COMMENCEMENT GALA EVENT; MANY LOYAL ALUMNI ON THE HILL

The Ninety-Third Annual Commencement Program was opened by the Meeting of the Board of Trustees at the Alumni Banquet on Saturday evening. The visitors were entertained with the staging of the musical comedy, "Pretty Please," presented in Rose Hall by the Puff and Powder Club. As usual this candy presentation of college wit proved a wonderful success.

The following day, Sunday, the events were continued with the celebration of the Holy Communion at the Church of the Holy Spirit. The Very Reverend Francis S. White, D.D., Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Cleveland, took charge of the morning services which were very impressive. At seven-thirty the same evening The Reverend William Foster Peirce gave the splendid Baccalaureate Sermon.

Immediately following this address the entire College, as well as the Alumni and many friends assembled at Rose Hall and sang old favorite College songs.

Monday morning, following the early Prayer at the Church of the Holy Spirit, the Commencement Exercises took place at Rose Hall. The Program was opened with Invocation by the Right Reverend Boyd Vincent, Bishop of Southern Ohio. Kenneth M. Mercer, Acte, then gave a short address which was followed by a selection rendered by the Kenyon College Choir. The Alumni Address was delivered by the Right Reverend Eret V. Shlyler, Bishop of Nebraska. The undergraduate days of the Class of 1921 came to a close with the conferring of the degrees.

On Tuesday the College Tea and Reception was held at the Psi Upsilon House, and was enjoyed by all who attended. The Junior Reception and Dance to the Graduating Class at Rose Hall that evening, brought to a close one of the most interesting and successful Commencements ever witnessed by Kenyon Students and Alumni.

MILLENIUM HERE; ELECTRIC LIGHTS NOW GRACE DORMS

At last the long-looked-for convenience of having electricity in the college dormitories has been realized, and the old fashioned gas mantle no longer adorns the division entrances or the rooms.

Fixtures for electric lights were installed during the summer vacation in both dormitories, the library, the chapel, Rose Hall, the Commons, and several homes of the faculty. Current is obtained by a special line which is connected to the Ohio Power Company's line, east of Mt. Vernon.

To add to the regular current, the college has installed a large dynamo from which current can be used in case of emergency.

It was necessary to use the emergency dynamo at the opening of college for several days, due to a delay in the arrival of cable. The result were entirely satisfactory.

Cable has been taken in installing electricity, and the natural beauty of the college park will not have been impaired when the underground cables have been properly covered.

PIERCE'S RECEIVES EMBRYO KENYONITES

On Saturday, October 1, the annual exception of President Pierce for the first half of the men took place at Cromwell Cottage, the home of the President.

Owing to the fact that the new men had not as yet been placed on the preferred calling list of Harcourt School, there was no dancing. The chief entertainment during the early part of the event was cards. The game was hearts, and strange to say everyone seemed to lose.

Refreshments were served in relay during the course of the evening. After refreshments, Professor Baker, the new head of the department of Romance Languages, delighted an appreciative audience with anecdotes of his extensive travels and rendered several piano selections. Shortly afterwards the party broke up.

President and Mrs. Peirce, Professor and Mrs. West, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen entertained.

On the following Monday evening the same program was followed for the remaining new men with the exception that Miss Baldwin the piano and vocal instructor of Harcourt sang the last of the old dormitory songs taken by Professor Baker at the previous entertainment.

President and Mrs. Peirce, Miss Win and Dr. and Mrs. Allen received on this occasion.

NEW PROFESSOR OF ROMANCE LANGUAGES HAILS FROM OBERLIN

We welcome Mr. Edwin Lanktree Baker to the hill as the new Professor of Romance Languages. Mr. Baker is a graduate of many accomplishments and a scholar of high order. He comes to us from Oberlin where he was one of the most capable men in his department.

Mr. Baker has spent much of his time traveling in foreign countries. He has crossed the ocean eighteen times and has been around the world. While in Europe he did Master's work in France, Spain, Italy, Germany and Portugal, and has traveled extensively in India and China.

His undergraduate work was done at Trinaty College where he received his A. B. and M. A. (pianoforte and flue-organ). He has also done graduate work at Oxford and the University of Madrid.

