KENYON SONS ACTIVE IN POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS

Six Alumni Prominent In Party Circles

On the alumni rolls of Kenyon college many great men with remarkable records stand out because of eminent services rendered to State and nation. Kenyon men have, at present, actively interested in political circles and in affairs of local and national government.

A number of sons of Kenyon are prominent in political campaigns this year. One of the college's two Congressmen, John L. Cable, '06 of Lima, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the Governorship of Ohio. The other, Robert Crosser, '20 of Cleveland, is a candidate for another term. He is a Democrat. Mr. Cable is a member of the Chi chapter of Delta Tau Delta.

Mr. Cable, an Ohio alumnus, is one of many Kenyon alumni who are college trustees.

Dr. Lacy Lockert, Canon Watson and the Chaplain Are Former Members of This Literary Organization

Through the instigation of the Senior Council, Nu Pi Kappa, one of the old Kenyon Literary Societies was reorganized at a meeting in the South Hannan Parlor on March 19, with fifteen branch members. Mr. Harvey Foss was chosen president and Mr. Paul Sutherland, vice-president, of the revived society. The plans adopted at this meeting are those which should place the society on a firm foundation and make membership in it a very desirable thing on the campus.

This revival was unquestionably brought on by the late renaissance of old-time traditions. As both societies seem to have an assured future, a healthy antagonism should be stimulated between them which will be for the good of both organizations. While Nu Pi Kappa has been restored to a position it held under graduate life, the aim of its members is to give it more of the feature of a literary club than those of an old-line, formal literary society. Meetings will be held every Saturday night and no pre-arranged programs will be attempted. Its members will meet to gather and discuss books and other literary interests; occasionally a bit of writing contributed by one of the men will be read and discussed.

Nu Pi Kappa, under present intentions, will limit its membership to fifteen students who are members of fraternity. They will be chosen, irrespectively of class or division; the idea is to get together a group of men who are interested in books and other groups of a literary nature. It is planned to adopt the old ritual and constitution of the society to an organization of this nature.

The following men have been selected for membership: Howard Allen, Louis Macken, Grant Peterson, Kenton Ralston, Harvey Lorenz, Lloyd Price, Roger Alling, James Broder, Paul Sutherland, George Hamilton, Kenneth Burkholder, John Grace, Theodore Diller, Lawrence Russell, and Hude Sturgis of the student body and Mr. Hibblott and Mr. Harris of the faculty.

At Lockert, Mr. Wood, and Canon Watson are old members of Nu Pi Kappa who are interested in this movement.

In the next number of THE KENYON COLLEGIAN will be printed parts of the revised constitution of the Kenyon College Assembly.

It is the wish of the Senior Council, now the governing body of the Assembly and the committee that was instrumental in establishing this new, that every man in college become thoroughly familiar with this document that was unanimously adopted by the student Assembly.

SPRING FOOTBALL PROFITS PROVABLE

For the past three weeks, fifty men have been attending football lectures given by Coach Weger. These lectures have included as much of the fundamentals of the game as could be taken up without actual outdoor practice, as well as a discussion of the change in rules for the coming season.

Forty-one men received uniforms March 19th and on Monday, March 24th, the football candidates for next year reported at Beeson Field for actual workouts. So far the work has consisted only of lifting up, with some blocking, passing and kicking.

There is no doubt that starting the fall campaign in the spring is a great advantage. The men are able to get the fundamentals in the spring and thus more time is left in the fall for specializing work. The number of men turning out for football in the spring is often a criterion of the success of the coming season. With one fifth of the entire student body now out, and with more expected, we can hope for a team that will make a very creditable showing in the Ohio Conference next year.

KENTON ALUMNI OF THE EAST HOLD MEETING

The Kenyon Alumni Association of the East, with headquarters in New York, had one of its largest meetings in its history at the University Club, Fifth Avenue and 54th Street, on January 10th.

There were about forty alumni present. Earl Babst, '93, President of the Association, acted as toastmaster, and the principal guest of honor was, of course, Dr. Pearce, who made two (2) speeches—one on the Centennial Celebration and one on the need for funds. The careful observer noticed no appreciable difference in the applause which greeted these addresses.

