REV. SMYTHE

Delivers Bedell Lecture—Topic: “Shepherd of Israel.”

Senator Burton Speaks in Gambier Nov. 13.—His Subject: “Modern Democracy.”

The biennial lectures under the Bedell Foundation were given on the afternoons of November 1st and 2nd, in the college chapel by the chaplain, The Reverend George F. Smythe, his subject being, “The Shepherd of Israel, A Contribution to the Evidence of Revealed Religion.” In a scholarly and instructive discourse the speaker traced the beginning and early development of the Christian religion, showing its contrast to other religions. He pictured the power of Jehovah as being constantly watchful over his chosen people, especially during this period from Moses to Amos when the doctrine of God was worked out fully.

This lecturership was established by Bishop and Mrs. Bedell and provides for biennial lectures on the Evidence of Natural and Revealed Religion, or the Relation of Science to Religion, the address this year dealing with the former topic. The publication of these lectures is provided for.

The Larwell Lectureship

The Hon. Theodore R. Burton, United States Senator from Ohio will deliver the lectures under the Larwell fund this year on November 13th and 14th. The subject chosen by the congressmen is “Modern Democracy,” and it is his intention to go into the question of direct legislation and also the campaign for the initiative and referendum. He will discuss these questions in part with reference to proposed changes in the Ohio constitution.

Mr. Burton has made a name for himself while in Congress, and no man could be better fitted for an exposition on “Democracy” than the congressman from Ohio.

At present Mr. Burton holds the office of chairman of the Waterways Commission, as well as being on several important committees. He has recently returned from the World’s Peace Conference abroad. His honors will be of unusual interest, and it is hoped that every man will avail himself of the opportunity to hear Mr. Burton.

KENYON SCORES

Another Defeat—The Case Team Proves Too Strong for Our Eleven—First Touchdown of Season for Home Team.

Mt. Union Game Cancelled at Last Minute—Many Kenyon Students Witness Big Game at Columbus, Wesleyan vs. State.

Kenyon met defeat once more on Saturday October twenty-first and this time at the hands of the Case School team. Our eleven was in evenly good shape and put up a scrappy fight, but Case played the best game of her season and at no time after the first quarter was she in any serious danger. Case’s showing in previous games had not indicated any very great strength, but when she lined up against Kenyon all her cripplings were back at their regular stations and the game at the score will show how much the work of Capt. Roby, Kenyon and Glass counted. All of these men were kept out of the Denison game.

The first quarter was started by Case kicking off and when Kenyon was unable to gain, Axtell punt. Then Case started a series of consistent gains on end runs and buds which brought the ball to the fifteen yard line, where a forward pass to Goss gave Case her first touchdown of the season. Soon after play was resumed, “Buck” Carr of Kenyon recovered a fumble and made a wonderful seventy yard sprint for a touch- down. Axtell missed goal. During the remainder of the period neither side was able to score, although Case tried for a goal from placement, but this went wide. Just as Axtell made a remarkable punt from his own twenty-five yard line to Case’s fifteen yard mark, the quarter was ended. The score was 6 to 0 and Kenyon rod- ers saw visions of victory.

In the second period Case made big gain through Kenyon’s line and after an unsuccessful attempt at a field goal, a touchdown was scored by halfback Axtell of Case. Another touchdown was se- cured later in the period on a bungled forward pass on the part of the Kenyon team. The ball fell into Parson’s arms and he carried it over the line.

The third period was marred by some splendid teamwork on the part of Axtell. Case made many first downs but was unable to score.

Kenyon’s captain always kicking out of danger. Kenyon made first down once, Tassan carrying the ball. Cook intercepted a forward pass and stopped one of Case’s rushes. The period ended with the ball in Case’s possession on Kenyon’s three yard line.

Half-back Kenyon opened the last quarter by immediately carry- ing the ball over for another five points. After this Coach Scott sent in the usual crowd of last period substitutes, but Kenyon managed to prevent further scoring. During this quarter, Young of Case had his nose bro- ken and was forced to retire.