Among the facts given about Mr. Baker in Who's Who in America are the following: "The Poetry Society of America; American Association of University Professors; New England Modern Language Association; Veduta, etc.; Professor of Romance Languages, Beaver College, Pennsylvania State College, Oberlin College. Author of a Portuguese Grammar and composer of some pianoforte compositions."

Mr. Baker is a musician of ability and the Chapel singing has improved many fold during the short time he has been playing the organ. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta and the Phi Beta Kappa.

ASSISTANT NAMED TO RELIEVE SWAMPED MATH DEPARTMENTS

One of the new men on the faculty this year is Mr. White, who has been appointed as assistant professor in mathematics. This department is certainly in need of an assistant, for, because of the increased enrollment this year, many more students have entered the mathematical courses than usual.

This is especially noticeable in Mathematics. 1. Mr. White will have a course in Mathematics I and also one in Surveying. In addition to this, he is the supervising engineer for the college. He was very busy in this work during the first few weeks of college, as he inspected in that time all of the equipment and connections in the dormitory rooms.

Close on the heels of the settling down of life on campus come interesting plans for the 1922 production of the Puff and Powder Club. To be sure, not a great deal of information is being given out as to the characters of the show, but there, in a position to know, giving assurance that the most extravagant hopes are again to be realized.

It is only two seasons since Kenyon stepped into the world of college musical comedy, but she has made her mark, and even exceeded those of significant competitors. Certainly Cynthia, 1920, and Pretty Please, 1921, were rather widely hailed the best college shows on the boards during their respective seasons, and so far the production of this year (as yet unnamed) is slated to surpass the others. The scenic effects are to be much more elaborate than before and indeed it is said they will rival those of the other prominent college shows for several years past.

The men who make the cast of the various clubs are twice fortunate. Besides sharing in what glory is won, they will have their part in the continual whirl of entertainment that always attends a Kenyon play in every city. According to the most recent information to be had, the tour will commence the Christmas vacation and a week of College, opening in Gambier the Saturday evening preceding the closing of recitations for the holidays.

As before, the Club will have its private car and carry its own orchestra and scenery. There are few changes in the list of principals, although valuable members have been lost in all departments. The girls' chorus will be larger, the men's being reduced in size.

A list of the cities to be included in the itinerary follows: Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Toledo, Mansfield, Norwalk, Columbus, Cincinnati, and Pittsburgh. If the club goes West, it will play the more important places en route to St. Louis. If the East seems more favorable, Wheeling, Philadelphia, Washington, and New York will be the hold.

May all of the efforts of the Puff and Powder Club be encouraged and successful, for this activity does more to rank Kenyon high with colleges and universities in this part of the country than any other, even football distinctions have not nearly so wide a scope.
The Fall Dance

As will be remembered by upper-classmen, the Class of 1920 set a precedent in Kenyon's social world, by staging a college dance in the fall of 1919. That dance and the Fall Dance of last year will long be remembered by those who attended them, as two of the most successful affairs of their kind, ever put on here on the Hill. In fact so strong is the call for a dance at this season of the year, that the Senior Fall Dance gives fair promise of seriously rivalling the Sophomore Hop in popularity. There is no time of the year when the natural beauty of Gambier is more evident than in the middle of the autumn, nor is there a more favorable week-end for the undergraduates to entertain their friends and relatives than that set aside for the Fall Dance.

The Dance Committee, consisting of Misses. Gonsch, Wade, Brain, Perin, Adams, Crawford and Nall, is expending decidedly earnest efforts to make this year's Fall Dance, which is to extend over the 28th and 29th of October, a real dance, worthy of Kenyon's social traditions handed down from the past. No expense will be spared, in the Senior Class' endeavor to bring this affair even above the high standard set by previous classes. A first class orchestra, "The Keystone Six" of Edwood City, Pa., will furnish the music, for both evenings, the decorations are to be unique in their way, and the catering service, which is an important factor in our "all night" dances, is to be of the best.

