SINNERS PRESENT PARK NIGHT ON AIR

On Saturday night, May 4th, Kenyon college will climax its program of religious education in the presentation of Path Night unto WTAM from 8:00 to 10:00. The Army of Prayer broadcast will feature James Newcomer, John Triebel, Dorothy Wright, David Thorburn, Louis Brown, Irene Lounge, Beau Geste, Walter Tulney, and Russell Hapgood. Professor Charles Cooper, civil engineer and musician, directed the singers. Newcomer, who has been prominent in music at Kenyon, was associated director of the group.

The program was planned and edited with well-known Kenyon names, and the middle portion was a combination of national radio dramas based on Path Night.

In conclusion, the management of WTAM with the presentation that it is likely to be similar to programs it will be representative of the season. Although few reports have been received from all over the state, many locals of similar music have been known Kenyon from Jeffersonville throughout Ohio. A chart showing the number of semesters attending Path Night was given in the following manner:

This chart, of course, is the foundation on which the program is arranged. It was the last of the six national festival nights, Lord Kenyon Cruso, and a graduate program will end.

The will of Mrs. Robert V. Van Nostrand, who died February 26th, was found in New York City this month. It included establishment of a chair in Kenyon College.

Sen. Tom Hoard was a member of the late Bishop Leonard.

SENIOR CLASS SCORES IN ACHIEVEMENT TEST.

FREEMASON EIGHTH IN PSYCHOLOGICAL EXAMINATION

This year’s senior class, promptly into second place in the Senior Achievement Test, compiled four years ago by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. The case made an average score of 957 points in an examination covering its entire college course, as against the 1100 points which the average college student obtains.

Only two seniors fall below the national score of 900 out of the 300 questions asked. The highest average score so far recorded is only nine points higher than the Kenyon class average.

Robert Traylor made the class with 1401. In second place was George A. Williams, with a grade of 1359, and with two men, Walter Beswick and Robert Swanson, tied for third place.

President Crow, in describing the tests, said:

"The examination is what the psychology calls an “objective” test and the question is, can the whole field of college training, which the student in these hours, divide into four sessions of three hours each. A person who may have an every subject, whether or not he has ever had courses in it. Outside reading also counts heavily. A student’s score is based upon his ability to handle many educators as being a better gauge of achievement than the regular grades, many subjective factors inevitably enter into the latter. The test scores are unaffected by one’s skill in filling the professor, or by the desire of earning only an easy course, in which case it may be made high grade. Since the grading of the later does not enter into the score, these are just as definite as the weights of the students would be if determined by tests.

Pennsylvania College were the first to make the tests. Kenyon was the second, and there were seventh place in 1929 to second place this year, and from twelve twenty, it was the highest average to only two out of the entire graduating class.

The tests are also interesting in that they afford a method of comparing colleges. It is means all of the American colleges have taken the tests, and the results obtained would seem to indicate that Kenyon ranks in academic achievement among the top one in twelve in the entire country.”

Recently an Associated Press article appeared containing a tabulation of the results of the American Psychological Association’s Psychological Examination, for 20 of the nation’s colleges, which gave it. This tabulation gives some idea of the comparative brightness of the freshmen who entered various educational institutions last fall.

Kenyon placed eighth with a median grade of 162. Harvard College led again this year with a score of 245. Only three other institutions scored above 230. They were Yale College, 213.6; Dartmouth College, 206.6; and University of Chicago, 202.2.

The examination contains five tests which are so weighted that they can be combined into a cross score for the whole examination.

The results obtained so far upon the reports of 4,000 students. However, when all the institutions have reported the total will represent the best of 165,340 students. It has been found that the tests are valuable in predicting the success of students in their course colleges.

The seven colleges ranking above Kenyon, in order of mention, were Welles College, Dartmouth, University of Chicago, George Benton, and Reed.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD

Small Class is Graduated: College Gives Honorary Degrees To Six

At the 12th commencement of Kenyon College the Class of 1902 was graduated on May 20th.

A Doctor of Letters degree was also conferred upon Dr. Robert Rutherford, of New York, who was graduated from Kenyon in 1907 and from the University of Pennsylvania in 1915, and has spent the past ten academic years in medical research on the pathology and prevention of human diseases.