The feature of the game was the splendid offensive work of the Case team, half-back Kenyon being the particular star. The best work on the Kenyon team was done by Capt. Axtell in his kick- ing. His punts were the longest ever seen on Case field and com- pletely puzzled Goss, who tried to receive them.

Mt. Union Game Cancelled

The Kenyon Football team found itself in a very embarrassing position on Saturday, October twenty-eight, when it was scheduled to play the Mt. Union-Seco College team at Alliance, Ohio. From one cause or another, disqualification, injuries, sickness, all kinds of misfortune, "Huck" Carr, Lewis, Welham, Anderson, and Kocholine could not enter the game. As this quintet comprises some of the best material on the team and as but ten men were available, things were in a bad way. Finally after much discussion, the game was cancelled. The management was very reluctant to make this move, and especially at so late a date, but in the face of all the circumstances, there was no alternative. The whole incident only serves to bring home forcibly the difficulties against which Kenyon must contend in playing a team from a squad of fifteen men and playing a "Big Six" schedule.

Ohio State-Wesleyan Game

The big game of the 1911 season in the Ohio Conference was played at Columbus when the victorious Wesleyan team met its Waterloo at the hands of O. S. U. Those who saw the game say that Wesleyan far out-played her opponents, but luck was against her. State's defense, however, was a stone wall when her goal was threatened. The credit of the victory belongs to "Whiley" Foss, who booted the ball over the cross-bar for the lone score, besides playing a really good game throughout.

In the neighborhood of thirty Kenyon students attended the game and rooted hard against their ancient enemy, but to no avail.

The Ohio Championship once more dwindles down to Ohio State and Oberlin. Needless to say, a Case-Wesleyan combination would have appealed more to Kenyon sympathizers.

Ohio Northern went the limit on Saturday when they ran up 103 points against Muskingum.

Aged Alumnus Passed Away Recently.

The recent death of Sidney C. Long marked the passing of Kenyon’s Senior Alumnus. Mr. Long was a member of the Class of ’41, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts in that year. Three years later, in 1844, he was granted the degree of Master of Arts. During his entire lifetime Mr. Long was a resident of the city of Baltimore, Maryland, being actively engaged in the practice of law until the time of his death. He was also the senior member of the Maryland bar. In the Civil War he was a union man. Immediately after the war he was made District Attorney.

Mr. Long’s demise leaves The Rev. John M. Boyd, ’42 A. B., of Washington C. H., Ohio, as the Senior Alumnus.
A CRISIS IN ATHLETICS

In these columns last issue, we tried to show that there is no reason for complaint over the present football record. The Kenyon team has done its best under the existing conditions. But the students are demanding that we improve the present conditions.

The athletic situation at Kenyon is a critical one and upon the question of playing or not playing Freshmen depends the future of our intercollegiate relations so far as athletic activities are concerned. Here is the present condition. With the enrollment as it is now there are not enough men who play football to make up two eligible teams. In other words we must play Universities like State and Reserve, which have squads of from fifty to one hundred men, with a team chosen from an end of sixteen. Consequent ly "plucky little Kenyon" merits a "glorious defeat" every time she bucks up against another team.

The faculty has refused to allow us to play Freshmen for the following reasons:

First—a Freshman, when he enters college, leaves behind him his mothers' apron strings, and starts on a new life with many added liberties. He has not the teacher back of him to see that he gets out his work every day but must depend solely upon his own self. Therefore if Freshmen play on the team and leave the hill every week they are inclined to let their class room work drop and soon drop behind.

Secondly—we have had winning teams without playing Freshmen.

Thirdly—if we play Freshmen, we are taking a step backward. In regard to the faculty's point of view it can easily be seen that their first point is well taken. But has not the Conference a ruling in regards to declaring men ineligible to play who are not up to their work? With the Freshmen playing on the squad it would be possible to enforce this rule since the number of men on the squad would be increased and they would have to work for their positions. We all know that the rule has been flatly ignored the past two seasons and that men have played on Kenyon teams who have not been up to the standard in their college work. The rule could not be enforced because the numbers were so small that to declare men ineligible on account of their studies meant to take out some of the very best players. Increase the number of men on the squad and keep the scholarship rule in force and the Freshmen will not drop behind.

