inscriptions, containing the names of all who took part in the great conflict, with their class and rank. Those who fell in battle or died might be especially noted.

I can think of no place more conspicuous or appropriate than this. Within those sacred walls have been born, or will be born, all the sons of our dear Mother. Never shall those future generations fail to continue to gather in physical, social, and intellectual rivalry; this hall must be called if clearing house, or center of Kenyon's physical and mental life.

In communicating to the Bishop of Ohio this suggestion, we have been pleased to learn that he had anticipated us, and that he directed to Kenyon men at Richmond, and that he considers the place chosen a happy one. While his idea limited the memorial to those who died in the service, we venture to suggest that it should be a memorial of all who enlisted on either side, whether they lived through it or not. All who entered that great conflict gave their all, if necessary; all died in act, and we think all should live in blessed memory. Any well chosen committee, in consultation with an architect, can elaborate the details of such a memorial, and we venture to think that the expense of it will be so moderate that it would not be difficult for us to realize its accomplishment before all those who participated in the war shall have been mustered out.

We make this second attempt to secure a memorial with considerable hesitation, not only because of our own very humble part in the war, but on account of the few apparent interest manifested in our first attempt to bring the matter to the attention of the alumni. If the suggestions here made are not adequate, or if there are any of the friends of Kenyon who can suggest a better or more feasible plan they will find the writer always ready to forward anything that will be for the betterment and glory of Kenyon and her sons.

THE LAST S. C. I.

The cry has been heard constantly all over college that Kenyon spirit is on the wane, that traditions of which every Kenyon man is proud are rapidly dying out, that customs which give this college a recognized position among other Ohio colleges may never hope to attain, are slowly, but surely, passing away. There is no doubt in the minds of all the undergraduates that such is undoubtedly the case and yet the student body will do nothing at all to bring about a complete change in the present attitude taken in regard to the old customs and traditions.

Holding the freshmen too innocent of campus offenses and the upper-classmen considering themselves too superior to be accused of complacency, in this line, the present Sophomore class is receiving all the criticism for the present state of affairs. Unjust and uncalled for criticism on the actions of the Sophomores are heard everywhere and never a word is mentioned blaming the upper-classmen in the slightest degree.

Some person who had the interest of Kenyon at heart and who hated to see traditions fade so peacefully away into memories wrote a question on a small piece of paper and placed it in the Collegian box. The question was brief yet to the point—'What has become of the ancient and honorable institution of the Sophomore Court of Inquiry?'

That man's intentions were of the best and as such they should be given all the credit due them. But now listen.

The Sophomore class responded to the appeal of the college sentiment and gave an S. C. I. Numerous upper-classmen were asked, no begged to judge this affair which had been so heartily and sincerely carved by the upper-classmen and Sophomores and to every request came the same noncommittal tale of overburdening abstracts and various other excuses. Had it not been for Thurston and Hall an under-classman would have been forced to be judge. Neither of the two above named men have been in residence on the Hill for their entire course, yet they found Kenyon spirit enough to take enough time from their regular work to help preserve the Kenyon traditions.

By actual count there were but two upper-classmen present during the entire portion of the evening. And still the criticisms were heard everywhere from those upper-classmen that the Sophomores were the ones who had been allowing Kenyon spirit to wane. Not one out of every five or six men in college were present at the S. C. I. that night and it was useless for a few men to try and carry the entire burden on their shoulders.

It is perfectly justifiable for a man to keep silent in regard to his stand on the subject and then remain away from an S. C. I. but there is absolutely no excuse for any Kenyon man to air thoroughly his opinions on the subject and then make himself conspicuous by his absence as numerous Kenyon men did the other night.

The Sophomore class made an entirely unsupported stand for the "ancient institution" and will continue to do so—if they are supported by those who are so persistent in expressing their desire to see the waning Kenyon traditions re-established. If you desire to see Kenyon traditions live and prosper as you so vehemently protest that you do, why don’t you come out and show your desires by your actions rather than your words?

There will be another S. C. I. held in the near future to give the men around college a chance to show the stand they take on Kenyon customs and traditions. Will you be there?