But no dance can be a successful one, without the combined efforts of all the undergraduates. The committee cannot do it all, but must rely upon all the men in college to help advertise the dance, to help put it across in a manner worthy of the name "Kenyon." Write to your alumnae. Urge them to return to the Hill on this date. Write to your friends and relatives. Tell them to set aside the 28th and 29th as red letter days on the calendar.

To you new men, on the Hill for the first time this year, we can only urge that you too get behind this push, and we know that you will not be disappointed. You have never attended a Kenyon Dance, you are soon to find out how grand they are. Remember that you are the men who will stage the dances here in the future, and this is your opportunity to see how it is done. You also can be of great assistance in advertising, but above all, support the dance yourself.

"THE PEIRGES' TRIP ABROAD"

Dr. and Mrs. Peirce have gone to New York, from where, after a short stop, they will embark for Havre, France, on the steamer "France." They expect to go directly to Florence, Italy, where they will visit Mr. James W. Ellsworth at the Villa Palmieri. This Villa once belonged to Queen Victoria and is surrounded with many stories and legends of historical interest. It is believed that the Villa Palmieri is the scene at which Boccaccio's "Decameron" is laid and antiquarians have recently discovered what are thought to be the remains of this celebrated Italian author. Villa Palmieri is also noted for its splendid collection of XVth and XVIth century period furniture. After a few weeks visit with Mr. Ellsworth, Dr. and Mrs. Peirce will go to Trent and the "Italia Irivdrata." They expect to make an extensive tour of this war-torn section of reclaimed Italy. From there, they will travel through Southern France, visiting Marseilles, Carcassonne and Eguisheim and possibly stopping to view the scenes of Biblical History in that section where may be found the sepulchers of Lazarus, Martha, and Mary. Thence, they will go to Paris and on to the battle-fields about Verdun. Dr. Peirce has also planned to spend a few weeks with Sir Frederick Kenyon, the Head of the British Museum, in London. The president and his wife expect to return home about February 1st.

TO THE FRESHMEN

Once again fall is here, bringing with it new faces on the "Hill," faces which we hope will all remain with us for four years to come, and it is to you owners of these new faces that Kenyon extends its most sincere welcome.

You comprise the largest entering class known to Kenyon in the history of the college, and by earnest co-operation among yourselves, your success as The Class of 1925, will be practically assured. However, never hesitate to take advice from your upperclassmen and others who, by class precedence, over-shadow you. Remember that they have already braved safely the trials and difficulties, which you have yet to face for the first time. If, as is often the case, this advice comes from the nearest master, take it as such and do it in the right spirit. Remember also that your being a new man at school necessitates certain obligations, which you must meet and fulfill. Observance of traditional institutions will play a large part in the first year of your residence in Gambier, and upon the willingness with which you follow out the program laid out for you by convention, will hinge in a large measure your success as a Kenyon man.

Success as a "mixer," and in certain lines of college activities, should not cause self-complacency. Keep in mind that scholarship is always an important factor. Until you are matriculated and have added your name to the long list of matriculants, you are not a real Kenyon man, and as you already know, you cannot matriculate without first fulfilling certain scholastic qualifications.

In other words, make your class an organized unit to work with the welfare of the school in mind; be willing to listen to the words of those who are better acquainted with the various phases of college life than you are, follow out the freshman discipline and the other obligations in the proper spirit; and work hard at your books with matriculation as your ultimate objective. Do all these things not only as a class and as individuals, and you may rest assured that the entire four years of your undergraduate life will be profitable ones, not only for yourself, but for the college as well.

A Word To The Wise

A great deal of good, sound advice can be found in that old adage, "When in Rome, do as the Romans do." But even this bit of wise philosophy could well be modified by laying more stress on the argument that the understood visitor to Rome, should, in addition to making his individual activities follow the lines of tradition and convention, carry them on in a way not dissatisfactory to himself or to his public. Anyone who believes any locality is judged by the inhabitants of that community, partly by the degree of his participation in things of common interest, but even more so, by the way in which he conducts his own individual self. A person who acts in a manner consistent with the knowledge that he is "green," acts slowly and wisely and does not insist on pushing himself forward, is bound to gain popularity, and in the end will certainly win the esteem of all. On the other hand, he who, full of egoism, vociferously demands that he be recognized, who takes advantage of whatever authority falls his way, can hope for no "false kindness" from his neighbors.