Doctor of Divinity degrees were conferred upon the Rev. N. R. High, Dean of the Trinity Colleges, in Pittsfield, Massachusetts; Dr. Silas P. DeWolfe, of Harwich, Ohio.

Following graduation from Kenyon in 1902 and in 1907, in 1917, was awarded a Degree of Master of Letters and in 1919, in 1924, in 1929.

John F. Coxe, class of 1902, was graduated in 1929.

After the final, an initiation dinner was held in the Kenyon College, and the entire event was conducted in a fitting manner.

Cinco Louis Kurne, bishop of the Church of England, and a senior member of the Class of 1902, gave the oration.

The program was concluded with an address by Edward M. Hill, who was graduated from Kenyon College in 1902.

THREE MEN INITIATED INTO PHI BETA KAPPA

John P. Crain, Myron H. Wellicott, and Robert B. Hoffman were initiated into the Kenyon chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, Tuesday, May 20. After the ritual, an initiation banquet was held in Peter's Hall, the graduate in the English, history, and literature, was an assistant in the Kenyon College, and the entire event was conducted in a fitting manner.

The program was concluded with an address by Edward M. Hill, who was graduated from Kenyon College in 1902.

More than 100 persons were present at the initiation banquet, and the entire event was conducted in a fitting manner.

MISS GUNTER SPEAKS ON WORLD PROBLEMS

In an open meeting of the International Honors Club last month, Miss Emma Gunther, who has been making a tour through the aspects of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace, discussed the Sin-Japanese question.

According to Miss Gunther the purpose of the Foundation of Western science, education, and ideals upon the East is the direct cause of all the trouble. The oriental civilization, she has come to believe, is able to absorb these new ideals rapidly enough and a revolution has been the result. In the war beginning with the fighting last September in Manchuria and including the invasion of Shanghai was given by the speaker. "The average person," she pointed out, "was not interested in this affair until the lives of Americans were endangered at Shanghai."

Turning then to the World Disarmament Conference which convened at Geneva in February, Miss Gunther reported that because of the war in the East the countries involved were endorsing a great deal of duplicature. However, the American delegate at the conference did manage to remove any suspicions by its dramatic presentation of the million of signatures on disarmament petitions.

In closing the speaker made an appeal to the students to continue to pursue popular interest in world problems and disarmament.

CLEVELAND STRING QUARTET IN RECITAL

The Cleveland String Quartet gave a recital in Peirce Hall, April 21, as a gift of Frank Medley Owen of Cleveland. The quartet consists of José Puech, first violin, Rodrigo Garcia, second violin, Carlos Cueto, viola, and Vincent de Grossi, violoncello. More than three hundred people, including a large number of former students of the college and other citizens came to the Great Hall of the University to hear these famous quartetists.

The Quartet in G Major, Opus 74, No. 1, of Haydn, was the first part of the program. The middle section was a modern composition, La Ondas de Terres, by Georges Toubert. Bruno's Quartet in C Minor, Opus 41, No. 1, was the last selection offered by the artists.

This recital was an annual gift of Mr. Owen, and one much appreciated by the student body, as well as by Graham and Mt. Vernon music-lovers.

REPRESENTATIVES OF CLUB AT MODEL LEAGUE

The Kenton International Model League Club represented India in the International League of Model Clubs meeting which was held at the University of Athens, Greece, in April. Preston, Maldon, Diesel, and Fong were the delegates and reported a very successful assembly. Three chief divisions were made for the competition, to discuss the Indo-Japanese question, Disarmament, and Social Problems. After the committee meetings in which resolutions were adopted, a primary section was held in which the resolutions and findings of the committee were discussed and voted on.

NOTICE

The College has been asked to publish a warning against one Robert Gaines, 272M, who, using his connection with the College, approaches alumni with the story of being newly established in the town, and asks for introductions and recommendations as well as for financial assistance.

He is particularly likely to approach chemists, and has a good church knowledge which adds strength to his story. He has many claims which he requires to be resolved for him, but his excuses are such that it is believed he is not in need of the service or even evens.

He is warned by the police of Dayton, New Jersey, and anyone consulting him should notify them.

Three Kenton Men

Commencement and Young has been a colorful figure in Ohio politics for a decade. On the Mexican border in 1919 and on the Western front two years later Carl Young won the appelation of "Deserter Slim." The title eling to him in this connection, where he was not found for thirty years and was then noted for short speech and willingness to accept any spurious war claim's challenge to verbal combat, is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

Cable is a modest figure in circles interested in immigration restriction. He is a farmer of living married woman's rights to separate existence, so the wife of an alien can remain an American registered in her husband's status. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta.

