CLEVELAND JUDGE PASSES AWAY UNEXPECTEDLY

THE ACTIVE CAREER OF JUDGE LAWRENCE SUDDENLY CLOSES

A Devout Churchman and Respected Lawyer

Judge Albert Lawrence, ex-'77, a prominent member of the bar for many years and very active in the Democratic party, died at his residence in Cleveland on April 4, 1924. He was a brother of the late Judge James Lawrence, Jr., and the late William Lawrence, Jr., Jr. Keith Lawrence, ex-’22, is his nephew. Judge Lawrence was born at Old Washington, Ohio, in 1854, a son of the Hon. William Lawrence, and was of Scotch-Irish descent. He was brought up in the Presbyterian faith and was a member of a household which was devoutly religious and strict in its observance of the Sabbath.

His father always took a great interest in public affairs and was at one time a member of Congress.

Educated at Kenyon and Wooster

The early education of Judge Law rence was secured in the public schools of his native village, following which he attended an academy and then entered Kenyon College in the class of 1877. He was a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity while at Kenyon. He entered Wooster College at the beginning of his junior year, of which college his father was then a trustee, graduating in 1877 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Active Career as Lawyer and Judge

Taking up the study of law, Judge Lawrence was admitted to the bar in about 1880, locating in Cleveland for a time. He then removed to St. Clairsville, O., where he became one of the leaders of the Belmont County bar.

Returning to Cleveland in 1904, Judge Lawrence practiced his profession until the day of his death. In 1918, the deceased was appointed as a Judge of the Court of Appeals in this district to fill an unexpired term. He was thereafter head of the civil branch of the county prosecutor’s office for about two years, retiring to private practice in 1921, as an associate

PHILADELPHIA ALUMNI HOLD ANNUAL DINNER

Enthusiasm Displayed Over Centennial Plans

Late this winter the Kenyon Alumnus Association of Philadelphia held its annual banquet with Dr. William F. Pierce at guest of honor.

The Philadelphia Association has particularly interested itself in a number of the preparatory schools in and around Philadelphia. A large picture including nine views of the Kenyon campus has already been placed in three of these schools and it is hoped to have three more installed this year.

Mr. Gerville Haslam and the Rev. Albert Lucas, principal and chaplain respectively of the Episcopal Academy, were honorary guests at this year’s dinner. In this way we are endeavoring to arouse interest in Kenyon by securing the cooperation of the head masters of the various schools.

Dr. Pierce addressed the group and outlined the coming Centennial. His remarks were received with considerable interest and enthusiasm, and the Philadelphia alumni will fill a car of their own on the “Centennial Special” that comes to Gambier in June.

President Pierce was, of course, the outstanding speaker of the evening, but there were many lesser lights scintillating.

CAPTAIN STURGES ORGANIZES TEAM

Out Look For Season Bright

With the advent of warm weather and blue skies the warriors of the clay courts have made their appearance and have been practicing hard to smooth out the rough spots that a winter of inactivity has developed. With the exception of Captain Sturges, none of the racquet wielders has a place on the team cincinna, although there are several who stand out above the others. The men who are batting neck and neck for positions are Thorne, Terry, Head, Wright, Pfedfer, and Findenise, and, if pre-season for men is a criteria, Kenyon will boast of another winning team.

Last season the team defeated Ohio State for the Doubles Championship and with any sort of support from the students they should be able to duplicate and possibly add to this victory.

PURPLE NINE MEETS DISASTERIOUS DEFEAT IN INITIAL GAME

United Presbyterian Swatters Win In a Walk. Both outly Game of Numerous Errors.

Two terrible innings gave Muncingum a decided victory over the Purple in the opening baseball game of the year at Beaver Field on April 26th by a score of 24 to 6. The Black and Maroons scored twenty runs in the fourth and ninth innings, and after this had happened the Kenyon nine was entirely unable to overcome the tremendous lead.

Russell started on the mound for Muncingum, but withdrew in favor of Pfieger, who was unable to check the onslaught of Muncingum’s batting attack. Both pitchers were given fourteen base hits, a total of twelve errors being chalked up for the Purple team, while Muncingum counted a total of nine mistakes, but they were well scattered and were instrumental in the scoring of only a few of Kenyon’s six runs.

Messinger lead the Kenyon batting attack with a total of three hits in as many times at bat, while Headly, Muncingum pitcher, headed the honor roll for the day with four hits in five times to the plate, score three runs and drove in as many. He struck out five Kenyon batters, accepted five chances without an error and held the Kenyon team to eight well scattered hits.

Kenyon had one big inning, the first, when G. Evans reached first on an error. E. Evans was given a base on balls; Gibbs scoring Gare on Woodruff’s error; Evans scoring when Montgomery heaved a bad throw after catching Lens’ foul; Alexander’s hit putting Gibbs across the plate, and two successive hits by Messinger and Malvey scoring Alexander, totaling four runs for the inning.