Yes, we have had a winning team but one must remember that the team of 1906 contained men who had played four years of football and one can hardly compare that team with one playing under the present Conference rules. Since that season our record has been gradually going down and at the rate it has been going, in two more years Kenyon will have no football team at all.

We would be taking a step backward in allowing our Freshmen to play the game. The faculty says yes but the answer of the student body and forty-five out of every fifty alumni is a decided no. It has come to a question of athletics or no athletics at Gambier and the only way of solving the problem is by allowing the first year men to play.

This can be done without dropping out of the Conference for it is the expressed attitude of the other Conference teams to allow Kenyon to play her Freshmen and still remain in the Big Seven because of the size of the College here. We will go a long distance backward if we drop athletics and that will be about the outcome if we do not play Freshmen. The playing of the new men is a good large step ahead.

Another point to be considered is the fact that Kenyon does not play Freshmen and continues to lose games as she has been doing in the past two seasons it will soon be very hard to get contracts with the other teams with any kind of reasonable guarantee. It is the evenly matched team that are the drawing cards, not the one-sided affairs. We have already lost our Thanksgiving game with State, which until two years ago drew as many people as any championship game in the State.

The whole question is whether or not we are going to continue in the dormant of Ohio athletics or a part of the real working machine, the Ohio Big Six. All we need is a larger number of men and the Freshmen class certainly offers this material. Why stay in the rut, which is growing deeper every year, when it is so easy to get out?

Philo and Nupi.

By allowing the Philomathean and Nu Pi Kappa Literary Societies to be dormants, the students of Kenyon are losing an opportunity to acquire faculty in public speaking.

Thirty-five years ago those societies occupied an important position in the collegiate life of Kenyon. Every student was a member of one or the other. Kenyon rivalries existed between their Meetings were held regularly, once a week, which most of the members attended.

Today these societies are honored as college traditions; and their activities are regarded as a joke. To find out who are members and who are not would be difficult. The tradition of rivalry is preserved by the derisive yell which the half-dozen men who have attended the occasional meeting held by NuPi give for the benefit of Philo. In earlier years, when they were prosperous, as old alumni have often testified at the annual banquet, their members derived both benefit and pleasure from the meetings of these societies.

There is no reason why we cannot do likewise. Philo and NuPi have not been crowded out by the English department; courses in debating and speaking have rather become necessary as a substitute for the activities of the societies.

EDITORIAL.

And they are less efficient, because they give less practice, and because recitations cannot have the same liveliness as a meeting. The time necessary for the activities of the societies would not interfere with other college activities.

Many students on the other hand would gladly take part in the meetings, discussions and literary programmes. There is no doubt that at the end of a year or so, every student who did so would be able to make an ordinary speech without difficulty. The fact should not be lost sight of, that probably more than a third of the men in college intend to study law after graduating. To them the practice gained in these literary meetings would be invaluable.

It is only fair to Philo to say that for a short time last year, its members took a more active interest than has been described in this editorial, but it was short-lived.

Kenyon students should accept this opportunity. Mock trials and discussions about the playing of freshmen and such subjects ought to furnish an enjoyable evening.

The Cancelled Game.

A situation arose at Kenyon last week, which, though perhaps unavoidable under present conditions, is none the less regrettable. A game of football had been scheduled with another Ohio college team, only to be cancelled by Kenyon at the last minute, giving the other side no opportunity to re-arrange their schedules. And, to begin with, no matter what the justification for the cancellation itself, we must acknowledge to ourselves that there can be very little excuse for that procrastination which inconvenience those who were to have been our opponents. That feature of the affair, at least, could have been avoided. The traditional spirit of Kenyon is certainly not one of selfishness.

Indeed the whole incident demeans the institution it represents. There is nothing as much as it should be. It looks very much as though the continual agitation of the Freshmen eligibility question was demoralizing the team. Without going into the merits of either side of the controversy, we believe that the matter of the Mt. Union game makes the need of a definite understanding very evident. These occurrences should either bring home to the Faculty the reasonableness of trying to make satisfactory arrangements with the Ohio Conference, whereby we may play freshmen, or else the team should accept the inevitable and get down to work in a way that will do away with such uncertainty as we all know marked the week of October twenty-second.