The veteran Cramer was the last man elected to Congress from Ohio at Large. Before that he was a former member of the Constitutional Convention of 1912, where he represented a irreconcilable view of alien laws and the American idea of naturalization.

In calling the speaker made an appeal to the students to continue to pursue popular interest in world problems and disarmament.
THE CALL OF THE CONVENTION

The Democratic National Committee here issues a summons to the Democratic Party to meet in Convention assembled in the Village of GAMBER, State of OHIO, at OHIO'S STEIN, the Eleventh Day of May, 1932, for the purpose of selecting a CANDIDATE for PRESIDENT of the UNITED STATES.

PARTY PLATFORM

The Democratic party stands for efficiency in the administration of public affairs, and so pledges:

Government

A definite reformation in overlapping bureaus and the abolition of unnecessary offices.

Tariff

An opposition to the hoaxey, strawhead Tariff, the result of corrupt and self-seeking state and national legislation and the adoption of new pro-national and pro-agricultural acts.

Taxation

We favor the taxation of interest, inheritance and the graduated income tax.

Farm Relief

Under the administration of the Republican regime our farmers have suffered to a great extent due to monopolistic, so-called farm relief, measures that have been passed. We are in favor of legislation by which the farmer can continue to benefit from the same tax benefits as are given the industrial and speculative interests.

We advocate the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

FOREIGN POLICY

The vandalizing foreign policy of the Republican Administration has placed our national integrity in such a compromising position that definite measures must be taken to redress the wrongs under the Treaty of Versailles, the Locust埫, and the Bhutto treaties.

A. Delay the independence of the Philippines as stated in the Hayes-Sutcliffe bill.

B. We wish to avoid entangling alliances.

The reduction of armaments but not to the extent which would endanger national defense.

UNEMPLOYMENT

The unemployment of the citizens at the present time has placed us in a precarious position and therefore we oppose any national order in favor of state, county, or local action.

Labor

The Democratic party in favor of protecting the laborer and all of his rights. Labor is not a commodity, but man himself and as such must be safeguarded.

Mobilization

We advocate the closing of our doors to all immigrants until present causes are over.

War Debt

We oppose cancellation of war debt but advise temporary readjustment to fit the economic situation.

Public Utilities

The Democratic party does not wish to interfere in the inherent rights of the people by government ownership of utilities.

We advocate the Federal control of the over-excessive rates of public utilities, and where possible to take over those objects so that the public might be spared.

REPORT OF CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE

The report of the Committee on Credentials was read by Mr. Barn. All candidates are found able to respect the requirement of the law, and all are nominated to be seated for the reason noted.

George Evans, who has already had his day, Norman Hoo, for being unnatural.

Maurice Atwood, a Republican, who is a contending fisher.

Herman Ferguson, because he advocates the full dinner plate.

George Gann, because he believes in controlling the alien.

Miss Hawk, of Harris Park Place, because she is a cooperator.

and is carrying on a secret and illegal postal service.

He is a martyr because of his staunch Republican beliefs.

Mr. Ray Ashford, who has an anti-American accent.

George Hark, as he is under age.

Harry G굿, for the very good reason that there is no platform strong enough to hold him.

Burton Cowell, because he is not a peace-loving, law-abiding citizen.

Miss Pickles, also of Harcourt, because she has, in our opinion, a catalog of the best books.

Mr. Gichin, as he has not been declared yet. Is his not a dry convention?

TELEGRAPH RECEIVED

Following his succession, many years, Dr. Larry Lockhart once more nominated William Jennings Bryan in a Kenyon College, where following the newspaper was received, received, received, telegraphed a telegram blank of the eighteen inches.

For many years I have been offering both to Democratic and Republican nominees to hold in Garfield the name of a great candidate, I may say the personal candidate, William JENNINGS BRYAN. I do this without disrespect for the Great Commissir, and without knowledge of his whereabouts, because I believe that he would approve of my action.

I know wherever he may be, he would accept any candidacy or any job that might be tendered him.

Dr. Larry Lockhart.