In the fifth inning Kenyon collected two more tallies as the result of two bases on balls, two hits and a fielder’s choice. Score by innings: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

Muncingum 0 1 2 3 5 6 7 8 9

Kenyon 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0

Two base hits, Headly, Chase, E. Evans; Home run, Johnson; Struck out, Headly, 5, by Headly, 1, by Russell; 4, by Pfieger; 3; Base on balls, Headly 4, off Headly 1, off Pfieger 2; Hit by pitcher Johnson (Russell); Umpire, Ilger, M. Vernon.

DILLER WINS OVER RUSK ON THIRD COUNT OF VOTES

Theodore Craig Diller, ’25, was elected President of the Kenyon student assembly at the regular May meeting and W. Herbert Rusk, ’25, was selected as Vice-President on the third ballot. Both ran neck and neck for the first two rounds and the final official count gave Diller 99 votes and Rusk 68.

P. H. Sutherland, ’25, and R. J. Ho- vacka, ’25, the other two candidates in the race, were eliminated in the first and second rounds respectively.

Secretary Vote Close

Stanley Fullwood, ’25, barely nosed out Edwin Corans, ’25, in the second ballot cast for Assembly Secretary. Fullwood drew 66 votes while Corans secured 64. G. B. Peterson, ’25, the third candidate, was eliminated in the first count.

Not for many years has the Secretary vote been so close and the members of the Senior Council who were in charge of the election were forced to recount the votes several times before the winner could be announced.

The following two standing committees of the Assembly were ratified by acclamation:

Senior Council:

Walter H. Blecher
Kenneth T. Conner
Albert G. Johnson, Jr.

Kenyon College; Its First Century

“Kenyon College: Its First Century,” by Dr. Smythe, the history of our Alma mater, will appeal alike to undergraduates and alumni as something rare and beautiful. The possession of this volume, commemorating the first hundred years of Kenyon’s life, will please our vanity. We shall bask in the certain envy of others less fortunate and feel a splendid pride in this masterly record of aristocratic beginnings and the sacrifice of life-long effects to Kenyon’s advancement. However, Dr. Smythe has not given us a eulogy of flattering phrases.

The story is told in exquisite taste, simple language, touches of quiet humor and real pathos and a delicate understatement that throws dramatic crisis of the college history into strong relief combined to form a work of literary artistry. The whole story moves with a rapidity that compels the attention of the reader and leaves one with a feeling of awe and reverence for those who have sacrificed so much for the very existence of our college.

In crystallizing the trivial and romance of Kenyon’s traditions in an inquiring literary effort and masterpiece of the bookmaker’s art, Dr. Smythe has earned the spontaneous gratitude of every Kenyon partisan. Kenyon’s life and soul becomes a living thing and we are able to place ourselves definitely in the relationship to its growth.

May 1, 1924
Mr. Warren J. Russ, Editor,
“The Kenyon Collegian.”

Dear Sir:
The issue of the Collegian for March 31 contained several errors relative to the history and the present policies of the Philomathian Society. As president of that organization, I wish to request that you correct these statements through the columns of your paper.

The erroneous statements appear in the editorial entitled, “Old Societies Revived.” The second paragraph of the editorial bears this statement: “Rutherford B. Hayes was a member of Nu Pi Kappa while at Kenyon.” I enclose herewith for publication in your paper an article by me which appeared recently in the Mt. Vernon papers. I think the article will demonstrate the inaccuracy of the statement I have quoted. If any persons are dissatisfied with the evidence presented, I refer them to the Kenyon historian, Dr. Geo. F. Smythe, or I shall be glad to show them the Philomathian records for the year 1842.

The third paragraph of the editorial mentioned begins: “The plans which these bodies have adopted in regard to membership, while at first sight might seem detrimental to the college, will, nevertheless, be a source of strength to both, Philomathian has its membership limited to Kenyon Students who are not members of Greek Letter Social Fraternities, . . . .

ADELANTE!

Who comes down the road with his garments all blood
And with pace that is piddling and slow
Yet with head held erect and a spirit uncurbed
And a longing insatiate to know.

Thus his clothing is rent yet his bearing is proud;
In a conqueror’s form that we see,
Who has battled “saint ignorance,”
time, ever death,
And has broken their bonds to be free.

“Of traveler, rent. The road has been long
And your feet are all bruised by the way;
The goal has been won, no more work to be done,
To the victor the spoils, so be say.”

Yet no heed to the cal idos he pay but goes on;
Like a torch gleams the light in his eye.
And his gaze is fixed on the far
way road,
Where it touches the bending sky.

