Of a Recent Graduate of This College Upon His Return to the Hill.

Editor of the Collegian.

Dear Sir—

During a recent visit to the Hill I had such a peculiar experience, that I thought if I wrote it up you might make some use of it.

Having graduated from Kenyon about ten years ago I had not been back since until February 10th, when as I was going thru on the G. A. & C. I thought I would stop over between trains and see how everything was going. I knew all the gaities of Prem, were over so I supposed I would just see the regular round of college life which we may sometimes think dull and monotonous until it is all over and we look back on it.

Kenyon, I believe, has always had the reputation for the follies being well dressed, but I knew that if I went to the place with corduroys were in a decided majority on a bad winter day, so to feel more at home, I had put on a soft Image. Imagine then my surprise, when after bordering on the Hill through the snow to the campus just at nine o’clock as the classes were changing all the fellows I saw had on spick and span white collars and plaited shirts, with their hair brushed neatly in the front. This had ended rather pleasantly as in the old days, but I could not feel out of place and feel as they seemed. The climax was ended, however, when I saw a couple of us going the path together with dresses suits on at nine o’clock in the morning. And what was worse, there was a lot of uncongruity about them. They might for all I knew be trying to start a new style of going to class in dress suits, but I knew that Kenyon always had and always would have a high class of gentlemen who even if they were extreme would at least be consistent in their dress. But here was a fellow with the bottoms of his trousers turned askew into a pair of old run down looking high top shoes, and in spite of his dress suit he had a rough cheap cap on his head.

Not knowing what to make of it, I turned towards Ascension to see if they had turned the treasurer’s office into a tailor’s shop, and then I first saw the runs of Husb and Hall. Now I felt a worse pang of sorrow over the fire that when I first heard of it, for reasons of the safety of the library where I had passed many Section 6. It shall be the duty of the Executive Committee to elect the Business Manager and the Assistant Business Manager for each of the departments named in Article III, Section 2. A candidate must receive five votes to be elected.

Section 8. It shall be the duty of the Dormitory Committee:

(d) To enforce the rules of the Trustees and Faculty forbidding and keeping of intoxicating liquors on college grounds or in college buildings.

(e) To apportion all assessments upon the deposits for general damage.

ARTICLE XI

Section 2. Athletic Ks shall be awarded in the following manner:

(1) A seven inch block K, mauve color, to be worn on white sweater or sweater vest and a one and one-fourth inch K to be worn on cap, shall be awarded to each of those members of the foot ball department who shall have played all of 90% or parts of 70% of the intercollegiate games of one season.

The same requirement shall be necessary for a vote in the selection of foot ball captain.

(2) A six inch white Egyptian K to be worn on a blue jersey and a one inch white Egyptian K to be worn on cap shall be awarded to each of the members of the base ball department who shall have played in all of 90% or parts of 70% of the intercollegiate games of one season. A pitcher shall be awarded a K where he pitched all of 90% or parts of 40% of the intercollegiate games.

(3) A white Egyptian K enclosed in a circle to be worn only on a blue jersey shall be awarded to each of those members of the basket ball department who shall have played all of 50% or parts of 70% of the intercollegiate games.

(4) A white block K enclosed in a circle to be worn only on a blue jersey shall be awarded to each of those members of the track department who shall have won a dual meet with a "Big Six Conference" team or who shall have won one point in the "Big Six Conference" meet, or who shall have broken a Kenyon record in winning a first place in any intercollegiate meet, or who shall have been a member of the relay team winning first place in competition with a "Big Six Conference" team.

(5) A four inch mauve Egyptian K over two crossed racquets shall be awarded to each of those members of the tennis department who shall have won a place by tournament in the college team.

(6) Managers of the foot ball and base ball teams shall be entitled to wear Ks on caps as prescribed for their respective teams.

(7) Only those freshmen who have done faithful service in the respective athletic department shall be allowed to wear their class numerals; those numerals shall be awarded by the Executive Committee on recommendation of the respective captains.

REBELLION

Struggle Between the Faculty and Students Fifty Years Ago.

It seems that fifty years ago the wholesale cutting off of a class was a serious proposition; more serious than the event is today. The following excerpt should prove interesting to every Kenyon man.

The Concert and Third Kenyon Rebellion.