John W. Clements

A remarkable number of Freshmen have succeeded in losing their yellow hats already this year. When the Sophomores made such an admirable selection of head gear they should see to it that it is displayed as much as possible.

Executive Committee Meeting. Oct. 27, 1909.

The meeting was called to order with Dr. Reeves in the chair. Bentley, Lybarger, Hartre, Tunks, Sackett and Hardy were present. In the absence of Mr. Young, Mr. Hardy was appointed secretary pro tem.

Manager White reported as follows upon the Reserve football game:
Balance on hand $ 37.50 Remittance $150.00 Guarantee 225.00

Total receipts $362.50 Total expenses $239.28 Balance on hand $123.22

It was moved, seconded and carried that Manager White be instructed in incur no unnecessary expense during the rest of the season.

Next came the election of the glee club manager and Mr. Sackett was elected to that office.

Meeting then adjourned.

Assembly Meeting.

Nov. 2, 1909. The regular November meeting of the Assembly was held in Philo hall, Nov. 2nd, with President Plass in the chair. Dr. Reeves presented K's for the season of 1909 as follows: Baseball K's awarded to Meers, Cunningham, Coolidge, Scott, lite, Barber, Van Tyle, Crippen, Simpson, Cardillo, Bentley and Buck. Basketball K's to Meers, Coolidge, Crippen, Henry, Sanderson, Cardillo, and Bentley. Tennis K's to Meers, Coolidge, G. Southworth, Mason and Henry, Tennis K's to Meers White, Carr and G. Southworth. Mr. Millsap was then unanimously elected as the member of the executive committee from the second constitutional division in place of Mr. Sackett, resigned.

Mr. Henny announced a Junior informal on Saturday evening, November 6th.

Manager White urged a larger attendance at home football games.

The meeting then adjourned.

GLEE AND MANDOLIN CLUBS.

Following rapidly the election of Mr. Sackett as manager of the Combined Glee and Mandolin clubs of Kenyon college, came the announcement that the annual "trip" will be taken immediately upon the return of the men from their Christmas vacations. This means that work which was to be accomplished in three months will have to be done in half that time. It means hard work and no small amount of self-sacrifice.

The "calls" have been well responded to and a wealth of material is at hand for use in both clubs. As the management places a limit on the number of men taken on the trip there will be a necessary "weeding out process put into execution in a few days. Those men only whose work and faithfulness attending rehearsals, warrants it, will be kept.

The outlook from every standpoint, is encouraging. A greater undertaking is planned than was ever attempted before, and from present indications, the clubs will be able to "make good" and back the manager in whatever plans he makes.

FIRE!

"In Hell for those who don't repent" as once said a reformer. But what has this statement to do with Kenyon college? The other night a fire occurred which once again should be a reminder of our unpreparedness for such emergencies.

Many of our college buildings are absolutely unpainted in case of fire. There are the buildings of Hubbard hall, Hanna hall and Old Kenyon with no prevention whatever in case of fire. There is not a fire extinguisher in any one of these buildings.

If the reader could only see the small blazes which occur occasionally in the students' rooms! But did someone say that the students would interfere with fire extinguishers, if we had any? Have not the students themselves a little fear of fire in Gambier?

Have we student self government in college to enforce measures of precaution with regard to fire? Have we a faculty in college with power to protect its own property?

A Senior.

The Ohio State Sanitarium for tuberculosis near Worthington, Mt. Vernon, was dedicated Oct. 27. Full accounts of the buildings and equipment can be seen in the Ohio State Journal Oct. 28 and the Mt. Vernon Daily Republican News, Oct. 27. This model institution is well worth a visit from Gambier.

AN UNJUST ATTITUDE.

The recent criticisms of Half- back Bentley are very unjust. It will be remembered that Bentley was put out of the Case game for alleged slugging and the next day several Ohio papers criticised him very harshly. As a matter of fact both the action of the officials in putting Bentley out of the game and the newspaper comment growing out of it was very unfair.