So onward and forward, no step or retreat,
Toward the goal that is far in the van,
While God bends low in wondering gaze
To watch the progress of man.

JOHN CARTER

There is no authority for such a statement as is therein made in regard to the membership of PhiNu, and the writer of the article did not make the statement advisedly. The membership of PhiNu is limited to men who are not members of the social fraternities. Three members of PhiNu are fraternity men and other fraternity men may be considered for membership.

We have none but the kindest regard for the Nu Pi Kappa Society and the members of it, and we expect to cooperate in every possible way. The wide difference between the societies as they are now functioning makes it unlikely that there will be much rivalry or competition between them. Nu Pi professes to be a literary society in the literal sense of the word. PhiNu is organized “for intellectual and moral improvement.”

Very truly yours,
JOHN CARR DUFF.

Editor's Note:
The following message to the alumni and undergraduates of Kenyon College, written by a loyal and enthusiastic alumnus, firmly expresses the absolute necessity of adhering to the Constitution of the United States and the laws of Ohio as they relate to the Volunteer Act, and urges both to maintain a definite stand on the liquor question.

"Nothing can so easily mar, nothing can add greater merit to the Kenyon Centennial than its stand on this question," states Mr. W. S. Lloyd, '80.

IS KENYON COLLEGE WET OR DRY?
Let us tell the world that Kenyon College is a spiritually and intellectually lofty college, where law loving and law abiding daily are. If temperance or intemperance were merely a matter of individual predilection alone, it was far too bad that we were intemperate. But today it is more than that. It is a declaration as between all conscientious and enlightened men.

TRANSMISSION OF INTEREST FORTHE COLLEGIAN

"The Collegian first appeared in 1856. It had been projected nearly twenty years before, as a publication of the Philomathean Society; but the plan was broadened so as to give Ni Pi Kafka a share. But never until this last day of growth and expansion was there energy enough to start it. Now the Senior class took it up through a board of editors. This Collegian in its first year gave the interest of the news of the college, but its main purpose was literary."

"The Collegian suspended publication in December, 1916. It was not precipitated at its true value, for at the very time when there were more students than ever before, the number of faculty fell so low that the magazine could not go on longer. From then on there were only six issues, no magazines or paper of its own...

"In 1877 the Collegian was reorganized, and is in a genuine way the present, and in the present time. It retained the character of the predecessor, the student, the college, and publishing stories, sketches, poems, and other matters of literary quality. To the historian of the College this is an important date, and not our reason for neglecting the literary element in the college paper. As it is, the Collegian is a debatable paper at all; it is only the official record of the college, to be published and distributed to the halls of the college library for the use of future generations. As such it is a necessary evil, and not for national purposes."

"The Collegian is not new for a gradual, to the best of our ju-mor, that is, to be selected by the English. To publish a better paper than this, so selected, solicited from the alumn us on various topics of current interest, reviews or commentaries of special features and sermons delivered on the Hill, an occasional book review, an expanded alumni section, a humorous department, containing, in its natural, amusing, satirical vein, a subject in the past, a selection of the best jokes collected from college humorous phases, and other departments of equal interest.

This would be the external form of the Collegian. The size might very well remain the same, but it is a great change in the spirit under which it is published. The text and the style would be adapted to make it as entertaining and as broad as broad as it could be, while the printing of it would be as broad as the printing of the Collegian of the future.

It is hoped to keep the Collegian a newspaper. A separate College edition would be for the newspaper. It is hoped to have a separate College edition of the Collegian, one which would be kept up, and the various departments would be given to artistic designs.

The number of pages might be increased, but the number of pages for the newspaper is more regular and more frequent. It would cost more money to publish the Collegian, and the effort would be warranted.

For several years it has been the custom of the Collegian to solicit supporting the advertisements for the publishing of it, and the only cost of the Collegian is the amount paid the business manager.

We shall welcome any suggestions you may have on the matter to be continued in these papers.

The future success of the Collegian, whatever form it may take, depends upon the character of the men who compose its staff. Two qualities are essential in the man of men who may publish a college paper in the College: the ability to write well, and a wide understanding of news, and the ideas of the change expressed by the College, and the College should be the value to us. We shall welcome any suggestions concerning the form of the Collegian, or its contents, or its financial management. The staff is now composed of the following special numbers, an Alumni number, a staff number, and a number of thirty-two pages. We plan to make both of these numbers. We shall welcome any suggestions you may have on the matter to be continued in these papers.

The comet came back

The great comet that was seen by William of Normandy returned to our skies in 1910 on its eleventh visit since the Conquest. Astronomers knew when it would appear, and the exact spot in the sky where it would first be visible.

Edmund Halley's mathematical calculation of the great orbit of this 76-year visitor—his scientific proof that comets are part of our solar system—was a brilliant application of the then unpublished Prin- cipia of his friend Sir Isaac Newton.