In Gambier we have our own little Rome. The new men enrolling with us, come unknown to the undergraduate body, and their status in the estimation of those who are not new on the Hill, depends entirely upon themselves and their actions. Public opinion, based in turn upon tradition, can be used to show the freshmen their place, and for this purpose it is desirable, but it is a pity that we have no such organ to point out the light to those new men who enter here as Sophomores. It rankles deep in the heart of the true Sophomores and Upper-Classmen, who by their own right have attained their places in Kenyon life, to see a new man, who is scholastic standing above, rank as a second year, man, assume unwarranted authority, and give unsolicited advice. Such conduct will never gain him entrance into the various circles of our College life. He must take this as a fact or he can never make a success of his stay in Gambier.

To any man of this standing we can only urge and advise that you make haste, that you make use of discretion, and above all, that you try to realize that Kenyon is in a large sense governed by customs of which you are still ignorant, but which have been handed down to us for nearly a century. So for your own good and welfare, govern your actions wisely, with these facts in mind.

FOR VALUE RECEIVED

Results of the recent campaign for endowment funds are most gratifying to all who are in any way connected with or interested in Kenyon: the alumnae are especially pleased. And why not? It may well be said that to the enormous sum subscribed to the Endowment Fund the alumnae cheerfully pledged more than their share.

The traditional loyalty of Kenyon alumnae to their Alma Mater has once more been forcefully brought home to those of us now on the Hill. It is in a "season in loyalty" to be absorbed and retained by men who entered college this fall.

The story of the progress and rapid completion of the campaign is amazing to Kenyon's new students, to the older men it is but another episode in our collegiate history,— an episode featuring devotion to one's mother college.

For nearly one hundred years this old Hill has been nurturing out men, who, as they have scattered, have learned to understand the meaning of "Kenyon spirit" and to appreciate more successfully the effort of the college to bring men in its students the main principles of devotion to the cultivation of the body, the intellect, and the soul.

It is the desire of our alumnae that we profit by their experience, their advice, and their example; and it is our desire to make us realize that all of us will come out of Kenyon better men, physically and mentally, than we would have, had we chosen some other school.

Students of history are familiar with the noted Edwin M. Stanton, famous as Lincoln's Secretary of War during the long struggle with the South. It was Stanton who said, "If I am anything, I owe it to Kenyon College." It is certainly necessary that we all have been "scraped and rotated," this time in terms of dollars and cents.

HAVE YOU NOTICED

It pays to advertise, or else the business depression has hit Kenyon, for there are more notices on the bulletin board this year than there are "present generation headbands" in "Titre (Dr. West's) French classes. About the only thing that hasn't been advertised is a horse looking for the job as ticket puncher in Gymnny's Main 2D (if he has one). The usual abode of lost fountain pens and steel pens with the "O.C.D." in a Greek scrawl on one end, of course, has to be expected. Some dude lost his dog, and advertised it accordingly, never thinking that his canine brother would be shot on sight if found on the Hill. A West-wing guy told the globe in general that he had lost a hat in the case rush, which prompted several alumns, who happened to be on the hill in diabolical forms of sobriety to touch a lighted match to the coagulation of tarry script. The next morning the only thing that survived was a notice by the Deacon that Chem. I. would start at 8 o'clock A. M. that day.

Those several alumns were promptly off the hill until they could join to do their work with more efficiency and accuracy.

Freshman Moll wants to know what a "major" is, and how to get one without a ticket. There are also many other yearlings on the hill who would like to know the exact meaning of the term "cash nine fees."

Reports have it that Barton, of last year's Monstrous fame, is prograding latin, love and so on at Hucourt the ex-Monotor, however, says that he is watched as closely, if not even closer than the girls. These Kenyon alumns are more than honest looking; it was a very bad breach of grade etiquette to prance about the stuff with such prostrations tacked on to the Neilon. It is rumored that there was another session to the affair a "lucy" who, according to the report, told him about the stunts it was, and how unhealthy it would make me if the fresh feel if he came in violent contact with it.

