 per copy, and will be sent upon receipt of remittance to the undersigned at 15 West 29th St., New York.

BANQUET OF THE PHILADELPHIA ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

On Thursday evening, January 28th, the Kenyon Alumni Association of Philadelphia held its third annual banquet at the University Club at 1510 Walnut Street.

The Alumni had the pleasure of entertaining President Peirce. The other guest of the evening was the Rev. N. S. Thomas, of Philadelphia.
The Alumni present were: Messrs. Geo. F. Klock, Rev. Chas. Arndt, James Doull, Carl Williams, Dr. Chas. Aves, Chas. Browning, Rev. Chas. Fischer, Albert A. Taltavall, W. F. Douthirt and M. F. Maury.

After a most delightful dinner there was a short business meeting of the Association at which the Rev. I. N. Stanger, of Philadelphia, was re-elected President, Geo. F. Klock, Vice-President, and M. F. Maury, Secretary and Treasurer.

The Toastmaster, Rev. Dr. Arndt, then called on President Peirce whose remarks received careful attention from the Alumni present.

It was declared the sentiment of the meeting that the proposed changes in the Constitution of the College as well as the efficient work of the student body, towards self-government was a decided step in advance and should receive the hearty co-operation and support of the Alumni of the College.

The Secretary and Treasurer's report for the year was then read and accepted.

After listening to some informal remarks of the members of the Alumni, the meeting adjourned until next year.

M. F. MAURY, Secretary.

However much of a task the compiling of the Kenyon Song Book was, there was one feature of the work that gave to the editor an ever now and refreshed interest in his labors, and that was the pleasant correspondence had with many of the Alumni. It would be impossible to include here even the majority of those letters that are agreeable reading, but out of a bulging file containing some six hundred of them we have picked a few of the choicest.

It is really too bad that the letters cannot be reproduced here just as they are, for the first one given below, written by a Kenyon graduate who attended the academy and college during the years 1836-1842, is remarkable for the clearness and neatness of the handwriting. Its writer, Mr. Leander Comstock, is still actively engaged in business, conducting, as he does, quite a large celery growing and shipping industry, with headquarters in Milwaukee, Wis. Following is his letter:

"MILWAUKEE, Feb. 22, 1908.

ALFRED K. TAYLOR, New York.

DEAR ALUMNUS—Your communication, mailed Feb. 20th, reached me this morning. I am of the class graduated in 1842. During my time, 1836-1842, there were no college songs at Kenyon, and I may add, no baseball or football teams, no college or class yells, and very little hazing. These are all of more modern outgrowth.

Wishing you full success in your laudable undertaking, and not now having in mind any matter which might be of use or interest to you, I remain,

Yours very truly,

LEANDER COMSTOCK.

P. S.—The handwriting of your signature is very like that of my classmate and for a time room-mate, Joash Rice Taylor.

In an altogether different strain comes the following from Mr. William G. LeDuc, '48, Hastings, Minn. It is written in a small but legible hand on the back of one of the song book order blanks that were enclosed in the circular letters sent out to the Alumni, and we are giving it here in its exact form.

"P. S.—I cannot, any more, sing, people who have passed 50 years are debarred from practice of vocal music—by law of declaring nuisance.

"N. B. I have no objections to make to the efforts of my classmate Foster if confined to Athens, Tenn.

"N. B. I have no ears for music, or song singing, as one of my ears went out of commission when I was killed by a street car in Los Angeles six years ago.

"N. B. I have no money to waste for songs need it all and more for necessities, in which term songs are not included.

"N. B. Finally my grandchildren are not gifted with song capacity, and music of all kinds is done nowadays by machinery. Turn a crank and let a Victor record spit it out and some scriptural fellow in olden time said (as written) 'I pray thee have me excused.' The first thing I ever bought was a comic song book at an auction, eighteen cents, and my life was made tedious by the ridicule that ensued for the wasting of that eighteen cents. Songs. No thanks. Not any.

"Sent by Mr. William G. Le Duc, 1840, Hastings, Minn."