The writer of this article was within a few feet of Bentley when he was put out of the game and can say with certainty that he did not slug and his threatening attitude was only taken in self-defense. Wherever the Kenyon team has played this year the cry of our opponents has been from the start "gent Bentley," such an attitude naturally angers the man against whom it is directed and also tends to make the officials watch him more closely than any one else in the game. It is safe to say that had the officials watched none of the Case linemen, notably their left guard, as they watched Bentley, the former would have been ejected early in the game. Whatever may have been Bentley's actions against an old school rival in Columbus and we do not excuse this in the least, there should be no reason for the whole state to conspire against him to make him out a "dirty player.

Whether or not no one regrets his former actions more than Bentley himself and he has this year played a clean hard game throughout. The outcome merely serves to show how hard it is to live down one's reputation.

But the worst thing about the whole controversy has been the rashness with which some Kenyon men and alumni have believed these stories. During his college course Bentley has probably trained more consistently and worked under greater necessity that any man now in college. He certainly deserves more from Kenyon men than some of them have been inclined to give him.

On another page of this issue we print an article by a member of the Sophomore class relating to the B. C. L. and its present condition on the Hill. We do not agree with the writer in his statements that Kenyon spirit is on the wane or that Kenyon enthusiasm is flagging. To quote an instance the football team has been better supported in the last two years than for a long time. Nor do we think this condition is entirely due to the wonderful record of the 1906 team.

As to the complaint that the Sophomore class is unsupported in its efforts to preserve traditions there is much justice in the plea. We think enough has been said on this subject however and hope in the future to avoid mention of it. Kenyon traditions are very dear to all Kenyon men and our fondest hopes are that the best of them and the good in them may be always preserved.

"K" MEN SHOULD ORGANIZE.

Recently there has been some talk in college of having an organization of all the men who have earned their letters in any branch of athletics. Such organizations have been very successful in aiding athletics at other colleges and we have every reason to believe it would be just as successful at Kenyon.

It is naturally the case that men who have striven for their college and are as a result men of household credit in any branch of athletics have a natural interest in the welfare of the college and should be represented in the administration of its good.

A Junior Informal.

On Saturday evening, November 6, an informal dance under the auspices of the junior class was held in Rossie Hall. Nearly all the Harcourt girls were present and a goodly number of the college men. Some of the members of the faculty and faculty ladies also helped make the event a success by their presence. Music was furnished by Jackson's orchestra from Columbus.

Senior Informal.

On the evening of November 27 the Senior class will give an informal in Rossie Hall. Music will be furnished by Jackson's or- chestra chosen from the entire junior class, under way for a dance to be pre- sented earlier the same evening. This I dance we expect will be different from any other since it cannot be definitely announced.

Many friends of Whiting Avery '02 will be surprised to know of Mr. Avery's recent illness. He has been confined to his bed with pneumonia in Grant Hospital, COLUMBUS, but is now much improved.

The Ancient and Majestic Facade of Harvard's gin is colored in fitting mode by the students of Miss Morrow's school. A merry party of happy Hill Hillies imbibed early in the evening, dressed in quaint and unique costumes and wearing masks, to join in the ghostly procession. This mysterious line wound itself about the hall, many beautiful evolutions had been performed. Then the light was turned up and urged by strains of music, the ghostly carouse dominated the dance.

The two notable concerts given in Columbus recently by Mrs. Schuman Hincon and Walter Damrosch respectively, were well attended by parties from the school.

Later the masks were removed and, curiousity being disselled, games were played and material festivities tasted of.

AT OTHER COLLEGES.

The faculty at Ohio Wesleyan has decided that the university college club shall have no engagements away from home. The students are up in arms over the affairs but will probably be unable to do anything. If we may infer, the honorary professors would say they are making a mistake for the glee club should be a active force in every college. If not only advertise the school but gives many voices cultivation, which they otherwise might have had. The glee club has no out of college engagements it is very hard to get the men interested.

Dr. James Mark Baldwin, a American man, has been chosen as head of a national university to be founded in Mexico City under government auspices. He will direct the educational system of Mexico.