The manager of the program, Dr. Joseph L. Smith, described the pageant plans, and Matthew F. Maury, '04, of the Philadelphia, Chairman of the Centennial Celebration Transportation Committee, was on the job with enthusiasm and folders.

The gathering was given a good start by the individual distribution of four large turkeys, one at each corner of the board, by former students of biology, some of whom had obviously forgotten all they ever knew about the anatomy of joints.

The famous New York kingly quartette, consisting of Meurs. Collins, '93, Lee, '06, Brandon, '02, and Wiseman, '10, provided an acceptable substitute for music.

The following officers of the Association were elected for 1924:

President—Earl D. Babst.
Vice-President—Carl R. Ganter.
Thomas J. Goddard, Mark Wiseman. Secretary—Dr. C. Wheaton.
Very truly yours,
MARK H. WISEMAN, '10.
MIDDLE KENYON TEAM COPS INTRAMURAL TROPHY

East Division Defeated In Final Tilt

In a thrilling contest to decide the Intramural basketball championship, Middle Kenyon toppled East Division by a score of 12 to 5. The very score indicates that the game was close and at no time was the victory of the outcome. Both teams played exceptionally good ball all through the tournament and neither had lost a game until the final tilt.

Pfleger and French starred for the winning aggregation and were the chief pointgetters for their team. Costello, at center, did good work on defense and managed to drop in one field goal as well.

Eberth, Rybak and Hovorka, all played equally well and may be considered the stars for their quintet. They scored the total number of points for their team.

West Wing, West Division, East Wing, North Hanna, and Middle Hanna fought hard for the remaining honors.

Athletic Director Wiper’s pets, the Fresh five, were put out of the tournament by a defeat at the hands of South Hanna.

Everything is ready for the big dance—the sixteenth and seventeenth of May are going to be the best days of the whole year. We just had a personal letter from the weather man and he assured us that Mr. Sun would be there in all his glory.

About the decorations—well, we don’t want to give away any secrets, but here’s a just a little tip—there’s going to be the best ever. We have already put the food on the stove and plenty of it.

Now of course we can’t have a dance without music, but that’s just what we have—MUSCI and lots of it.

Alfred Evans and his University Orchestra are going to do the business this year. We might say that Mr. Evans is the only reason for Waring’s Pennsylvania being so popular. He personally conducted them and featured as soloist in all those records. He has recently written one of the latest musical successes—“California Blues,” which has been released on the Brunswick. His trombone player was with Paul Speck’s noted band, and his drummer has just left Garber Davis to play with Mr. Evans.

This orchestra is very versatile—they sing a good many of their numbers and get them off in an entirely original manner. It might be said that the drummer is the “Monkey” in the crowd. He has a hundred and one songs and at one time was on the circus playing part of a black-face.

With a full moon with us during the dance what more can anyone ask? Just hook up some nice, sweet, demure (or otherwise) little girl and the world will be yours. Just imagine sitting beside your girl under some big tree and the moon beams peaking through the leaves, and way off in the distance a wonderful straining music—You look at your girl—the looks at you—you sigh—and of course you both say at the same time—“Let’s dance?”

HEAVY TRACK SCHEDULE

A heavy schedule will feature the spring track season, and despite the fact that but one veteran in college, Coach Wiper expects to go through the scheduled meets with success.

Captain Rybak, the lone letter man squad. Last season the freshman track of the last year squad, will lead the squad in the Ohio State University Relay Carnival at Columbus on April 19th. Four dual meets will probably be scheduled making one of the stiffest cards in recent years.

Golf Team To Be Organized

A new branch of the Department of Athletics is to be instituted in the near future if it meets with the approval of the student body, is the latest dope from the office of Director of Athletics. A few of the Ohio Conference institutions have organized golf teams and are anxious for meets. Case and Oberlin are particularly anxious to meet a Kenyon team and already tentative dates for matches have been arranged with them.

All students wishing to try out for the team should hand in their names to Coach Wiper not later than April 15.
LEONARD HALL
NEARS COMPLETION

Though the weather has been severe, the work on Leonard Hall has been progressing rapidly. All of the outer parts of the stone structure have been completed, and, at present, the workmen are busy finishing off the interior. The walls of the rooms and hallways have been completed and some of the walls have even been plastered. Within another week the contractor, Mr. Nortin, believes that all of the plaster work will be finished. The uninstalled car- cased windows are being taken to make the building absolutely fireproof and those who visit the new dormitory will readily see that it is safe from fire.

