MAY DANCE A SOCIAL WORK

Al Kavalan Plays Friday And Saturday Nights

The May Dance, which all loyal Kentuckians consider one of the final week-end events in this or any other city, took with its usual success the weekend of the 16th and 17th. Admission was $0.70, which was stated to be a record. The Friday night dance continued Northlocated in the Fine Arts wing with the dawn (and a very nice law, at that). TheIso dance, generally considered the better of the two night events, was held in the Student Lounge (the Fine Arts wing). The State Fair was to be held later the same day.

Unusually the men in college have noticed the announcement or a bring exhibition to be held in Room 118. This exhibition was the first of a series which Rudy Kutter hopes to present. The card was made up of five boats and the prize one which all could afford. The plan which Rudy is working out is the answer to the criticism that the college offered no inducement to the men to remain on the Hill, particularly on Saturday nights. This idea has been suggested and approved by some of the members of the Board of Trustees.

It seems to me that this plan offers a good solution to the problem of what to do on a Saturday night. The activities which have been sponsored so far have been a gradual effort to make the Hill more attractive for the students, and it is certain that they will become a regular Saturday night occurrence.

The students who have proposed this plan are so eager to take this opportunity and to make it succeed that we have no reason to doubt its success. The plan is simple and straightforward, and it is hoped that it will be effective in bringing the students together.

The plan is as follows: Ten per cent of all Kenyon men play golf; ten per cent, tennis; ten per cent, baseball; and sixty-nine per cent, football. Thus, it is certain that we can see the whole team.

The plan is to have a series of pleasant and interesting events throughout the year. The idea is to provide a good, clean, and wholesome entertainment for the students. It is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunities provided, and that the plan will be successful.

Here are some of the events that will be included:

1. Spring Time for Henry Rehearsal
   - The Kenyon College Drama Club has one more gone into Rehearsal. The curtail and the oars are working on a three act play entitled "Spring Time for Henry." The play is about the life of Henry the Sixth, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

2. Dance Successful, Henderson Gets Haircut
   - The evening at the College was an enjoyable one. A number of students who had been working on their dormitory rooms were treated to a special dance. The dance was a success, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

3. Lybarger & Magers, Dunn Bathed
   - The students have been busy working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

4. Original Dieting Drill
   - The students have been working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

5. SHELVIS REFRIGERATORS andきたなに
   - The students have been working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

6. Knecht Feenez Electric Co.
   - The students have been working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

7. Wise's Restaurant
   - The students have been working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

8. Compliments of J. M. Pumfrey, M. D.
   - The students have been working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

9. Compliments of John R. Claypool, M. D.
   - The students have been working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

10. Compliments of James F. Lee, M. D.
    - The students have been working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

11. Compliments of John C. Drake, M. D.
    - The students have been working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

12. Compliments of M. A. WAREHAM
    - The students have been working on their dormitory rooms, and it is hoped that the students will take advantage of the opportunity to see the play.

13. Compliments of J. F. REICHNICK

RUDY KUTLER THANKS COLLEGE FOR LOGICAL CO-OPERATION

Latters of thanks have been directed to Kenyon from all over the country, all praising the work done here in an effort to establish a national prep school tennis tournament and it doesn't appear to fantasy to predict that within a few years Kenyon will be the tennis center not only for Ohio but of the mid-West. Rudy Kutler is to be honored for his splendid work in making this a reality. In spite of the greatest set-backs in the tourney of the year, the tourney was run smoothly and, although the entry list was small, all schools participating were more than satisfied with the results and next year's tourney promises to be bigger and better in every respect.

CONFERENCE TOURNAY THIS WEEK-END

Kenyon is hoping for good weather on the week-end of May 23, 24, 25, as that date will be the Ohio Conference tennis held at Kenyon. Kenyon won their second consecutive year, Morgan Pool and his squad have been working hard to get the court into good playing condition, and if no more rain college season will find perfect courts awaiting them on the balcony that stands in the rear of Old Kenyon.