Any excitement in Gambier, is as much of an anomaly as a dance at a funeral, or as the oft mentioned, but never experienced, "shrieking on the 4th of July." But strange as it may seem, the "ill" has been fairly shaken to its base with that dread thing—excitement not religious excitement, nor any species of natural excitement, but something far more terrible in name, a "College Mass." But we are rather digressing. The "Concert" comes first in our historical memorandum.

On Monday evening, January 30th, a concert was held in the New Kappa Hall. The entertainment was given by Miss Lerned, of the Grenville Female Seminary, for the benefit of that society. Miss Lerned was assisted by several of her pupils, and it is needless to say that the entertainment was a success from beginning to end. This much for the entertainment and now to the "rebellion."

The Third Kenyon Rebellion was no pure affair, but a genuine old school transaction, which compares very favorably with its predecessors.

Owing to the concert which was given on Monday evening, and which consumed the usual time devoted to the preparation of the recitations, and as the members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes, who are connected with the Literary Hall, for whose benefit the concert was given, would necessarily be occupied the following morning in looking after the furniture, piano, etc., which were used the evening previous, the two classes before mentioned, voted not to attend the 8 o'clock recitations. The resolution was adhered to by all except one from the Sophomore and two from the Freshman class. The Faculty deeming this a violation of College Law, took immediate action upon the subject; and at Evening Prayer the President announced, that as a penalty for the offense, the signatures of the members of the two classes must be affixed to the following pledge.

We, the undersigned members of the Sophomore and Freshman classes, hereby express our regret at the class combination entered into yesterday, not to attend recitations this morning; and we here by pledge our honor as students, to make up the omitted recitation, and to write it at 5 o'clock on Wednesday next; and in concluding with our future connection with this institution, we will refuse to encourage or enter into any combination, class or otherwise, the object of which shall be to evade, disobey or resist any law or regulation requiring regular attendance at classes.

The classes held meetings during the evening at which resolutions were adopted, declaring their willingness to make up the recitation and to recite it at the appointed time, but declared their unwillingness to sign the pledge required by the faculty. At the appointed time, the classes met to make up the omitted lessons, but the "obnoxious" pledge stared them in the face.

In the Sophomore but two signed the pledge and in the Freshman, not more than six. Those who declined complying with the requirement were informed that they were "dismissed" and during the afternoon and evening they were individually informed by different members of the Faculty, that their immediate departure from the "ill" would be expected.

By Friday afternoon, little progress seemed to be made in leaving taking, and during the evening most of the dismissed brothers signed the document, after it had been variously interpreted by different members of the Faculty so that much of the objectionable features had been removed in the process of interpretation. Four from the Sophomore class and two from the Freshman class refused to comply with the demands and had accordingly returned to their homes.

In this way ended the Third Kenyon Rebellion, and we would advise students, if they are ever tempted to enter any combination, by which they will leave the different members of the Faculty without a class, they should think twice, before they act.

The athletic committee at Indiana recently made a new ruling which bars athletes of that institution from participating in intercollegiate athletics more than two terms of the same academic year. This rule is intended to prevent students from excelling grades for athletic honors.

In an editorial in the Daily Princetonian last week the editor took occasion to review the record of the Princeton honor system, which was inaugurated seventeen years ago. He said that the system had proved highly satisfactory at Princeton and that it has resulted in the establishment of a high standard of classroom honor at that university. He declares that cheating is practically unknown at Princeton and attributes this condition of affairs to the beneficial influence of the honor system.

The Harvard Lampoon is constructing a building which will be devoted entirely to its own interests. It is the first time a humorous college publication has attempted such a thing.

THE KENYON COLLEGIAN

has drifted away somewhat from the views of yesterday.

Taking then the non-attendance of the literary societies as more one of the many results of this change in spirit and attitude of the life on the Hill we are moved to speak out against and ask earnestly for the growing tendency toward sectionalism or more properly speaking "divisionalism" which is making itself more and more apparent here at Kenyon College.

If one but stop a moment and compare the tone of Kenyon life of today and that of the past one is struck by a certain consciousness of an almost imperceptible falseness in the life of today. It is as if one note in a chord were flat.

The harmony of Kenyon life depends upon the relationship and communication of the men here; attendance. Should this relationship and communication be estranged or even in the slightest degree the result is not harmony but discord, flatness if you please. It is possible that the writer has struck a false note in thus writing. This however, has only been written after a careful attention to conditions and special attempt to place himself in such a position as to most easily appreciate anything of the above nature. We are firmly convinced that something is wrong, the cause of which we are not prepared to account for, but the results of which we believe are every day apparent to a Kenyon man who considers the welfare of his Alma Mater in the same light as he views his own.