The Geography class under the leadership of Doctor Lord made a field trip on May 28 to study the effects and the remnants of glacial action in Knox county. The group proceeded up Lion's Hill where the evidence of glacial action was abundant. Many of the rocks showed evidence of abrasion andplanation, around Superior and Centerfield were to be seen occasional erratics, in and ous, and enters. Knox county was supposed to have been affected by the early Wisconsin Movement and the most part of the county went to the East. The group from the College,according to their report, observed Dr. Lord, our college hill was not leveled by glacial action.

The geography students were almost the only business that was holding steady during the depression times.

The chief event of the evening was the dancing contest with seven gals from the university taking part in the contest. First place was awarded to Alpha Phi Psi, second place going to Alpha Sigma Psi. The results of the other contests were announced. South Hanna had the greatest number of guests, 36. With the other schools, North Hanna, and South Lecomnt.

At 8:30 the Drama Club presented their two-hour act at the Fordham. The first was an imaginary conversation between three statues of angels in Canterbury Cathedral. Date unknown, sons, Steve Yom, and Hatli were the actors. The second play was on the Forsyth System that had been written for one of the major programs. WEST WING WINS
GOLF AND TENNIS

The Deke men were winners in the golf tournament Park and Quinby defeated the Delta men in the final match by an overwhelming score of 6 to 4, which put them in the final match. While West won from Middle Hams in a semi-final match. West Wing also copied both the matches won in the singles with a total of 8-3. In tennis, Kayser won the single with very little difficulty, beating Adams in straight sets in the semi-final and winning from Breerton in a similar manner. West also defeated Gilbert in a long semi-final match, but he was not able to cope with Kayser’s leadership. In the doubles, the Deke team of Daley and Kayser defeated the Middle Leonard team of Adaft and Hold after a hard fight. The scores of the games were 6-2, 6-4, 1-6, 5-7, and 6-4.

INTRAMURAL TROPHY COPIED BY DEKES

WINNERS ARE CHAMPIONS IN FOUR SPORTS

Athletic Director Kuhler has announced that West Wing held the Intramural Participation Trophy for the coming year. Six teams, with first place in baseball, basketball, tennis, and golf, and thus scored 221 points to lead the closest rival, South Leonard, by 24 points. The scores, with places, were as follows: baseball, 1st place 138; basketball, 1st place 150; tennis, 1st place 77; and golf, 1st place 84. In the baseball, ten games, two were played in each of the four schools of the university. In the basketball, ten games, seven were played in each of the four schools of the university.

Here is the way the divisions finished:

1. West Wing 221
2. South Leonard 197
3. East Wing 172
4. Middle Leonard 168
5. Middle Kenyon 167
6. South Haven 149
7. Middle Hams 133
8. South Hams 132
9. North Leonard 77
10. Bowley 19

NETTERS FAIL TO WIN SINGLE MATCH

The Kenyon netters failed to win a single match this year. Handicapped by bad weather and equally bad courts, the tennis teams got off to a late start. Out of the six schools playing only nine individual matches were won by Kenyon men. Hatchet, playing in the third position, copied three matches to lead in victories.

KENYON TRACKSTERS FAIL TO WIN MEET

Kenyon’s supposedly good track fulfilled its expectations during the past season, failing to win either one of its two official meets this season. The best score in the two meets, with Oberlin and Capital, 45 points, while the closest to them was Clippinger with 76 points. Kenyon fared badly in an informal track meet at the beginning of the season with Oberlin, Hildreth, and Tolsoid.

In the Oberlin meet everything depended upon the outcome of the relay race. However, Kenyon ran second here to win the meet by a 76% to 83% score. Clarke scored 10 points.

Capital beat Kenyon 9% to 4% at Columbus on May 14. Clarke scored 10 points while capital was second with a 48 point and a 3 secondly.

Mostiwice, Laddick, Hiller, Hudson, Thurnberry, and Neidie also scored during the season, but all were several points behind the two leaders.

GOOD SQUAD CRIPPLED BY LOSS OF ED CABLE

A crippled Kenyon golf team closed its season June 9 by taking its seventh loss of the year, when against three. The defeat was the third in a row. The prospects at the start of the schedule were bright that Ed’s unfortunate absence might move the team out of stride and it was only one of the last six matches.

The first match of the season was held at Mt. Vernon on April 18 with New Ashland and resulted in a 6-6 win for Kenyon. It was Ashland’s first defeat in three years.