Eight men representing five Ohio colleges, took the Rhodes examination in the upper floor, page half, on Oct. 19 and 20. Kenyon was especially represented, sending men to try for the coveted honor of a scholarship to Oxford college. Of the men who took the examination were: W. J. Bland, Kansas City, Mo., Kenyon college; R. W. Carr, Youngstown, 0., Kenyon; W. M. Hanahalak, Akron, O., Hiram college; C. M. Lee, Ohio Northern, Miami university; Edward Wiseman, Springfield, O., Kenyon; W. G. O'Brien, Marietta, Varietas college, and Jacob Perry, Marietta, O., Marietta college, C. S. Burcher of Oberlin college took the examination, having been a candidate from Missouri; and W. R. Shepard, of Shelby, a student at Harvard but a candidate from Ohio, also took the examination in Massachusetts.

The examination covered the translation, composition, and grammar of Latin and Greek, Arithmetic, and Algebra or Geometry, and lasted two full days. The papers were sent to Oxford, England, for grading, as were all other papers of every other American examination held in all the States and British Provinces. The questions were uniform everywhere and the examinations were held simultaneously. The selection of scholars will be announce in about six weeks.

President Taft is to be awarded one of the titles in the gridiron championship which Yale men who play in championship games get at the end of the season. President will be treated in this way as a student, but when he is eleven, he will be allowed to break training from time to time.
FOOT BALL

The Case Heidelberg Game.

On Benson Field, November sixth, Kenyon defeated Heidelberg in a runaway match 59 points to 0. The visitors scored in the first half on a drop kick from the toe of Captain Adams and in the second, half, put over a touchdown after this player had made a long run and planted the ball on Kenyon's two-yard line.

Kenyon scored mainly as a result of long runs and some well executed forward passes.

The game was never in doubt and was more or less of a farce from the start. The men were shifted all over the team, many playing in positions they had never attempted before.

In the second half Kenyon's second string were put in and failed to equal the regulars' total score by one point. The subs rolled up 29 points as their share.

Henry and Bentley tore off several long runs in the first half as did Weaver and Williams in the second. Mason showed good form at full-back when he was put in that position.

Of the new men in line, Southworth and Jones showed up particularly well.

Bland and Young were the only men to play the contest through and J. Cable did not enter the game at all.

The game in detail:

the ball 10 yards. A forward pass to Williams brought 30 yards, and Lord went around the end on a fake back for 20 yards more. Henry circled end for a touchdown on the fourth down to kick goal. Score: Kenyon 6, Heidelberg 0.

Heidelberg kicked to Kenyon's eighteen-yard line where Young caught the ball and ran it back 20 yards. Hayward ran the ball a yard short to bring the ball to Heidelberg's 2-yard line by another long end run. Hayward then proceeded to add 5 more points to the score. Lord kicked goal. Score: Kenyon 30, Heidelberg 3.

Heidelberg's poor open field tackling seemed largely responsible for the large score in the first half.

Time was called almost immediately after the next kickoff. Score: Kenyon 30, Heidelberg 3.

Second Half.

Kenyon played the second half with nearly all her subs. Williams kicked to Harvey. Heidelberg lost the ball on an attempted forward pass. Young made 30 yards on a long pass and Young took the ball around end for a touchdown. Young kicked goal. Score: Kenyon 36, Heidelberg 3.

Heidelberg kicked to Kenyon, Mason, who replaced Lord at fullback, ran first 10 yards and then 30 around end. Young dodged through the Heidelberg players to their 30-yard line. Mason bucked 10 yards, Young made 5 more and Mason crossed the goal line for another touchdown. Score: Kenyon 42, Heidelberg 3.

Heidelberg kicked off to Kenyon. A forward pass to Weaver cut back 15 yards. Kenyon was penalized again for holding. Another on-side kick failed but Heidelberg lost the ball immediately on a poor forward pass. Hayward was tackled hard in the middle of the field and laid out for a minute but stood to the game. Heyman got the ball on a fumble and once more the Heidelberg backs made desperate attempts to break thru the Kenyon line but without effect. On the next down, Weaver with good interference, ran around the end and fifty yards down the field for a touchdown. Young missed goal. Score: Kenyon 47, Heidelberg 3.