The spirit which we all want to see is one that will make the best of any situation or circumstances.

A quite different point brought out in this same connection concerns the facility of playing such teams as Mt. Union. With all due respect to the Alliance team, it is a well-known fact that football there is not maintained on the same level as at other Ohio colleges, either Conference or non-Conference. There can be but little credit in winning from a team so irregularly made up, while to be beaten is a thankless business at best, and no question of guarantee or fineness seems so important that our team should waste time and risk its reputation by playing teams of this character.

The Science Club

The third regular meeting of the Science club was held on Tuesday evening, October 24. There was a goodly number of the faculty members present besides 12 undergraduate men. Mr. Adams gave a very interesting talk on a new theory of gravity which is being set forth at the present day and which is somewhat contrary to the general conception of the physical phenomenon discovered and explained by Bacon. As usual the subject was given over to an interesting informal discussion participated in by all members.

Mr. Sprague, the new member, read his required entrance paper. He took up the subject of the dirigible balloon and treated especially well that side of the subject which deals with the projected crossing of the Atlantic by dirigible. The success of which would undoubtedly soon revolutionize ocean transportation.

The next meeting promises to be rather novel in that it is scheduled to take place in the laboratory. Short interesting experiments are to be made with the aid of the faculty members. Such phenomena as in superstitious ages were attributed to the Black Art will be made the basis of the experiments.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

It is proposed to throw open two columns of The Collegian to professional cards. It is thought by the management that this will appeal to alumni engaged in the practice of a profession as a means of legitimate and profitable advertising. The name, class numeral, profession and address of the advertiser will appear. In the case of a firm, the name of such partners as are alumni will appear in addition to the firm name. It is hoped that alumni interested in the plan will communicate at once with the Manager of the Collegian. The rates will be One Dollar a year.

POLITICAL RALLY

Students as a Whole Unite in Promoting the Campaign for Harter for Mayor.

A week ago Thursday night, the campus was the scene of a meeting political rally on behalf of Mr. Richard Harter’s candidacy for mayor of Gambier. Urged by many friends in college and among the people of Gambier, Mr. Harter consented to run for Mayor, and on the day of the rally he received the news from Mr. Tate Croxen, pros-ecutor of Knox County, that he was eligible to be a candidate. Mr. Bowman, the campaign man-ager, then made Mr. Harter’s platform public, by placing it on the bulletin board; and Mr. Har-ter’s candidacy was formally an-nounced. His constituency then prepared for a rally. The fresh-men built a pile of wood about twenty feet high in the middle of the campus and transparencies and torches were made for a pro-cession through Gambier. Pla-cards appeared in many windows which left no doubt as to the senti-ment of the students.

At eight-thirty the bonfire was lighted, and the students gathered on the campus. The candidate and his manager made short speeches; and after ten minutes’ cheering and singing, a line was formed and the procession started for town. The line of march went down the Path, first to “Bill” Hunter’s who made a speech when requested to do so, then to Harvey, and from there to Professor Downey’s house. Professor Downey was not at home; but fortunately, he ran into the procession as it was returning to the Path. He also made a short speech, recommending the can-didate. The students then came back to the campus, where the rally ended.

The original purpose of the rally, namely, a protest against the ruling prohibiting the playing of fresh-men on the football team was almost lost sight of on account of the enthusiasm for Dick Harter.

ELLIOTT MARFIELD

The following memorial was adopted by the Cincinnati alumni association of Kenyon College on the recent death of Elliott Marfield, a member of the class 1883. His death was the result of an automobile accident.

We lay a wreath upon his bier.

We men of Kenyon feel our great loss. There is this about Ken-yon College, loving mother of us all,—she raises sons strong to go into the world, and stronger still to look back from the world, and greet “Old Kenyon, Mother Dear.” Loyal and true are the Kenyon men, and among the first of these stood Elliott Marfield.