TRANSACTED BY THE OCTOBER ASSEMBLY

The first regular, monthly assembly was called to order at 7:15 on Oct. 5 at Phiio Hall. The secretary called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved as read. Various new members of the constitutional committee were nominated and elected.

Mr. Cuccelli spoke of the necessity of setting a standard price for the freshman caps for ensuing year, but upon Mr. Nall's suggestion that further action be delayed until figures be obtained upon which to base such a standard, withdrew his motion until such a time as the required data be supplied.

Mr. Wasser spoke of the necessity of the entire student body's efforts in the matter of the support both financially and editorially of the Collegian; this appeal was warmly seconded by President Wiseman.

Mr. Nall urged everyone to attend the fall dance and announced that the music and decorations had already been arranged for, and promised a memorable evening to all who would attend.

Mr. Maxwell talked on the football prospects of the year and urged the student body to support the team by cheering at the games and also by attending the practices.

Mr. Ward was nominated and unanimously elected cheerleader. Chairman Wiseman welcomed the new men to college and Mr. Barton explained the Kenyon honor code to the new men and told what its strict adherence had meant to past generations of Kenyon men.

Mr. Wade then explained the traditions and customs of Kenyon, and urged the new men to take them in the spirit in which they are given, pointing out that many others had underpinned the same treatment and that the whole procedure is designed but to bring out the best in a man and fit him to better administer the discipline to those who follow in his footsteps. A motion was then made and carried for adjournment.

ANNUAL CANE RUSH

The Freshmen of Kenyon gained a victory in the annual cane rush, in which the Sophs were defeated nineteen to fifteen. The Sophmores, though greatly handicapped by being outnumbered two to one, fought with great courage.

The night before was Freshman Night Out, as has always been the custom before a cane rush. The Freshmen started out from Beasley about nine P. M., and the Sophmores followed later.

After about an hour of weary tramping through the woods and valley back of the hill, the Freshmen came upon the football field where the battle was expected to occur, but found it deserted. Upon sending out scouts, they learned that the Sophmores were hiding in Rosse Hall.

After a grand rush to the gymnasium it was discovered that they had blocked every means of entrance, but by pushing and pounding on the front door it was finally forced open. A stream of water met the faces of the men in front, but undaunted, they pushed on and succeeded in tearing down this means of defense. By this time, most of the Freshmen were already in the building and a merry, though somewhat rough, victory ensued.

Being outnumbered, the Sophs were soon tied up and carried to the stage where they were checked off and disqualified by the Senior Council.

The next morning President Peirce met the Captain of the cane rush, Robert Harris, and gave him the cane in trust, explaining that if it were won the numerals of the class of '25 would be inscribed at the bottom of the long list already carved thereon.

About eleven o'clock Coach Smith and the Senior Council placed the cane in the middle of the field, and the sides lined up, each prepared for a struggle. The whistle blew and the Sophs reached the cane first. After eight minutes of terrible battling the whistle blew again, and on counting the hands on the cane it was found the Freshmen were victorious by a score of nineteen to fifteen.

Student (Indignantly)—"This Math is about as clear as mud."
Professor—"Well that at least covers the ground."
24—"Did you hear about the excitement?"
25—(Innocently) "No, where?"
24—"Chapel: clock struck two!"

A Gateway—Electrical

ONLY a forty-foot gateway bounded by two brick pilasters and ornamental lamps, but it is unlike any other gateway in the entire world.

For back of it is the General Electric Company’s main office building, accommodating 2300 employees. And just next door is its main laboratory with the best equipment for testing, standardizing and research at the command of capable engineers. Then down the street a mile long—are other buildings where electrical products are made by the thousands of electrical workers who daily stream through.

Through this gate messages and representatives from a score of other factories and over fifty branch offices come and go every hour—an endless chain of coordinated activities carrying on and enlarging the scope of over a quarter cen-tury’s work for the betterment of mankind.

What a story this gate would tell, if it could, of the leaders of the electrical industry and of ambassadors from other industries and institutions—and from foreign lands. The story would be the history of electric lighting, electric transportation, electrified industries and electricity in the home.