C. Cable ran the ball back 10 yards on the next kick-off and Mason bucked the line for five more. Weaver and Williams took the ball far into Heidelberg's territory on long kicks and end runs, and once more Young scored on Heidelberg. Score: Kenyon 54, Heidelberg 3.

THE NEXT COLLEGIAN

HELL IS PAVED

With Good Intentions—Will You Be A Paving Block Or A Real Devil?

If you understand the application of the above after hearing the announcement that the Senior class will carry through the greatest entertainment combination in the history of the college on the evening of November 20th. It should strike you forcibly that you should get into the pot. It will boil over before your auditory has been amused... Thus the historic tale of the class of 1910 will produce the roaring fires (we leave it to you who does the roaring) called “Ye On Parle Francais.” You pay a penny a minute for thirty five minutes of continual laugh, and then, still riding on the wave of exhilaration thus caused you glide gracefully into one of Johnny Jackson’s inimitable foot-ticklers, or payment of sixty-five more coppers. Many visitors will be on the Hill to see us drunk Wooster and they will all be tickled.

Don’t be backward about coming forward; you can’t go too far!

Chess

The Chess club will begin holding regular meetings right after Thanksgiving. Students who are interested in the game might bring back their chess boards and men from home.

A tournament has been arranged between Princeton and Pennsylvania to be played by wireless.

Census Bureau Wants College Men

Census Director E. Dana Durand announces November 3 next as the date for making a practical test of the qualifications of applicants for appointment as special agents for the collection of the Thirteenth Census statistics of manufactures and mines and quarries. Blank applications may be obtained now by writing the Bureau of the Census. No applications which are received after the close of the business, October 25, will be considered.

In a circular of instructions relative to the subject the director states that about January 1, 1910, the bureau will employ from 1,600 to 1,800 special agents. As far as possible it is desired to obtain for this work persons who have college or university courses in statistics or economics, and persons who have book and service in the accounting department of some manufacturing or other business establishment.

When an application is complete in every particular it should be mailed to the Bureau of the Census at Washington, D. C. Care should be taken to affix sufficient postage to the envelope containing the application.

If the applicant’s statements as to his education in godliness and experience and education are satisfactory, and the application is complete, it will be mailed to the applicant advising him when and where to appear to complete the personal practical test in filling out a schedule such as is required in the actual work of a special agent.

Applicants must be careful to state in their applications the place selected for taking the practical test. A list of the places where this test may be taken is given below. The applicants must be citizens of the United States; between the ages of 20 and 60 years; in good health and physically able to perform the required duty; and of good character and habits. These facts must be vouched for by at least two persons who are personally acquainted with the applicant.

A Study.

It is interesting to notice a good student and to inquire into his mode of studying, to see what influence in his life differentiates him from the student of inferior standing. Probably no one thing has more to do with his success than the room in which his work is prepared.

He returns from his lectures tired out, but the appearance of a seat and easy study immediately redeems him. The cushions of the large, wide window-seat are a reminder of home preparatory school and fraternity, and they breathe forth an invitation to rest among them. Resting upon them, the mind is relieved as it lives over that part of the life of which they are a reminder.

The walls are covered with choice pictures, penants and views. One side is covered with photographs of the family and friends, another with the favorite actors and actresses, and a few verses from the last successful plays, while the side is given over to the winning teams of the college and preparatory school. Above the writing table is a hot box on a freight car on the sliding and quickly spread to the building. The college fire department was called out and did a fine job in saving the furniture in the study, in which most of the work is done. This is placed midway between the book-case and the study-table so that it is impossible to reach any book in the book case or anything on the table, without getting up. It is a deep-seated chair, upholstered in leather, with a wide arm on one side which serves as a writing-desk, and a basket arrangement on the other side. In this basket may be found pencils, paper, paper, matches, toasting, and a roasting pan, containing those which the student will want. The book-case is well supplied with the works of choice authors and with text books, some of which have been used and put aside, which still retain a valuable place in the study, and are often used for reference. The table, which occupies a place in the center of the room, is covered with a bit of everything and in the confusion it often looks as if we were impossible to distinguish one thing from another.

The student, then, returns to such a room, not elaborated in its furnishings, but comfortable, and finds it pleasant.