The switchboards and the electric light wires have also been installed and all the wires spaced in small iron pipes, which protect them and insure fire pre- vention. Steel window sashes and door supports have been constructed. The plumbing, rather complicated and diffi- cult to install, is coming along splendidly. The hot water system is practically completed but there is still much work to be done on the centralized heating plant. When finished it will be efficient in every detail.

All rooms have been arranged in suites and this plan adds greatly to the modern convenience of the interior. Each suite accomodates four students. The study rooms are exceptionally well lighted and well ventilated and in each suite there are washbasins and wardrobes.

The contractor is about to begin work on the lavatories that are to be in- stalled on each of the first three floors. Work on the top or fourth floor, has been progressing somewhat slower than the rest of the building. Here the par- liaments of the three divisions are to be built in and they will doubtless be the finest equipped common rooms on the Hill. The budworks of the huge, mar- tive fireplaces have already been built and they add considerably to the cheer- ful appearance of the large parlor rooms.

If the work continues in progress as rapidly as it has lately, the building will be finished before the end of the year. Work is being rushed in an effort to have it completed and every- thing cleared away for the Centennial celebration at Commencement.

LIVING MONUMENTS

The park was once known as the grove. But time and the wind have taken a heavy toll of the fine old trees, and there are few left to suggest the pleasantness of the assertion that Old Kenyon was "reared in the virgin forest.

In former days every graduating class planted a tree. The custom might very well be revived, but it need not be confined to the planting of one tree a year. The societies, the fraternities, and other organizations might plant trees which would grow into beautiful monuments, "to the glory of God and in memory" of the persons who had so perpetuated this evidence of their love for the alma mater and their desire to see beautiful her abode.

TIME AND SPACE

No one can go from the second floor of the library to the third floor of Ascension in three minutes through crowded halls. The three minute rule is in force, and should not be applied. Every tardy appearance means half cut; few men would remain in good standing in college if the rule were strictly applied. In fairness to the faculty, it is not enforced generally, but there are times when the roll is called at three minutes after the class bell has rung, causing the several members of the class much concern. Three of the collegian staff are wind-broken as a result of their daily sprits from the library to Ascension. For us concerned we have not even a gambling chance, as our names come well up the list near the beginning of the alphabet. We therefore request the repeal of the three minute rule.

OLD SOCIETIES REVIVED

We feel that a really big thing has been done for the college in the revival of the traditional Kenyon Literary Societies, Nu Pi Kappa and Philomathia. The rejuvenescence of these old organizations is a healthy symbol of the good old days returning and that the rich fullness of old-time Kenyon life is slowly settling over the campus.

Both of these societies have had long and honorable records in the history of the college; their founding is associated with a world of picturesque details of the days gone by. Philomathia was founded in 1827 and Nu Pi Kappa a few years later by a group of South ern students who became offended at the stand Edward M. Stanton, then a student in Kenyon and a member of Philo, took on South Carolina's threatened secession in 1832. Rutherford B. Hayes was a member of Nu Pi Kappa while at Kenyon. One of the main events of the college year in the days gone by, was the contest held on Washington's birthday at which date the rival orators of the two societies were pitted against each other in a contest. The rivalry between them threatened at times to culminate in actual personal contact and this keen feeling was shown particularly in the securing of members. These organizations seem to rightfully belong amidst the vine clad walls and beautiful buildings of Kenyon. We hope that a few of them will be instrumental in the revival may meet with the success they deserve.

The plans which these bodies have adopted in regard to membership, while at first night might seem detrimental to the college, will, nevertheless, be a source of strength to both. Philomathia has its membership limited to Kenyon students who are not members of Greek Letter Social Fraternities; Nu Pi Kappa has restricted its roll to only those men in college who are members of the Fraternal groups. This distinction will unquestionably cause keen rivalry between the two which will make their prosperity a matter of divisional pride and cause many to take an active part in them who, otherwise, would not be interested. In both organizations there is a desire to make their membership less of a college honor than a means whereby men, who are interested in books and literary attainments, may find a way to qualify their duties and associate with men who are interested in the same things.