The mild cigarette the athletes smoke is the mild cigarette for YOU!

A cigarette so mild you can smoke all you want—that's what athletes say about Camel. And when a champion talks about "condition"—"wind"—healthy nerves—real tobacco mildness—he's got to know.

Gene Sarazen says: "Playing as much as I do—I have to keep in condition. I smoke Camel steadily. They are so mild they never get my 'wind'—never upset my nerves."

Other athletes back him up. "I smoke all the Camels I want, and keep in top condition," says Mel Ott, slugger of the New York Giants. . . Georgia Coleman, Olympic diver, says: "Camels don't cut down on my 'wind.' . . ." Bill Miller, carman; Jim Lancaster, N.Y. U.'s 1934 basketball captain; John Skillman, pro squash rackets champion—hundreds of sports stars smoke Camel regularly and report that Camel never get their "wind" or nerves.

What this mildness means to you . . . It means you can smoke Camel all you want! Athletes have made this discovery: Camel's costlier tobaccos are so mild, they can smoke all they please, without disturbing their "wind" or nerves.

Camels COSTLIER TOBACCOS!

CARNegie ART GIFT AT LIBRARY

The library has recently received a most interesting gift from the Carnegie Corporation. This is a collection of books on the Fine Arts containing 181 titles and well over 300 volumes. The list of subjects treated covers practically the whole field, from the philosophy of art down to such subjects as textile-pottery and even wall paper.

Two shipments have already arrived, and the third may possibly be here by the time the Columbian goes to press. A check of the books received up to now shows that of over 100 only ten are duplicates of books already in the library. Most of these being books used to such an extent that duplicate copies are daily warranted.

It is impossible in a limited space to do justice to more than a few of the individual books, but a few descriptions may give an idea of the richness of the collection. A Pray Privy-Kunstgeheimnis is a series of 16 books by various German specialists treating the history of art by broad divisions from the primitive and primitive through the 18th century. Even one who knows as much about the classics can use these books to advantage, for the main part each book consists of plates representing the art of the period treated; the average number of full-page plates to a volume is about 40.

Another book from German covers which anyone can appreciate is Ueberwasserkunst by Karl Rooth. It contains 120 plates of Illustrations of old buildings from 5 to 20 diameters. The artist brings out unexpectedly beautiful or fanciful forms in the common plants, and his preface insists on the close inter-relation between forms in art and nature.

The collection is being put into shape for use as quickly as possible and will probably be on display before the end of the month, when it will be some time before all the books are ready for circulation.

FRACTIONS

While rapidly reconciling the facts of the college fraternity, Albert H. Heckel, dean of men at the University of Missouri, declared it served a definite need as the best agency for organized social life in college before the College Fraternity Secretaries Association meeting November 25 at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York, City. This was the central theme of a one-day program.

"The fraternity system is a human institution; it will have its imperfections. But I know the 'character assimilis' who dramatizizes have turned into representative conduct. The deification of which is what the men who want to believe become trustworthiness. There is something of a fraternity system as a whole is good, not bad. It is so we wish it were better.

There is something of fundamental goodness in an organized friendliness of college men."

Financial problems arising out of the fact that alumni often lack the moral integrity to pay their brother debts to fraternity chapters, Dean Heckel said, proved that economic responsibility is an essential in shaping the character of the individual and the group.

The solution for the problem of poor scholarship in a fraternity chapter is fundamentally the selection of pledges who have intellectual interest, Dean Heckel stated in advocating the forbidding of pledging in the freshman year of any boy who ranked in the lower third of his high school class.

It is very obvious that the conversation in our university clubs
is concerned with business, stock markets, bridge, golf, boating, and private politics instead of with literature, art, or the deeper questions of economic, national,
and International affairs," asked Dean Heck-}

el in admitting that college admunistrative officers and faculty members had failed to stimulate scholarship and in charging fratenities with not developing intellectual interests in chapter houses.