The laws of motion that Newton and Halley proved to govern the movements of a comet are used by scientists in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company to determine the orbit of electrons in vacuum tubes.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

He and I then went to work to consum- mate our plan. Ten members of the Philomathian joined the Nu Pi Kappa. A joint committee was then appointed from the two societies, that reported a plan by which students could enter either society without reference to north or south.

This misconception of the facts was perpetuated in the "Pamphlet of Information," a Kenyon college publication, which asserts, in reviewing the history of the societies: "After a few years Nu Pi Kappa languished, but the students generally felt that two active societies were better than one in stimulating wholesome competition. To strengthen the weak society, Rutherford B. Hayes, Jr., headed a group of Philomathians who joined Nu Pi Kappa in order to equalize the two organizations. The pacy and generous solution which Hayes found for this college problem suggests his just and merciful policy as President of the United States toward the reconstructed South."

The present issue of the "Kenyon Collegian" bears in an editorial on the activities of the societies the statement: "Rutherford B. Hayes was a member of the Nu Pi Kappa while at Kenyon." No evidence can be given to support this assertion. On the contrary, the records of the Philomathian society prove that Hayes was never a member of Nu Pi Kappa. The "volunteers" who went over to Nu Pi according to the records did not become Nu Pi men but merely lead their aid for one year. The names of the ten men who volun- teered to aid the rival society are given in the Philo minutes for October 28, 1849; they are, Allen, Case, Condon, Comstock, Fagg, Hedges, Johnson, Lamb, Mase and Boardman. The name of Hayes is not mentioned. He was at that time treasurer of the Phi society and subsequently served as:

President of the United States toward the reconstructed South.

He was a very active part in the work of the society, and the records bear witness that he often volunteered to supply on a debate or forensic when some one else could not take part. Hayes was active in Phi until the very week of his graduation, in July, 1842.

Bertrand Russell to Speak at Kenyon

Mr. Bertrand Russell, England's brilliant socialist-philosopher, who lectured before Kenyon College on May 21st has developed in detail the ideas that will form the basis of his lecture in a comprehensive article in the May number of the Century magazine.

Mr. Russell, who is the heir to one of the oldest titles in England, and who was sent to prison during the Great War for his pacifism, analyzes in this article, the steps necessary to prevent future wars. He attributes war to three causes: social psychology, the relation of the people and their leaders, the influence of religion in war, the nature of imperialism and its effect upon individuals of an imperialistic nation; politics, the politicians' interest, reliefs and patriotic a bringing about war; the economics by which he means, "the rivalry of groups of enormously rich men, who identify themselves with the various national sentiments, and that secure the lives and fortunes of their gulls in support of their business enterprises."

Mr. Russell describes the struggle between the nations for the raw materials of the world, and pleads for internationalism "if we are to save our world from red ruin."

"Mat" Maury, '04, kept his end of the table sufficiently alive to attract part of the attention. In fact, he succeeded so well that in order to give him an opportunity to display his shining qualities to the best advantage next year, he was elected president.

Arndt, secretary and treasurer. All together there were about thirty members present.

CELEBRAL JUDGE

...to cultivate counsel with the law firm of Landfair, Baskin and Fleharty.

A Man of High Ideals
He was a cultured, educated gentleman of simple tastes, frank, genial, kindly and utterly without sham or pretense. To meet him was to like and respect him. He was modest and retiring, but when the occasion demanded he did not hesitate to assert himself. His kindly bearing never failed him; he was gentle of manner, but was always severe in maintaining the faith he kept with his convictions and his ideals of professional duty and obligations.

Judge Lawrence scorned to cultivate men merely to use them for purposes of his own or to advance his own interests. Indeed, he never had a selfish purpose to be served. He had a keen sense of humor and drew around him a large circle of admiring and devoted friends. To the world he was not as well known as many men of lesser ability, who had not his high ideals and pleasing personality. He did not crave or try for popular acclaim.

Conspicuous As Trial Lawyer
He came to the bar thoroughly equipped by his intellectual endowment and his accurate knowledge of the law. His work at the bar was that of a general practitioner. In his younger days he was a great trial lawyer and had remarkable success with juries. In his later years, he gradually withdrew from trial work. As a lawyer and judge he brought to the discharge of his duty labor, unswerving integrity, industry and fidelity to all trusts imposed upon him through a long and active life.

An Athlete in College
While in College he was noted as a baseball player and his participation in all branches of athletics won for him considerable admiration from his fellow students.

He died, as he had lived, an honest, courageous, and upright man and a credit to his profession. His death was sudden and unexpected.

The memorial address was delivered by the Rev. Adelbert P. Higley of the Calvary Presbyterian Church at the funeral on Monday, April 7th, 1924.