What is to be done to relieve the situation—

In this day of artistic placards, when one's eyes meet everywhere flowings truths and tabloid sermons, the average man tired of being told to "Get Busy!" and "Work, for the Night is Coming" by colored cards placed around his desk rejoices when he finds a quieter, more genuine bit of reading. Hence when we weary of reading "Symphonies" and of being reminded of the futility of man's existence came across a bit of philosophy from the Far East and learned that it should be given some prominence. It is with this idea therefore that we include in these columns that epitome of life given as a foreword in Sir Gilbert Parker's book "The Weavers." It is quoted by him.

"Dost thou spread the sail, throw the spear, swing the ax, lay thy hand upon the plough, attend the furnace door, shepherd sheep upon the hills, gather corn field the forms and sit the rock in the quarry! Yet whatever thy task, thou art even as one who twists the thread and throws the shuttle, weaving the thread of life. To him who weaves and Allah the Merciful, does He not watch beside the loom?"

In publishing and editing a paper of the type of the Collegian sincere and frank criticism or suggestion is appreciated by the board of editors. Of such nature is the following article which we publish.

To the Editor of the Collegian:

It has occurred to the writer on reading a recent number of the Collegian that there is a noticeable lack of critical views of our college events, and in this connection I venture to offer a suggestion to the Collegian board with no thought of fault finding, but with the idea that it may perhaps be of some assistance in making the paper brighter and more interesting.

Many of our college events have best be passed over with as few words as possible; from the very nature of this college—its small student body, its limited opportunities and capabilities—there must of necessity be failures in all lines of activity. It is perhaps not well to dwell upon a failure that is due to mere circumstance; on the other hand it is poor policy to pass lightly over a failure for which someone is evidently responsible. Occasional failure is a necessary step towards success and it should be reckoned with fairly and squarely and not hedged, or the lesson that it conveys has no significance.

As a specific instance to illustrate this idea—If a reporter is sent to a Glee Club concert for the purpose of writing a Collegian article, he should be a man who has some knowledge of music and the ability to form and express a critical review of the evening's performance. It is not enough for the reader of the Collegian to learn that there was a Glee Club concert and that as a whole it was exceedingly enjoyable; the average man would be glad to know more of the details of the concert and just how the various numbers appealed to the audience. Such an article would be of genuine value to the members of the Glee Club in that it would suggest possible improvements for the concerts on the annual trip, and such a review would certainly be more interesting to Collegian readers in general than a mere casual comment of the concert as a whole. It must be born in mind that criticism is not necessarily a process of fault finding; it may approve as well as disapprove of that which it analyzes. The reporter who is sent to review a college event should not feel that he must spend his evening in picking flaws; rather let him go with the idea of finding details to praise. If his notice is to be of any value whatever as a critical review, it must go into detail and not generalize.

Critical comment is a dangerous weapon if not used with great care; it often wounds where no harm is intended so that there are those who believe that criticism is of no value and at all times out of place. The writer believes, however, that the Collegian could well adopt more critical comment in its columns, and trust to broad mindedness and fairness of its readers to misconstrue or re- view what is intended only as an aid towards the success of our college activities. Criticism involves discussion, and discussion is sadly needed in many of the affairs of Kenyon college.

LAWLURE LECTURE

On March third the students of Kenyon will have the opportunity of hearing S. S. McClure, one of the greatest editors of his time. The Michigan Daily gives a review of the life of this "Scotch-Irish" American who with uncanny wit and perseverance raised himself from a poor farmer boy to the leadership of a great publication. He did a few other poor-boys have done. He went to the city and "made good." He has been so fortunate from the start, and his career has been as rapid as brilliant. Genius will make it. His long journalistic training and his career has made him conversant with a vast amount of subjects of world-wide interest, and besides he is an erector of the first rank. Any man who misses hearing 'Sam' McClure is doing himself an injustice.

BEXLEY

Column—Interesting News from Either End of the Path

Every night at nine forty-five the bells at Bexley call the men to complete service. These services held in the later and quieter hours of the evening are enjoyed by many of the Bexley men.