It should be said in explanation of the second paragraph of the above, that it refers to a circular letter, that was sent out with the Song Book circulars, in regard to the Alumni Cup and the proposed reunions of the various classes. Evidently, however, neither the Song Book nor Alumni letter found Mr. LeDuc in a receptive mood.

A member of the Class of 1901, who contributed considerable material to the book and was very helpful in its compilation, wrote to one of his former colleagues, of the Class of 1899, who had somewhat of a reputation during his years in Gambier, as a versifier and a wit, as well as a musician, asking him so supply the music for one of the songs. The reply that he received is certainly "choice." No doubt its perpetrator wrote it largely for his own amusement and while it can scarcely be applied to the Kenyon of today, those who knew the college some years ago, before the "Reformation," will probably find it more than one word that rings true. Here it is:

"I cannot attempt to do any work for the Kenyon Book—traitor to my Alma Mater that I am. How you and "Skinny" can summon up such sublime thoughts about those old beer-stained walls, I can't surmise. Your loving thoughts garst forth on the least provocation. Write me a verse, says one, 'of ye gray towers and old gray walls, etc., etc.,' and straightway there comes before your mind's eye such a vision as I never beheld at Gambier. The old lunks are transformed into faithful sons. The old college belfry and the dirty winding stair above it is a heavenward pointing spire. The Ascension observatory, with its far-famed Alvin-Clark glass becomes a staunch old sentinel. By a system of inversion the depths to which we have become degraded, are now the heights we may attain for we are loyal sons of Kenyon, tried and true—and a lot of other jelly.

"Why not write a song about the lunks as such? Wriet about the happy-go-lucky throng who get through with a shoe and a kick. There were a whole lot of us, and between you and Skinny and me, I needn't mention any names."

Coles Phillips, ex-'05, is completing a most attractive set of illustrations, to be reproduced in color, for a novel entitled "The Good One," by Miriam Michelson, to be published soon by Doubleday, Page & Co. The story has quite a clever plot that hinges on the identity of two sisters—twins—one of them a frivolous little social butterfly, and the other a girl with some serious purpose in life. Many amusing situations are created by the authoress. Both girls are decided blondes, and are most attractive—but wait and see the illustrations.

There's the lure of the foaming rapids,
There's the voice of the roaring falls,
And the winds that blow
And the streams that flow,
And the wild free life that calls.

Oh. the camp on the lonely prairie
In the cool of the summer night,
And the hills afar
Where the lone trails are
Bathed in the starry light.

Oh, the toss of the sloop in the trade wind,
With the round tropic moon on high,
Or to loaf all day,
Where the monkeys play.
'Neath the cloudless southern sky.

Oh, the click of the flashing raquets,
Oh, the howl of the husky pack,
And the lonely mush
Through the Northland bush,
As we follow the frozen track.

There's the plain, and the stream, and the mountain,
Each calls with a voice of its own;
There's the saddle's grip,
And the paddle's dip,
And the gleam of the campfire lone.

Then away from the crowded city,
With its endless din and strife,
To the woodland cool
And the quiet pool,
And the charm of the wanderer's life.

For a number of years past the members of the Chicago Kenyon Alumni Association have had an annual dinner on New Year’s Eve, and the occasions have never failed to be most enjoyable ones. The dinner this year, however, "fell through," much to the disappointment of all concerned. This was largely owing to the fact that the usual organizers of the affair were out of town. Still, there had to be some sort of a celebration in the name of Kenyon, and it took the form of several and separate informal gatherings; small, but "all there" with the "Hikas" and the "Thrill." By chance these "informals" met each other during the course of their spirited wanderings, so there was "something doing" after all.

Sunday evening, January 9th, Mr. Kenyon men crowded into the large hall of the Hotel Baker, New York, to join in an informal jamboree in the name of Kenyon schools. There was no program planned, and the members of the groups present merely met and talked. The Kenyon men who gathered at the Baker were quite a cross section of the association, and all, no matter how they may be classed, were glad to be there. The incident that took place later that evening was the fact that the hotel, by its activities, contributed to the success of the evening.