Library Societies all over the country have been hard hit by the war and also by what seemed a lack of student interest. This lack of interest, we feel, was more apparent than real; this year there is a movement spreading all over the country which seems favorable to the certain types of men derive a great benefit and cultivation from belonging to them.

The college wishes the members of Philomathia and Nu Pi Kappa all luck of the world in their attempt to make these old organizations a vital factor in Kenyon student life. May their efforts meet with prosperity!

THE UNDERGRADUATE AND THE CENTENNIAL

The responsibilities of the undergraduates in the centennial project are, taken collectively, by far the greatest part of the whole sum of responsibility. In no small sense are we hosts to the alumni, the friends of the college, the trustees, and the special guests. The connection of the alumni with the college is imperfect and hazy, varying with individual interest and gratitude.

For those friends of the college who were never students here, Kenyon is only one of many interests. But for us it is our only interest, and we are impatiently waiting for the centennial. The centennial is, therefore, dependent for its success upon undergraduate support. The committees—faculty, trustees, alumni—may make sumptuous plans, but the celebration will be a failure unless the undergraduates are prominent in every event of it. Without student participation the celebration of Kenyon's hundredth birthday will be as incomplete to the average Kenyon man as an Irish wake without mourners.

At one is not too soon to begin making preparations. The pageant cast will be announced shortly and these rehearsals are to be prerequisite to the pageant. But the Alumni Rally, to be held Saturday evening, June 14th, after the pageant, demands the active cooperation of the entire student body. One of the features will be the parade, with music furnished by several uniformed bands. The rally program will be unconventionally, partaking of the nature of a Mardi Gras. Many of the alumni will be costumed in some festival garb adopted by their respective classes, and they expect the undergraduates to furnish space to the parade with floats, bonniettes, and costumed groups. The undergraduates cannot afford to be outdone in any carnival of fun by other Kenyon men. The "Bare Days" program, the mock conventions, and other such productions will furnish ideas. Burlesque representations of the faculty and of events in the history of the college would be easily portrayed and would appear more witty by reason of the contrast with the serious portrayal in the pageant which just precedes the parade.

The classes, the fraternity, the societies, the clubs, and individual students should begin to make preparations for their stunt, and let them be so witty and entertaining that when they pass the reviewing stand good old Lord Kenyon will rise to his feet in a burst of excitement and lastly exclaim, as he frantically waves his hat to the marchers, "By gosh, I say, this is worth coming from England for to see!"

College Students Should Be More Familiar With Politics

Washington, (Special) — Actuated by the desire to become better acquaint ed with leading political issues and Republican party principles, many thousands of college students throughout the country are enrolling in college Republican clubs organized under the College Bureau of the Republican National Committee. Three undergraduates and alumni are joining in the movement, now under way at over a hundred colleges, to encourage a deeper interest in the nation's political problems. At Ohio State University, the Republican Club announced a membership of 2300. Nineteen hundred alumni are enrolled in the club at Harvard. Purdue University has a Republican club with 600 members, and clubs at other colleges report similarly large enrollments.

Much of the indifferent attitude of the average student towards national affairs has been due to a lack of practical instruction in vital issues of the day. At Kenyon, under the direction of John Harlin of the College Bureau, these clubs, providing as they do, constructive programs devoted to current political questions and nationally-known speakers to discuss a membership of 2300. Nineteen hundred alumni are enrolled in the club at Harvard. Purdue University has a Republican club with 600 members, and clubs at other colleges report similarly large enrollments.

SENIORS ENTERTAINED AT CROMWELL COTTAGE

President and Mrs. Peirce entertained the graduating class at a reception on March 3rd at Cromwell Cottage. The Harcourt girls, accompanied by Mrs. Reed, were invited and the evening's program consisted chiefly in playing games and dancing.

Delightful weather made the preparations and the guests departed at a late hour. The pleasant event was unanimously pronounced most enjoyable. Hereafter Dr. and Mrs. Newhall will be the hosts in the Senior reception, but the unfortunate illness of Dr. Newhall and their present absence from the Hill of course made such an undertaking impossible this year.
MARCH ASSEMBLY

The regular March Assembly was presided over by President Jacobsen, who moved that the President's chair be vacated as it had been in the past, and urged acceptance of the report. The Committee on the Constitution and Organization of the Senate issued its report, which was read and accepted.