The Rev. Edward S. Barkhill, '95, Bexley, rector of St. James Church, Oneonta, N. Y., has been called to the rectordship of St. Paul's, Beverly, Mass. He will be welcomed with a special committee designated by the executive committee.

The vestry of the Church at Bexley have appointed Rev. F. A. Heizer of the Diocese of Pittsburg to be missionary in charge of Pindall and Kenton.

The Rev. R. C. Clayborn, Kenton, Ohio, has received a call to a church in Highland Park, Montgomery, Ala.

It is rumored that Mr. Kirk Bassett O'Ferrall, Kenyon '09, will enter Bexley Hall next year.

Column—Interesting News from Either End of the Path

Mr. A. E. Jones has returned to Bexley after an illness lasting five weeks. Kenyon students who remember his work on the football team last season are in for a treat of his recovery and of his return to the Hill.

A prayer service for missions is held at Bexley at twelve o'clock every day during Lent.

CIVIC CLUB REORGANIZED

Constitution Adopted—Offers Elected

At a meeting held in Philo Hall on the evening of February 24, the Staunton Civic Club of Kenyon was reorganized and new officers were elected for the future. Officers were selected, an executive committee chosen and much enthusiasm on the part of the members argues well for the future. The Civic Club was founded at Kenyon last year following a visit by E. M. Sull, national secretary of the American Intercollegiate League of Civic Clubs, to Gambier. At that time no restrictions were placed upon membership in the club. Enough enthusiasm was manifested to send a delegate to the national convention in New York, but all the energy of the club seemed to have spent itself in this endeavor. This year it is planned to start on a smaller basis but yet get the club organized and working smoothly before trying to get a delegate to New York. At the last meeting, the delegate of last year, is vice president of the club and retains many useful ideas as a result of his trip.

The constitution as adopted prohibits the election of members to the club until they have shown interest doing some active work. An initiation fee of fifty cents is charged. Meetings of the club will be held on the second Monday of each month from October to May. The first regular meeting will be held on the second Monday of March. The program of each of the regular meetings will be in the hands of a special committee designated by the executive committee.

 Besides the regular programs, special programs will be arranged for which speakers will be secured. The club will be in close conjunction with the department of political science in which credit for doing Spirit in the club will be given by the professors.

The officers elected for the term of business meeting in May were:

President—W. J. Blund.
Vice-President—R. A. Fultz.
Secretary-Treasurer—R. A. Weaver.
Committee—Mesers. Blund, Siddall, Leslie.

MUSICAL NEWS

Cantata to be Rendered Palm Sunday by the Choir.

All lovers of good music will welcome the announcement that the Cantata by J. B. Maundr: "Penitence, Pardon and Peace" will be sung in the Church of St. Andrew on the evening of Palm Sunday. This composition, so well known and so often sung, cannot fail to attract many and to please all.

Essentially of a thoughtful and meditative strain, the Cantata will be in harmony with the spirit of the season.

The several solos will be sung by Miss Keenan and Mr. Mc- Coy. The chorus will consist of the college choir, the choir of the Harecourt school and several other members of the parish, while Mr. Walter Goulde will accompany on the organ.

The Collegian wishes to call public attention to the fact that the bells in the town of the college chapel ring the well known "Westminster" chimes and not the Canterbury as is stated in the Founders' Day "Memorial."

ALUMNI NOTES

The following account of the Philadelphia alumni dinner has been received from M. F. Maury, the secretary of the Philadelphia alumni:

The Philadelphia branch of the Kenyon alumni held their annual meeting and dinner at the University Club, 1516 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa., on Thursday, February 3rd, 1910, at seven o'clock. President Pease was the guest of honor and principal speaker at the dinner.

Those present were Rev. Chas. E. Miller, Rev. C. Geo. Currie, Rev. I. N. Stanger, Rev. Chas. Arndt, Rev. O. C. Hill, Mr. Wm. H. Foley, Mr. Geo. F. Klock, Dr. C. M. Aves, Mr. Karl Williams, Mr. James F. Doolittle, Rev. St. John Hathaway, Rev. Sam H. Boyer, Rev. Horace E. Hayden.

The classics represented ranged all the way from '53 to '94. Dr. Wharton Sinkler, nephew of Professor Wharton who was for many years a distinguished member of our faculty, was present at the dinner as the guest of Mr. Klock.