After the informal meeting ended the members of the association adjourned to a dance given by the Baker Hotel. There were several groups of students present, and the Kenyon men found themselves in a minority. But the night was a success, and the members of the association left the hall at two o'clock in the morning.

The following article, from a recent Columbus paper, may serve as an illustration of the "every-little-bit-added-to-what-you've-got-makes-just-a-little-bit-more" rule. Of course it was a Kenyon man who did it.

"It has remained for T. P. Linn to set the pace for inauguration committees of the board of trade.

"Friday morning, Mr. Linn, who acted as chairman of the invitation committee for the inaugural ball, returned to J. Y. Bassell, secretary of the board of trade, an envelope containing about 15 two-cent stamps, the remains of quite a quantity furnished to send the "bids" to the big function.

"This is the first time there has ever been anything left from the inauguration celebration fund. "To get anything back is a new sensation for me," said Mr. Bassell Friday morning."

will take up their residence at 2332 Del Mar Boulevard, Seattle, after April 1st.

1903.—Walter T. Collins, '03, who recently accepted a position with the Chicago office of Lee, Higginson & Co. Bankers, is traveling for that concern in the State of Michigan.

1886.—Edward M. Fullington, ex-'86, of Columbus, O., entered upon his duties as Auditor of State on January 9th.

1885.—John F. Smith, '85, who has been for a number of years the principal of Findlay High School, was recently elected superintendent of the schools in that city.

1882.—Irving B. Dudley, '82, United States Ambassador to Brazil, recently made a visit to the United States, stopping a short time in Columbus, O., where he met a number of Kenyon men.

1882.—James H. Dempsey, '82, of Cleveland, was a member of the Electoral College which met in Columbus on January 9th to cast the ballots of Ohio for William H. Taft for President.

1881.—Theodore M. Livesey, '81, of Columbus, and who was recently married to Miss Althea Mohler of Zanesville, O., returned, with his wife a short time ago from a European trip.

1880.—Newbold L. Pierson, '80, who for many years has been in the lumber business with his brother in Cincinnati, has become actively interested in real estate, principally in College Hill, Cincinnati.

1880.—Col. John J. McCook, '66, has been mentioned in no uncertain way as a member of the next President's Cabinet, and in the capacity of Secretary of War.
THE REVEILLE.

Work is progressing upon the "1909 Reveille." The only setbacks experienced so far have been the loss of Mr. H. S. Lybarger, '10, from the board and refusal of Mt. Vernon merchants to lend their support by advertising in the book. The board wishes to urge every man in college to help make the book a success by submitting work, either art or literary, to the editors. The Reveille, while published under the auspices of the Junior Class, is distinctly a Kenyon book and all Kenyon men should co-operate to make it the finest possible literary and artistic production of which the college is capable.

The art department is being well taken care of by Mr. H. K. Rood, '10; the art editor. Drawings are being made by Mr. Rood, Mr. Welch, '10, and others. Several drawings have been submitted by Mr. Paul Hann, ex-'10. Several competent judges have pronounced these the finest that have ever appeared in any Kenyon year book.

A ROOM-MATE.

When the nights are long and the mornings cool, Loth to rise and go to school, I lie in bed and feign to sleep, And hope my roomy will fix the heat, The alarm is buzzing long and loud, Vainly endeavoring our sleep to end, But every morning we both lie still, And fake a sleep until My roommate fearing cuts, Rolls out of bed and the window shuts, He may cuss a trifle as he turns on the heat, But the last few winks are mighty sweet, The trials of the first up are always bitter, And especially so in the middle of winter, When the wind gets under his evening clothes And feels like ice between his toes.

But a roomy to me now means much more Than having two names upon one door; His cares, his joys and feelings deep, Are mine before he goes to sleep, Perhaps my check is a little slow, Then the two of us his money blow, But the ledgers of friendship will always balance Without the aid of any allowance, Thus we live for these few years, And then we part with silent tears, Our paths thereafter may never cross, But our friendship made is never lost.