Dear old Elliott Marfield was our friend. The Cincinnati Alumni num-bered him a standby. When Kenyon gathered, Marfield was there, and his hearty laugh, his genial hand, and his intense love of every thought, acquaintance and tradition that is born in Gam-bier, made him near and dear to us. His long service as president of our local association, and his vigorous co-operation with his successors in office have worked greatly for the success of the old college on the Hill.

Outside of Kenyon life, Elliott Marfield was a strong man in the world. Gentleman, popular, gen-ial, businesslike, successful—a big man, and so recognized in a big city. It is a source of pride to us to point to Marfield and say, “He was one of our Kenyon men.”

We mourn his loss. We shall mourn it more, as we realize, at our future meetings, for the Alumni Association of Kenyon College of Cincinnati and vicinity, may we, its committee, express our grief, and may we record our appreciation and gratification at having known and loved Elliott Marfield.

Local News Correspondents.

A number of alumni through-our state have expressed grat-i- tution over the increased amount of newspaper space which Kenyon is commanding, as compared with previous years. This may be credited to the active correspond-ents who fill the leading papers of Ohio with athletic news and pic-tures. A keen rivalry exists, and no matter of any importance es-capes publication, except such as would injure the college or create a bad impression.

Princeton came back strong after her poor showing against Annopolis and beat Holy Cross 26-10. Pendleton continues to be the sensation of the East, making two 40-yard runs in the Holy Cross game, both of which resulted in touchdowns.

Walter Camp, Jr., appeared in the Yale line-up against Colgate and was the big feature of the game. He plunged through the line for big gains and made two touchdowns on end runs. Wonder if “Dad” will put him on the All-American.

“Buck” Carr treated the spectators to a great sprinting exhibition when he distanced the whole Case team and ran 70 yards for a touchdown. “Buck” has been Kenyon’s best ground-gainer all season and deserved the honor of the first score.

The work of Pontius at Michigan and Childs at Yale awakens fond reflections on “what might have been.”

The Civic Club.

The first meeting of the Edwin M. Stanton Civic Club was held in the Sterling room on Monday evening, October 30. A program was given and the plans for the year discussed and outlined.

The program consisted of the reading of papers by J. D. Cook on “President Taft’s Trip,” by Roger A. Houston on “The Inaugural Dinner at Chicago,” and by W. E. Kochlin on “Reiprocity in Canada.” A general dis- of his course who did creditable followed.

Suggestions were made concerning the policy of the club for the ensuing year and plans were discussed in regard to getting men interested in the work of the club by having speakers of some note address the student body of the college under the auspices of the club. Professor Downey also offered to give credit to members of his course who did creditable work in the club.

This club, which was organized for the purpose of interesting college men in the important and vital political questions of the day, could and should be made one of the most important organizations on the Hill. Every meeting is full of interesting things and it is urged that each man is desirous of keeping himself posted on things that are going on about him and who would like to become a member of the club should hand his name to the president, D. C. Wheaton, or to the secretary, David Howman. The regular meeting for November will be held on Monday evening, November 13.

Resolutions of the Faculty Adopted Oct. 9, 1911, on Death of Colonel McCook.

The Faculty of Kenyon College records its appreciation of the devotion to the interests of the College of Col. John J. McCook, and its profound regret at the news of his death, September 17, 1911. Col. McCook was a student in Kenyon College at the outbreak of the Civil War, and he left to enlist in the 52 Ohio Volunteers. The records of the College show that he matriculated on March 5, 1862, and he graduated in 1866. Since that time Col. McCook has taken a deep interest in the welfare of the College, responding to every call. To the repairs of Reese Hall, Old Kenyon, Benson Field and the Library, Col. McCook gave liberally; and he increased substantially the annual income of the College. When in 1905 it became possible to elect a trustee outside of Ohio, Col. McCook was chosen to fill that office, a position which he held at the time of his death. When it is remembered that Col. McCook won notable distinction at the New York bar and in the councils of the nation; that he was also a Trustee of Princeton University, and that his services were constantly required by large corporations throughout the United States and in Europe, his unremittting devotion to Kenyon College is remarkable. Col. McCook’s death is an irreparable loss to the College; it is mitigated only by his noble example of generosity and self-sacrifice.