The alumni heard with much regret the destruction of the library, at Kenyon by fire and a committee was appointed by the president of the association, Dr. Strangor, consisting of M. F. Maury, chairman; Rev. Chas. Arndt and Mr. Klock to raise funds to help rebuild the library.

After a very pleasant evening spent in listening to stories told by the older men of former days upon the Hill and few songs by the younger alumni, the meeting adjourned.

pleasant hours could mean little to to these fops and dukes who must spend all their spare time on their

Going into South Ascension, I walked up to the third floor and received a terrible shock when here at twenty minutes after the hour about half of the German class appeared to get up and walk out of the room without any cause whatever. Sometimes in my day we used to leave early without being dismissed in a certain other course—I won't mention which—but to walk out under "Tell me, ever, oh, never.

I was about to run down the Hill until the station for the next train and try to forget that I had ever graduated at such a place; when I noticed that a large number of the fellows seemed to be going towards Rossie. Surely these 'Mother's pets' could not be taking base and degrading gym work, especially in the morning and in such immaculate attire.
This can be the headquarters of some tailorings company and I thought. It might as well see the thing through so I crossed over.

Going into Rossie I noticed that the Gym apparatus was still in place and then over at one side I saw a camera and some scenery fixed up as a studio with 'Baker's Art Gallery, Columbus, O.' on it and I realized what was up. The Berenite pictures were being taken. Of course the fellows were all dressed up. The dress suits were for the Glee Club picture and as their feet didn't show in the group they did not mind what kind of shoes they wore.
The men of course were excused from classes for a few minutes
while they were in some committee pictures, so that explained their leaving German.

You may be sure I had a good laugh at my stupidity at not noticing on sooner, but I am sure that anyone coming as I did without knowing the conditions would have been mightily surprised at the thing he saw.

Respectfully yours,
A YOUNG ALUMNUS.

New College Student Type

The president of Columbia university in his annual report to the trustees, among other things said, goes on in this wise: "The new type of student, whether he

FEBRUARY ASSEMBLY MEET
FEBRUARY MEETING

Of the Assembly—Matters of Interest Touched upon—Discussion Grows Lively at Times

On February 24th an Assembly meeting was held in Philo. Although the meeting lasted nearly an hour and a half, several subjects of vital interest and importance were discussed.

The meeting was called at 7:15 and the roll call and minutes read. Mr. Wiseman began the business of the evening with a short report on the work of the student lecture course committee. Through the efforts of the committee the following men have shown their willingness to come to Gambier to deliver lectures although so far it has been impossible to arrange a definite date. Mr. Brandt Whitlock, mayor of Toledo, Mr. Wright of the Cleveland Leader, Ex-cabinet officer Mr. Garfield, and several others are to be expected. The tickets for the lectures are one dollar.

Mr. Lybarger then introduced the subject of a graduate manager. This resulted in a lively discussion over the advisability of having such an office.

Mr. Lybarger then moved an amendment to the constitution providing for a graduate manager. Dr. Walton proceeded to suggest a system of keeping a graduate manager. The motion of Mr. Lybarger was then laid on the table.

The next topic of interest was the proposed interscholastic track-meet to be held in the spring. Manager Siddal reported as having received letters from several schools in regard to the meet and wished to know what the sentiment of the Assembly was. A motion to hold the customary track-meet and repair the track was made and carried. Another motion by Manager Siddal to appoint a committee of four to be responsible for the meet was also carried. President Bland then appointed Mr. Siddal and Mr. Mason as half the committee and deferred the appointment of the other until later.

Dr. Walton next spoke about indoor baseball. He said that it seemed best to the committee to have the games come on Wednesday or Saturday afternoons. Seven games have been arranged for between the different division teams and an amendment will be made to provide for a trophy cup at the end of the season.

Mr. Wiseman next proposed that the members of the Assembly think over the plan of publishing the Reveille every two years instead of annually.

A motion by Mr. Lybarger to publish in the Collegian those sections of the Constitution which might be of interest to the students. This was carried and an amend proposed which would do away with the semester reading of the Constitution by publishing excerpts of it in the Collegian.

The meeting then adjourned.

SMARTNESS

Clothes to be smart must have something else besides good fabrics, workmanship and fit, they must have style. McNaughton tailored clothes have that indescribable something which stamps them as the highest type of good clothes making—smart clothes. Clothes for day or evening wear.