Apprentice Foundry's candidate, Mr. Levy, was appointed to the Senate, and Mr. Levy served as the President on the recommendation of the Committee on the Constitution and Organization.

Four years ago the Foundry's candidate, Mr. Levy, was appointed to the Senate, and has been a member of the Senate ever since. His election to the Senate has been a source of gratification to the Foundry.

AN ALUMNI POEM FOR THE CENTENNIAL PAGEANT

The director of the Kenyon Centennial Pageant, Mr. J. L. Smith, requests that the Epilogue be written by an alumnus.

It is hoped that this appeal will meet with hearty response. There are alumnii who have done good things in verse, and there are others equally capable with this opportunity. Manuscripts should be limited to fifty lines. Blank verse might do, but it is best with meter; the heroic couplet lends itself more easily to the requirements of spoken lines.

W. P. REEVES,
Chairman, Pageant Committee

Plans for the alumni rally in June are fast materializing. Mr. E. M. Anderson of the class of '13, Grand Marshal of the alumni parade, recently made a visit to the Hill and outlined some of his plans. He has made each member of the Senior council an assistant Marshal, and one alumnus from each division is to be elected as Honorary Marshal. The "old grads," beginning with the class of '80, will form in front of Ascension and march down the Path, accompanied by two bands. A reviewing stand will be erected along the line of march to accommodate President Pierce, Lord Kenyon, and other distinguished visitors. The column, after turning at Beasley Hall, will march back and break up at the bulletin board. Then each division, in the order of its constitutional number, will march forward and sing its song. The Thrill will be sung as a finale.

Each division will be represented in the parade by some sort of a float. These must necessarily be simple affairs depicting some phase of college life.

A very interesting phase of the Centennial exercises and one that is reminiscent of other days will be the illumination of Old Kenyon. Long ago, in the days when students pore'd over their books by lamp light, February 22nd was always set aside for an affair of this kind. It was the occasion of much rivalry between the literary societies, Nu Pi Kappa and Philomathesian, who hurled verbal darts at each other until far into the night. Since the Class of '80 the custom has fallen into disuse.

The arrangements are simple yet effective. The middle window of the second floor of Old Kenyon will be used to exhibit The Kenyon College seal in colors done by Miss Taylor. In the windows on either side in the order of constitutional establishment will appear designs significant of the divisions represented. The entire college will be darkened and at a given signal lights will be flashed on behind each design. The effect should be gorgeous.

PHILO SOCIETY IS ACTIVE

The meetings of the Philomathian Society have been very well attended. Routine business has necessarily occupied most of the time in session, but a brief program has been given at each meeting. The interest of the members and the quality of the debates and orations do credit to the Philo tradition.

The constitution and by-laws have been revised and amended, and the active members have affected their signatures in the old constitution book of the society, wherein are written the names of all the active members of Philo since June, 1827. The valuable papers and records of the society have been deposited in the locked in the stacks of the college library, and work will be commenced soon cataloguing the correspondence and loose documents, preparatory to the research which will be entailed in writing the history of Philo for publication during the year of its centennial.

MIDDLE HANNA ENTERTAINS

Middle Hanna entertained five members of the faculty group and representatives of the various divisions with an attractive bridge party on a recent date. Professors Walton, Lord, Ramirez, Harris and Coach Wiper were invited faculty members, and two upperclassmen from each division including Esley, composed the remainder of the guest list. Progressive bridge was enjoyed by all and refreshments were served late in the evening.

It was a delightful party and everyone was thoroughly pleased with the affair. Aside from the “heavy” betting contest waged between Dr. Walton and Mr. Wiper the program was completed without any noticeable interruptions. “Pickie” Allison was awarded one of the prizes. It is not necessary to mention which one.

MANAGERS SELECTED

The Executive Committee of the Assembly recently selected Joe W. Moll, ’25, to act in the capacity of football manager next year and Warren J. Rusk, ’24, to serve as Track manager this Spring.

Both of these men have been faithful in performing their duties as assistants and should prove capable of handling their respective jobs. Moll was an assistant in the football department for three years and Rusk was assistant in the Track department two years ago and manager of the team last year.
